Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Purgative Pellets
SIZE OF PELLETS.
"THE LITTLE GIANT" CATHARTIC.
No use of taking the large, repulsive, nauseous pills, compounded of crude, drastic and bulky ingredients. These Pellets are scarcely larger than mustard seeds.
Being entirely vegetable, no particular care is required while using them. They operate without disturbance to the constitution, diet, or occupation. For Jaundice, Headache, Constipation, Impure Blood, Pain in the Shoulders, Tightness of the Chest, Dizziness, Sour Eructations, Sick Headache, Alternating Costiveness and Diarrhœa, Bad Taste in the Mouth, Bilious attacks, Pain in region of Kidneys, Internal Fever, Heated Feeling about Stomach, Rush of Blood to Head, take Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Purgative Pellets. In explanation of the remedial power of these Purgative Pellets over so great a variety of diseases, it may be said that their action upon the animal economy is universal, not a gland or tissue escaping their sensative impress. Also does not impair the powers or properties of these Pellets. They are sugar-coated and inclosed in glass bottles, their virtues being thereby preserved unimpaired for any length of time, in any climate, so that they are always fresh and reliable. This is not the case with pills put up in cheap wooden or pasteboard boxes. For all diseases where a Laxative, Alterative, or Purgative, is indicated, these little Pellets will give the most satisfactory results. Sold by druggists.

CATARRH
SYMPTOMS.—Frequent headache, discharge falling into throat, sometimes profuse, watery, thick mucous, pous, purulent, offensive, etc. In others, a dryness, dry, watery, weak, or inflamed eyes, stopping up, or obstruction, of the nasal passages, ringing in ears, deafness, hawking and coughing to clear the throat, ulcerations, scabs from ulcers, voice altered, nasal twang, offensive breath, impaired or total deprivation of sense of smell and taste, dizziness, mental depression, loss of appetite, indigestion, enlarged tonsils, tickling cough, etc. Only a few of these symptoms are likely to be present in any case at one time.
DR. SAGE'S CATARRH REMEDY
produces radical cures of the worst cases of Catarrh, no matter of how long standing. The liquid remedy may be applied, or better applied by the use of Dr. PIERCE'S Douche. This is the only form of instrument yet invented with which medicine can be carried HIGH UP and PERFECTLY APPLIED to all parts of the affected nasal passages, to the nasal bone or cavities communicating therewith, in which sores and ulcers frequently exist, and from which the catarrhal discharge generally proceeds. Its use is pleasant and easily understood, from directions accompanying each instrument. Dr. SAGE'S Catarrh Remedy cures recent attacks of "Cold in the Head" by few applications. It is mild and pleasant to use, containing no strong or caustic drugs or poisons. Catarrh Remedy and Douche sold by druggists. R. V. PIERCE, M. PHOSPHATINE

INCORPORATED JANUARY, 1878. WORLD'S DISPENSARY MEDICAL ASSOCIATION BUFFALO AND LONDON. CAPITAL STOCK, $1,000,000.

(Successors to R. V. PIERCE, M. D.)

DR. R. V. PIERCE, having acquired a world-wide reputation in the treatment of Chronic Diseases, resulting in a professional business far exceeding his individual ability to conduct, some years ago induced several medical gentlemen to associate themselves with him, as the Faculty of the World's Dispensary, the Consulting Department of which has since been merged with the INVALIDS' HOTEL. The organization has been completed and incorporated under the name and style of World's Dispensary Medical Association, with the following officers:

Hon. R. V. Pierce, Pres. F. D. Pierce, V. Pres.
Jno. E. Pierce, Sec. Lester B. Smith, Treas.

NINE PHYSICIANS AND SURGEONS of eminence and skill have been chosen as the Faculty.

CHRONIC DISEASES of all forms respectfully invited to the province of our several specialties.

NOT NECESSARY—This division of practice is very ably managed by a gentleman of mature judgment and skill. Bronchial, Throat, and Lung Diseases treated with the most successful results.

DISEASES OF WOMEN—Especially superior facilities of a superior order for the cure of all those chronic diseases peculiar to females.

NERVOUS DISEASES—Paralysis, Nervous Debility, Epilepsy (Fits), Chorea (St. Vitus's Dance), Neuralgia, and other nervous affections, receive the attention of an expert in this specialty.

NOT necessary for patients to come to the Dispensary for advice. Medicines sent everywhere by mail or express, securely packed, free from observation. For particulars see "People's Common Sense Medical Advisor" (1,000 pages, paper-bound, 50 cents, or cloth, $1.50) or "Invalids' and Tourists' Guide Book" (100 pages, 10 cents), postpaid.

SURGICAL CASES—Among the operations which we are called upon most frequently to perform, are those for Nasal Polypus, Harelip, Tumors, Fistula in Ano, Piles, Hernia (Rupture), Hydrocele (Dropsy of the Scrotum), Varicocele, Ovarian and Uterine Tumors, Calculi (Stone in the Bladder), Stricture, etc., etc., which are now successfully treated as with a cut without surgical operation. Cancers, Club-foot, Spinal Curvature and other deformities. Send for pamphlet entitled, "Motion as a Curative Agent," sent on receipt of 10 cents.

Address, World's Dispensary Medical Association, BUFFALO, N. Y.

WOMAN

By an immense practice at the World's Dispensary and Invalids' Hotel, having treated thousands upon thousands of these diseases peculiar to woman, I have now perfected a most potent and positive remedy for these diseases.

To diagnosis this natural specific, I have named it

Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription

The term, however, is but a feeble expression of my high appreciation of its value, based upon personal observation. I have, while witnessing its positive results in the special diseases incident to the organism of woman, singled it out as the climax or crowning gem of my medical career. On its merits, as a positive, safe, and effectual remedy for this class of diseases, and one that will, at all times and under all circumstances, act kindly, I am willing to stake my reputation as a physician; and so confident am I that it will not disappoint the most sanguine expectations of a single invalid lady who uses it for any of the ailments for which I recommend it, that I offer and sell it under A POSITIVE GUARANTEE. (For conditions, see pamphlet wrapping bottle.)

The following are among those diseases in which my Favorite Prescription has worked cures, as if by magic, and with a certainty never before attained by any medicine: Leucorrhœa, Excessive Flowing, Painful Monthly Periods, Suppressions when from unnatural causes, Irregularities, Weak Back, Prolapsus, or Falling of the Uterus, Anteversion and Retroversion, Bearing-down Sensations, Internal Heat, Nervous Depression, Debility, Despondency, Threatened Miscarriage, Chronic Congestion, Inflammation and Ulceration of the Uterus, Impotency, Barrenness, or Sterility, and Female Weakness. I do not extol this medicine as a "cure-all," but it admirably fulfils a singleness of purpose, being a most perfect specific in all chronic diseases of the sexual system of woman. It will not disappoint, nor will it do harm, in any state or condition.

Those who desire further information on these subjects can obtain it in THE PEOPLE'S COMMON SENSE MEDICAL ADVISER, a book of over 900 pages, sent, post-paid, on receipt of $1.50. It treats fully of those diseases peculiar to Females, and gives much valuable advice in regard to the management of those affections.

Favorite Prescription sold by Druggists.

SWORN EVIDENCE.

The following Cure is probably the most remarkable ever effected by any medical preparation for the treatment of Catarrh:

Gentlemen,—I hereby certify that I have had Catarrh for ten years, and for the last six years have been a terrible sufferer. I was rendered partially deaf, had buzzing in the head, pains across the temple, dizzy spells, weak and painful eyes, swollen and ulcerated tonsils, hard and constant cough, severe pain across the chest, and every indication of consumption. My head ached all the time. The matter accumulated so rapidly in my head and throat that I could not keep them free. Frequently at night I would spring out of bed, in terror to me, at the point of suffocation. I would then have recourse to every means in my power to dislodge the mucus from my throat and head before being able to sleep again. For a period of six years my tonsils were ulcerated and so much inflamed that I could scarcely swallow. I finally consulted an eminent surgeon in regard to an operation on them, but at his request abandoned it. The constant inflammation and ulceration in my throat caused by the poisonous matter dropping down from my head had so irritated and inflamed my lungs that I coughed incessantly,—a deep hard cough. Meanwhile my system began to show the effects of this disease, so that I lost flesh, grew pale, and showed every symptom of an early death by consumption. When matters had reached this stage, or about six months ago, I began the use of SANFORD'S RADICAL CURE FOR CATARRH. After using the first bottle I began to improve rapidly. The first dose seemed to clear my head as I had not known it to be for years. It seemed gradually to arrest the discharges. It stopped my cough in three days. By using it as a gargle I soon found the inflammation and swelling of my tonsils so that they soon ceased to trouble me. The soreness across my chest disappeared, the buzzing noises in my head ceased, my senses of seeing and of hearing were completely restored, and every symptom of disease that had reduced me to the verge of the grave disappeared by the use of SANFORD'S RADICAL CURE FOR CATARRH.

I have been thus explicit because, as a druggist, I witness a great deal of suffering from Catarrh, and hope to convince many that this is a great remedy.

I am familiar with the treatment of Catarrh as practiced by the best physicians, and have consulted the most eminent about my case. I have used every kind of remedy and apparatus that have appeared during a period of six years past, and have, while following the use, taken great care of my general health, but obtained no relief or encouragement from any of them.

COLLINS' VOLTAIC PLASTER

Affords the most grateful relief in all Affections of the Chest and Lungs.

CHRONIC PLEURISY CURED.

MESSRS. WEEKS & POTTER: Gentlemen,—Having for many months suffered with a very lame side, called by my physician Chronic Pleurisy, caused by a former injury and strain, and for which I used many prescriptions and liniments, as well as the so-called rheumatic cures, without the least benefit, my physician recommended one of your COLLINS' VOLTAIC PLASTERS for my comfort, whereat, before the application of your invaluable Plaster, I was scarcely able to do any thing. I consider them inestimable, and shall will pleasure recommend them to the afflicted. Yours respectfully, MRS. FRANCES HARRIMAN. ORLAND, Me., April 21, 1876.

There is no medical or protective appliance that will prove so grateful and effective in Aching Coughs Irritation and Soreness of the Chest and Lungs. We believe them capable of preventing serious ills. these organs.

PRICE, 25 CENTS.

Do not confound these Plasters with the ordinary Plasters of the day, that by comparison are absolutely worthless.

The Amethysts.

Many of us still remember the beautiful Spanish dansеur, Senora Petita de Oliva, who in her time created such a furore in Germany. She has been dead many years—requiescat in pace! but in the flush of youth her flashing eyes and charming grace made mischief enough among her admirers when she tripped lightly over the boards or dashed along the crowded promenade in her carriage.

She created the greatest sensation in Berlin. Night after night the boxes and galleries of the Friedrich Wilhelm theatre fairly groaned beneath the weight of spectators. Crowds struggled around the ticket office offering any price for a good seat.

Well, among the many who worshipped the fair prima donna was a young merchant, Mr. B., a man of good family, who had but a few years before married a very loving young wife.

After Mr. B. had flattered Senora some time by bouquets and sweet words, he saw plainly that he must use greater means to make any impression on her. Although much in love, Mr. B. had yet the good sense left not to allow Senora's black eyes to play too great havoc with his purse. So after carefully considering the matter for some days he came to the conclusion that he would spend just five hundred thalers and no more in some out of jewelry for her.

No sooner thought than he set about to accomplish it. He went to one of the finest jewelers in the city (under the Lenden, of couse,) and looked at some goods.

A set of amethysts and brilliants, in the design of violets with dew drops on them, struck his fancy; but, alas, the price was far above that which he was willing to give. He raised a little after some consideration, for these could not fail to please Senora, then a little more and more—but no, the jeweler would not take a cent less than eight hundred thalers. After haggling a long while to no effect Mr. B. at length took up his hat a little impatiently and said he would consider the matter and come again.

In what way Senora got wind of this was never clearly known. Whether Mr. B., in an unguarded moment had declared his intention to any one, or whether he was overheard, is a mystery. However, it was a few days later Senora drove up to the jeweler's and entered the establishment.

"What can I do for you, madame?" asked the salesman, with a bow.

"Oh, only a trifle," she replied, with a smile and one of her charming glances.

"Senora, with pleasure."

"Will you tell me," she went on, glancing around hastily, and lowering her voice to a confidential whisper, "in confidence—you understand me—if there was a young man here this week looking at some sets."

"O, there were several of them here," replied the jeweler with a sly look.

"I believe you. But the one I mean is about from twenty-six to twenty-eight years old, has brown hair, is of medium height, and wears a full beard."

"Ah, yes, I know. You mean Mr. B. you have guessed rightly. He was here last Monday."

"And did he purchase anything?" she asked eagerly.

"Well, that is one of the secrets of the trade. I am sorry I cannot tell you. But, pray, take a seat, madame, and examine some of our goods."

"Very willingly. Although I tell you now I never purchase any jewelry. That is always done for me. But to return to Mr. B.—you have not answered my question yet. Rest assured I shall regard your reply as confidential."

"Well, if you will not betray me, Mr. B., selected something, but when it came to the price he found that much too high."

"What?—Too high? O fi done!" cried the pretty Spanish lady, with a pout, fanning herself vigorously.

"Here, judge for yourself, madame, For this beautiful piece of workmanship. I asked him only eight hundred thalers, and six hundred was the very highest bid. Just observe these stones and the exquisite design!"

"Oh, how abominably mean! He thought that too high? Why it is incomprehensible; why, this brooch is magnificent, and how brilliantly the earrings sparkle! You are an artist, sir—oh, they are lovely! What a miser he must be! How mean."

"But then he said he would come again."

"Did he? I hope so, indeed. He must buy them. I will have them. Je le veux, monsieur. Do you understand me?"

"Certainly, madame, and I will do all that I can to let you have them, rest assured."

"Thank you. Au revoir!"

Senora left the store. The next day Mr. B. returned. He again offered six hundred thalers—six hundred and fifty at last, but he had to go away again without the jewels, for the merchant would not hear to less than eight hundred. A few more days passed and then Senora reappeared at the store.

"Well, has Mr. B. been here again?" was her first question.

"He certainly has been here, madame," replied the jeweler, rubbing his hands.

"Well, and what of it?"

"I regret to say I still have the jewels He offered six hundred and fifty, but my price is the very lowest I can go."

"Oh, how provoking! What a nigardly fellow he is!" she cried, distorting her pretty brows with a frown. "Bah! Was ever anything so provoking! How much did he offer?"

"Six hundred and fifty thalers."

"And the set costs?"

"Eight hundred. I cannot afford to take a thaler less."

Senora studied a moment, while her little foot tapped impatiently under her silk dress.

"Listen. I am sure Mr. B. will come again. I am very desirous that he should purchase these jewels. You understand?"

"Certainly, madame."

Senora drew forth her purse and counted out some money. "I have a proposal to make. Here, I will pay you a hundred and fifty thalers—the difference—when Mr. B. comes give him the set for six hundred and fifty. What do you say to that?"

"What can I say?" The jeweler was so surprised at first he hardly knew how to take it, but after a moment's reflection could see no objection to the plan, since he got his price.

"Very well then. I agree to it."

"Oh, sir, you are very gallant, very kind and courteous. I thank you."

One glance, one wave of her fan, and she laid down the money and left. The next day Mr. B. came for the third time. He looked a little worried.

"I have considered the matter," he began. "I believe you have a set of turquois there."

"What, Mr. B., the turquois," cried the jeweler. "Impossible. I can never sell you them after the amethysts. Just consider—"

"No," was the reply with a frown. "I cannot go so far beyond what my circumstances allow. Six hundred and fifty thalers, if you only think of it, is an unheard of price. The turquois only cost five hundred."

"But, Mr. B., you had better take the amethysts."

"No, I will not do so."

"Well, I'll tell you what I'll do. I, too, have thought it over, you see. There is no comparison between the two, you know."

"Certainly not, but—"

"I will let you have the amethysts for six hundred and fifty, although I really lose on them. However, I hope thereby to secure your custom in the future. Here, six hundred and fifty, and no more bargaining."

"What? Do you mean it?" cried Mr. B., in joyous surprise.

"Certainly I do, sir. I only ask you to remember me in the future," said the jeweler, shutting the satin box. Mr. B. paid his six hundred and fifty and started off triumphant, with the beautiful amethysts. He looked about for a carriage in order to drive to Pepita, and lay the jewels at her feet. But just at that moment there was no coach in sight, and it began to sprinkle slightly. Mr. B. went into a confectioner's, near by, in order to save his new hat. He ordered something, and while waiting drew the box from his pocket to gaze once more at the fair jewels. How lovely they were! Six hundred and fifty thalers; humph! a large sum for a present.

He thoughtfully stirred his chocolate. Yes, it was really a great deal of money to waste on a pretty dancing girl who had struck his fancy. Really a sinful waste. Mr. B.'s conscience began at length to twinge.

"Humph, humph, nothing but a pretty dancing girl who has fine ankles, and knows how to use her eyes. And you, Gustave, old fellow, you who have a dear, sweet little wife at home, so faithful and true to you—why she'd weep her eyes out if she knew this! Bless me, but how lovely these amethysts violets would look against her soft blonde hair, and then the pretty eyes she'd make when she saw them, my sweet little Olga! And to-morrow—yes, to-morrow is her birthday! Only twenty-one! Besides, people are beginning to notice my infatuation for this dancing woman. Here, waiter, my bill—one cup of chocolate!"

Mr. B. hurried home from the store, and before a meaner impulse could again get possession of him laid the jewels, not at Pepita's but Olga's feet. Olga was unspeakably happy, and so was her husband, especially, though, in thinking what a lucky escape he had made from acting the fool.

Not so self-complacent and content was Senora. Days, yes, a week went by, and adorer and jewels failed to appear. At length she went to the jeweler.

"Hasn't he been here yet?" she asked with flashing eyes.

"Yes, madame, he was here last Tuesday."

"Well, and my jewels—"

"He paid for them and took them away."

"Took them. But, my dear sir, he has never been near me! This is incomprehensible."

"Very incomprehensible, madame."

"Can you understand it all? What has he done with them?"

"I haven't the faintest idea. I am greatly surprised that they are not in your possession."

"Ha, the old miser," cried Senora, working up some temper, "I will—I will—what can I do, sir?"

"I advise you to wait patiently," counseled the jeweler. "I am convinced he will take them to you, madame; certainly he will, certainly. Only have patience. As I said, he has the jewels. You see the purchase entered here."

Senora glanced hastily at the book and left the store. But the next day she came in a genuine rage.

"Ha, el coterado, "she cried, white with anger. "Do you know, sir, what that man has done?"

"No, madame," in wild wonder.

"He has given my jewels to his wife."

"What?"

"His wife! A friend of mine saw her with them on last evening. She told me of it, and truly there they sat,—Mr. B. and his wife,—she flashing in my jewels. Oh, I nearly choked with rage!"

"Why, this is dreadful," said the jeweler in a fright.

"Certainly it is. And now tell me, how can I get them?"

"I see no way."

"And my hundred and fifty thalers—"

The jeweler shrugged his shoulders.

"This is regular cheatery. I shall go to the police!" cried Senora.

"Don't do that, fair lady, the less noise you make about the affair the better for you. The laugh would all be at you."

"I regret, madame, but I am in the trade, you know."

Senora arose, a sneer from her ruby lips, a scornful glance from her flashing eyes, and she vanished. Poor Senora, she lost her one hundred and fifty, the jewels, and Mr. B.'s smile at one fell swoop.

Not long ago I attended a wedding where madame B. was one of the guests. She wore the beautiful amethysts, looking lovely beyond compare. The sweet little wife has no idea that Senora Pepita paid in part for those jewels.

The Long Walk.

O'LEARY DEAD.

At six o'clock Wednesday evening it was reported that O'Leary had left the track, sick, the score then being: Rowell 250, Harriman 242, Ennis 228, O'Leary 215. At nine—Rowell 266, Harriman 257, Ennis 240; one of Rowell's legs badly swollen, and strapped. At ten—Rowell 271, Harriman 261, Ennis 245. At eleven—Rowell 275, Harriman 263, Ennis 246; it was rumored that O'Leary was dead.

At half-past one o'clock Thursday morning a despatch was received in this city from New York, confirming the report of the death of O'Leary.

Senatorial Talk.

Senator Wadleigh seems to find it difficult to suit our contemporaries at Concord and Nashua. The Monitor thinks that in the New York contest he should have sided with Conkling, and the Telegraph affects to regret that he should not have strengthened the hand of the President. Both of these papers doubtless are actuated in thus expressing their sentiments by that unselfish patriotism which finds vent only in expressions of this nature.

A senator in Congress may often have reasons for giving or withholding his vote. These may be well enough breathed in the ear, though it would be bad taste to proclaim them upon the house-tops.

Such attacks upon the senator by the papers of his own political faith, perhaps may serve a purpose, but it will certainly require objections of a graver and more substantial character to induce the people of New Hampshire to substitute for their senator — who is of acknowledged ability and integrity, and whose experience and influence are now becoming most valuable to us, as the control of the Senate changes—any seeker for the position who attempts to attain the desired honor by any ungenerous depreciation of the present incumbent, or any other candidate.

How Georgians Conduct Business.

Col. Robert A. Alston, a member of the Georgia Legislature, and Capt. Edward Cox, had a pistol fight in the State treasurer's office in the capitol at Atlanta, Ga., on the 11th inst. Cox was shot in the mouth and hand; Alston was shot through the brain, and killed. Cox, who was the aggressor, was not much injured. The difficulty arose from Alston having a power of attorney from Senator Gordon to sell the latter's interest in the State convict lease. Cox is sub-lessee under Gordon, and wanted Alston to sell Gordon's interest to one Walters, who had promised to buy Cox out, but Alston sold to another person. Cox threatened Alston at noon that he would kill him before sundown if the trade was not cancelled and made with his man. He hunted Alston down, the governor having detained Alston at the capitol. The quarrel was renewed, and both drew pistols with the above result.

The Flood in Hungary.

A despatch from Szegedin, Hungary, to London, dated at eight o'clock on the morning of the 12th inst., says: "After a fearful night of anxiety all efforts are useless. The water broke through with immense force at three o'clock, carrying away a part of the railway station, embankment, and rolling stock, and within three hours the town was many feet deep in water. Terrible suffering is commencing. Shrieks and cries from thousands are heard. Houses are crashing by the score, and in many cases carrying their inmates with them. God knows what we shall do to-night. There is no gas, the works being fifteen feet in the water. I fear we shall run short of food. One boat was just going to a large house full of people, when a fearful crash carried with it the whole living freight. The scene is simply heart-rending. Over 80,000 people are out of house and home. Hundreds are drowning, and the water still rising rapidly.

Naval Matters.

The Portsmouth, at Hampton Roads March 10th, has been ordered to Washington to put a battery on board her.

The Navy Department is informed that the Richmond sailed from Villa Franche, France, Feb. 23d, for Port Said, Egypt. All were well on board. The Richmond will go first to India, at some port of which Gen. Grant will join her. She will then proceed on a cruise in eastern waters, including visits to China, Japan and elsewhere.

News and Notes.

Sheriff Vickery, of Douglass county, Mo., went with a posse to arrest Shelt Alsape, but the latter fired on the posse and killed the sheriff. The fire was returned, and Alsape and his little daughter, five years old, were killed, and two other persons wounded.

Wallace Riggs and Alonzo Patten have been arrested on suspicion of murdering Augustus Gowen of Oldtown, Me. Patten separated from his wife about eighteen months ago, since when Riggs has been boarding with her. Lately she has been working for Gowen, and it is supposed that they were too intimate. Patten, though not living with his wife, is exceedingly jealous, and it is thought that he and Riggs committed the murder together.

Schooner Clara F. Friend, one of the missing Gloucester fishermen, arrived safe at home on Monday night, the 10th inst. Officers and crew all well. There was great rejoicing over her safe arrival. Thirteen schooners were still missing after the C. F. Friend's arrival.

An important arrest has been made at Omaha, Neb., of A. C. Holland, charged with being the express robber in the fall of 1875. He was an engineer on the North Missouri railroad, and with a confederate entered the express car as the train was approaching St. Louis, overpowered the messenger, rifled the safe of about $3000, and got away. Holland finally enlisted as a private soldier at Fort Omaha.

In the United States court at Louisville, on the 10th inst., Samuel McKee, the attorney for twenty counterfeiters, exhibited three dies for the manufacture of spurious coin. United States District Attorney Walton asked the court to compel McKee to return the dies to the United States authorities. McKee said he could prove that the government detectives who arrested these parties had manufactured and sold spurious coin, and that the dies did not belong to his clients.

Some unknown person in New England having sent to Whitelaw Reid, of the New York Tribune, $1000 to be expended in charity as he saw fit, Mr. Reid has sent six destitute families, numbering forty-two persons, and thirty-six New York street boys, to the far west, where arrangements have been made to have them settle on farms.

On the night of the 14th of February, at Williamsport, Pa., Charles Hill, a young man, had some difficulty at a party with a neighbor named Barclay, and in a fight was worsted. In revenge he burned Barclay's barn the same night. A few days ago he was sentenced to pay a fine of $500, with costs of prosecution, and to be confined at hard labor in State prison for ten years.

A British official in India writes to England that the people of Cashmere are dying by thousands of starvation, and that the country bids fair to be depopulated.

New Hampshire Items.

The temperance movement at Meredith still continues, and has lost little of its strength since Messrs. Booth and Smith departed. Dr. Rankin, a temperance worker from Brooklyn, N. Y., is carrying on the meetings, and, owing to the feeling excited, the beer and cider law was adopted without a dissenting vote at the recent town meeting.

The new tax blanks, by which each tax-payer becomes his own assessor, have been distributed. The present law is faulty in many particulars, and it will doubtless be amended or repealed at the coming legislative session. Many of the largest tax-payers are absent for several weeks, and there are no provisions whereby they can be assessed or taxed.

The Unitarians of New Hampshire are already making arrangements for their annual grove meeting next summer at Weirs Landing, commencing July 21st, and closing the 28th. The gathering, although under the managment of New Hampshire people, will be of a national character, and will be open to believers in a liberal faith from all parts of the country. The committee already have assurances of the attendance of prominent clergyman and others of the denomination, not only from this section of the country, but from the western and southern States. It is intended to have among the speakers a large number of the most eminent Unitarian ministers in the United States.

The town of Candia, which has recently gained an unpleasant notoriety through the tribulations of its town treasurer, has a large amount of unpaid taxes. J. C. Hobbs, the collector, has just advertised in the Candia Banner one hundred and ten lots of real estate which will be sold at auction April 19th, unless the taxes upon the same are discharged before that date. The levies upon these lots of real estate vary from twenty-six cents to $57.46, while partial payments have been made in a few cases. Thirty-six dogs also roam about the town, upon which the tax is unpaid. The average valuation of the town in 1875-6 was $583,313, and the population in 1870 was 1457. Candia now owes rising of $18,000, exclusive of the amount due from Ingalls, the treasurer.

The New England Mutual Life Insurance Company.

The annual report of this long established and reliable company contains several features of interest. Established in 1844, this company has made itself a place among the strongest corporations in the country, and gives to its members most desirable advantages. Thoroughly mutual in its policy, it makes the most careful investments of its funds, has an excellent method of taking risks, and is very liberal in its treatment of retiring members. Its business is conducted with a strict regard to economy, the expenses for 1878 having been only a half of one per cent on the mean amount insured during the year. Since 1869 the expenses have at no time been more than .73 of one per cent., the ratio in that year. For the past nine years the ratios have been .57, .58, .70, .51, .50, .51, .48, .53, and .50 respectively. The company has a surplus of $1,851,325.54. The report is now ready for distribution and will be sent free on application.—Boston Journal.

ROYAL BAKING POWDER

Absolutely Pure.

The Royal Baking Powder is a pure Cream of Tartar powder, made from pure Grape Cream Tartar, imported exclusively for this powder direct from the wine district of France. An old experienced housekeeper writes that, although she has to pay a few pennies more for the "Royal," finds that it goes so much further and works much better than saleratus, soda, or cream of tartar.

☞ BAKING POWDER should never be sold in paper packages, as it becomes stale and deteriorates upon exposure to the atmosphere. 110.

Graham Flour.

When Wheat is ground it becomes Wheat Meal; when it is bolted it becomes Wheat Flour. Dr. Graham, who lectured through the country forty years ago on dietetics formed the fraternity known as "Grahamites." He said that bolted Flour should not be eaten, but that bread ought to be made of Wheat Meal instead; from him it got the name of Graham Flour. All Graham Flour therefore ought to be Wheat Meal, but about three-quarters of it is what we call made up Graham, that is, artificially mixed Cheap Flour and Bran, and is in every way inferior to the genuine article. Hardly a person who uses the genuine Wheat Meal would take the bogus article except on compulsion.

THE CITY.

Rider & Cotton advertise for sale a row-boat, nearly new and with gear complete.

Miss Mary Anderson is to appear at Music hall on Monday evening, the 24th inst., as Parthenia in "Ingomar the barbarian."

The meeting of Storer Encampment, G. A. R., announced for Wednesday evening, was postponed to eight o'clock this (Thursday) evening, when it will be held at the armory of the City Guards.

We are glad that at last one person has come out in approval of the action—or inaction—of the board of aldermen in the south millpond matter, and of their last-adopted plan of remedying the nuisance; it was getting terribly monotonous to hear so much in opposition, with no single voice in favor.

A party of eighteen young people from Stratham came from that town to this city in a four-horse barge, on the evening of the 11th inst., and were nearly five hours on the road, the wheeling being execrable. The occasion of the visit was to surprise a young married couple living on Gates street, the bride being a native of Stratham.

The Lilliputian Opera Company, composed of three young ladies of whom the tallest is but thirty-eight inches high, five young gentlemen of whom the tallest is but three feet high, and one gentleman who is eight feet high, will perform in this city on Tuesday and Wednesday evenings, April 8th and 9th, with a matinee on Wednesday afternoon.

Advertisers should bear in mind that in addition to our regular list of subscribers there is a very large number of persons who take this paper—from the doorsteps, and read it in the calm of the early morning, with clear heads. Nothing escapes readers of this kind, and in this respect as an advertising medium the CHRONICLE has almost unlimited advantages over any paper in the city.

The Portsmouth Commandery of the Golden Cross is being flooded with applications for admission, and among the applicants are some of our leading citizens and several ladies. The first regular evening meeting will be on Thursday evening, the 20th inst., when Supreme Deputy Commander Morgan will be present and work the degrees. There will be a meeting of the order at Dr. Whittier's office this (Thursday) afternoon at 4:30 o'clock.

City Marshal Entwistle was on the 12th inst. notified by a lady that a young woman about a month ago left her boarding place on Rock street with the ostensible purpose of going to Lawrence, Mass., to work in the mill, and has not since been heard of, though repeatedly written to by her friends here. Her description answers closely to the body found in Lynn, scars and all; and the trunk she carried away corresponds to the one in which the body was found. It is said that she had been intimate with a young shoemaker of Haverhill, Mass. Marshal Entwistle telegraphed this clue to the chiefs of police in Lawrence and Lynn.

[Communicated.]

"MUCH ADO."

Mr. Editor: Some party seems to be trying through the columns of one of the local papers to work himself up to an unhealthy, not to say dangerous state of excitement over what he characterizes the "South pond nuisance," apparently writing both editorials and communications to promote his purpose. His manner gives room for the impression that he may be a resident near to the pond, and that he is generous and public-spirited enough to be willing to have his real estate enhanced in value by a heavy outlay by the city for "progressive" improvements in the direction sought.

That an unpleasant odor arises at times during a short portion of the year, from the northerly and easterly shore of the pond, and has done so during the memory of the "oldest inhabitant," is true, and equally true it is, I think, that this evil has been exaggerated of late fully ten-fold by those more or less desirous of putting a large job upon the city in removing its cause. Although the writer does not live upon the margin of this "foul cesspool," he has resided in close proximity to it many years and has never experienced any inconvenience from the "foul odors" that arise therefrom.

Nevertheless, inasmuch as the evil really has existence in some degree, and is more or less annoying to many, it is well that it should be abated; but it is not well nor necessary that the city, under the circumstances existing, with its large debt and its depressed and decreasing business, should be put to an extravagant or heavy outlay therefor. The city authorities did well enough, perhaps, in securing possession of the pond, as this will enable the city to control the annoyance complained of and make any improvements now and hereafter that may be found necessary to effect this end, without having to quiet claims for damages from any quarter; but I think they acted rashly in destroying the mill, and that their present more deliberate proceedings are deserving of commendation rather than censure.

As I have remarked, the offensive odor arising from the pond comes from its north-easterly shore, and is exhaled by the action of the sun upon matter there deposited, and exposed when the tides run low and the pond is drained out, as was done by the running of the mill. It does not come from the bed of the pond, which is always covered with water, and there would be no more utility in dredging its bed to abate the evil than in dredging the bed of the river to be rid of the odor that arises from the flats exposed on its sides at low water. The direct and simple remedy is to flow the pond to the highest point, and keep it thus perpetually during the hot season, with the exception of an occasional let-off in the night-time, to change the water. This, done in the least expensive way to make the work effective and permanent, is what is required of the city authorities, and if after it is accomplished any portion of the matter of which I have spoken still remains unsubmerged let it be removed, and the remedy will be entirely completed.

It is to be hoped that the offending majority of the board of aldermen will not allow themselves to be frightened from their propriety,—bulldozed, by the arrogant domination and denunciation of an outside individual or two—nor be deterred from standing by their convictions and doing what they believe the true and best interests of the city demand in the case, by any threatened tempest in a teapot.

PRUDENCE.

NAVY YARD ITEMS.

The test of the Kearsarge's boilers with steam was entirely satisfactory.

A summary court martial has been convened at the navy yard for the purpose of trying two marines named Goodman and Carey, the former for being drunk on his post, and the latter for getting drunk and leaving his post. The board is composed of the following officers: Lieut. Comdr. Augustus G. Kellogg, (senior member,) Lieut. Walton Goodwin and Lieut. Charles Seymour, U. S. N., and Lieut. David Whipple, U. S. M. C., as recorder.

The board of survey on the dry dock, of which Comdr. Robert F. Bradford was president, we are informed has reported that about $7,000 will put the dock in fair condition, until sufficient money is appropriated to put it in perfect order. This estimate is simply for calking the sloping ribs and other exposed parts, putting in graving pieces where the butts are decayed, and other temporary repairs. Probably $100,000 are needed to put the dock in first-class order.

THE VICINITY.

At Seabrook, on a voting list containing 454 names, are the names of sixty-one voters named Eaton.

Newcastle at the late election voted not to allow the sale of cider and lager beer within the limits of the town.

The citizens of Exeter on the 11th inst. voted to appoint a town liquor agent, and to enforce the law relative to the sale of lager beer.

The newspaper correspondents of Rockingham county are invited to meet at Exeter on Saturday next, March 15th, to form a Correspondents' Union.

The town meeting of Newington was opened at the proper hour on Tuesday, and the citizens were still voting vigorously at four o'clock Wednesday afternoon, with no choice.

G. Harrison Jenness, Esq., assistant engrossing clerk of the national House of Representatives, arrived at his home in Rye on Saturday, the 8th inst., on a week's vacation. He looks as jovial and hearty as ever, the official cares which harass the life out of some people evidently having no more effect upon him than do drops of rain on a duck's back.

At the town meeting in Hampton, March 11th, the following officers were elected: Sewell W. Dow, republican, moderator; John M. Akerman, repub., town clerk; William E. Lane and John F. Marston, republicans, and Enoch P. Young, democrat, selectmen; E. P. Leavitt, dem., superintending school committee. At half-past five o'clock in the afternoon the meeting adjourned to meet at one o'clock on the 12th, to transact the usual town business.

Not Symptoms, but the Disease.

It would seem to be a truth appreciable by all, and especially by professors of the healing art, that to remove the disease, not to alleviate its symptoms, should be the chief aim of medication. Yet in how many instances do we see this truth admitted in theory, ignored in practice. The reason that Hostetter's Stomach Bitters is successful in so many cases, with which remedies previously tried were inadequate to cope, is attributable to the fact that it is a medicine which reaches and removes the causes of the various maladies to which it is adapted. Indigestion, fever and ague, liver complaint, gout, rheumatism, disorders of the bowels, urinary affections and other maladies are not palliated merely, but rooted out by it. It goes to the fountain head. It is really, not nominally, a radical remedy, and it endows the system with an amount of vigor which is its best protection against disease.

The Cards Got Mixed.

A reporter of the Cincinnati Enquirer was sent to a hotel to interview Gen. Sherman. The reporter sent up his card and a young lady, attended by a footman, who was also in the reception room, sent up her card at the same time. The messenger soon returned with two cards from Gen. Sherman, and the clerk handed one to the reporter, the other to the footman. The reporter read the card that had been handed to him, while his hair stood on end, as follows: "Regret exceedingly that I can't come. Give my love to your mother, and assure her I have not forgotten old times. Hope the soiree will be a success, as I'm sure it will be. Pardon the witticism when I say that yours truly is very soiree he can't be present. W. T. S." The reporter had just finished reading, and realized the mistake that had been made, when, looking up, he saw whirl away the carriage which contained the young lady. Just then a card bearing the following rude inscription dropped from the lady's nerveless hand and fluttered to the ground: "Go to —! What do I care about the army, the Chinese bill, the coolie trade, the presidential question, or any other — question! Never heard of a man named Tilden, and don't want to, but I regard him as a horse thief of the deepest dye. Again I say, as I said at the first go there yourself! W. R. S."

THE NEW HAMPSHIRE
GAZETTE
Established 1756.
The Gazette is published every Thursday, and sent to Subscribers at the low price of
$1.50 per year, paid in advance, or
$2 at the end of the year.
It contains full accounts of all of importance that transpires in Portsmouth and its vicinity, and a condensed summary of NEWS, foreign and domestic; editorials upon current topics; New Hampshire items; carefully prepared marine news, containing reports of vessels owned at this port, or officered by men from Portsmouth or its neighborhood; and is just the paper for residents desiring to be posted on all that takes place at home, while to those living in the vicinity of Portsmouth, or to former residents who retain their interest in the "old home by the sea," it is the best means of keeping informed of what transpires in this city.
— THE —
NEW HAMPSHIRE GAZETTE
Contains more original matter
Than any other paper of its size in the State, the editors working more with their pens than with their scissors.

TO ADVERTISERS
THE N. H. GAZETTE
Presents an excellent opportunity for a WEEKLY INVITATION TO CUSTOMERS, at a reasonable rate, and all those who desire to reach patrons in Rockingham and York counties will find it an economical medium. THE GAZETTE is in many instances the only paper taken by families, and it is read to a large extent in localities whence is derived much of the trade of Portsmouth, a fact which our merchants should not fail to bear in mind.

GOLDEN MEDICAL DISCOVERY
Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery cures all Humors, from the worst Scrofula to a common Blotch, Pimple, or Eruption, Mercurial disease, Mineral Poisons, and their effects, are eradicated, and vigorous health and a sound constitution established. Erysipelas, Salt-rheum, Fever Sores, Scaly or Rough Skin, in short, all diseases caused by bad blood, are conquered by this powerful, purifying, and invigorating medicine.
Especially has it manifested its potency in curing Tetter, Ring Worm, Boils, Carbuncles, Sore Eyes, Scrofulous Sores and Swellings, White Swellings, Goitre or Thick Neck, and Enlarged Glands.
If you feel dull, drowsy, debilitated, have sallow color of skin, or yellowish-brown spots on face or body, frequent headache or dizziness, bad taste in mouth, internal heat or chills alternated with hot flashes, low spirits, and gloomy forebodings, irregular appetite, and tongue coated, you are suffering from Torpid Liver, or "Biliousness." In many cases of "Liver Complaint" only part of these symptoms are experienced. As a remedy for all such cases, Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery has no equal, as it effects perfect and radical cures.
In the cure of Bronchitis, Severe Coughs, and the early stages of Consumption, it has astonished the medical faculty, and eminent physicians prescribe it the greatest medical discovery of the age. While it cures the severest Coughs, it strengthens the system and purifies the blood. Sold by druggists.
R. V. PIERCE, M. D., Prop'r, World's Dispensary and Invalids' Hotel, Buffalo, N. Y.

Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Purgative Pellets
SIZE OF PELLETS.
THE "LITTLE GIANT" CATHARTIC.
No more of taking the large, repulsive, nauseous pills, composed of cheap, crude, and bulky ingredients. These pellets are one-fourth the size of ordinary pills. Being entirely vegetable, no particular care is required while using them. They operate without disturbance to the constitution, diet, or occupation. For Jaundice, Headache, Constipation, Impure Blood, Pain in the Shoulders, Tightness of the Chest, Dizziness, Sour Eructations from the Stomach, Bad Taste in the Mouth, Bilious attacks, Pain in region of Kidneys, Internal Fever, Bloated feeling about Stomach, Rush of Blood to Head, take Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Purgative Pellets. In explanation of the remedial power of these Purgative Pellets over so great a variety of diseases, it may be said that their action upon the animal economy is universal, not a gland or tissue escaping their searching inspection. Age does not impair the properties of these Pellets. They are sugar-coated and inclosed in glass bottles, their virtues being thereby preserved uninpaired for any length of time, in any climate, so that they are always fresh and reliable. This is not the case with pills put up in cheap wooden or pasteboard boxes. For all diseases where a Laxative, Alterative, or Purgative, is indicated, these little Pellets will give the most perfect satisfaction. Sold by druggists.
R. V. PIERCE, M. D., Prop'r, World's Dispensary and Invalids' Hotel, Buffalo, N. Y.

CATARRH
SYMPTOMS—Frequent headache, discharge falling into throat, sometimes profuse, watery, thick mucous, purulent, offensive, etc. In others, a dryness, dry, watery, weak, or inflamed eyes, stopping of the nose or obstruction, of the nasal passages, ringing in ears, deafness, hawking and coughing to clear the throat, ulcerations, scabs from ulcers, voice altered, nasal twang, offensive breath, impaired or total deprivation of sense of smell and taste, dizziness, mental depression, loss of appetite, indigestion, enlarged tonsils, tickling cough, etc. Only a few of these symptoms are likely to be present in any case at one time.
DR. SAGE'S CATARRH REMEDY
produces radical cures of the worst cases of Catarrh, no matter of how long standing. The liquid remedy may be snuffed, or better applied by the use of Dr. PIERCE'S Douche. This is the only form of instrument yet invented with which liquid medicine can be carried HIGH UP and PERFECTLY APPLIED to all parts of the affected nasal passages and the chambers or cavities communicating therewith, in which sores are most frequently exist, and from which the catarrhal discharge generally proceeds. Its use is pleasant and easily understood, from directions accompanying each instrument. Dr. SAGE'S Catarrh Remedy cures recent attacks of "Cold in the Head" by a few applications. It is mild and pleasant to use, containing no acrid, poisonous drugs or poisons. Catarrh Remedy and Douche sold by druggists.

the most valuable chronicle in the world, as it is the cheapest. Every week is given a faithful report of embracing complete and comprehensive despatches from Washington, including full reports of the speeches of eminent politicians on the questions of the hour.

Political News

The Farm Department

of the Weekly Herald gives the latest as well as the most practical suggestions and discoveries relating to the duties of the farmer, including for raising Cattle, Poultry, Grains, Trees, Vegetables, &c., &c., with suggestions for keeping buildings and farming utensils in repair. This is supplemented by a well-edited department, widely copied, under the head of

The Home,

giving recipes for practical dishes, hints for making clothing and for keeping up with the latest fashions at the lowest price. Every item of cooking or economy suggested in this department is practically tested by experts before publication. Letters from our Paris and London correspondents on the very latest fashions. The Home Department of the Weekly Herald will save the housewife more than one hundred times the price of the paper. The interests of

are looked after, and everything relating to mechanics and labor-saving is carefully recorded. There is a page devoted to all the latest phases of the business markets, Crops, Merchandise, &c., &c. A valuable feature is found in the specially reported prices and conditions of

The Produce Market.

Sporting News at home and abroad, together with a Story every week, a Sermon by some eminent divine, Literary, Musical, Dramatic, Personal and Sea Notes. There is no paper in the world which contains so much news matter every week as the Weekly Herald, which is sent, postage free, for One Dollar. You can subscribe at any time.

INCORPORATED JANUARY, 1873. CAPITAL STOCK, $1,000,000.

WORLD'S DISPENSARY MEDICAL ASSOCIATION. BUFFALO AND LONDON.

(Successors to R. V. PIERCE, M. D.)

DR. R. V. PIERCE, having acquired a world-wide reputation in the treatment of Chronic Diseases, resolves to make this a specialty, and to associate themselves with him, as the Faculty of the World's Dispensary, the Medical Department of which has since been merged with the INVALIDS' HOTEL. The organization has been completed and incorporated under the name and style of World's Dispensary Medical Association, with the following officers: HON. R. V. PIERCE, Pres. F. D. PIERCE, V. Pres. JNO. E. PIERCE, Sec. LESTER B. SMITH, Treas.

NINE PHYSICIANS AND SURGEONS of eminence and skill have been chosen as the Faculty.

CHRONIC DISEASES of all forms come within the province of our well-matured plans.

LUNG DISEASES.—This division of practice is very able managed by a gentleman of mature judgment and skill. Bronchial, Throat, and Lung Diseases treated with the most successful results.

DISEASES OF WOMEN.—Especially are our facilities of a superior order for the cure of all those chronic diseases peculiar to females.

NERVOUS DISEASES.—Paralysis, Nervous Debility, Epilepsy (Fits), Convulsions, St. Vitus's Dance, Neuralgia, and other nervous affections, receive the attention of a physician in this specialty.

NOT NECESSARY TO SEE PATIENTS.—By our original system of diagnosis, we can treat many chronic diseases as successfully without as with a personal consultation. For particulars see "People's Common Sense Medical Advisor" (1,000 pages, text practical) or "Illustrated Medical and Journal Guide Book" (100 pages, 10 cents post-paid).

SURGICAL CASES.—Among the operations which we are called upon frequently to perform, are those for Nasal Polypus, Harelip, Tumors, Fistula in Ano, Hydrocele (Rupture), Hydrocele (Dropsy of the Scrotum), Varicocele, Ovarian and Uterine Tumors, Cancer, Stricture, Piles, Cataract, Strabismus, etc., etc. We also treat successfully, by a new method without surgical operation, Cancers, Club-feet, Spinal Curvature, and other deformities. (See pamphlet entitled, "Motion as a Curative Agent," sent on receipt of 10 cents.)

WOMAN

By an immense practice at the World's Dispensary and Invalids' Hotel, having treated many thousand cases of those diseases peculiar to women, I have been enabled to perfect a most potent and positive remedy for these diseases.

To designate this remedy a specific, I have named it

Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription

The term, however, is but a feeble expression of my high appreciation of its value, based upon personal observation. I have, while witnessing its positive results in the special diseases incident to the organism of woman, singled it out as the chief, or crowning gem of my medical career. On its merits, as a positive, safe, and effectual remedy for this class of diseases, and one that will, at all times and under all circumstances, act kindly, I am willing to stake my reputation as a physician; and so confident am I that it will not disappoint the most sanguine expectations of a single invalid lady who uses it for any of the ailments for which I recommend it, that I offer and sell it under A POSITIVE GUARANTEE. (For conditions, see pamphlet wrapping bottle.)

The following are among those diseases in which my Favorite Prescription has worked cures, as if by magic, and with a certainty never before attained by any medicine: Leucorrhœa, Excessive Flowing, Painful Monthly Periods, Suppressions when from unnatural causes, Irregularities, Weak Back, Prolapsus, or Falling of the Womb, Anteversion and Retroversion, Bearing-down Sensations, Internal Heat, Nervous Depression, Debility, Despondency, Threatened Miscarriage, Chronic Congestion, Inflammation and Ulceration of the Uterus, Impotency, Barrenness, or Sterility, and Female Weakness. I do not exist this medicine as a "cure-all," but it admirably fills a long felt want of a perfectly safe and most perfect specific in all chronic diseases of the sexual system of woman, singled it out as the chief, or crowning gem of my medical career. Those who desire further information on these subjects can obtain it in THE PEOPLE'S COMMON SENSE MEDICAL ADVISER, a book of over 900 pages, sent, post-paid, on receipt of $1.50. It treats minutely of those diseases peculiar to females, and gives much valuable advice relative to the management of those affections.

SWORN EVIDENCE.

The following Cure is probably the most remarkable ever effected by any medical preparation for the treatment of Catarrh:

Gentlemen.—I hereby certify that I have had Catarrh for ten years, and for the last six years have been terrible sufferer. I was rendered partially deaf, had buzzing in the head, pains across the temple, dizzy spells, weak and painful eyes, swollen and ulcerated tonsils, hard and constant cough, severe pain across the chest, and every indication of consumption. My head ached all the time. The matter accumulated so rapidly in my head and throat that I could not keep them free. Frequently at night I would spring out of bed, it seemed to me, at the point of suffocation. I would then have recourse to every means in my power to dislodge the mucus from my throat and head before being able to sleep again. For a period of six years my tonsils were ulcerated and so much inflamed that I could with difficulty swallow. I finally consulted an eminent physician in regard to an operation on them, but at his request postponed it. The constant inflammation and ulceration in my throat caused the poisonous matter dropping down from my head had so irritated and inflamed my lungs that I coughed incessantly.—a deep hard cough. Meanwhile my system began to show the effects of this disease, so that I lost flesh, grew pale, and showed every symptom of an early death by consumption. When matters had reached this point, or about six months ago, I began the use of SANFORD'S RADICAL CURE FOR CATARRH. After using the first bottle I began to improve rapidly. The first day I seemed to feel my head as I had not known it to be for years. It seemed gradually to arrest the discharges. It stopped my cough in three days. By using it as a gargle I soon reduced the inflammation and swelling of my tonsils so that they ceased to trouble me. The sorenes across my chest disappeared, the buzzing noises in my head ceased, my senses of scent and of hearing were completely restored, and every symptom of disease that had reduced me to the verge of the grave disappeared by the use of SANFORD'S RADICAL CURE FOR CATARRH. I have been thus explicit because, as a druggist, I have seen a great deal of suffering from Catarrh, and hope to convince many that this is a great remedy.

I am familiar with the treatment of Catarrh as practiced by the best physicians, and have expended the most eminent about my case. I have used every kind of remedy and apparatus that have appeared during a period of six years past, and have, while following that course, taken great care of my general health, but obtained no relief or encouragement from any of them.

Affords the most grateful relief in all Affections of the Chest and Lungs.

CHRONIC PLEURISY CURED.

MESSRS. WEEKS & POTTER: Gentlemen.—Having for many months postponed with a very lame side, called by my physician Chronic Pleurisy, caused by a former injury and strain, and for which I used my prescription and other remedies, as well as the best treatment, without cures, without the least benefit, my physician recommended your Collins' Voltaic Plaster, the use of which, to my great surprise, relieved the pain and soreness almost immediately, and I have been able to attend to my household affairs ever since with perfect ease and comfort, whereas, before the application of your invaluable Plaster, I was scarcely able to do any thing. I consider them inestimable, and shall will believe recommend them to the afflicted. Yours respectfully, MRS. FRANCES HARRIMAN.

ORLAND, Me., April 21, 1876.

One Week in Wall Street.

October 7th, 1878, Western Union Telegraph stock sold at the New York Stock Exchange for 96.1-8 per share; October 14th, 1878, it sold at 86.3-4, a fluctuation of 9.3-8 per cent in seven days; 12,500 shares sold on a margin of one per cent required an actual capital of $12,500. The same stock delivered at 86.3-4 gave a profit of 9.3-8 per cent on the stock or $937.50 per 100 shares. On the whole 12,500 the actual profit was $117,187.50 or 9.3-8 times the capital used, in one week. This is a single case taken from the official record of the Stock Exchange, and shows people how money is made so rapidly in stocks. Few people, however, have the necessary cash to put up in order to realize such immense profits as these, but capital in any amount from $10 to $50,000 can be used with equal success by the new combination system of operating in stocks which Messrs. Lawrence & Co., Bankers, New York, have established. By this method of pooling thousands of orders in various sums and operating them as one immense capital, shareholders realize large profits which are divided pro rata monthly. New circular contains two unerring rules for success, and full information, so that any one can operate profitably. Stocks and Bonds wanted. Government Bonds supplied. Apply to Lawrence & Co., Bankers, 57 Exchange Place, N. Y. City.

—It was long ago shown by statistics that in general married people have a less mortality than the unmarried, but M. Jansens of Brussels, is following up the same matter, has reached some other conclusions which are rather surprising. He states from his experience that while married people commit less crimes and are less prone to suicide than the unmarried, widowers kill themselves much more than married men, and that, while men with children are of more reputable life than those without them, widows with children, on the contrary, are more likely to be wicked than widows without them.

—He was a venerable and agricultural looking man, attired in the latest New Jersey fashion, and he stood on a street corner near Washington market. Holding up his left hand, and gazing reflectively upon three pieces of string tied round an equal number of fingers, he soliloquized: "That's to remind me—get a bale of cotton; t'other means don't forget the calico. But, what in thunder's this one for? Ah, by gum! that's don't get drunk again!"—N. Y. Com. Adv.

Not Symptoms, but the Disease.

It would seem to be a truth appreciable by all, and especially by professors of the healing art, that to remove the disease, not to alleviate its symptoms, should be the chief aim of medication. Yet in how many instances do we see this truth admitted in theory, ignored in practice. The reason that Hostetter's Stomach Bitters is successful in so many cases, with which remedies previously tried were had recourse to, can be attributable to the fact that it is a medicine which reaches and removes the causes of the various maladies to which it is adapted. Indigestion, feverand ague, liver complaint, gout, rheumatism, disorders of the bowels, urinary affections and other maladies are not palliated merely, but rooted out by it. It goes to the fountain head. It is really, not nominally, a radical remedy, and it endows the system with an amount of vigor which is its best protection against disease.

That Cold of Yours may run into consumption if you don't take Dr. A. J. Flagg's Cough and Lung Syrup.

FRIDAY, MARCH 14, 1879.

Demoralized Patriots.

There are about one hundred offices in the gift of the United States Senate, and there are in Washington about seven thousand hungry democratic patriots anxious to fill these offices—many more than enough to fill them. But it has been discovered that by a rule adopted in 1854, when the Senate was controlled by the democrats, changes in the present force of subordinate officers in that body, under the sergeant-at-arms and secretary, cannot be made without the approval of Vice-President Wheeler. As this rule seriously interferes with the plans of the vast army of applicants for these positions, the seekers for place under the new Senate officers have been looking up the record, which shows that it has been invariably sustained as a valid rule whenever a point has been made upon it. The discovery has demoralized a great number of patriots.

The Pedestrian Match.

Up to ten o'clock Wednesday forenoon $20,000 had been taken at the ticket office of Gilmore's Garden, and the throng of spectators did not in the least diminish. At half-past eight o'clock in the evening a portion of the upper gallery fell with a crash, and a scene of terrible excitement ensued for a short time; in a few seconds every window in the building was smashed, and many persons jumped out and went quietly home. Three of the walkers kept on the track—O'Leary having previously withdrawn in a broken-down condition—and the excitement was soon quelled. Many persons had arms or legs broken, or were otherwise injured, and one man was fatally crushed.

The report of O'Leary's death at midnight on Wednesday was not true; but he was "all gone" physically, and entirely out of the contest. He will never be able to walk in a match again, his constitution being ruined.

At eleven o'clock Thursday night Rowell had walked 351 miles, Ennis 334, and Harriman 320.

Legal Suasion Convention.

A legal suasion temperance convention is called to meet in Eagle hall at Concord on the 27th inst." The aim is to concentrate the sentiment and influence of those people of the State who are in favor of the rigid enforcement of all criminal laws, including the prohibitory law. All temperance organizations and churches are invited to send delegates. The promoters of the movement propose at first to organize a central power, for headquarters, and secondly to organize a club or league in each county, the duty of which shall be to bring all violators of the liquor law before the county courts, unless such violators voluntarily abandon their business.

News and Notes.

Mrs. Baker, alias Burke, a woman who was arrested in New York on suspicion of complicity in the stealing of A. T. Stewart's body, has been convicted on a charge of forging a check for $454, and remanded for sentence.

The Fitz John Porter court of enquiry has finished its sessions, and will report to the President shortly.

David Smith, a telegraph operator, disappeared from Ellenville, Ulster county, N. Y., in 1866, and was supposed to have left on account of a love affair. A few days since a long abandoned lead mine was reopened, and his remains were found at the bottom of the shaft. Evidence that he was murdered by one Joseph Fleicker, who subsequently became insane and died in an asylum, was also discovered.

One hundred square miles of territory are covered by the over-flow of the Theiss river in Hungary. The city of Szegedin is destroyed, two-thirds of it being submerged, including the citadel; many of the buildings are in ruins.

Officer Joseph Rosenfeldt of the police force of Rock Island, Illinois, while patrolling his beat was set upon by four desperadoes, who murdered him outright. The body was found after daylight, terribly bruised, with marks of boots, rocks and clubs upon it. Three of the men have been arrested.

The remains of the late Bayard Taylor arrived at New York on the 13th inst., in the steamer Gallert.

It is said of Col. Alston, who was recently killed in Atlanta, Ga., that "he came of a family every one of whom died with his boots on."

Mrs. M. C. Williams, of Raleigh, N. C., has succeeded her late husband as president of a national bank.

It is now stated that the stern-post of the Constitution, at Lisbon, Portugal, with return goods from the Paris Exposition, is entirely rotten and will have to be replaced before the ship can safely leave port again. As she will have to wait her turn to go on the dry dock, it was not expected she would be ready to start for home before the early part of April.

The Granite Monthly.

This New Hampshire magazine has been removed with its publisher to Concord, where it is promised it will hereafter appear. The March number is adorned with a cut of Herbert F. Norris, the War Eagle from Epping, upon whom a recent nomination for Congress was conferred, as we are told, with remarkable unanimity and without effort upon his part. Ass McFarland gives us an interesting sketch of the early newspaper publications at Concord. John M. Shirley furnishes a good review of the new volume of Judge Jeremiah Smith's decisions, recently published by Little, Brown & Co., and edited by the son of the celebrated chief justice. Jenness of Rye supplies another of his lively sketches entitled "Congressional papers," well-written and interesting; and C. C. Lord contributes "Manners and Customs in Hopkinton in the olden time." Altogether the number is creditable to the State, and the editor seems to have been able to serve up a goodly variety of contents from pens of our citizens. We read the magazine with no little degree of local pride, and trust the people of the State will readily sustain so good a periodical as the Monthly, which is furnished at the moderate price of $1.50 per year. The magazine contains thirty pages, and abounds in a pleasing variety of interesting matter, to the residents of the State and indeed to all who appreciate the rich material of a historic nature so frequently developed in its pages.

Political.

The State treasurer of Maine is said to have paid out about $2000 in double mileage to the members of the legislature before the resolve granting double mileage was vetoed. As the matter now stands that officer must pay the entire sum back to the State treasury; for he had no legal right to pay the mileage until the resolve had passed, and as it failed to pass, his payments to members on mileage account are transactions with him as a private individual. If he was a republican what a howl about "radical disregard of law" the democratic papers of Maine would set up.

In the last election in Nevada, as is usual in that country, several dead persons took part in the vote. That is to say, the politicians caused a number of non-electors to vote in the place of men who had died, but whose names had not been erased from the voting lists. As one of these illegal voters approached the ballot-box, a little Irishman stepped forward and announced that he challenged the vote. "For what reason?" demanded the judges of election. "For what reason?" echoed the Irishman; "Tom Riley is buried in the foorth wahrd, and ye're afther votin' him in the third, begorra!"

—The wicked correspondent of Harper's Bazar says that disorder still reigns in the camp of bonnets, and that every one wears what she pleases, a cake mould, sauce pan, pie plate or basket.

—Inspecting officer in barracks to stalwart defender of his country—"Well, my man, are you satisfied with your ration?" "Yes, sir." "How is the meat divided? Don't you sometimes get a small ration and sometimes a large one?" "No, sir; we always get a small one."

ROYAL BAKING POWDER

Absolutely Pure.

The Royal Baking Powder is a pure Cream of Tartar powder, made from pure Grape Cream Tartar, imported exclusively for this powder direct from the wine district of France. An old experienced housekeeper writes that, although she has to pay a few pennies more for the "royal," finds that it goes so much further and works much better than saleratus, soda, or cream of tartar.

WHEAT MEAL!

— OR —

Graham Flour.

When Wheat is ground it becomes Wheat Meal; when it is bolted it becomes Wheat Flour. Dr. Graham, who lectured through the country forty years ago on dietetics formed the fraternity known as "Grahamites." He said that bolted Flour should not be eaten, but that bread ought to be made of Wheat Meal instead; from this it got the name of Graham Flour. All Graham Flour therefore ought to be Wheat Meal, but about three-quarters of it is what we call made up Graham, that is, artificially mixed Cheap Flour and Bran, and is in every way inferior to the genuine article. Hardly a person who uses the genuine Wheat Meal would take the bogus article except on compulsion.

COMPLIMENTARY DINNER TO HON. FRANK JONES.

The following correspondence, passed between a number of prominent citizens of Portsmouth and Hon. Frank Jones, requires no explanation:

PORTSMOUTH, N. H., March 4th, 1879.

To HON. FRANK JONES:

Dear Sir: A few of your fellow-citizens, desiring to signalize the occasion of your return from your duties as a member from this district of the Forty-fifth Congress, and to express their approbation of the manner in which you have discharged those duties, desire your acceptance of a complimentary dinner to be given at the Rockingham house in this city at such time as may be agreeable to you. The occasion is intended to be without political significance, and of a social nature only; and in the hope that you will be pleased to designate as early a day as is consistent with your convenience, we beg to subscribe ourselves,

Your friends and fellow-citizens.

PORTSMOUTH, N. H., March 10th, 1879.

To HON. ICHABOD GOODWIN, HON. DANIEL MARCY, and others:

Gentlemen: I am in receipt of your favor of the 4th inst., asking me to accept an invitation, without reference to party, to be present at a complimentary dinner to be given at the Rockingham house, and desiring me to designate a time which will be convenient. Thanking you for the intended compliment I accept the invitation, and name Thursday, the 13th inst., at 7 1-2 o'clock P. M.

I have the honor to be, with much esteem, your fellow citizen

FRANK JONES.

In accordance with the foregoing invitation and acceptance a party of about fifty prominent gentlemen on Thursday evening sat down to a dinner gotten up by Capt. Hilton in his best style, which is equivalent to saying that the tables were covered with the choicest viands afforded by the market and the season, prepared in the best manner and tastefully arranged. After prayer by Rev. James DeNormandie, due attention was paid to the gastronomical portion of the exercises, at the conclusion of which Col. William H. Hackett, the chairman of the evening, proposed "the health of our guest, Hon. Frank Jones," prefacing the toast with brief and appropriate remarks.

Mr. Hackett commenced by referring to the vigor and earnestness of political contests, and the sharp drawing of party lines, in this State and particularly in this city, notwithstanding which, he said, the members of either party are ready, once the heat of the contest is over, to acknowledge the ability and integrity of the standard-bearers of their opponents, so that political rivalries do not often degenerate into bitter personal enmities. Political opponents do not—as they should not—lose sight of the fact that in a community like ours the citizens have a common interest, and can only thrive in the success and not at the expense of each other. The speaker very gracefully complimented Ex-Gov. Goodwin, Ex-Congressman Marcy, and Ex-Speaker Hatch of the New Hampshire House of Representatives. He believed there was no person present, or even in the city, who would in his heart say that the worthy ex-governor was not an efficient and faithful chief magistrate at a time when the governor of the State was called upon to discharge extraordinary duties in that office; or that the citizen who left the shipyard and counting room some years ago to represent this district in Congress, was other than an honest and conscientious representative, as pure in his political life as he was reliable in his business relations; or that the distinguished citizen at the table who at one time ably filled the speaker's chair, was any the less impartial and mindful of his oath of office as presiding officer of the House. All these are men of strong party views, and their loyalty to the principles they advocate has been unquestioned; yet the impartial observer can adduce no act which can stain the fair record of their public lives.

The gentlemen present had met, not as democrats nor as republicans, not as politicians nor as partisans, but as citizens, friends and neighbors; not to discuss the principles of any political party, nor to enquire how closely they had been observed by the member of Congress whose second term has just expired, but to congratulate him and each other that Portsmouth had furnished to the 44th and 45th Congresses a representative who, while ever loyal to the principles of his party, yet never forgot that he could, while serving his party, also serve his constituents of every political shade by caring for the interests of his district in every honest manner. Whether it was in the important work of adjusting the delicate and little understood intricacies of the tariff, or in the effort to have justice done our merchants and ship-owners in the distribution of the Geneva award funds, or in the minor and innumerable duties which his position called upon him to discharge, he has been found ever ready to respond. His prompt and business-like traits have been seen; his hearty endeavors to serve his constituents have been appreciated; and all who have had occasion to observe the retiring representative at the national capital or during the vacation would unite in hearty commendation.

In conclusion the chairman expressed his confidence that the company present would not await any future occasion, but at once render the gentleman in whose honor they were assembled his due, and join heartily in doing honor to the toast of the evening—"the health of our guest—Hon. Frank Jones."

Mr. Jones was greeted with prolonged applause as he arose to respond, which he did briefly, appropriately and modestly, warmly thanking the gentlemen for their generous and kind reception, and expressing an earnest solicitude to have and to deserve the good opinion of his fellow citizens. Referring to his declaration four years ago that he entered Congress an honest man and would so leave it, he said he had earnestly endeavored to keep his promise, and to be the representative of all the people, and not of any one party or one district merely. He closed by offering as a sentiment, "Our country—may she prosper, and may her public men be true and serve her unselfishly."

The next speaker was Hon. Daniel Marcy, who spoke well but briefly, and was cordially applauded on rising and taking his seat.

Hon. Albert R. Hatch was next called upon, and responded with an excellent speech, in which he spoke of the natural advantages of our city, its healthful location and intelligent, moral and industrious population, and of its one great need—concerted action among the best citizens, as an element of progress; and he regarded this meeting of leading men of all parties and callings as a most hopeful sign. He referred in complimentary terms to Mr. Jones' career as a public man and as a citizen, and said that to his enterprise in private life even more than to faithfulness as a representative was this gathering due. He spoke generously of Capt. Marcy, and paid a glowing tribute to Ex-Gov. Goodwin, closing by expressing the hope that like the venerated ex-governor, Mr. Jones in his old age might enjoy the merited esteem and affectionate good will of all his fellow citizens without distinction of party.

Ex-Mayor Broughton said he was sure that Mr. Jones when mayor administered the municipal affairs faithfully,—that is, as far as his power extended, for he (the speaker) was satisfied that the mayor of Portsmouth is not responsible for all the doings of the city government, a remark which occasioned considerable merriment; and he considered Congressman Jones' career as satisfactory as Mayor Jones' had been.

Mr. Stephen W. Clarke referred to Mayor Jones' gift of his first year's salary as a fund for the purchase of books for use in the high school, and of the benefit derived from it. He told of Capt. Marcy's kind attention, when congressman from this district, to the wounded soldiers in the hospitals about Washington, one of these soldiers being a brother of the speaker; and of Mr. Jones' generous assistance in bringing that brother's claims to a pension forward, after they had become outlawed by the lapse of time, closing with a reference to his friendship for the schools and for the poor.

Alfred F. Howard, Esq., collector of the port, said that Mr. Jones, while contributing more largely to the national revenue than any other one man in the district, never asked any favors from the government; all his dealings were frank, honest and open, and his check was considered by the treasury department officials "just the same as gold." He testified to the warm appreciation of Mr. Jones' square dealing as a business man, by all the officials with whom he comes in contact. On the authority of Speaker Randall, he stated that the passage of the Geneva award bill through the lower house of Congress was due to Mr. Jones as much as to any other man; and that but for the efforts and influence of Mr. Jones and one other son of New England, the bill would have totally failed in the House.

Rev. Mr. DeNormandie attested from his own knowledge that Mr. Jones' judgment in business matters was greatly respected by high officials at Washington; he spoke of the influence in Congress which his ability and energy had enabled him to wield, and his attention to the business of his constituents. As the legal profession was liberally represented at the gathering, the speaker's expression of the wish that we had "more business men and fewer lawyers in Congress" gave rise to much laughter. Deprecating the evils of extreme party spirit, he was pleased to take part in such an occasion as this, where men of all parties met not as politicians but as men.

Howe Call, Esq., Mr. Edward D. Coffin, Dr. J. F. Hall and Wallace Hackett, Esq., spoke briefly, expressing their pleasure at being present and their endorsement of the sentiments of the previous speakers; and the party separated at about half-past eleven o'clock, having all seemingly felt that it "was good to be there." The affair was unique, and as a compliment an entire success, for it is rare indeed that so many prominent citizens of all political creeds are assembled, and Mr. Jones may properly feel proud of the generous approval expressed alike by his political opponents and party friends.

Letters appropriate to the occasion and regretting inability to be present were during the evening read, from Ex-Gov. Goodwin, Hon. J. G. Hall, Congressman-elect from this district, Capt. Jonathan Young, U. S. N., commanding the navy yard, John S. Jenness, Esq., and John S. H. Frink, Esq.

THE CITY.

Fast day comes on Thursday, April 10th.

Mr. Robert M. Mason, a native of this city but for many years a highly respected business man of Boston, died at Savannah, Ga., Thursday forenoon, of pneumonia, at the age of about seventy years.

Willis G. Myers is selling boxes of note paper with envelopes to match for twenty-five cents a box, and envelopes for $1.50 a thousand. This stationery is really extremely cheap when the quality is considered.

The steamer James Sampson carried as many passengers during the week ending March 8th as she did the week previous. She went from the landing on this side to the landing at Kittery in two and a half minutes, on one trip. Mr. Stevenson has taken the entire left hand section of seats in Music hall for Sunday, and will bring free across the river all those purchasing tickets.

The woman mentioned as missing from this city is Mrs. Matilda Sparrow, otherwise known as Mrs. Christie. Her mother, Mrs. Thomas Plumpton, by request of the city marshal of Lynn went to that city on Thursday to see if she could identify the remains of the trunk victim as those of her daughter. City Marshal Batchelder of Lawrence says that a woman answering the description of Mrs. Sparrow was in that city on the 24th of February and may be there now.

Mrs. Francis M. Bartlett will give her entertaining lecture on the great Mrs. Siddons, the "Queen of Tragedy," at Franklin hall on Wednesday evening, March 19th. The lecture is interspersed with recitations, ending with the famous scene from Henry VIII between Queen Katherine and the two cardinals in which the great actress was so celebrated. Tickets 25 cents each, or five for a dollar; to be had at Preston's on Saturday, where reserved seats can be secured without charge.

We hope our superintendent of mail services will have the new mail route between Exeter and Hampton utilized for the transportation of mail matter between this city and the county seat. Letters can be sent to Exeter from here only once a day, via South Newmarket Junction—if a connection is there made—and can be received from Exeter only occasionally. If the mail went from Hampton to Exeter some time in the middle of the day, it would be a convenient mode of sending Portsmouth correspondence to Exeter via the Eastern railroad. At present letters sent to Boston and Portland are a good while coming. The post-office department in studying the convenience of long routes frequently loses sight of the short lines.

Wesley A. Haines, alias Matthews, a young fellow about twenty years old, and formerly in the employ of Howes, Hilton & Co., of Portland, has been arrested and jailed at St. Johnsbury, Vt., on a charge of swindling. It is said he has realized a thousand dollars or more in Maine, New Hampshire and Vermont, by falsely representing himself as an agent of the "International Collecting Company" of Meriden, Conn., and disposing of bogus certificates of membership at from two to ten dollars each. The fellow operated in this city, and victimized quite a number of our business men,—who however will lose nothing by him, as the company's attorney here, Walter C. Harriman, Esq., informs us that company has decided to recognize these bogus certificates and admit to membership all who hold them, preferring to suffer the loss itself, rather than impose it upon business men who have been deceived by fraudulent representations.

UNMARKED GRAVES.

At the special meeting of Storer Encampment, G. A. R., on Thursday evening, a committee consisting of James R. Morrison, George E. Hodgdon, John H. Locke, James E. Ford, Michael E. Long and Wm. H. Smith was appointed for the purpose of gathering and furnishing to the War Department information regarding soldiers' and sailors' graves that are unmarked. Any information regarding such graves will be thankfully received by the committee.

NOTICE.

Professor David P. Penhallow, now representing New England enterprise and industry in the wilds of Japan where "Insurance is unknown," has been "burnt out"—in five minutes losing everything but one valuable instrument and a portion of clothing. If he should not receive timely recompense from that government and people, he will need from his native section eighteen hundred dollars. Any person wishing to appropriate this sum or any part of it, whether it shall be returned with interest by a faithful and diligent young man, or in the end prove to be a loan "to the Lord," may receive all further information from the subscriber.

ANDREW J. PENHALLOW.

IN MEMORIAM.

At the last meeting of the Mechanics' Fire Society, held at the Rockingham house on the evening of the 7th inst., the following resolutions were adopted:

Whereas, Our Heavenly Father in his infinite wisdom has come near us in the death of our brother, Isaiah Wilson, a highly esteemed member and former President of our Society; therefore,

Resolved, That while the thought of his sudden departure fills our heart with unfeigned grief, we do unanimously express our admiration for his purity of character, and our appreciation of his earnest and useful life.

Resolved, That in the discharge of duty, in all the relations of his busy and honorable life, he has left us an example worthy of imitation.

Resolved, That we tenderly sympathize with the family and relatives of our deceased brother in their sad bereavement.

Resolved, That a copy of these resolutions be transmitted to the bereaved family, and that they also be recorded upon the books of the Society.

S. W. CLARKE,

CITY COUNCILS.

In the Board of Mayor and Aldermen, Thursday evening:

Wm. Ward asked leave to encumber Elm street for building purposes, which was granted.

James M. Locke offered forty dollars a year for use of State street school house, for a paint shop. Referred to committee on city lands and buildings.

Request was received from Randall & Caswell asking that a reduction be made in the rent of the Spring market. Referred to committee on city lands and buildings, to report.

Communication was received from the board of instruction relative to heating school-houses; accepted, and referred to committee on school-houses to report.

Report of volunteer city missionary Loyne was received and placed on file.

Committee on claims, to whom was referred the bill of Dr. Whittier for the inquest on Mrs. Washington, reported that the county was responsible. Report accepted and adopted. Same committee reported on the bill of Albert R. Hatch, recommending that after deducting some of the items it be paid, which was so ordered.

The matter relating to the account of F. W. Rogers with the city was reported on by the same committee, stating the facts in the case. Referred back to the same committee.

Request to enter sewer on Chapel street was received from John F. Shillaber. Referred to committee on sewers to report.

The millpond question was then brought up. The committee on streets, roads and bridges submitted plans and specifications, which were accepted; and after a long discussion by the friends of both plans, it was finally voted that the matter be referred to a special committee of four to be appointed by the mayor, to take into consideration the two plans and estimate the difference in the probable cost of them, and report at a special meeting this (Friday) evening. The mayor appointed Aldermen Norton, Mugridge, Hodgdon and Barri.

Voted, That the committee on streets, roads and bridges, with the mayor added, be instructed to put a gang of men at work on the south millpond to remove the filth therein contained, if they deem it advisable.

Adjourned to Friday evening at eight o'clock.

THE VICINITY.

Gen. A. P. Rockwell, president of the Eastern railroad, has been appointed treasurer of the Great Falls Manufacturing Company.

The Barnabee concert company gave an entertainment in Dover city hall on the 12th inst., under the management of the Dover Cadets.

The ice having disappeared from a portion of the river below the "Cataract falls" at Saco, two boys aged about ten years saw a chance for some fun, and on the 10th inst. took off their clothes on the snow and went in bathing in the open space.

On the question "Shall the law against the sale of lager beer be enforced," at Exeter, the vote was 239 in favor of enforcement to 189 against it.

A variety entertainment is to be given at Trefethen's hall in Kittery this evening, consisting of minstrelsy, horizontal bar performances, etc., the whole to wind up with a social dance in which all present may join.

After a closely contested election in Berwick, between the three parties for two days, all the republican candidates for town officers were elected, with one exception, the supervisor of schools being a democrat.

Mr. Jefferson Balch of Lyndeborough died in Kennebunkport on the 10th inst. He went to that town in his ordinary health to attend the funeral of his son, but took a sudden cold which terminated in his death in six days.

Benjamin Canney, Jr., of Berwick, made a savage assault upon Lafayette Brown of that town on the night of the 11th inst., inflicting wounds with a knife which may prove fatal, and has been committed to Alfred jail to await trial.

Great Falls elected a republican town clerk on the 11th inst., and a board of selectmen consisting of two republicans and one democrat. It was voted to raise $36,000 for all town expenses for the ensuing year. The use of the town hall was voted for one evening in the year, free, to each of the fire companies, and six evenings a year to the Cadet band.

A Prophecy Fulfilled.

Some time in the thirties, perhaps in 1836 or 1838, Cincinati leased from Nicholas Longworth the knob now known as Mount Adams, for an observatory, Gen. O. M. Mitchell being the one who gave vitality to the enterprise. The corner stone was laid with great ceremony, John Quincy Adams coming to perform the service. During his speech he alluded with considerable bitterness to the Catholic church as being opposed to the progress of science, and spoke of the persecutions of Galileo as an illustration. Bishop Purcell heard the speech and felt incensed at it, and in a sermon soon after said that the time would come when retribution would be theirs, and the building whose corner stone had been laid with an insult to the Catholic church would yet belong to that church. He never forgot that, and after thirty-five years the property came into the market and he was the purchaser. It is said by his friends that nothing gave him greater pleasure than to obtain the title deeds to this property. As soon as he had obtained it repairs were made and the building put in possession of one of the most austere orders of the church, in whose hands it is to-day.

The Crowning Discovery.

All the "phones" of this phonetic age are surpassed in practical benefit to mankind, by the discovery of Allan's Anti-Fat, the great and only known remedy for obesity, or corpulency. It produces no weakness or injurious effect. Its action being simply confined to regulating digestion, and preventing an undue assimilation of the carbonaceous, or flesh-producing, elements of the food. Sold by druggists.

ELLSWORTH, KAN., July 13th, 1878.
BOTANIC MEDICINE CO., Buffalo, N. Y.:
Gentlemen—Allen's Anti-Fat reduced me seven pounds in one week.
Yours respectfully, MRS. TAYLOR.

GAZETTE
Established 1756.

The Gazette is published every Thursday, and sent to Subscribers at the low price of
$1.50 per year, paid in advance, or
$2 at the end of the year.

It contains full accounts of all of importance that transpires in Portsmouth and its vicinity, and a condensed summary of NEWS, foreign and domestic; editorials upon current topics; New Hampshire items; carefully prepared marine news, containing reports of vessels owned at this port, or officered by men from Portsmouth or its neighborhood; and is just the paper for residents desiring to be posted on all that takes place at home, while to those living in the vicinity of Portsmouth, or to former residents who retain their interest in the "old home by the sea," it is the best means of keeping informed of what transpires in this city.

— THE —
NEW HAMPSHIRE GAZETTE
Contains more original matter

Than any other paper of its size in the State, the editors working more with their pens than with their scissors.

TO ADVERTISERS
THE N. H. GAZETTE

Presents an excellent opportunity for a WEEKLY INVITATION TO CUSTOMERS, at a reasonable rate, and all those who desire to reach patrons in Rockingham and York counties will find it an economical medium. THE GAZETTE is in many instances the only paper taken by families, and it is read to a large extent in localities whence is derived much of the trade of Portsmouth, a fact which our merchants should not fail to bear in mind.

GOLDEN MEDICAL DISCOVERY

By its great and thorough blood-purifying properties, Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery cures all Humors, from the worst Scrofula to a common Blotch, Pimple, or Eruption. Mercurial disease, Mineral Poisons, and their effects, are eradicated, and vigorous health and a clear skin and a certain result. Erysipelas, Salt-rheum, Fever Sores, Scaly or Rough Skin, in short, all diseases caused by bad blood, are conquered by this powerful, purifying, and invigorating medicine.

Especially has it manifested its potency in curing Tetter, Rose Rash, Boils, Carbuncles, Sore Eyes, Scrofulous Sores and Swellings, White Swellings, Goitre or Thick Neck, and Diseased Glands.

If you feel dull, drowsy, debilitated, have sallow color of skin, or yellowish-brown spots on face or body, frequent headache or dizziness, bad taste in mouth, internal heat or chills alternated with hot flashes, low spirits, and gloomy forebodings, irregular appetite and tongue coated, you are suffering from Torpid Liver, or "Biliousness." In many cases of "Liver Complaint" only part of these symptoms are experienced. As a remedy for all such cases, Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery has no equal, as it cleans perfect and radical cures.

In the cure of Bronchitis, Severe Coughs, and the early stages of Consumption, it has astonished the medical faculty, and eminent physicians pronounce it the greatest medical discovery of the age. While it cures the severest Coughs, it strengthens the system and purifies the blood. Sold by druggists.

R. V. PIERCE, M. D., Proprr. World's Dispensary and Invalids' Hotel, Buffalo, N. Y.

Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Purgative Pellets

SIZE OF PELLETS.

THE "LITTLE GIANT" CATHARTIC.

No use of taking the large, repulsive, nauseous pills, composed of clean, crude, and bulky ingredients. These Pellets are scarcely larger than mustard seeds.

Being entirely vegetable, no particular care is required while using them. They operate without disturbance to the constitution, diet, or occupation. For Jaundice, Headache, Constipation, Impure Blood, Pain in the Shoulders, Tightness of the Chest, Dizziness, Sour Eructations from the Stomach, Bad Taste in the Mouth, Bilious attacks, Pain in region of Kidneys, Internal Fever, Dullness and feeling about Stomach, Rush of Blood to Head, take Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Purgative Pellets. In explanation of the remedial power of these Purgative Pellets over so great a variety of diseases, it may be said that their action upon the animal economy is universal, not a gland or tissue escaping their sanative impress. Age does not impair the properties of these Pellets. They are sugar-coated and inclosed in glass bottles, thoroughly preserved in all climates, so that they are always fresh and reliable. This is not the case with pills put up in cheap wooden or pasteboard boxes. For all diseases where a Laxative, Alterative, or Purgative, is indicated, these Pellets will give the most perfect satisfaction. Sold by druggists.

R. V. PIERCE, M. D., Proprr. World's Dispensary and Invalids' Hotel, Buffalo, N. Y.

CATARRH

SYMPTOMS.—Frequent headache, discharge falling into throat, sometimes profuse, watery, thick mucous, purulent, offensive, etc. In others, a dryness, dry, watery, weak, or inflamed eyes, stopping up, or obstruction, of the nasal passages, ringing in ears, deafness, hawking and coughing to clear the throat, ulcerations, scabs from ulcers, putrid breath, nasal twang, offensive breath, impaired or total deprivation of sense of smell and taste, dizziness, mental depression, loss of appetite, indigestion, enlarged glands, tickling cough, etc. Only a few of these symptoms are likely to be present in any case at one time.

DR. SAGE'S CATARRH REMEDY

produces radical cures of the worst cases of Catarrh, no matter of how long standing. The liquid remedy may be snuffed, or better applied by the use of Dr. Pierce's Douche. This is the only form of instrument yet invented with which fluid medicine can be carried HIGH UP and PERFECTLY APPLIED to all parts of the affected nasal passages, and the chambers or cavities communicating therewith, in which sores and ulcers frequently exist, and from which the corrupt discharge generally proceeds. Its use is pleasant and easily understood, from directions accompanying each instrument. Dr. Sage's Catarrh Remedy cures recent attacks of "Cold in the Head" by a few applications. It is mild and pleasant to use, containing no strong or caustic drugs or poisons. Catarrh Remedy and Douche sold by druggists.

The organization has been completed and incorporated under the name and style of World's Dispensary Medical Association, with the following officers: Hon. R. V. PIERCE, Pres. F. D. PIERCE, V. Pres. JNO. E. PIERCE, Sec. LESTER B. SMITH, Treas.

NINE PHYSICIANS AND SURGEONS of eminence and skill have been chosen as the Faculty.

CHRONIC DISEASES of every form cope with the province of our several specialties.

LUNG DISEASES.—This division of practice is very ably managed by a gentleman of mature judgment and skill. Bronchial, Throat, and Lung Diseases treated with unprecedented success.

DISEASES OF WOMEN.—Especially are our facilities of a superior order for the cure of all those chronic diseases peculiar to females.

NERVOUS DISEASES.—Sexual Debility, Nervous Debility, Epilepsy (Fits), Chorea (St. Vitus's Dance), Neuralgia, and other nervous affections, receive the attention of an expert in this specialty.

NOT NECESSARY TO BE PATIENTS.—By our original system of diagnosis, we can treat many chronic diseases as successfully without as with a personal examination. For particulars see "People's Common Sense Medical Advisor" (1,000 pages, sent post-paid for $1 00), or "Pearls and Pearlies" (Book "(100 pages, 10 cents post-paid).

SURGICAL CASES.—Among the operations which we are called upon most frequently to perform, are those for Nasal Polypus, Harelip, Tumors, Fistula in Ano, Piles, Hernia (Rupture), Hydrocele (Dropsy of the Testicle), Varicocele, Ovarian and Uterine Tumors, Calculi (Stone in the Bladder), Stricture, etc., etc. We also treat successfully, by a new method without surgical operation, Cancers, Club-feet, Spinal Curvature, and other deformities. (See pamphlet entitled, "Motion as a Remedy." Sent on receipt of 10 cents.)

WOMAN

By an immense practice at the World's Dispensary and Invalids' Hotel, having treated many thousands cases of those diseases peculiar to woman, I have been enabled to perfect a most potent and positive remedy for all of her ailments.

To designate this natural specific, I have named it

Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription

The term, however, is but a feeble expression of my high appreciation of its value, based upon personal observation. I have, while attending to public events in the special diseases incident to the organism of woman, singled it out as the climax or crowning gem of my medical career. On its merits, as a positive, safe, and effectual remedy for this class of diseases, and one that will, at all times and under all circumstances, act kindly, I am willing to stake my reputation as a physician; and so confident am I that it will not disappoint the most sanguine expectations of a single invalid lady who uses it for any of the ailments for which I recommend it, that I offer and sell it under A POSITIVE GUARANTEE. (For conditions, see pamphlet wrapping bottle.)

The following are among those diseases in which my Favorite Prescription has worked cures, as if by magic, and with a certainty never before attained by any medicine: Leucorrhœa, Excessive Flowing, Painful Monthly Periods, Suppressions when from unnatural causes, Irregularities, Weak Back, Prolapsus, or Falling of the Uterus, Anteversion and Retroversion, Bearing-down Sensations, Internal Heat, Nervous Depression, Debility, Despondency, Threatened Miscarriage, Chronic Congestion, Inflammation and Ulceration of the Uterus, Impotency, Barrenness, or Sterility, and Female Weakness. It is not cried up as a "cure-all," but it admirably fulfills a single class of purposes, being a most perfect specific in all chronic diseases of the sexual system of woman. It will not disappoint, nor will it do harm, in any state or condition.

Those who desire further information on these subjects can obtain it in THE PEOPLE'S COMMON SENSE MEDICAL ADVISER, a book of over 900 pages, sent post-paid, on receipt of $1.50. It treats fully of the diseases peculiar to females, and gives much valuable advice in regard to the management of those affections.

Favorite Prescription sold by Druggists.

SWORN EVIDENCE.

The following Cure is probably the most remarkable ever effected by any medical preparation for the treatment of Catarrh:

Gentlemen.—I hereby certify that I have had Catarrh for ten years, and for the last six years have been a terrible sufferer. I was rendered partially deaf, had buzzing in the head, pains across the temple, dizzy spells, weak and painful eyes, swollen and ulcerated tonsils, hard and constant cough, severe pain across the chest, and every indication of consumption. My breath stank all the time. The matter accumulated so rapidly in my head and throat that I could not keep them free. Frequently at night I would spring out of bed, it seemed to me, at the point of suffocation. I would then have recourse to every means in my power to dislodge the mucus from my throat and head before being able to sleep again. For a period of six years my tonsils were ulcerated and so much inflamed that I took with difficulty enough of food to sustain life, the surgeon in my regard to an operation on them, but at his request postponed it. The constant inflammation and ulceration in my throat caused by the poisonous matter dropping down from my head had so irritated and inflamed my lungs that I coughed incessantly.—a deep hard cough. Meanwhile my system began to show the effects of this disease, so that I lost flesh, grew pale, and showed every symptom of an early death by consumption. When matters had reached this stage, or about six months ago, I began the use of SANFORD'S RADICAL CURE FOR CATARRH. After using the first bottle I be gan to improve rapidly. The raw place gradually healed, my head as I had not known it to be for years. I seemed gradually to arrest the discharges. It stopped my cough in three days. By using it as a gargle I soon reduced the inflammation and swelling of my tonsils so that they soon ceased to trouble me. The sorenes from my chest disappeared, the hissing noises in my throat ceased, my sense of hearing was clear, my hearing was completely restored, and every symptom of disease that had reduced me to the verge of the grave disappeared by the use of SANFORD'S RADICAL CURE FOR CATARRH.

I have been thus explicit because, as a druggist, I have seen a great deal of suffering from Catarrh, and hope to convince many that this is a great remedy.

I am familiar with the treatment of Catarrh as practised by the best physicians, and have examined the most eminent about my case. I have used every kind of remedy and apparatus that have appeared during a period of six years past, and have, while following that use, taken great care of my general health, but obtained no relief or encouragement from any of them.

CHRONIC PLEURISY CURED.

MESSRS. WEEKS & POTTER: Gentlemen.—Having for many months past suffered with a very lame side, called by my physician Chronic Pleurisy, caused by a former injury and strain, and for which I used many prescriptions and liniments, as well as the best physician's cures, without the least benefit, my physician recommended me to try your COLLINS' VOLTAIC PLASTER which, to my great surprise, relieved the pain and soreness almost immediately, and I have been able to attend to my household affairs ever since with perfect ease and comfort, whereas, before the application of your invaluable Plaster, I was scarcely able to do anything. I consider them incurable, and shall will pleasure recommend them to the afflicted. Yours respectfully, MRS. FRANCES HARRIMAN.

Raising Fish for the Table.

Mr. Robert Roosevelt read a paper before the New York Farmers' Club last week, whose chief object it was to inculcate the duty upon farmers of raising their own fish, whenever they had the facilities on their own land. It is not all farmers, of course, who happen to have ponds and streams on their lands, but those who do have may obtain from them, with no more than ordinary skill and care, enough choice fresh fish to supply their own table and perhaps to derive a revenue from besides. It at least is something worth thinking about. Bass is the fish that is principally recommended for the experiment by Mr. Roosevelt, who is himself a devoted fisherman, and now enters with no less zest into the plan for making almost every farmer the raiser of his own fish food.

A general attempt to comply with this recommendation could not but work a marvelous change in the dietetic habits and the consequent health of every farmer's family. They would very soon feel the benefit of introducing a new element into their general stock of daily food. Their families would show the benefit of it. It would bring a fresh pleasure and a new idea of life into the habits of farm existence. The boys would not have to wish, as they do now, for a rainy day, in order to get a coveted chance to catch a string of fish; they could go out and take them from the pond for the table much as they now go out and hunt for hen's eggs in the hay. The farmer who can will do well by his family and his farm to improve upon the hints here thrown out. At any rate, if every one did not raise his own fish for want of water there would be sure to be fish enough to go round among the country people, and it would do them much good.—Ploughman.

Forty-Eight Citizens.

An Associated Press dispatch, from New Orleans on the 10th inst., announced that forty-eight citizens of Natchitoches, La., who had been cleared by a jury of conspiracy during the late election, were escorted on the previous Saturday evening to the steamboat on which they left for their homes by a volunteer military company with a band of music, and that a salute was fired in honor of the event.

These forty-eight citizens were all democrats and white men. One day last October they were assembled in the court house of the town of Natchitoches holding a democratic convention. Word came to the meeting that a body of republicans, chiefly black, had had the audacity to gather on the same day at a church in another part of the town, and were actually engaged in discussing plans for nominating candidates and making an effort to carry the approaching election. The forty-eight citizens declared that this sort of thing must be stopped. It was nothing less than a "nigger rising" and must be promptly suppressed. They hurried through the work of their convention, completed their democratic parish ticket, chose as captain their nominee for the Legislature, got on their horses, and armed with rifles and revolvers, which they had prudently brought with them to the court house, they moved in a body upon the colored church. The republicans apprised of the coming of this menacing force, made haste to adjourn their meeting, and sought safety in flight. The forty-eight citizens, among whom was a member of Congress and an ex-member, made a vigorous pursuit. Some of the republican leaders were caught in their houses, where they were hiding, others were chased to the woods and made their escape. The men who were caught were escorted out of town at night, and told that to return would be certain death; all save one, who was killed and his body thrown into a swamp. To make their work complete the forty-eight citizens appointed a vigilance committee to keep watch for the men in hiding in the woods, and the local democratic newspapers published several articles warning them that if they valued their lives they had better get out of the parish and never show their faces there again. These republican leaders were accused of no crime. They owned property in the parish, were old residents in the families, and, apart from their politics, were reputable persons. One was a Baptist minister and president of an association of fifty colored Baptist churches. Three were native white men who had formerly been active democrats. The only offence they had committed was attempting to reorganize the republican party in their parish.

There was an exceedingly quiet campaign in Natchitoches parish after this demonstration of the forty-eight citizens, and the democratic ticket was elected without the slightest opposition. Not a republican vote was polled! The bulldozed republican leaders, who had taken refuge in New Orleans, determined, however, to see whether the United States election laws had any force and effect in Louisiana, and they went before a grand jury last winter and gave testimony against the forty-eight enterprising democrats. Indictments were found, and the cases came to trial; but in spite of the most conclusive evidence, the democratic petit jury found a verdict of acquittal. It seems that the verdict was hailed in New Orleans as a democratic victory, and the complete success of one of the most brilliant and effective feats of bulldozing ever attempted in Louisiana was celebrated with a brass band and an artillery salute. Evidently the election laws are a dead letter in Louisiana. Another thing is equally plain; there will be no further attempt to revive the republican party in Natchitoches parish.—N. Y. Tribune.

—"When shall I call you in the morning, sir?" asked a hotel waiter of an Aberdonian one night. He replied, haughtily: "I'll ring the bell when I wish to be called."

News and Notes.

The 30,000 applicants for pensions under the new act, whose papers have already reached Washington, will have to wait some time to have them sorted and backed. Then the work of adjudication upon them will begin. The final payment will hardly be in time for the summer vacation.

The Duke of Connaught and the Princess Louise Margaret of Prussia were married in St. George's chapel at Windsor on Thursday, the Archbishop of Canterbury performing the ceremony. The wedding was quite a stylish affair.

The owner of a Chicago peanut stand has formally gone into bankruptcy.

A Nebraska City woman not only listened at a keyhole, but fired through it at a man whose talk offended her.

Since Paris opened her first horse butchery 132,133 horses, 4870 asses and 203 mules have been eaten there. In the country they eat less of such viands.

Some Baton Rouge, La., boys started a pedestrian exhibition (admission two cents), and a nine-year-old walker stuck to the track till he fell from exhaustion. He has since been dangerously ill.

A protest is going up from the press of Prince Edward Island against imprisonment for debt. The government furnishes the incarcerated debtor with neither food nor drink, and if his family or friends do not supply his needs he runs a chance of starving. The jail is filled with debtor prisoners who can neither earn nor pay anything, and who in some cases are supported by struggling wives, who have also children to provide for. Many depend entirely upon what they receive from their fellow-prisoners or upon the kindness of the keeper.

The Meriden (Conn.) Republican is authority for the following announcement: "Rev. W. H. H. Murray was in town Tuesday, looking after a man to take charge of the new carriage shop which he contemplates starting in New Haven. The shop will employ 100 men, and will turn out 150 of the Boston buckboard wagons weekly."

Riggs and Patten, arrested on suspicion of having committed the Gower murder in Oldtown, Me., have been discharged. There are no new developments.

The powder works at Danville, Pa., blew up on the 13th inst., and three men were torn to pieces.

Henry Gravelin was hung at Windsor, Vt., on Friday, for the murder of Herbert O. White at Weathersfield on the 6th of October, 1876; and on the same day William H. Devlin, was hung at Cambridge, Mass., for the murder of his wife at Lowell. Devlin was drunk at the time he beat and kicked his wife to death.

Gov. Williams of Indiana escorted two ladies to the Indianapolis opera house to see "Romeo and Juliet." He had not provided himself with reserved seats, and none were left for sale; so he appropriated three good ones in spite of an usher's remonstrances. The holder of the coupons soon arrived, and the routed governor next placed his party comfortably in a box. But the box had been sold too, and the owner insisted on his rights. Then "Blue Jeans" left the theatre, declaring that he was disgusted with these new-fangled notions about reserved seats.

Mrs. John Taylor and her two sons, aged ten and five years, were drowned at Norwich, Conn., on Thursday. The children went to a pond for some water and broke through the ice, and the mother, hearing their cries, went to their assistance and was also drowned.

A coroner's jury at Atlanta, Ga., has rendered a verdict that the killing of Alston by Cox was willful and premeditated murder. Cox is jailed and awaiting trial.

A. G. Woodwood, secretary and treasurer of the Stanstead and Sherbrooke mutual fire insurance company, of Vermont, is reported to be behind in his accounts some $125,000. He has been suspended from his office.

From Marrowbone, Ky., comes an account of the recovery of hidden treasures. During the war Robert O. Willis buried $65,000 in gold and $10,000 worth of jewelry in a cave on his farm, imparting the knowledge of it only to his wife. A few days after he disappeared, and has not been heard of since, and is supposed to have been killed by guerrillas. His wife did not make known her secret of the hidden treasures until on her deathbed Saturday, when she told it to her pastors and attorneys. After her death the treasures were found in good order. She bequeathed her jewelry and $40,000 to her old servants, also the homestead, a rich farm of some 200 acres.

British steamer Severn on Thursday night ran down a pilot cutter off Dungeness, and ten pilots and five seamen were drowned.

Dr. John M. Woodworth, supervising surgeon-general of the marine hospital service, died in Washington on Friday.

The Pedestrian Match.

The score of the contestants up to midnight on Friday was as follows:

	Rowell.	Ennis.	Harriman.
8 o'clock	418	391	375
9 "	422	396	380
10 "	425	400	382

New Hampshire Items.

Governor Prescott has appointed Hon. Charles H. Bell of Exeter to the vacant United States senatorship caused by the expiration of the term of Hon. Bainbridge Wadleigh of Milford, and Mr. Bell has accepted the position.

John Q. Pinkham was hung at Concord on Friday, for the murder of Mrs. Hiram Berry of New Durham on the 9th of January, 1878. Rum caused the murder.

At the adjourned town meeting in Bath, on the 12th inst., after several ballots they elected Henry C. Carbee, republican, third selectman. It was voted to have a license agency; also to sell lager beer.

The New York Times says: "The Kingston Freeman, and the Journal, have made an energetic warfare upon the corrupt democratic ring in Ulster county since they passed under their present management in September last, and good results have been shown, greatly to the advantage of the tax payers, in the recent election of a republican board of supervisors for the first time in the history of the county." The papers referred to are conducted by Mr. Charles Marscilles, proprietor of the Exeter News-Letter, and Mr. E. L. Clark.

The town of Haverhill balloted three days and then adjourned to the fourth, after electing a republican moderator, democratic town clerk and greenback selectman.

The process of taking depositions in the case of R. S. Keneson, declared elected democratic representative from Centre Harbor in the November election, begun by his republican opponent, has been concluded. The testimony showed that seven democrats voted illegally, and two republicans having a right to vote were debarred. The vote as declared was eighty-one republican and eighty-seven democratic. It is believed that Keneson will be unseated.

On Thursday, Fish Commissioner L. C. Noyes transferred 30,000 young California salmon from the hatching house at Plymouth to waters in the eastern part of the State.

Gen. Cushing as a Reader.

At the proceedings of the Bar of the Supreme Court of the United States to pay respect to the memory of the late Caleb Cushing, Frank W. Hackett, Esq., of this city, in his remarks thus referred to a peculiar trait of the deceased lawyer. "Of his unbounded love for the acquisition of knowledge I may venture to cite a single instance. He brought to Geneva an acquaintance with the history of that locality—minute, and what to most men would have appeared ample. Not content with this, he got together and read at brief intervals from professional work, all sorts of books and pamphlets bearing upon the subject in veriest detail, till soon it became apparent that no citizen (I am tempted even not to except the professional antiquary,) could surpass him in the extent and variety of his information in this department."

Political.

At the second election at Ellsworth, Me., on the 13th inst., the republican candidate for mayor had 375 votes, the democrat 242, and the greenbacker 118; republican majority, fifteen over all.

The Washington Post, the national democratic organ, devotes a long editorial to criticising the river and harbor appropriation bill as a wasteful expenditure of public money, but excuses the late measure on the ground that it is no worse than the river and harbor steals of previous Congresses. This statement is not true. No previous Congress appropriated more than half as much as did the Forty-fifth. No democrat opposed the late bill, and while President Hayes was persuaded not to veto it, the leading republicans in the Senate voted against it. Mr. Conkling attacked it in a vigorous speech, and the iniquity found its only champions in the ex-confederates of the south.

The Lines Drawn.

We have to thank the democrats in Congress for making the issues between the two great parties of the country very distinct and plain, and curing a good many honest people of the notion that there is no difference between a democrat and a republican.

Shall a few hundred repeaters and bullies in New York, Cincinnati, Chicago and San Francisco, be permitted to stuff the ballot-boxes in the wards they control with bogus votes enough to overcome any and all majorities against them and the party they represent? Shall the old pals and the young disciples of Tweed, the partners of Eph Holland and the prison graduates of the Pacific coast, elect the next President and the next Congress? This is the next question on which every democrat in Congress voted yes, and every republican, no.

Shall this government go down on its knees to Jeff Davis, beg his pardon for having fought and conquered him, and beseech him to forgive the past, to permit us to crown him "a worthy disciple of Washington," "the peer of any senator for purity, honor and personal character," "the hero of exalted character, brilliant talents, and well established reputation as a statesman, patriot and soldier," and to accept, as a token of the nation's regard, a pension of $20 a month? This is the question on which every democratic senator voted yes, every republican no.—Mirror.

ROYAL BAKING POWDER

Absolutely Pure.

The Royal Baking Powder is a pure Cream of Tartar powder, made from pure Grape Cream Tartar, imported exclusively for this powder direct from the wine district of France. An old experienced housekeeper writes that, although she has to pay a few pennies more for the "Royal," finds that it goes so much further and works much better than saleratus, soda, or cream of tartar.

☞ Most of the Cream of Tartar of commerce is adulterated with Alum, Terra Alba, etc. Doctors pronounce Alum most dangerous to health; it costs but 2c. a lb., Cream of Tartar over 30. The Royal Baking Powder is recommended for its wholesomeness by such eminent chemists as Dr. Mott, New York; Dr. S. Dana Hayes, Boston. Sold only in cans. All Grocers.

☞ BAKING POWDER should never be sold in paper packages, as it becomes stale and deteriorates upon exposure to the atmosphere. 110

WHEAT MEAL!

— OR —

Graham Flour.

When Wheat is ground it becomes Wheat Meal; when it is bolted it becomes Wheat Flour. Dr. Graham, who lectured through the country forty years ago on dietetics formed the fraternity known as "Grahamites." He said that bolted Flour should not be eaten, but that bread ought to be made of Wheat Meal instead; from him it got the name of Graham Flour. All Graham Flour therefore ought to be Wheat Meal, but about three-quarters of it is what we call made up Graham, that is, artificially mixed Cheap Flour and Bran, and is in every way inferior to the genuine article. Hardly a person who uses the genuine Wheat Meal would take the bogus article except on compulsion.

The wild geese have commenced their flight northward.

A pleasing feature of the dinner in honor of Hon. Frank Jones was the entire absence of wine from the table.

Tickets for Mrs. Bartlett's lecture on Mrs. Siddons, the great Queen of Tragedy, are for sale at Dr. Preston's to-day.

A rare and beautiful orchid, or air plant, (Dendrobium nobile,) from Brazil, is in bloom in the conservatory of Mr. C. A. Hazlett on Winter street.

The fishing schooner Breeze, of Gloucester, Osler master, arrived at this port Thursday afternoon with 47,590 lbs. of fish, mostly cod, the result of two days' fishing.

The ladies of the Universalist parish will hold a tea party and dramatic entertainment in their vestry next Thursday evening. Other attractions of a novel and amusing character will be presented.

An entertainment will be given in Franklin hall on Thursday evening, by Miss Poole of Portland, vocalist, Mr. Horace Lunt of Boston, reader, and a quartette and large chorus of local singers.

Rev. James W. Hubbell has received a unanimous call to the North church. He has been laboring with this church for the past two years, and the call has been twice repeated at the beginning of each year. If he decides to continue, he will be installed as pastor.—Times.

The supreme court has dismissed the petition of the Portsmouth Trust and Guarantee Company for an order for the abatement of a tax of $2000, assessed upon the company in this city in 1876, and the assessors have ordered the collector to enforce the collection of the tax.

At the northeastern conference of Episcopalian clergymen of the diocese of New Hampshire, which met at the Church of the Good Shepard in Nashua on the 11th inst., an address on "The church a teacher come from God," was given by Rev. Charles A. Holbrook, rector of St. John's church in this city.

The schooner Florence I. Lockwood, Capt. Williams, sailed from this port on Friday, March 7th, at ten o'clock A. M., and arrived in the lower harbor from South Amboy, N. J., on her return trip, at about midnight on the 13th with 440 tons of coal consigned to C. E. Walker & Co.

The Portsmouth and Rye "clues" to the identity of the victim of the Lynn trunk tragedy have been followed far enough to show that they do not lead in the direction it was feared they would. On Friday persons from this city, acquainted with Mrs. Sparrow, viewed the body at Lynn and pronounced it not hers; and the "missing woman" of Rye has returned to her home, alive and all in one piece.

The Silver Lake base ball club of this city played a game with a Kittery nine on Thursday, the Portsmouth boys winning by a score of ten to eight. We were puzzled at first to tell whether the "silver lake" from which the club takes its name is the south pond or the north one; but we are puzzed no longer, as we are informed that the club originally took the name of "Puddle Dockers"—so Puddle dock must be the silver lake alluded to.

In making up our report of the dinner complimentary to Hon. Frank Jones, we inadvertently left out the following paragraph:

Mr. James P. Bartlett said he believed he should only utter the universal sentiment of the community when he said that the first congressional district had never been more ably represented than it has been by the guest of the evening. He referred to what Mr. Jones has done in the way of building up the business of the city, and closed with the sentiment, "Honor to whom honor is due."

The United States fish commissioners have forwarded from Gloucester, Mass., to Washington, a large codfish, of which plaster casts will be made for the National Museum. It was caught in Ipswich bay by schooner Northern Eagle, measured five feet and two inches in length, and weighed ninety-nine pounds when landed. This big fish was but a minnow compared to a cod landed at this port recently by schooner George Washington of Newburyport, which measured over six feet in length and weighed 136 1-4 pounds when landed.

Robert Means Mason, whose death in Savannah last Thursday afternoon has already been mentioned, was a son of the eminent lawyer and former attorney-general of this State, Jeremiah Mason. Mr. Mason removed from this city in early life, and ever after made Boston his home.

The referee in the matter of a reduction of tolls at Portsmouth bridge has submitted a draft of his report to the court for examination of counsel. He concludes that if the rate of toll is to be based upon the cost of the bridge and the expenses of maintaining it standing alone, there should be no change in the rates; but if it is to be based upon the cost of the bridge and the expense of maintaining it in connection with the railroad bridge, as it is now maintained, he recommends a reduction.

The Journal says: "The wharf belonging to the old marine railway property on Water street, has been leased by Dennis Shea to John Dixon for ten years from July 1st. The wharf, which has been unused for many years, and has been suffered to go to decay, will at once be put in order by Mr. Shea. The leased premises will be occupied by Mr. Dixon in the fish business. This operation will not interfere with the drain and pipe manufacture of Mr. Shea, which will continue to be carried on at the old stand."

THE VICINITY.

A petition has been signed by the citizens of Greenland asking the selectmen to call a town meeting for the purpose of transferring the private school now kept by Miss Merrill into a public school, to be kept at the expense of the town; also to see if the town will vote to build a new shed at the academy, for the purpose of sheltering horses.

The item in our Friday's issue, to the effect that all persons in Kittery who purchase tickets of Mr. Stevenson for the Sunday afternoon lecture by Mr. Waite would be brought across the river free in steamer James Sampson, was incorrect. They will be charged the regular fare, and the proceeds will go to the object for which the lecture is to be given.

Town-meeting in Newington was concluded late on Thursday evening, having been in session from Tuesday morning at the usual hour for opening the polls. The town officers chosen are as follows: Valentine M. Coleman, moderator; Clarence DeRochemont, town clerk; David D. Badger, Thomas F. Pickering, Fred W. De Rochemont, selectmen; James W. Coleman, Margaret E. Bean, John Furber, board of education; Reuben L. Lane, John Furber, auditors.

The Exeter News-Letter of the 14th inst. says: "Jere Marden, of Portsmouth, who attempted to walk one hundred miles in twenty-four hours at the town hall last week, gave out when he had accomplished about one third of the distance. His place was taken by one Joslyn, who was to complete the walk. Joslyn walked well till about ninety miles were made, when his refusal to drink anything so weak as water began to tell on him, and he was forced to succumb. The party walked off forgetting to pay their bills."

CITY COUNCILS.

In Board of Mayor and Aldermen, Friday evening, at the adjourned meeting held for the purpose of hearing the report of the special committee appointed to consider the two plans submitted for abating the south pond nuisance, and to give estimates of the probable cost of the carrying out of each plan, many citizens were present.

The special committee reported the following, which was accepted and adopted:

The difference in cost between Plan No. 1 (presented by committee on nuisances) and Plan No. 2 (presented by committee on streets, roads and bridges) is $175 in favor of Plan No. 1.

The cost of Plan No. 2 will be $54.50 with two gates instead of four; the cost of rebuilding wall from bridge to estate of H. F. Wendell will be $450.

The experts report that if Plan No. 1 is carried out it will not be necessary to rebuild wall from bridge to H. F. Wendell's.

Cost of Plan No. 1, $2,651.

Cost of Plan No. 2, $2,826.

It was then voted that the plan recommended by the committee on nuisances be adopted and the whole matter referred to the committee on streets, roads and bridges, with the mayor added, to offer the same for contract; the work to be completed at the earliest possible day, the labor to be done by our own citizens.

An additional section was added to the rules of the board, viz.:

SEC. 13. No motion to reconsider shall be entertained excepting when there are as many members present as there were when the vote proposed to be reconsidered was passed.

RYE LETTER.

RYE, March 14th.

If "the cup is not yet full," if the "last camel has not got a feather on his back," if patience has not "ceased to be a virtue" and you do think that the whole community are actually pining for some more pedestrianism, (I believe that's what it's called,) here is something, duplicates of which are posted up all over town, which may satisfy the want and answer the purpose for the time being:

WALKING FEAT

Mr. —— —— the self stile Champion of N. H. will walk 25 miles in 4 hours and a half at the town hall, Rye, Saturday March 15st comemence at 6 oclock ending at half past ten oclock

Children 10 cts

The young girl who disappeared so mysteriously some weeks since from this town, and was found—by some—in that trunk discovered in Saugus river, at Lynn, has returned home safe, sound and hearty, and wishes it distinctly understood that she is not dead and not ready yet to be cut up and put in a trunk, and that there's no man that she is acquainted with who can do it. —A son-net—Your neighbor's pretty daughter.

—The mule is a disappointing animal. One fell down a shaft in Maryland eighty-five feet deep. Every one said, "That mule's dead," but it was hoisted up uninjured and walked away, and just as every one said "That mule's not hurt," it laid downand died.

—A new anecdote of Charles Lamb is to the following effect: An unpopular head of a department came to Mr. Lamb one day and inquired, "Pray, Mr. Lamb, what are you about?" "Forty, next birthday," said Lamb. "I don't like your answer," said his chief. "Nor I your question," was Lamb's reply.

—A Cleveland man has demonstrated that a ton of ice weighs more than a ton of coal. He was purchasing both commodities and had the curiosity to weigh each as it was delivered. He found that the ton of ice weighed a trifle over 2000, and that the ton of coal weighed only 1740 pounds. Figures never lie.

SAN FRANCISCO, March 6—Shipowners are now beginning to reap a little benefit from their "hanging on." They are now in a position to dictate their own terms. A short time ago ships were after charters. Now charterers are breaking their necks after the ships. Wooden ships are now refusing £2 2s 6d to Liverpool direct. A month ago 32s 6d was the best they could do. "A good time coming, wait a little longer."

Curt Speeches.

The king of Zulu-land is said to have recently addressed a note to a British officer in South Africa, as follows:

"Excellency—First came the missionary; next the consul; now the army. Cettywayo."

This brief letter recalls some short speeches and curt correspondence, which will doubtless be delightful reading in these times of long harangues.

A Western judge once upon a time addressed the grand jury in these words. "Gentlemen—The weather is extremely hot; I am very old; you know your duty—perform it."

Another American judge once intervened in an odd way to prevent a waste of words. He was sitting in chambers, and seeing from the pile of papers in the lawyer's hands that a certain case was likely to be a long one, he asked—"What is the amount in question?" "Two dollars, your honor," said the plaintiff's counsel. "I'll pay it," said the judge, handing over the money; "call the next case."

An English judge was more patient. He listened for a couple of days to the arguments of counsel as to the construction of an act, and finally observed, when they were done, "Brothers, that act was repealed a year ago."

One morning a woman was shown into Dr. Abernethy's room. Before he could speak she bared her arm, saying, "Burn." "A poultice," said the doctor. Next day she called again, showed her arm, and said, "Better." "Continue the poultice," the response. A few days afterward she came again; then she said, "Well. Your fee?" "Nothing," said the great physician; "you are the most sensible woman I ever saw."

The editor of a Chicago newspaper wanting the details of a terrible inundation in Connecticut, telegraphed to a correspondent at Hartford, "Send full particulars of the flood." The reply came quickly, "You will find them in Genesis."

—"Well, old man," said a friend to a friend whom he had not seen for some months, "how is your rheumatism?" "Oh, it will not bother me much longer, if this weather holds," was the thoughtful reply; "it is nearly cured." "That's good news. What are you using?" "Consumption."

Not Symptoms, but the Disease.

It would seem to be a truth appreciable by all, and especially by professors of the healing art, that to remove the disease, not to alleviate its symptoms, should be the chief aim of medication. Yet in how many instances do we see this truth admitted in theory, ignored in practice. The reason that Hostetter's Stomach Bitters is successful in so many cases, with which remedies previously tried were inadequate to cope, is attributable to the fact that it is a medicine which reaches and removes the causes of the various maladies to which it is adapted. Indigestion, fever and ague, liver complaint, gout, rheumatism, disorders of the bowels, urinary affections and other maladies are not palliated merely, but rooted out by it. It goes to the fountain head. It is really, not nominally, a radical remedy, and it endows the system with an amount of vigor which is its best protection against disease.

Free of charge—Sample bottle of Adamson's Cough Balsam at all drug stores. Owing to its perfect harmony in combination it is the very best mixture for the speedy cure and relief of croup, colds, throat or lung diseases. Large bottles 35 cents.

Great Joy over the fact that your cough can be thoroughly cured by Dr. A. J. Flagg's Cough and Lung Syrup.

Why not make up your minds, at present, what Hotel you are going to stop at when you arrive in New York? The Grand Central, on Broadway, is now kept on both the American plan at $2.50 to $3.00, and the European plan at $1.00, and upwards, per day. An elegant Restaurant, at moderate prices, is conducted by the Hotel.

Lungs cannot be made but can be saved by the use of Dr. A. J. Flagg's Cough and Lung Syrup if taken in time.

—An answer to the liquor question—"I'll take a cocktail."

—A recent issue of the Quitman, (Georgia,) Free Press contains this remarkable obituary. "Died in Quitman, on the 22d inst., a colored man, name unknown. His death was caused by eating poisoned cabbages taken from the garden of the editor of this paper. Requiescat in pace."

—Before marriage—"Oh, my darling, your voice is as musical to me as a vesper bell whose tones fall softly on the perfumed evening air! Speak again, and say those words, my beloved, for I could listen to your voice until the stars are extinguished in everlasting night!" After marriage—"I've had just enough of your clapper, old woman, and if you don't let up I'll leave the house!"

—A young woman married an old widower in Tannerville, Ga., and soon fell in love with his son, who was about her own age. The matter was fully discussed by the trio, and all agreed that it would be better for her to become the wife of the son. The transfer was amicably made by means of a divorce. Since then the old man has married his ex-wife's mother, and the rearranged family is harmonious and happy.

The Crowning Discovery.

All the "phones" of this phonetic age are surpassed in practical benefit to mankind, by the discovery of Allan's Anti-Fat, the great and only known remedy for obesity, or corpulency. It produces no weakness or injurious effect. THE NEW HAMPSHIRE

GAZETTE

Established 1756.

The Gazette is published every Thursday, and sent to Subscribers at the low price of

$1.50 per year, paid in advance, or
$2 at the end of the year.

It contains full accounts of all of importance that transpires in Portsmouth and its vicinity, and a condensed summary of NEWS, foreign and domestic; editorials upon current topics; New Hampshire items; carefully prepared marine news, containing reports of vessels owned at this port, or officered by men from Portsmouth or its neighborhood; and is just the paper for residents desiring to be posted on all that takes place at home, while to those living in the vicinity of Portsmouth, or to former residents who retain their interest in the "old home by the sea," it is the best means of keeping informed of what transpires in this city.

— THE —

NEW HAMPSHIRE GAZETTE

Contains more original matter

Than any other paper of its size in the State, the editors working more with their pens than with their scissors.

TO ADVERTISERS

THE N. H. GAZETTE

Presents an excellent opportunity for a WEEKLY INVITATION TO CUSTOMERS, at a reasonable rate, and all those who desire to reach patrons in Rockingham and York counties will find it an economical medium. THE GAZETTE is in many instances the only paper taken by families, and it is read to a large extent in localities whence is derived much of the trade of Portsmouth, a fact which our merchants should not fail to bear in mind.

IS A HIGHLY CONCENTRATED MEDICINAL EXTRACT OF ROOTS, for the Immediate Relief and Permanent CURE of ALL affections of the Throat and Lungs, such as Coughs, Colds, Asthma, Spitting of Blood, Whooping Cough, Bronchitis, Influenza, Loss of Voice, Night Sweats, Hectic Fever and all symptoms of CONSUMPTION.

It is not claimed that it will cure all the diseases that flesh is heir to, but it is prepared expressly for the permanent cure of all affections of the throat and lungs. It will not dry up the Cough and leave the cause behind to attack you again, but it will loosen and cleanse the lungs of all impurities, and will allay the irritation of the throat and lungs caused by your cough or inflammation. It is pleasant to take and costs but 50 cents. Prepared only by S. N. REED & CO. Newport, N. H.

GOLDEN MEDICAL DISCOVERY

By its great and thorough blood-purifying properties, Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery cures all Humors, from the worst Scrofula to a common Blotch, Pimple, or Eruption. Mercurial disease, Mineral Poisons, and their effects, are eradicated, and vigorous health and a sound constitution established. Erysipelas, Salt-Rheum, Fever Sores, Scaly or Rough Skin, in short, all diseases caused by bad blood, are conquered by this powerful, purifying, and invigorating medicine.

Depending for its manifested its potency in curing Tetter, Blue Rash, Boils, Carbuncles, Sore Eyes, Scrofulous Sores and Swellings, White Swellings, Goitre or Thick Neck, and Enlarged Glands.

If you feel dull, drowsy, debilitated, have sallow color of skin, or yellowish-brown spots on face or body, frequent headache or dizziness, bad taste in mouth, intermittent heat or chills alternated with hot flushes, low spirits, and gloomy forebodings, irregular appetite, and tongue coated, you are suffering from Torpid Liver, or "Biliousness." In many cases of "Liver Complaint" only part of these symptoms are experienced. As a remedy for all such cases, Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery has no equal, as it effects perfect and radical cures.

In the cure of Bronchitis, Severe Coughs, and the early stages of Consumption, it has attained the medical facility, and eminent physicians pronounce it the greatest medical discovery of the age. While it cures the severest Coughs, it strengthens the system and purifies the blood. Sold by druggists.

Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Purgative Pellets

SIZE OF PELLETS.

THE "LITTLE GIANT" CATHARTIC.

No use of taking the large, repulsive, nauseous pills, composed of calomel, croton oil, jalap, or baby purgatives. These Pellets are scarcely larger than mustard seeds. Being entirely vegetable, no particular care is required while using them. They operate without disturbance to the constitution, diet, or occupation. For Jaundice, Headache, Constipation, Impure Blood, Pain in the Shoulders, Tightness of the Chest, Dizziness, Sour Eructations from the Stomach, Bad Taste in the Mouth, Bilious attacks, Pain in region of Kidneys, Internal Fever, Blotched Eruptions upon Stomach, Rush of Blood to Head, take Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Purgative Pellets. In explanation of the remedial power of these Purgative Pellets over so great a variety of diseases, it may be said that their action upon the animal economy is universal, not a gland or tissue escaping their sanative impress. Age does not impair the properties of these Pellets. They are sugar-coated and inclosed in glass bottles, their virtues being entirely preserved unimpaired for any length of time, in any climate, so that they are always fresh and reliable. This is not the case with pills put up in cheap wooden or pasteboard boxes. For all diseases where a Laxative, Alterative, or Purgative, is indicated, these little Pellets will give the most prompt satisfaction. Sold by druggists.

CATARRH

SYMPTOMS.—Frequent headache, discharge falling into throat, sometimes profuse, watery, thick mucous, purulent, offensive, etc. In others, a dryness, dry, watery, weak, or inflamed eyes, stopping up, or obstruction, of the nasal passages, difficult to cure, deafness, hawking and coughing to clear the throat, ulcerations, scabs from ulcers, voice altered, nasal twang, offensive breath, impaired or total deprivation of sense of smell and taste, dizziness, mental depression, loss of appetite, indigestion, enlarged tonsils, tickling cough, etc. Only a few of these symptoms are likely to be present in any case at one time.

DR. SAGE'S CATARRH REMEDY

produces radical cures of the worst cases of Catarrh, no matter of how long standing. The liquid remedy may be snuffed, or better applied by the use of Dr. PIERCE'S Douche. This is the only form of instrument yet invented with which fluid medicine can be carried HIGH UP and PERFECTLY APPLIED to all parts of the affected nasal passages, and the chambers or cavities communicating therewith, in which sores and ulcers frequently exist, and from which the catarrhal discharge generally proceeds. Its use is pleasant and easily understood, from directions accompanying each instrument. Dr. SAGE'S Catarrh Remedy cures recent attacks of "Cold in the Head" by a few applications. It is mild and pleasant to use, containing no strong or caustic drugs or poisons. Catarrh Remedy and Douche sold by druggists.

SWORN EVIDENCE.

The following Cure is probably the most remarkable ever effected by any medical preparation for the treatment of Catarrh:

Gentlemen,—I hereby certify that I have had Catarrh for ten years, and for the last six years have been a terrible sufferer. I was rendered partially deaf, the buzzing in the head, pains across the temple, dizzy spells, weak and painful eyes, swollen and ulcerated tonsils, hard and constant cough, severe pain across the chest, and every indication of consumption. My head ached all the time. The matter accumulated so rapidly in my head and throat that I could not keep them free. Symptoms frightful at night I would spring out of bed, it seemed to me, at the point of suffocation. I would then have recourse to every means in my power to dislodge the mucus from my throat and head before being able to sleep again. For a period of six years my tonsils were ulcerated and so much inflamed that I could with difficulty swallow. I finally consulted an eminent surgeon in regard to an operation on them, but at his request postponed it. The constant inflammation and ulceration in my throat caused by the poisonous matter dropping down from my head had so irritated and inflamed my lungs that I coughed incessantly.—a deep hard cough. Meanwhile my system began to show the effects of this disease, so that I lost flesh, grew pale, and showed every symptom of an early death by consumption. When matters had reached this stage, about six months ago, I began the use of SANFORD'S RADICAL CURE FOR CATARRH. After using the first bottle I felt pain to improve rapidly. The first dose seemed to clear my head as I had not known it to be for years. I breathed freely through the nostrils. The ulcerated tonsils soon healed. The inflammation and swelling of my throat ceased, and the ulcerations in my lungs in my throat caused by the poisonous matter dropping down from my head had so irritated and inflamed my lungs that I coughed incessantly.—a deep hard cough. Meanwhile my system began to show the effects of this disease, so that I lost flesh, grew pale, and showed every symptom of an early death by consumption. The inflammation and swelling of my throat ceased, and the ulcerations in my lungs in three days. By using it as a gargle I soon removed the inflammation and swelling of my tonsils to that they soon ceased to trouble me. The soreness across my chest disappeared, the buzzing noises in my head ceased, my senses of seeing and of hearing were completely restored, and every symptom of disease was had reduced me to the verge of the grave disappeared by the use of SANFORD'S RADICAL CURE FOR CATARRH. I now regard them this exploit because, as a druggist, I have seen a great deal of suffering from Catarrh, and hope to convince many that this is a great remedy.

I am familiar with the treatment of Catarrh as prescribed by the best physicians, and have consulted the most eminent about my case. I have used every kind of remedy and apparatus that have appeared during a period of six years past, and have, while following that use, taken great care of my general health, but obtained no relief or encouragement from any of them. * *

COLLINS' VOLTAIC PLASTER

Affords the most grateful relief in all Affections of the Chest and Lungs.

CHRONIC PLEURISY CURED

MESSRS. WEEKS & POTTER: Gentlemen,—Having for many years been suffered with a very lame side, called by my physician Chronic Pleurisy, caused by a former injury received while in the army, and other affections and liniments, as well as the so-called rheumatic cures, without the least benefit, my physician recommended one of your COLLINS' VOLTAIC PLASTERS which, to my great surprise, relieved the pain and soreness almost immediately, and I have been able to attend to my household affairs ever since with perfect ease or comfort, whereas, before the application of your invaluable Plaster, I was scarcely able to do any thing. I consider that invaluable, and shall with pleasure recommend them to the afflicted. Yours respectfully, Mrs. FRANCES HARRIMAN.

ORLAND, Me., April 21, 1876.

The Encouraging Signs.

Although the general community may be slow to notice the multiplying symptoms of industrial and trade improvement, it would be chargeable with a sort of wilful wrong to itself if it refused to allow itself to be encouraged from time to time by such facts as are an evidence of a certain transition to better times. Both the deeper currents and the tributary streams are to be regarded in forming an intelligent and satisfactory judgment of the situation and the prospects. The clearing-house exchanges are to be taken as perhaps the best guide for the state of business throughout the country. These show that there is a positive increase of activity in business circles. The reports tell us that, exclusive of stock speculation, the business of the twenty-two clearing-houses of the country for February was, in values, 11.8 per cent greater than for the corresponding month in 1878, and this in the face of a decline of ten per cent in average prices. In quantities, the total transactions were about 22 per cent greater for February than for the same month last year. Exclusive of stock operations, the exchanges at New York show an increase of 14.7 per cent. At St. Louis the increase for the same month was 19 per cent. At Boston 16 per cent. The decline at New Orleans is ascribed to the epidemic of last year in that city and the tributary business region. At Milwaukee the decline, which is 29 per cent, is ascribed to the comparative failure of the wheat crop in Minnesota. The decrease almost uniformly prevails where local trade or manufacturing is the dominant interest, but the increase prevails where the wholesale traffic centres. This gain at the larger centres indicates an improvement in general business, which is sure to make itself felt at all points in due time. It shows unistakably that the revival in trade has begun. We may ascribe it to resumption or not, it is enough to know that the door is open for the entrance of better times.

Corroborating the truth of this general view is the report from the various branches of business and general industry. Take the matter of collections as one of the most significant of current symptoms. The accounts from the principal trade centres of the interior are almost roseate in their coloring. Agents who are sent out on collecting tours return much within the time allotted them, having accomplished their entire work successfully. There is but one meaning to that, which is that the community of consumers is in a far better condition than they have been for a long time, being able to pay what they owe and thereby pledging an active and certain market in return. In Cincinnati, in Chicago, and in St. Louis this very welcome characteristic of business is to be specially noted, and rightly lends encouragement and hope to the merchants, importers, railroads, bankers, and other agents that serve themselves only as they serve the general public. Another encouraging token is to be seen in the relief which resumption, with oversupply of inactive capital, has imparted to the real estate market in New York. Real estate is habitually the last interest to have the weight of stagnation lifted from it. When that happens, there is but little more to wait for. Aside from the local aspect of the matter, New York exercises a central influence on the general market, certainly fixing the period for stagnation and summoning all the forces for a revival. Rapid transit is undoubtedly doing a great deal for New York in developing real estate values; but there are other considerations that are united with the case to cause a renewal of faith in the steady rise of those values for the future. So that without going over the field any more particularly, enough is already instanced to create the belief that the bottom of stagnation has been reached, and that the course of things henceforth is to be in the direction of improvement only. It is of all things agreeable to be able to point out what everybody is so impatient to welcome.—Boston Post.

The Crowning Discovery.

All the "phonus" of this phonetic age are surpassed in practical benefit to mankind, by the discovery of Allan's Anti-Fat, the great and only known remedy for obesity, or corpulency. It produces no weakness or injurious effect. Its action being simply confined to regulating digestion, and preventing an undue assimilation of the carbonaceous, or flesh-producing, elements of the food. Sold by druggists.

ELLSWORTH, KAN., July 13th, 1878.

BOTANIC MEDICINE CO., Buffalo, N. Y.:

Gentlemen—Allen's Anti-Fat reduced me seven pounds in one week.

Yours respectfully, MRS. TAYLOR.

Ready to do his Part.

A sense of duty often causes some ludicrous mistakes, as the following story will illustrate: Near Dumfries lived a pious family who had adopted anjorphan who was regarded as half witted. He had imbibed strict views on religious matters however, and once asked his adopted mother if she did not think it wrong for the people to come to church and fall asleep, paying no better regard to the service. She replied she did. Accordingly, before going to church the next Sunday, he filled his pockets with apples. One bald-headed old man, who invariably went to sleep during the sermon, particularly attracted his attention. Seeing him at last nodding and giving nasal evidence of being in the "land of dreams" he struck the astounded sleeper a blow with an apple on the top of his bald pate. The minister and aroused congregation at once turned around and gazed indignantly at the boy, who merely said to the preacher, as he took another apple in his hand, with a sober, honest expression of countenance: "You preach; I'll keep 'em awake."

The Missing Vessels.

The Cape Ann Advertiser of the 14th inst., gives statistics concerning the missing fishing schooners belonging to that port, and which it is feared went down in the great gale of Feb. 21st and 22d. Unless some of these schooners should happily turn up, of which there is now but little hope, this disaster will entail on Gloucester a loss of thirteen vessels, aggregating 835.82 tons and valued at $50,000, and one hundred and forty-three men, who leave fifty-three widows and one hundred and thirty-nine fatherless children. The following table compiled from the Advertiser's article gives the names of the missing vessels, their tonnage, masters' names, and the number of men each carried, all told:

Vessel	Master	Tonnage	Men
George B. Loring	George W. Lane	55.50	10
Maud & Ellie	John McIsaac	35.22	14
Otis D. Dana	William Willoughby	54.23	10
Jacob Bacon	Christian Anderson	52.44	12
John Dove	Lewis Caliste	59.02	11
Morning Star	John B. Spanks	51.93	10
Annie Linwood	Thomas Connell	59.09	11
Sea Queen	Charles Wilson	61.47	10
Mary Carlisle	Joseph Scott	64.73	11
Lottie F. Babson	Seward Reynolds	61.96	11

Mary Love	James F. Dunton	63.97	11
Joshua S. Sanborn	George Gray	63.89	11

The Pedestrian Match.

At noon on Saturday the match was virtually decided, the score at that time being—Rowell 467 miles, Ennis 443, Harriman 423. At two o'clock Rowell had made 475 miles, and Ennis 450; Harriman had made 430 miles, which rendered it certain that he would be able to cover 450 miles should his strength hold out, which would entitle him to twenty per cent of the gate money.

By the terms of the match, in case three men walked 450 miles or more the winner was to receive the belt won by O'Leary in England, the money ($2000) for the four entries, and fifty per cent of the gate money; the second man was to have thirty per cent and the third man twenty per cent of the gate money.

The score at the close was—Rowell 500 miles, Ennis 475, Harriman 450, so Rowell takes the belt back to England, and pockets a moiety of the entrance money, which is said to have amounted to $51,000. Rowell is an Englishman, Ennis an Irishman, and Harriman an American. The latter was terribly used up, and it was only by immense exertion and endurance that he managed to save his distance. The other contestants were in a much better condition at the end, and Ennis ran his last mile in six minutes and fourteen seconds—the quickest mile made during the match. There was no disturbance, as fears had been felt that there would be, and Rowell was heartily applauded and cheered at the close.

News and Notes.

The Bangor Commercial says that in the past eight months four murders have been committed within a dozen miles of Bangor.

The following report comes from Hanford, Tulare county, California: "The settlers here, who have been threatened with ligitation and ejectment by the railroad company, have formed a battalion of six companies, regularly officered, mounted and armed, to resist the action of the company. Most of the men have seen service, and aver that they mean business."

The terrible disaster in Hungary is worse than at first reported. Szegedin is entirely destroyed, thousands of persons have been drowned, and thousands of the survivors have been starving.

Erskine S. Grover, a constable of Woonsocket, R. I., was arrested Friday and held in $1000 to answer a charge of kidnapping a Rhode Island citizen and forcing him into the custody of Massachusetts officers. Of his two associates one is sick, and the other has fled.

When Asa Howard was clerk in the store of Enos Dean at Taunton, Mass., forty-six years ago, he sealed and buried two quart bottles of rum in the cellar. Mr. Howard for thirty years has been a resident of California, and recently returned on a visit and dug up the bottles after a lapse of forty-six years, and found them and their contents in a perfect state of preservation.

The late Elihu Burritt, the learned blacksmith of New Britain, Conn., was called on some years ago to decipher a blindly-written Danish will which came from the West Indies, after it had been the round of several leading colleges. He accomplished the task in two weeks, however, and charged only what he would have earned in the same time at his forge.

Newspapers are oftener sued for being too explicit, than for too much ambiguity. But a Marseilles journal which some time since stated that the tax-receiver of St. Etienne had embezzled $20,000, will learn to be more definite hereafter. There are sixty-nine St. Etiennes, towns or communes, in France, and every one of the tax-receivers of these places brought an action against the paper, which has been ordered to pay 100 francs damages to each, besides 200 francs fine.

New Hampshire Items.

At the school meeting in the second school district of Sandown, on the 8th inst., Miss Lisette G. Hunt was elected clerk by a vote of twenty-eight to one; Mrs. Pamelia L. Flanders was unanimously elected moderator, and Mrs. Elizabeth Hunt was unanimously elected prudential committee.

The temperance revival at Manchester has made it very difficult for strangers to get drinks, unless well recommended. Several strangers have been severely beaten lately, under the supposition that they were liquor spotters.

Grand Master L. F. McKinney has issued a proclamation appointing Saturday, April 26th, as a day of thanksgiving for Odd Fellows in this State, it being the sixtieth anniversary of the order in America.

A case of hydrophobia is reported from Derry. James Nichols of that town was bitten by a dog two years ago but experienced no inconvenience until the 9th inst., when he was taken with symptoms of hydrophobia, foaming at the mouth, growling and barking like a dog, and having paroxysms during which it took several men to hold him.

In Haverhill, last week, after four days' balloting, the republicans elected one selectman—the first one chosen. The democrats have carried Haverhill for ten or twelve years past.

Hiram Eastman, seventy years old, committed suicide at his home in Andover, Saturday morning, by cutting his throat with a butcher knife. The recent loss of his wife had depressed him greatly.

Naval Matters.

The following officers have been ordered to report on board the Vandalia; Richard W. Meade, commander; George F. Wildes, lieut. comdr.; George E. Ide, Chas. O. Millbone, Wm. F. Low, Richard Rush, lieutenants; Lucien Flynne, John A. Sherman, Robert M. Doyle, ensigns; Joseph Trilley, chief engineer; George W. Baird, David M. Fulmer, passed asst. engineers; Alfred B. Canaga, asst. eng.; J. Rufus Tryon, surgeon; George Arthur, asst. surgeon; John McMahon, paymaster; Richard H. Paine, paymaster's clerk; E. R. Robinson, 1st lieut. U. S. M. C.; Patrick Lynch, gunner; Isaiah E. Crowell, sailmaker.

Pay Inspector J. N. Carpenter having been retired on account of disability incurred in the line of duty, vacancies are thereby created for a pay inspector, a paymaster, a passed assistant paymaster and an assistant paymaster. A board has been ordered to examine Paymaster Edwin Stewart for pay inspector. Passed Asst. J. B. Redfield is entitled to promotion to paymaster, and Asst. Paymaster George E. Baughman to passed assistant.

The Alaska arrived at San Francisco from Panama on the 11th inst.

Mail advices from Capt. Badger, commanding the Constitution, give a full account of the accident which forced her to put into Lisbon. The vessel was trying to get south, so as to pass between Madeira and the Azores, the captain not intending to touch anywhere, and the accident occurred in the height of a trying gale, the rudder being secured with great difficulty. The rudder chains broke in a few minutes after they were got on board, but by great exertion and daring on the part of the crew the rudder was secured and additional chains put on it, enabling the vessel to put into a port 575 miles distant at the time of the mishap. The rudder was an old one, and the head of it was twisted square off in the furious gale.

The Plymouth, ordered to the West Indies and Aspinwall, hauled into the stream at Boston on the 12th inst., and sailed on Saturday.

Political.

In one ward of Belfast, Me., at the recent election, a republican candidate for alderman was too high toned to vote for himself, so he erased his own name from the ticket and put on that of his democratic opponent. The democratic candidate voted for himself, and the result was a tie, necessitating another election. Pity the democrat hadn't been elected.

John W. Polk, ex-doorkeeper of the late "democratic reform House," is endeavoring to procure the indictment of Ex-Congressman Harrison, of Illinois, for making out and certifying to false payrolls while he was acting as chairman of the House committee on reform in the civil service.

—Wealthy Russian merchants, with a touch of savagery in their nature, often give way to riotous enjoyments. A party of them call at a first class hotel, order a costly dinner with a profusion of champagne and other wines, lock the door and give themselves up to wild revelry, eating little but drinking enormously. Unable to consume all the wines, they seize the bottles, shout, "smash," and then rush upon the mirrors, furniture, and ornaments of the apartments. The next thing is to pay the bill and decamp. Some of the hotel proprietors, used to such visits, hide the valuable pieces of furniture and charge high for the breakage.

—Spurgeon says: "We ought to have room for enthusiasts, even if they violate every rule of grammar. A grand, blundering, hammering, thundering, wholehearted Boanerges is worth a dozen prim reverend gentlemen, meek as milk and water and soft as boiled parsnips."

—A lawyer was on trial in Lebanon, Indiana, on a charge of perjury. The jury agreed to acquittal, but just before they returned to the court room with their verdict the prisoner embraced an opportunity to run away. Knowing the truth, he probably had reason to fear the worst.

—"There was one thing my farm never could raise," said the old man, as he softly worried the roll of tobacco, and then expectorated on the stove. And as the statesmen who were sitting round the cracker barrel patiently awaited his explanation, he continued: "And that was a mortgage."

—A certain lawyer was compelled to apologize to the court. With stately dignity he arose in his place and said: "Your Honor is right and I am wrong, as your honor generally is." There was a dazed look in the judge's eye, and he hardly knew whether to feel happy or fine the lawyer for contempt of court.

ROYAL BAKING POWDER

Absolutely Pure.

The Royal Baking Powder is a pure Cream of Tartar powder, made from pure Grape Cream Tartar, imported exclusively for this powder direct from the wine district of France. An old experienced housekeeper writes that, although she has to pay a few pennies more for the "Royal," finds that it goes so much further and works much better than saleratus, soda, or cream of tartar.

☞ Most of the Cream of Tartar of commerce is adulterated with Alum, Terra Alba, etc. Doctors pronounce Alum most dangerous to health; it costs but 2c. a lb., Cr am of Tartar over 30. The Royal Baking Powder is recommended for its wholesomeness by such eminent chemists as Dr. Mott, New York; Dr. S. Dana Hayes, Boston. Sold only in cans. All Grocers.

☞ BAKING POWDER should never be sold in paper packages, as it becomes stale and deteriorates upon exposure to the atmosphere. 110.

WHEAT MEAL!

— OR —

Graham Flour.

When Wheat is ground it becomes Wheat Meal; when it is bolted it becomes Wheat Flour. Dr. Graham, who lectured through the country forty years ago on dietetics formed the fraternity known as "Grahamites." He said that bolted Flour should not be eaten, but that bread ought to be made of Wheat Meal instead; from him it got the name of Graham Flour. All Graham Flour therefore ought to be Wheat Meal, but about three-quarters of it is what we call made up Graham, that is, artificially mixed Cheap Flour and Bran, and is in every way inferior to the genuine article. Hardly a person who uses the genuine Wheat Meal would take the bogus article except on compulsion.

THE CITY.

Proposals are invited for repairing the south bridge, building tide-gates, etc. See advertisement.

The time-table of the ferry steamer James Sampson, plying between this city and Kittery, can be found in another column.

The annual report of the superintendent of public instruction in New Hampshire shows that the average amount expended per scholar by Portsmouth during the year ending June 30th, 1878, was $11.53. Exeter expended $15.63 per scholar; Somersworth, $12.56; Rollinsford, $11.-30; Dover, $14.06.

Max Von Schoern, a German and cook at the Rockingham house for a long time, left the city suddenly early on Wednesday morning last, leaving behind unpaid bills to a considerable amount, and also a young bride, an estimable lady to whom he was married only a few evenings previous. He has been traced to St. John, N. B.

The demand for tickets to Mrs. Bartlett's lecture upon the great Siddons began Saturday some time before the tickets were handed in at Preston's. But the tickets are now there—that is, those not already taken. The lecture is said by those who have heard it to be full of wit, amusement, and information, and it ends with a brilliant scene from Henry VII.

The Boston Herald having published an item to the effect that a lady in Windham has kept a diary twenty-eight years without missing a day, and queried "Who can beat it?" the editor of the Odd Fellows' department of that excellent paper, the Manchester Weekly Times, says he "has kept a continuous journal for over forty years, thus filling over forty-two manuscript volumes, aggregating 6209 pages." We are not quite up to the Manchester editor but we can easily beat the Windham lady, as we have a diary which we have kept for thirty-three years, and it is just as clean now as it ever was.

THE VICINITY.

A young man has disappeared from Exeter, taking with him his mother's pension money and another young man's wife.

The report of the arrest of the town officers in Wells for holding office without taking oath, is pronounced false in every particular.

A year ago the town debt of Stratham was $9183.34. The present indebtedness is $2731.43, being a decrease in twelve months of $6451.91.

Mr. John Brown, of Hampton, recently lost a horse by his getting cast in the woods, and injured in such a manner as to necessitate killing him.

Seabrook paid last year, as bounty on three hundred and fourteen hawks and one fox, the sum of $63.30; and for the relief of tramps during the same time, $17.65.

Warren Grant of Great Falls last week refused to be arrested by Sheriff Chick, and assaulted the officer with great violence, but the sheriff shot off a part of one of the fellow's fingers, and with the assistance of two other officers locked him up. In default of $1700 bail Warren was committed to jail to await trial next September.

Biddeford, which already has one lively and enterprising daily paper, the Times, and one weekly, the Journal, it is reported is to have a couple more papers. Rev. Oliver Butler, for many years one of the editors of the Journal, is about to start a new democratic weekly; and a new republican daily is to be started, with George A. Hobbs, Esq., of the Journal, as chief editor.

A Stratham correspondent of the Exeter News-Letter says: "Greenleaf C. Brown, after serving the Stratham and South Newmarket bridge company for thirty-nine years as clerk, has resigned, and Simeon Brackett, of Greenland, has been appointed to fill the vacancy. The books that have been under the charge of Mr. Brown during these long years, are a model of neatness, as the same show neither scar, blemish nor blot."

The Great Falls Journal says: "James Jackson, of Rochester, has a watch which belonged to his grandfather, that is one hundred and fifteen years old. It was made in London. Mr. Jackson also has a chair over two hundred years old. It was the property of the late Betsey Jackson, who died recently at the age of ninety-one years and eight months. It was given her by her grand-mother."

The Christian church at Newcastle has been completely remodelled, the house being raised, the pews re-arranged and the whole work neatly finished inside and out. The dedication services took place on Saturday evening, Chaplain Sturtevant of the navy yard, who has taken much interest in the society and frequently occupied the pulpit, having direction of the exercises. The sermon was by Rev. John A. Goss of this city.

Miss Lizzie Burley, an Exeter girl and a graduate of Robinson female seminary, is teaching a public school at Rolla, Missouri. Recently three boys undertook to run the school on their own hook—a fashion boys have sometimes—and Miss Burley settled herself down to business, and handsomely thrashed the whole lot. The parents of the three amateur schoolmasters brought suit against the teacher in the courts, engaging the best legal talent to conduct the prosecution; but when the case came to trial the plucky lady pleaded her own cause, and gained it, too.

MISS MARY ANDERSON,

Supported by Mr. Joseph W. Norton and a full and efficient dramatic company, will on Monday evening next appear at Music hall as Parthenia in the once favorite but for many years neglected play of "Ingomar the barbarian." During the brief time—about two years—that she has been on the stage, Miss Anderson has been triumphantly successful in many of the chief cities of the country—in every one in which she has appeared; and her first appearance here will be greeted with pleasure by all who can appreciate the highest merit in acting. Of her "Parthenia" the New York Graphic says:

She invests the character with a wondrous charm. The young Greek maiden, delicate, tender and pure, inspired by a heroic soul, willing to brave all dangers in the service of those she loves—such is "Parthenia" and such is Mary Anderson. She presents throughout as true a copy of the high-souled Greek maiden as it is possible to conceive. The exquisite grace of her fine form, which lends itself so harmoniously to classic dress, and the statuesque movements in such parts as "Evadne" and "Parthenia," would, in any pose through the five acts of the old-time drama, serve as a model for a sculptor. Her "Evadne" is great, her "Parthenia" is grand.

Not Symptoms, but the Disease.

It would seem to be a truth appreciable by all, and especially by professors of the healing art, that to remove the disease, not to alleviate its symptoms, should be the chief aim of medication. Yet in how many instances do we see this truth admitted in theory, ignored in practice. The reason that Hostetter's Stomach Bitters is successful in so many cases, with which remedies previously tried were inadequate to cope, is attributable to the fact that it is a medicine which reaches and removes the causes of the various maladies to which it is adapted. Indigestion, fever and ague, liver complaint, gout, rheumatism, disorders of the bowels, urinary affections and other maladies are not palliated merely, but rooted out by it. It goes to the fountain head. It is really, not nominally, a radical remedy, and it endows the system with an amount of vigor which is its best protection against disease.

That Hectic Flush Denotes Danger. Relieve yourself by using and at once too, Dr. A. J. Flagg's Cough and Lung Syrup.

Free of charge—Sample bottle of Adamson's Cough Balsam at all drug stores. Owing to its perfect harmony in combination it is the very best mixture for the speedy cure and relief of croup, colds, throat or lung diseases. Large bottles 35 cents.

Great Joy over the fact that your cough can be thoroughly cured by Dr. A. J. Flagg's Cough and Lung Syrup.

Why not make up your minds, at present, what Hotel you are going to stop at when you arrive in New York? The Grand Central, on Broadway, is now kept on both the American plan at $2.50 to $3.00, and the European plan at $1.00, and upwards, per day. An elegant Restaurant, at moderate prices, is conducted by the Hotel.

Lungs cannot be made but can be saved by the use of Dr. A. J. Flagg's Cough and Lung Syrup if taken in time.

What $200 Did in Wall Street.

Aug. 16th, 1878, R. S. Webb, Phila., Pa., wrote Messrs. Lawrence & Co., Bankers, N. Y.; "Dear sir: Yours containing remittance for $1,113.25, as profits on my 200 shares, is received. Accept my thanks, for I am very well satisfied. As you request, you may use this letter. I would recommend every one who feels disposed to speculate to send for your circular." This is but one instance out of thousands, by which the new Combination System of operating in stocks enables people with larger or smaller capital to make similar profits. By this excellent plan, the orders of thousands of customers from city and country are pooled into one immense sum and co-operated as a mighty individual account. Each member of the combination secures all the advantages of the largest capital united with experienced skill. Profits divided monthly; $10 invested returns $50, or 5 per cent. on the stock, $75 will make $450, and so on, according to the market. Messrs. Lawrence & Co.'s new circular (mailed free) has "two unerring rules for success," and explains everything, so that anyone can operate profitably. All kinds of Stocks and bonds wanted. New Government bonds supplied. Apply to Lawrence & Co., Bankers, N. Y. City.

--Some tramps are good singers until they strike a chord—of wood.

—A violent anti-tobacco lecturer recently made the astounding statement that there were 1,859,143,000 cigars made in this country last year, and if they were all laid end to end they would encircle the globe five times. Well, land alive, what if they would? That's no argument against smoking. There were twenty times so many loaves of bread and biscuit baked in this country last year, and if they were all piled up in one straight column the pile would stick out of the other side of the moon like a distillery stack, but that wouldn't prove that eating bread was a soul-destroying, body-killing, vicious habit, and the baking of it a lawless and nefarious business, would it?—Hawkeye.

Established 1756.
The Gazette is published every Thursday, and sent to Subscribers at the low price of $1.50 per year, paid in advance, or $2 at the end of the year.
It contains full accounts of all of importance that transpires in Portsmouth and its vicinity, and a condensed summary of NEWS, foreign and domestic; editorials upon current topics; New Hampshire items; carefully prepared marine news, containing reports of vessels owned at this port, or offered by men from Portsmouth or its neighborhood; and is just the paper for residents desiring to be posted on all that takes place at home, while to those living in the vicinity of Portsmouth, or to former residents who retain their interest in the "old home by the sea," it is the best means of keeping informed of what transpires in this city.
— THE —
NEW HAMPSHIRE GAZETTE
Contains more original matter
Than any other paper of its size in the State, the editors working more with their pens than with their scissors.

TO ADVERTISERS
THE N. H. GAZETTE
Presents an excellent opportunity for a WEEKLY INVITATION TO CUSTOMERS, at a reasonable rate, and all those who desire to reach patrons in Rockingham and York counties will find it an economical medium. THE GAZETTE is in many instances the only paper taken by families, and it is read to a large extent in localities whence is derived much of the trade of Portsmouth, a fact which our merchants should not fail to bear in mind.

(Successors to R. V. PIERCE, M. D.)
DR. R. V. PIERCE, having acquired a world-wide reputation in the treatment of Chronic Diseases, resulting in a professional business far exceeding his individual ability to conduct, some years ago induced several medical gentlemen to associate themselves with him, as the Faculty of the World's Dispensary, the Consulting Department of which has since been merged with the INVALIDS' HOTEL. The organization has been incorporated and incorporated under the name and style of World's Dispensary Medical Association, with the following officers:
Hon. R. V. PIERCE, Pres. F. D. PIERCE, V. Pres. JNO. E. PIERCE, Sec. LESTER B. SMITH, Treas.
NINE PHYSICIANS AND SURGEONS of eminence and skill have been chosen to the Faculty, etc.
CHRONIC DISEASES of all forms come within the province of our several specialties.
LUNG DISEASES.—This division of practice is very ably managed by a gentleman of mature judgment and skill. Bronchial, Throat, and Lung Diseases treated with the most successful results.
DISEASES OF WOMEN.—Especially are our facilities of a superior order for the cure of all those chronic diseases peculiar to females.
NERVOUS DISEASES.—Paralysis, Nervous Debility, Epilepsy (Fits), Chorea (St. Vitus's Dance), Neuralgia, and other nervous affections, receive the attention of an expert in this specialty.
NOT NECESSARY TO SEE PATIENTS.—By our original system of diagnosis, we can treat many chronic diseases as successfully without as with a personal consultation. For particulars see "People's Common Sense Medical Adviser" (1,000 pages, sent post-paid for $1.50) or "Invalids' and Tourists' Guide Book" (160 pages, 10 cents post-paid).
SURGICAL CASES.—Among the operations which we are called upon most frequently to perform, are those for Nasal Polypus, Harelip, Tumors, Fistula in Ano, Piles, Hernia (Rupture), Hydrocele (Dropsy of the Scrotum), Varicocele, Ovarian and Uterine Tumors, Cataract, Stone in the Bladder, Stricture, etc., etc. We also treat successfully, by a new method without surgical operation, Cancer, Cancerous, Spinal Curvature, and other deformities. (See pamphlet entitled, "Motion as a Curative Agent," sent on receipt of 10 cents.)
Address, World's Dispensary Medical Association, BUFFALO, N. Y.

WOMAN
By an immense practice at the Worlds Dispensary and Invalids' Hotel, having treated many thousand cases of those diseases peculiar to women, I have been enabled to perfect a most potent and positive remedy for these diseases.
To designate this natural specific, I have named it
Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription
The term, however, is but a feeble expression of my high appreciation of its value, based upon personal observation. I have, while attending to positive results in the special diseases incident to the organism of woman, singled it out as the climax or crowning gem of my medical career. On its merits, as a positive, safe, and efficient remedy for this class of diseases, and one that will, at all times and under all circumstances, act kindly, I am willing to stake my reputation as a physician; and so confident am I that it will not disappoint the most sanguine expectations of a single invalid lady who uses it for any of the diseases for which I recommend it, that I offer and sell it under A POSITIVE GUARANTEE. (For conditions, see pamphlet wrapping bottle.)
The following are among those diseases in which my Favorite Prescription has worked cures, as if by magic, and with a certainty never before attained by any medicine: Leucorrhœa, Excessive Flowing, Painful Monthly Periods, Suppression when from unnatural causes, Irregularities, Weak Back, Prolapsus, or Falling of the Uterus, Anteversion and Retroversion, Bearing-down Sensations, Internal Heat, Nervous Depression, Debility, Dependency, Threatened Miscarriage, Chronic Congestion, Inflammation and Ulceration of the Uterus, Irritability, Barrenness, or Sterility, and Female Weakness. I do not exist this medicine as a "cure-all," but it admirably fulfils a single purpose, being a most perfect specific in all chronic diseases of the sexual system of woman. It will not disappoint, nor will it do harm, in any state or condition.
Those who desire further information on these subjects can obtain it in THE PEOPLE'S COMMON SENSE MEDICAL ADVISER, a book of over 200 pages, sent, post-paid, on receipt of $1.50. It treats intimately of those diseases peculiar to females, and gives much valuable advice in regard to the management of those affections.
Favorite Prescription sold by Druggists.

GOLDEN MEDICAL DISCOVERY

By its great and thorough blood-purifying properties, Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery cures all diseases from the worst Scrofula to a common Pimple, or Eruption. Mercurial disease, Mineral Poisons, and their effects, are eradicated, and vigorous health and a sound constitution established. Erysipelas, Salt-Rheum, Fever Sores, Scaly or Rough Skin, in short, all diseases caused by bad blood, are conquered by this powerful, purifying, and invigorating medicine.

Especially and it is unsurpassed its potency curing Tetter, Tetter Itch, Boils, Carbuncles, Sore Eyes, Scrofulous Sores and Swellings, White Swellings, Goitre or Thick Neck, and Enlarged Glands.

If you feel dull, drowsy, debilitated, have sallow color of skin, or yellowish-brown spots on face or body, frequent headache or dizziness, bad taste in mouth, internal heat or chills alternated with hot flushes, low spirits, and gloomy forebodings, irregular appetite, and tongue coated, you are suffering from Torpid Liver, or "Biliousness." In many cases of "Liver Complaint" only part of these symptoms are experienced. As a remedy for all such cases, Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery has no equal, as it effects perfect and radical cures.

In the cure of Bronchitis, Severe Coughs, and the early stages of Consumption, it has astonished the medical faculty, and eminent physicians pronounce it the greatest medical discovery of the age. While it cures the severest Coughs, it strengthens the system and purifies the blood. With its wonderful curative powers, it cures all humors, from a pimple to a scrofulous sore, even when the system is reduced to a state of decay, it may be said that their action upon the animal economy is universal, not a gland or tissue escaping their sensitive impress. Age does not impair the properties of these Pellets. They are sugar-coated and inclosed in glass bottles, their virtues being thereby preserved unimpaired for any length of time, in any climate, so that they are always fresh and reliable. This is not the case with pills put up in cheap wooden or pasteboard boxes. For all diseases where a Laxative, Alterative, or Purgative, is indicated, these little Pellets will give the most perfect satisfaction. Sold by druggists.

Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Purgative Pellets

SIZE OF PELLETS

THE "LITTLE GIANT" CATHARTIC.

No use of taking the large, repulsive, nauseous pills, compound of cheap drugs and bitter vegetable extracts. These Pellets are scarcely larger than mustard seeds. Being entirely vegetable, no harm can result from a required while using them. They operate without disturbance in diet, or change of time, diet, or occupation. For Jaundice, Headache, Constipation, Impure Blood, Pain in the Side, Back and Limbs, Sick Stomach, Dizziness, Sour Eructations from the Stomach, Bad Taste in the Mouth, Bilious Attacks, Palpitation of the Heart, Nervous Irritation, Internal Fever, Bloated feeling about Stomach, Rush of Blood to Head, take Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Purgative Pellets. As a mild laxative or cathartic the remedial power of these Purgative Pellets over so great a variety of diseases, it may be said that their action upon the animal economy is universal, not a gland or tissue escaping their sensitive impress. Age does not impair the properties of these Pellets. They are sugar-coated and inclosed in glass bottles, their virtues being thereby preserved unimpaired for any length of time, in any climate, so that they are always fresh and reliable. CATARRH

SYMPTOMS.—Frequent headache, discharge falling into throat, sometimes profuse, watery, thick mucous, purulent, offensive, etc. In others, a dryness, dry, watery, weak, or inflamed eyes, irregular ups or constriction, of the nasal passages, ringing in ears, deafness, hawking and coughing to clear the throat, incrustations, snuffing, voice altered, nasal twang, offensive breath, impaired or total deprivation of sense of smell and taste, dizziness, mental depression, loss of appetite, indigestion, enlarged tonsils, tickling cough, etc. Only a few of these symptoms are likely to be present in any case at one time.

produces radical cures of the worst cases of Catarrh, no matter of how long standing. The liquid remedy may be snuffed, or better applied by the use of Dr. PIERCE'S Douche. This is the only form of instrument yet invented which can be profitably used to carry HIGH UP and PERFECTLY APPLIED to all parts of the affected nasal passages, and the chambers or cavities communicating therewith, in which sores and ulcers frequently exist, and from which the catarrhal discharge generally proceeds. Its use is pleasant and easily understood, from directions accompanying each instrument. Dr. SAGE'S Catarrh Remedy cures recent attacks of "cold in the head" by a few applications. It is mild and pleasant to use, containing no strong or caustic drugs or poisons. Catarrh Remedy and Douche sold by druggists. R. V. PIERCE, M. D., Proprr. SWORN EVIDENCE.

The following Cure is probably the most remarkable ever effected by any medical preparation for the treatment of Catarrh:

Gentlemen.—I hereby certify that I have had Catarrh for ten years, and for the last six years have been a terrible sufferer. I was rendered partially deaf, had buzzing in the head, pains across the temple, frequent spells, weak and painful eyes, swollen and ulcerated tonsils, hard and constant cough, severe pain across the chest, and every indication of consumption. My head ached all the time. The matter accumulated so rapidly in my head and throat that I could not keep them free. Frequently at night I would spring out of bed, it seemed to me, at the point of suffocation. I would then have recourse to every means in my power to dislodge the mucus from my throat and head, before being able to sleep again. For a period of six years my tonsils were ulcerated and so much inflamed that I could with difficulty swallow. I finally consulted an eminent surgeon in regard to an operation on them, but at his request postponed it. The constant inflammation and ulceration in my throat caused by the poisonous matter dropping down from my head had so irritated and inflamed my lungs that I coughed incessantly,—a deep hard cough. Meanwhile my system began to show the effects of this disease, so that I had frequent raw pain, and showed every symptom of an early death by consumption. When matters had reached this stage, about six months ago, I began the use of SANFORD'S RADICAL CURE FOR CATARRH. After using the first bottle I began to improve rapidly. The first dose seemed to clear my head as I had not known it to be for years. It seemed gradually to arrest the discharges. It stopped my cough in three days. By using it as a gargle I soon reduced the inflammation and scattering of my tonsils so that they soon ceased to trouble me. The sorenes of my throat disappeared, the buzzing noises in my head ceased, my senses of seeing and of hearing were completely restored, and everything else improved, that had reduced me to the verge of the grave disappeared by the use of SANFORD'S RADICAL CURE FOR CATARRH.

I have been thus explicit because, as a druggist, I am seen a great deal of suffering from Catarrh, and hope to convince many that this is a great remedy.

I am familiar with the treatment of Catarrh as practised by the best physicians, and have consulted the most eminent about my case. I have used every kind of remedy and apparatus that have appeared during a period of six years past, and have, while following that use, taken great care of my general health, but obtained no relief or encouragement from any of them. * *

COLLINS' VOLTAIC PLASTER

Affords the most grateful relief in all Affections of the Chest and Lungs.

CHRONIC PLEURISY CURED.

Messrs. WEEKS & POTTER: Gentlemen.—Having for many years past suffered with a very painful side, cared by my physician Chronic Pleurisy, caused by a forme pleurisy, and all manner of pain, I tried many preparations and liniments, as well as the so called rheumatic cures, without the least benefit. A druggist recommended one of your COLLINS' VOLTAIC PLASTERS which, to my great surprise, relieved the pain in a degree less immediately, and I have been able to attend to my household affairs ever since with perfect ease and comfort, whereas, before the application of your invaluable Plaster, I was scarcely able to do any thing. I consider them inestimable, and shall with pleasure recommend them to the afflicted. Yours respectfully, Mrs. FRANCES HARRIMAN.

Daily Chronicle.

Chronicle Correspondence.

WASHINGTON, D. C., March 14th.

No change of consequence seems to have taken place in the last few days in the speakership and other political controversies. Messrs. Randall and Blackburn hold as tenaciously and confidently to the belief that each is sure of success, the greenbackers are equally sure that neither will succeed, the republicans stand aloof, and things are interestingly mixed. The steadier-going democrats are apparently on Randall's side, but the disturbing elements are as decidedly against him, and the disturbing elements are expected to take a large part in the proceedings of the extra session. Men like Ewing say that Randall shall be defeated at any cost. As to the controversy over the anticipated political legislation, the lines are getting pretty tightly drawn, and if the President's friends and the leading democratic spirits speak truly, there will be a fight that will go into history as one of the more memorable in our experience. Both sides are defiant and determined.

The Chinese question will not be dropped yet. There is a fierce demand for some action that shall stay what the Californians call the criminal immigration from China. Probably one of the first acts of the session will be the adoption of a resolution calling upon the President to negotiate with China for a modification of the treaty so that the contract or coolie feature shall be eliminated from the business of importing the Chinese. Mr. Blaine will make another speech in favor of this and in answer to the assaults that have been made upon him for his former course. He thoroughly believes that something should be done to check the demoralizing traffic which has grown up in connection with the treaty, or at any rate to prevent violations of the treaty on the part of the Chinese companies.

An animated debate is promised on the proposed change of subordinate officers by the democrats in the Senate. There are at least fifty applicants for every place in the gift of the secretary and sergeant-at-arms, and the democrats will find it hard to resist the temptation to "go for" the patronage at once. Then the republicans will bring up the old democratic rule that subordinate changes must be endorsed by the president of the Senate. Of course the democrats can change that rule by a majority vote, but the republicans threaten to show up such a movement as not in the interest of civil service reform, as it would expose the Senate to the inefficient service of new and inexperienced officers throughout. This, they say, will offer a good opportunity to Bayard and other independent democrats to distinguish themselves as such by maintaining the rule, but it is likely that the democrats will be solid, and the republican officials must go.

Surgeon General Woodworth is dying as I write. He has been a most efficient public officer in charge of the Marine Hospital service, and has distinguished himself lately in his efforts to have some measures adopted to prevent the return of the yellow fever ravages. It was under his direction that the experiments with the Gamgee refrigerating vessels at the navy yard have been carried on with such satisfactory results, and probably through his recommendation this system will be attached to a quarantine measure to be presented to the present Congress. His loss will be deplored by the people of the southwest in particular, and by scientific people generally.

Hon. Geo. C. Gorham, the republican secretary of the Senate, who will be superceded by a democrat, will probably hold his residence at Washington for the present. He is a stalwart and a great political worker, and his party will need his services in the national committee for the next year. KNOX.

Portsmouth Chronicle

TUESDAY, MARCH 18, 1879.

Protection for Canadian Interests.

The Dominion of Canada now has a protective tariff, the bill having become a law on Saturday evening. In Montreal and other manufacturing centres it is said there is great rejoicing over the new tariff, except among the produce dealers and shippers, who are dissatisfied with the duty on bread-stuffs, which they say will injure the milling and carrying trades. Manufacturers of hats and caps, sewing machines, iron and steel and hardware, and sugar refiners, who have been interviewed, say the tariff will drive American competition out of the market. Paper makers are not satisfied with the twenty per cent on writing paper, and still expect American opponents to retain their hold on the market. Iron and steel works and sugar refineries that have been long idle will start up at once, and with largely increased facilities for manufacturing.

Valuable Law Book.

A treatise on the authority and duties of Trial Justices, District, Police and Municipal Courts in criminal cases, with form, and precedents; by Franklin Fiske Heard; Boston, Little, Brown & Co.

There can be no reasonable excuse for the criminal pleader or trial justice in Massachusetts falling into error when in such a thoroughly practical work as Mr. Heard's almost every form, precedent and decision in criminal cases can be found. This work is full of citations from the ablest works on criminal law, and contains full information as to the proceedings in every stage of criminal causes, from the application for process through the entire duties of the magistrate. Over twenty-five hundred cases are cited, and it contains forms for proceedings in almost every conceivable offence in the calendar, even to the late indictment against Hathaway, the ex-treasurer of the Border City mills.

Although prepared with especial reference to the statute law of Massachusetts, it can but be of great service to the profession throughout New England, and the great labor of the compiler will be appreciated upon an examination of his work. It will be serviceable alike to the criminal lawyer and the magistrate, while the lawyer whose practice requires but an occasional familiarity with the details of this branch of the profession and yet compels him to be informed as to the decisions and rules of practice here collected, it is indispensable.

The lawyer here finds the result of so many contested cases that it would seem he has only to have in his library this volume to be equal to almost any emergency that may suddenly befall him. The work contains 863 pages. Its forms and precedents are especially full, while the succinct manner in which the subjects are treated gives a wealth of information seldom condensed in a single volume. The style of execution is in keeping with the reputation of this long-established law-publishing firm. The work is furnished at $6, and can be had of the publishers and all dealers in law books.

News and Notes.

Bayard Taylor's body was laid beside that of his first wife on Saturday, at Kennett Square, Pa.

Since the 25th of January last, the date of the passage of the act to pay the arrears of pensions, more than 7000 applications by new claimants have been made. The thirty millions set apart for the payment of these claims will soon be exhausted.

Warren B. Goodwin and Albert R. Pemberton were examined before Judge Carter of Haverhill, Mass., Saturday morning, charged with breaking, entering and stealing shoe stock, and Goodwin was held in $2000 to answer at a higher court. Pemberton appeared as a witness for the commonwealth, and was retained. B. F. Darling, a manufacturer, charged with buying and receiving the stolen property, was held in $3000.

Gen. Thomas W. Sherman, U. S. A., died at his home in Newport, R. I., on Sunday. He was a distinguished officer and brave soldier, and lost a leg at the battle of Port Hudson, being then a major general of volunteers under Gen. Banks.

The latest reports from Szegedin, Hungary, are worse than the first. Of 9700 houses only 261 remain, and the lowest estimate of the human life lost places the number at 2000, the general number estimated being 4000 or over; 16,000 horses and cattle and 90,000 sheep were drowned by the inundation.

Some weeks ago Frank L. Bixby, a lawyer of Indianoplis, eloped with Mrs. Lulie M. Dwinnell, the wife of George S. Dwinnell, formerly of Springfield, Mass. The pair were supposed to have taken away a large sum of money, the proceeds of crooked transactions on Bixby's part, but he says he had only $500. This sum was soon spent by the pair in fast living, and in going to and fro between New York and Boston. When Bixby's funds began to run low his conscience was quickened, and he sent the woman to her friends and gave himself up to the officers at Indianapols, to be tried for embezzlement and breach of trust.

A man calling himself Dr. Munn has been arrested at Charleston, Vt., and in default of bail sent to prison, on the charge of practicing medicine without a license.

Gibbs Reinvill, a farmer of Elmore, Vt., raised all the money he could by mortgaging his farm and borrowing from his invalid sister three hundred dollars for which he gave her no security, sold off all his personal property and crops, and left for parts unknown, his wife and three young children, and his invalid sister, being left utterly destitute.

Charles H. Atwood of Warwick, Mass., twenty-seven years old and two years married, eloped last week with a neighbor's daughter named Simonds, sixteen years old, leaving his wife without a dollar.

Lillie Hoffman completed a walk of 500 quarter miles in 500 quarter hours on Saturday night at Worcester, Mass., and her manager completed the week's work by leaving sundry bills unpaid.

A Mrs. Barnes, strongly suspected of having mutilated $600 worth of clothing and pictures belonging to Mrs. Asa Willard of Holyoke, Mass., a month ago, committed suicide Saturday night by hanging, in the Windsor hotel. She was forty-nine years old.

The shoe business in Auburn, Me., is now very active, and the busy shops remind one of old times.

Peter Klein, a tramp who outraged a Mrs. Truesdale near Newport, Ky., recently, and was lodged in jail there to await trial, was taken from the jail on Sunday evening by an armed mob, and hanged.

William Schaller, a brewer of Cincinnati, celebrated his birthday on Saturday, and at an early hour in the evening playfully snatched a pistol from a friend's pocket while in the street, and fired it. Shortly afterward a young business man named Harry Baldwin was found in the street in a dying condition, with a bullet-hole in his temple. Schaller was arrested.

An unknown man, intoxicated, staggered through the streets of Red Rock, Pa., on Saturday afternoon, carrying on his shoulders a bag containing eight quart cans of nitro-glycerine. Fifteen minutes later the town was shaken and the inhabitants frightened by a terrific explosion. Investigation showed that the man had slipped down, causing the explosion. Fragments of his body were scattered in every direction.

The steam sloop-of-war Glena, which has been in course of construction at Norfolk for six years past, was successfully launched on Thursday last. The Galena is a nine-gun ship, and will carry a rifle battery. She is 250 feet long, and is pronounced one of the finest ships ever built in the American navy. She was constructed under the immediate supervision and management of Chief of Construction John W. Easby.

Affairs in Alaska.

Advices from Victoria, Vancouver's island, report the arrival there of the steamer California from Alaska with news that the Indians are preparing for war. H. B. M. ship Osprey and the United States revenue cutter Walcott had reached Alaska. The chiefs received the Osprey cordially, but informed the commander that they could take the Walcott whenever they chose. The Walcott had gone to intercept a flotilla of hostile canoes on their way to destroy the town of Sitka, she having on board the Osprey's marines and gatling gun. The Osprey will remain until relieved by an American man-of-war. The Sitka chiefs were given two hours to produce a certain woman, a witness to the murder of Mr. Brown. They pretended that the woman was absent, but in much less time than allowed them they brought her in. She claims to having seen Brown's body after he had been shot twice. The body was then rolled up in blankets and thrown overboard, weighted down by stones. The Osprey had not been in port five minutes before the Indians brought in Brown's gun, axe, books, etc. The California has three witnesses to the murder on board.

Political.

The third contest for the mayoralty of Rockland, Me., occurred on Saturday, and Lovejoy, republican, was elected, receiving 750 votes to 695 for Hall, greenbacker. The candidate supported by the straight democrats on the two previous trials withdrew from the contest before the third one, without offering any suggestion as to whether his friends had best vote for the hard-money republican or the rag-baby man. The greenback party in Maine has been flattened out thinner than its favorite currency, and won't amount to a decent film at the next election.

"By a strange mistake," says the Washington Star, the telegraph made Senator Blaine, in his reception speech at Richmond, seem to compliment Virginia on her heroic endurance in the rebellion. What Mr. Blaine did actually say, says the Star, was this: "The heroic effort now being made by Virginia under great discouragement and with exhausted resources, to maintain her public credit, is enlisting the observation and securing the sympathy of the whole country. Differing radically from you on some great political issues, I am heartily with you on other issues, and speaking as a single republican to an entire audience of democrats, I am free to say that on all matters pertaining to the material prosperity and development of Virginia I would, whenever it is proper, vote as freely as one of your own senators or representatives. If I know myself I would vote as freely for Virginia as for Maine, as freely for the south as for New England."

ROYAL BAKING POWDER

Absolutely Pure.

The Royal Baking Powder is a pure Cream of Tartar powder, made from pure Grape Cream Tartar, imported exclusively for this powder direct from the wine district of France. An old experienced housekeeper writes that, although she has to pay a few pennies more for the "Royal," finds that it goes so much further and works much better than saleratus, soda, or cream of tartar.

☞ Most of the Cream of Tartar of commerce is adulterated with Alum, Terra Alba, etc. Doctors pronounce Alum most dangerous to health; it costs but 2c. a lb., Cr am of Tartar over 30. The Royal Baking Powder is recommended for its wholesomeness by such eminent chemists as Dr. Mott, New York; Dr. S. Dana Hayes, Boston. Sold only in cans. All Grocers.

☞ BAKING POWDER should never be sold in paper packages, as it becomes stale and deteriorates upon exposure to the atmosphere. (10.

WHEAT MEAL!

— OR —

Graham Flour.

When Wheat is ground it becomes Wheat Meal; when it is bolted it becomes Wheat Flour. Dr. Graham, who lectured through the country forty years ago on dietetics formed the fraternity known as "Grahamites." He said that bolted Flour should not be eaten, but that bread ought to be made of Wheat Meal instead; from him it got the name of Graham Flour. All Graham Flour therefore ought to be Wheat Meal, but about three-quarters of it is what we call Graham, that is, artificially mixed Cheap Flour and Bran, and is in every way inferior to the genuine article. Hardly a person who uses the genuine Wheat Meal would take the bogus article except on compulsion.

THE CITY.

Probate Court to-day in the Court house in this city.

The March term of the United States Circuit Court is to be held this morning.

Hon. Wm. E. Chandler was in town on Monday, and left in the forenoon train for Washington.

The short blow of Monday morning will have to do duty as the "line gale" until something better is offered.

Monday was St. Patrick's day, and the St. Mary's Benevolent society celebrated it with a supper in Mechanics' hall. The United cricket club had a supper and dance in Congress hall.

Fish are reported scarce along the coast just now, the large school of large cod that struck in some weeks ago having apparently gone into deeper water again, and the haddock having not yet appeared. The shore boats are doing next to nothing.

The Rockland papers mention in glowing terms the singing of Miss Nellie Boynton of the Unitarian choir in this city, listened to by the lime-kiln men on a recent visit by Miss Boynton to her brother, a physician at Rockland. Of course it was of the high order which is heard in Miss Boynton's execution on all occasions.

The entertainment advertised by the ladies of the Universalist parish promises to be unusually attractive and diversified in its character. The programme embraces some features entirely new in society gatherings and of a most enjoyable nature. We are assured that no guest will be solicited to buy articles he does not want, nor urged to take those he does want.

Mr. Henry A. Yeaton has entered into business arrangements at Detroit, Mich., to go into effect about May first, the firm to be known as George H. Doane & Co., general commission merchants in flour, grain, seeds, provisions, etc. Mr. Doane is a native of Concord. Mr. Yeaton will continue his connection with the firm of J. Brooks & Co., of this city, leaving its details with the new partner, John F. Leavitt.

The subject of Mrs. Bartlett's lecture Wednesday evening is one which can hardly fail to interest a Portsmouth audience. "Sarah Siddons" is a name indissolubly connected with our ideas of the grandeur of the old English stage, and of those whose genius exalted the dramatic art to the dignity of a noble profession and made it a powerful element of civilization in the world. If our anticipations are realized Franklin hall will be none too large to accommodate the audience which will greet our accomplished and versatile townswoman Wednesday evening.

Robert M. Mason was the last survivor of the five sons of the late Jeremiah Mason, so long at the head of the bar of this State. When in Portsmouth last fall, Mr. Mason, accompanied by his two daughters, visited the office once occupied by his honored father, being the rooms over the First National bank, and seemed to have a deep interest in the spot where his father had spent so many hours. When Jeremiah Mason lived in Portsmouth his residence was in the fine house built by him, at what over fifty years ago was denominated the corner of Broad and Massey streets, now the corner of State and Summer streets, the residence of Captain Wm. H. Treadwell. Mason street, a street named after Jeremiah Mason or Capt. John Mason, under whose auspices Portsmouth was settled in 1623, was the name applied to that part of Fleet street between Hanover and Congress streets. We ought to have one of our best streets named for those Masons, one or both. It was once suggested that the meaningless name of Middle street be exchanged for the better designation of Mason avenue, but we think no one took any pains to bring about the improvement in the name.

THE VICINITY.

Dover has forty-five special policemen, without pay.

The easterly bound freight on the Eastern railroad met with an accident at Hobbs' siding, two miles from Wells depot, on Saturday morning, by a car running off the track, causing a delay to the Pullman train of about three hours at Kennebunk.

The three principal shoe factories in Biddeford report a very brisk business. More "teams" are employed there than ever before, and all the manufacturers have large orders ahead.

Oliver Sanborn will leave the Shute house at South Newmarket on the 1st of May, and the proprietor, Lucius Pike, an old-style and popular landlord, will run the house after that date.

Before the supreme court recently, when Judge Foster made an order in a case, an objecting counsel said: "I never heard of such an extraordinary order." "What, never?" asked the judge. "Well," rejoined the lawyer, "Hardly ever."

At the school district meeting in Exeter, Saturday, about fifty ladies were present, and most of them voted. George W. Gadd was chosen moderator, Roswell B. Thompson clerk, and John E. Gardner, Mary Gordon and George W. Weston prudential committee.

A building in Dover owned by Oliver T. Gibbs and occupied by John Durken was burned Monday morning. The lower story was used as a grocery store, and the second one for a tenement. The contents were mostly saved; a horse was burned. Loss on building $1000; Durken's loss $600; total insurance, $1250.

Mr. John Albee is to begin a course of eight lectures on English language and literature at the Union League theatre in New York on Monday evening. The letter inviting Mr. Albee to give this course of lectures is signed by Rev. Dr. Bellows, John S. Jenness, R. D. Hitchcock, Clarence Cook, George Wm. Curtis and other literary men of New York.

In the argument of a recent case before the supreme court of this county, a learned lawyer, describing the confidence one has in being conveyed under the guidance of another on land or by sea, alluded to the security one feels in a boat off Hampton beach with the experienced sailor "in the bow of the boat with his hand on the rudder!" That was a forward speech.

Anson Colbath of Dover has filed a claim for $10,000 against that city, as compensation for injuries received from a piece of ice which fell from the roof of the city hall and landed on Mr. Colbath's head. John Baty asks the city to hand over $150, alleging that boys sliding down street frightened his horse so that the animal ran away, whereby Mr. Baty's person and property were damaged to the extent of the sum named. Orrin L. Farnham of Great Falls also wants the city of Dover to pay him for damages occasioned to his property by the running away of his horse, which he says was frightened by the steam from Wentworth's shoe factory, Mr. Farnham's claim being for $50.

THE REVIVAL.

Elder Arthur A. Waite has for the present closed his labors in this city, the last meetings being held in the Methodist and Advent churches on Sunday evening, he going from the former to the latter. The buildings were packed, and at the close of the meetings a large proportion of those present shook hands with the revivalist as they passed out. It is said that the number of conversions under his ministrations is about two hundred.

In the afternoon Music hall was filled with people to hear Mr. Waite relate the story of his life and conversion, from which it appears he was once a clown in a circus, and has been manager of a variety show, and scene painter in a theatre. He was married when only eighteen years old, and was rather a "fast" individual generally until after his conversion.

Mr. Waite on Sunday evening said that the amounts contributed during his stay in this city were as follows: For the gospel tent, in which to hold services in various places during the summer, $242.45; for miscellaneous purposes, $142.19. It is understood that this tent will be first pitched in this city, possibly some time in May; a very handsome streamer to fly from its top, bearing the legend "Glad tidings," was procured by Mr. Waite's admirers in this city, and presented to him Sunday afternoon.

The revivalist gave a "chalk talk" in Dover on Monday evening, and quite a number of Portsmouth people went up to hear him.

POLICE COURT.

MONDAY, March 17; Batchelder, J.

John Lynch, for aggravated assault, was bound over in $100 to answer at a higher court, and to keep the peace in the meantime.

"INGOMAR."

"Two souls but with a single thought,
Two hearts that beat as one."

This oft-repeated quotation is from "Ingomar the barbarian," to be represented at Music hall on Monday evening. In the player's copy this poetic effusion appears as quoted, but our friend Mr. John Bartlett, who is a martinet in these matters, in his dictionary of poetic quotations credits it to Ingomar. The play is translated from the German, the scene is located upon the shores of Greece, and it is one of the most touching dramas that survive from generation to generation to interest new listeners. The character of "Parthenia," in which Miss Mary Anderson has won so wide repute, is one of the most interesting and fascinating delineations produced upon the stage, and in this role Miss Anderson is said to excel all who have preceded her. An entertainment like that promised for Monday night is worth a dozen ordinary affairs, which take our time and money without returning an equivalent. It will be one of the best dramatic performances ever seen in Music hall.

RYE LETTER.

RYE, March 17th.

In addition to what has already been given in regard to our town meeting, there was this done: N. R. Goss was elected superintending school committee; Emery Woodman and Charles J. Brown, auditors. The collecting of taxes and taking care of the town hall were set up at auction and bid off by Aaron Rand and Eugene P. Garland respectively; but when it came to voting them in it was found that a majority wanted other persons to serve them in those capacities, and Morris E. Drake got the collector's berth and A. J. Hodgdon the janitor's, with the understanding that they were to receive the amount that was bid by the first-named gentlemen. This little matter created the only ripple of excitement that occurred during the whole meeting. The town voted to raise by taxation $5000, and $2000 in addition as a labor tax for the highways. Dr. Warren Parsons' bill or claim for extra compensation for services in vaccinating in 1876, was indefinitely postponed. The selectmen's accounts, (which by the way were printed at the office of the Exeter Gazette, and are not any improvement in any respect upon those printed last year by Charley Spear, an amateur printer of this town,) show a reduction of the town debt of $182.87. The whole debt now is $9063.10, which is held by residents, and for which four per cent is paid on $2799.91, and five per cent for the balance. Ten dollars was paid for damages by dogs, and $9.20 for bounties on forty-one hawks and two foxes; $543.49 was expended on highways and bridges, in addition to the $2500 labor tax; and the poor drew from the treasury $522.55. Nineteen voters had their poll taxes abated for the year 1878, and the miscellaneous expenses were $364.59. The town voted to raise for schools the sum the law requires in addition to the literary fund, which will make over $1300. The school report, printed in connection with the selectmen's accounts, shows our schools to be in a very good condition, and due credit is given to the instructors for their efforts during the year in "teaching the young idea how to shoot". Take it all together the town is getting along as well as its neighbors, and morality, temperance and all the rest of the virtues have as firm a foothold within its borders as elsewhere, when the surroundings and temptations are taken into consideration.

The concert by the Music hall quartette, assisted by Miss Emma J. Flanders and Mr. Samuel W. Cole, at the Congregational church, on Tuesday evening of last week, was a success, and seldom has there been an entertainment here which was more enjoyable. The singing by the quartette was superb, and that of Miss Flanders pleased the audience so much that she had to respond to an encore each time she appeared. Dr. Goodall put everybody in good humor, with his comical song, and received an encore. Mr. Cole played a selection on the new organ, and brought out its merits in a choice and vigorous manner, and showed to all present that it was a fine instrument, as he himself was free to acknowledge its merits. Mrs. C. O. Philbrick, the regular organist, played a voluntary at the opening of the concert, and at the close she gave the "Blue Bells of Scotland," which brought such applause that she had to repeat it. In this connection it may be remarked that there has never been such good singing in the Congregational church as now, which goes to show that a good organ well played is an incentive to improvement in that branch of church worship, and which has evidently been so considered by the very efficient choir under the direction of David Jenness, Esq. Mr. Monroe's singing and Mr. Cole's accompaniments were much admired, and the only fault—perhaps regret—in connection with the entertainment was that there was not a little longer programme. At the close the quartette were entertained with hot tea, coffee and lunch in the vestry, which was prepared by a few lady members of the society. Quite a sum was realized, after paying expenses, which goes toward paying the slight debt on the organ.

"The walking feat" came off as per announcement, at the town hall on Saturday night. It was not a success, either financially or "pedestrianally," as the door money wouldn't pay for light and fire, and the effort to walk twenty-five miles in four hours and a half did not succeed by three miles, more or less. Rye has not yet been educated up to that point which is necessary to see the sense, utility or amusement there is in a walking feat, or match. NAT.

Gov. Prescott is said to have appointed Hon. Charles H. Bell as United States Senator because he wished to go outside of the list of those who will be candidates for the office before the legislature. Perhaps Mr. Bell may nevertheless consider that he is the man, and determine to be a candidate. The appointment was offered and acceptance returned by telegraph. Mr. Bell left for Washington on Saturday. On receiving Mr. Prescott's offer of appointment Mr. Bell examined the law and returned his affirmative reply to the governor's question. It is a responsible appointment, and a handsome compliment to Mr. Bell, who will prove an honorable incumbent.

Miss Emeline Merrill of Candia died on Monday of last week, under distressing circumstances. She lived by herself, and after sickness seized her she laid two days without fire or food, and the wind blowing upon her from a broken window. When found by some neighbors she was nearly frozen. She was then kindly cared for, but lived but a short time.

The Abuse of the Brain.

Dr. Cornelius R. Agnew of New York, in a recent lecture before the Young Men's Christian Association, said, No organ in the human body is so abused as the brain, and no organ is so well fitted for daily use. Still, the brain is not so susceptible to disease as some suppose. It was probable there was not a man present who had not during the day abused his brain by overwork, anger, tobacco, alcohol, fuss, hurry, too little sleep, too much sleep, by indolence, by not studying to be quiet, by not doing his own business, by attempting to do something beyond his reach, by attempting to do something for which he had not been sufficiently educated, by carrying an evil conscience, or by the unmanly strain of trying to outdo his neighbor. The remedy of the jaded head is the giving up of all habits which cannot be defended by the highest kind of reasoning; the careful determining by each man of his ability to stand work; the avoidance of doing anything for which a man has no adequate education; rest, recreation, and the keeping up of the tissue-building powers by wholesome food. If there is more nervous disease in this country than elsewhere, it is because the average American youth is supposed to be able to do anything. Men should know on what points they are ignorant, and so escape many damaging strains. Mental application does not weaken the brain. It strengthens it, if not carried to the length at which wholesome food and plenty of sleep fail to refresh it. In concluding his address, Dr. Agnew said that various diseases increase as large cities are approached. Never in any age have man's faculties been so taxed as now, and the great problem is for each man to do his share of the world's work and keep well. The civilization of to-day does not call for any faculties that a man does not possess; but it calls upon him to use in the best manner the faculties he has and learn how to bear the strain of living.

ENCORPORATED JANUARY, 1878. CAPITAL STOCK, $1,000,000.

(Successors to R. V. PIERCE, M. D.)

DR. R. V. PIERCE, having acquired a world-wide reputation in the treatment of Chronic Diseases, resulting in a professional business far exceeding his individual ability to conduct, some years ago induced several medical gentlemen to associate themselves with him, as the Faculty of the World's Dispensary, the Consulting Department of which has since been merged with the INVALIDS' HOTEL. The organization has been completed and incorporated under the name and style of World's Dispensary Medical Association, with the following officers:

HON. R. V. PIERCE, Pres. F. D. PIERCE, V. Pres.
JNO. E. PIERCE, Sec. LESTER B. SMITH, Treas.

NINE PHYSICIANS AND SURGEONS of eminence and skill have been chosen as the Faculty.

CHRONIC DISEASES of all forms come within the province of our several specialties.

LUNG DISEASES.—This division of practice is very ably managed by a gentleman of mature judgment and skill. Bronchial, Throat, and Lung, in a cases treated with the most successful results.

DISEASES OF WOMEN.—Especially are our facilities of a superior order for the cure of all those peculiar diseases peculiar to females.

NERVOUS DISEASES.—Paralysis, Nervous Debility, Epilepsy, Fits, Chorea (St. Vitus's Dance), Neuralgia, and other nervous affections, receive the attention of an expert in this specialty.

NOT NECESSARY TO SEE PATIENTS.—By our original system of diagnosis, we can treat many chronic diseases successfully without seeing the patient for a personal consultation. For particulars see "People's Common Sense Medical Adviser" (1,000 pages, sent post-paid for $1.50) or "Invalids' and Tourists' Guide Book," (100 pages, 10 cents postpaid).

SURGICAL CASES.—Among the operations which we are called upon most frequently to perform, are those for Nasal Polypus, Harelip, Tumors, Fistula in Ano, Piles, Hydrocele (Rupture), Hydrocele (Dropsy of the Scrotum), Varicocele, Ovarian and Uterine Tumors, Cataract (Stone in the Bladder), Stone in the Bladder, etc., etc. We treat great successfully, by a new method without surgical operation, Cancers, Club-feet, Spinal Curvature, and other deformities. (See pamphlet entitled, "Motion as a Curative Agent," sent on receipt of 10 cents.)

Address, World's Dispensary Medical Association, BUFFALO, N. Y.

WOMAN

By an immense practice at the World's Dispensary and Invalids' Hotel, having treated many thousand cases of those diseases peculiar to woman, I have been enabled to perfect a most perfect and positive remedy for these diseases.

To designate this natural specific, I have named it

Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription

The term, however, is but a feeble expression or my high appreciation of its value, based upon personal observation. I have, while witnessing its positive results in the special diseases incident to the organism of woman, singled it out as the choicest or crowning gem of my medical career. On its merits, as a positive, safe, and efficacious remedy for the class of diseases, and one that will, at all times and under all circumstances, act kindly, I am willing to stake my reputation as a physician; and so confident am I that it will not disappoint the most sanguine expectations of a single invalid lady who uses it for any of the ailments for which I recommend it, that I offer and sell it under A POSITIVE GUARANTEE. (For conditions, see pamphlet wrapping bottle.)

The following are among those diseases in which my Favorite Prescription has worked cures, as if by magic, and with a certainty never before attained by any medicine: Leucorrhœa, Excessive Flowing, Painful Monthly Periods, Suppression when from unnatural causes, Irregularities, Weak Back, Prolapsus, or Falling of the Uterus, Anteversion and Retroversion, Bearing-down Sensations, Internal Heat, Nervous Depression, Debility, Despondency, Threatened Miscarriage, Chronic Congestion, Inflammation and Ulceration of the Uterus, Impotency, Barrenness, or Sterility, and Female Weakness. I do not extol this medicine as a "cure-all," but it admirably fulfills a single end or purpose, being a most perfect specific in all chronic diseases of the external system of woman. It will not disappoint, nor will it do harm, in any state or condition.

Those who desire further information on these subjects can obtain it in THE PEOPLE'S COMMON SENSE MEDICAL ADVISER, a book of over 900 pages, sent, post-paid, on receipt of $1.50. It treats minutely of those diseases peculiar to females, and gives much valuable advice in regard to the management of those affections.

Favorite Prescription sold by Druggists.

Old Bounty Land Warrants.

The last Report of the Commissioner of the General Land Office shows 2,897,560 acres of Bounty Land Warrants outstanding. These were issued under act of 1855 and prior thereto. GILMORE & CO. pay cash for them. Send by registered letter. Where Assignments are imperfect we give instructions to perfect them.

Arrears of Pay and Bounty.

Officers, Soldiers and Sailors of the late war, or their heirs, are in many cases entitled to money from the Government of which they have no knowledge. Write full history of service, and state amount of pay and bounty received. Enclose stamp to GILMORE & CO., and a full reply after examination, will be given you free.

Pensions.

All Officers, Soldiers and Sailors wounded, ruptured or injured in the late war, however slightly, can obtain a pension by addressing GILMORE & COMPANY.

Cases prosecuted by GILMORE & CO. before the Supreme Court of the United States, the Court of Claims and the Southern Claims Commission.

Each department of our business is conducted in a separate bureau, under the charge of the same experienced parties employed by the old firm. Prompt attention to all business entrusted to GILMORE & CO. is thus secured. We desire to win success by deserving it. Address

NERVOUS DEBILITY

GOLDEN MEDICAL DISCOVERY

By its great and thorough blood-purifying properties, Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery cures all Humors, from the worst Scrofula to a common Blotch, Pimple or Eruption. Mercurial disease, Mineral Poisons, and their effects, are eradicated, and vigorous health and a clear complexion restored. Erysipelas, Salt-rheum, Fever Sores, Scaly or Rough Skin, in short all diseases caused by bad blood, are conquered by this powerful, purifying, and invigorating medicine.

Especially has it manifested its potency in curing Tetter, Ringworm, Boils, Carbuncles, Sore Eyes, Scrofulous Sores and Swellings, White Swellings, Goitre or Thick Neck, and Enlarged Glands.

If you feel dull, drowsy, debilitated, have sallow color of skin, or yellowish-brown spots on face or body, frequent headaches, pain in the side, dull pain in the shoulder, fleeting pains, sour stomach, bitter taste in mouth, internal heat or chills alternated with hot flashes, low spirits, and gloomy forebodings, irregular appetite, and tongue coated, you are suffering from Torpid Liver, or "Biliousness." In many cases of "Liver Complaint" only part of these symptoms are experienced. As a remedy for all such cases, Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery has no equal, as it effects perfect and radical cures.

In the cure of Bronchitis, Severe Coughs, and the early stages of Consumption, it has astonished the medical faculty, and eminent physicians pronounce it the greatest medical discovery of the age. While it cures the severest coughs, it strengthens the system and purifies the blood. Sold by druggists.

Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Purgative Pellets

SIZE OF PELLETS.

THE "LITTLE GIANT" CATHARTIC.

No use of taking the large, repulsive, nauseous pills, composed of cheap, crude, and bulky ingredients. They are Drastic Purges rather than scientific medicines.

Being entirely vegetable, no particular care is required while using them. They operate without disturbance of the constitution, diet, or occupation. For Jaundice, Headache, Constipation, Impure Blood, Pain in the Shoulders, Dizziness of the Head, Dizziness, Sour Eructations from the Stomach, Bad Taste in the Mouth, Bilious Attacks, Pain in region of Kidneys, Internal Fever, Blotched feeling about Stomach, Heart Burn, Costiveness take Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Purgative Pellets. In explanation of the remedial power of these Purgative Pellets over so great a variety of diseases, it may be said that their action upon the animal economy is universal, not a gland or tissue escaping their sanative influence. Age does not impair the properties of these Pellets. They are sealed in glass bottles, their virtues being thereby preserved unimpaired for any length of time, in any climate, so that they are always fresh and reliable. This is not the case with pills put up in cheap wooden or pasteboard boxes. For all diseases where a Laxative, Alterative, or Purgative, is indicated, these little Pellets will give the most perfect satisfaction. Sold by druggists.

CATARRH

SYMPTOMS.—Frequent headache, discharge falling into throat, sometimes profuse, watery, thick mucous, purulent, offensive, etc. In others, a dryness, dry, watery, weak, or inflamed eyes, stopping up or obstruction of the nasal passages, ringing in ears, deafness, hawking and coughing to clear the throat, ulceration, scabs from ulcers, voice altered, nasal twang, offensive breath, impaired or total deprivation of sense of smell and taste, dizziness, mental depression, loss of appetite, indigestion, enlarged tonsils, tickling cough, etc. Only a few of these symptoms are likely to be present in any case at one time.

DR. SAGE'S CATARRH REMEDY

produces radical cures of the worst cases of Catarrh, no matter of how long standing. The 10th year of its success. Is used by the best physicians and sold by the use of DR. PIERCE'S Douche. This is the only form of instrument yet invented with which full medicine can be carried RIGHT UP and PERFECTLY APPLIED to all parts of the nasal passages, and the chambers or cavities communicating therewith, in which sores and ulcers frequently exist, and from which the catarrhal discharge generally proceeds. Its use is pleasant and easily understood, from directions accompanying each instrument. DR. SAGE'S Catarrh Remedy cures recent attacks of "Cold in the Head" by a few applications. It is mild and pleasant to use, containing no strong or caustic drugs or poisons. Catarrh Remedy and Douche sold by druggists. R. V. PIERCE, M. SWORN EVIDENCE.

The following Cure is probably the most remarkable ever effected by any medical preparation for the treatment of Catarrh:

Gentlemen,—I hereby certify that I have had Catarrh for ten years, and for the last six years have been a terrible sufferer. I was rendered partially deaf, had buzzing in the head, pains across the temples, dizzy spells, weak and painful eyes, swollen and ulcerated tonsils, hard and constant cough, severe pain across the chest, and every indication of consumption. My head ached all the time. The matter accumulated so rapidly in my head and throat that I could not keep them free. Frequently at night I would spring out of bed, it seemed to me, at the point of suffocation. I would then have recourse to every means in my power to dislodge the mucus from my throat and head before being able to sleep again. For a period of six years my tonsils were ulcerated and so much inflamed that I could not swallow. I finally consulted an eminent surgeon in regard to an operation on them, but at his request postponed it. The constant inflammation and ulceration in my throat caused by the poisonous matter dropping down from my head had so irritated and inflamed my lungs that I coughed incessantly,—a deep hard cough. Meanwhile my system began to show the effects of this disease, so that I lost flesh, grew pale, and showed every symptom of an early death by consumption. When matters had reached this stage, or about six months ago, I began the use of SANFORD'S RADICAL CURE FOR CATARRH. After using the first bottle I began to improve rapidly. The first dose seemed to clear my head as I had not known it had be for years. It seemed gradually to arrest the discharges. It stopped my cough in three days. By using it as a gargle I relieved the inflammation and swelling of my tonsils so that they soon ceased to trouble me. The scrofula across my chest disappeared, the noises in my head ceased, my senses of seeing and of hearing were completely restored, and every symptom of disease that had reduced me to the verge of the grave disappeared by the use of SANFORD'S RADICAL CURE FOR CATARRH.

I have been thus explicit because, as a druggist, I have seen a great deal of suffering from Catarrh, and hope to convince many that this is a great remedy.

I am familiar with the treatment of Catarrh as practiced by the best physicians, and have consulted the most eminent about my case. I have used every kind of remedy and apparatus that have appeared during a period of six years past, and have, while following the use, taken great care of my general health, but obtained no relief or encouragement from any of them. * *

COLLINS' VOLTAIC PLASTER

Affords the most grateful relief in all Affections of the Chest and Lungs.

CHRONIC PLEURISY CURED

MESSRS. WEEKS & POTTER: Gentlemen,—Having for many months suffered with a very painful side, called by my physician Chronic Pleurisy, caused by a former injury in a certain part, and for which I tried all corrections and liniments, as well as the so-called rheumatic cures without the least benefit, I have been advised to recommend one of your COLLINS' VOLTAIC PLASTERS which, to my great surprise, relieved the pain and forces against immediately. And I have been able to attend to my household affairs ever since with perfect ease and comfort, whereas, before the application of your invaluable Plaster, I was scarcely able to do any thing. I consider them invaluable, and shall ever pleasure recommend them to the afflicted. Yours respectfully, MRS. FRANCES HARRIMAN.

ORLAND, ME., April 21, 1876.

There is no medical or protective appliance that will prove so grateful and effective in Tickling Coughs and Hoarseness of the Chest and Lungs. We believe them capable of preventing serious Throat and Lung Diseases.

How He Got His Pay.

On the bank of the Ohio, before the advent of railroads, when steamboats plied between Pittsburg and the west, lived a sturdy farmer whose spare time was spent in chopping wood with which he supplied the passing boats. One winter night a boat was laid up at this place on account of the ice, and during a long, cold winter burned the old gentleman's wood. When the ice cleared away, the farmer presented his bill, which the captain refused to pay.

"You will pay it!" said the old man.

"I'll not pay it till I please!" retorted the captain, and ordered the old man off the boat—a request which he complied with.

A little later he appeared on the bank, axe in hand, and commenced chopping at a large tree hanging directly over the boat, which would not able to move for several hours on account of the flow of the ice. The captain, with an oath, asked him what he meant by cutting that tree when he knew it would fall on the boat.

"Will you pay me for the wood?" asked the farmer.

"No!" roared the captain.

"Then I'll fell this tree on your boat," and the sound of the axe rang out on the air.

The captain stormed and swore and threatened to lick the old man, but to no purpose; the well-directed blows of the axe were gradually eating away to the heart of the tree, and unless something was done soon it would fall and crush everything beneath it. Finding threats and entreaties useless, the captain finally brought out a swivel gun, which all the boats then carried, and loading it, pointed it right at the tree. Faster and faster flew the chips as the old man saw the preparations for war, when the captain sang out:

"Will you quit chopping at that tree?"

"Will you pay me for my wood?" said the old man, never losing a stroke.

"I'll give you just one minute to get away from that tree, and if you're not gone then I'll blow Satan out of you!" cried the captain, as he called for a light and primed the gun.

Without a word, as though some new thought had struck him, the old man shouldered his axe, and, shaking his fist at the captain, strode towards his home, and was seen there no more. In a few hours the boat pulled out and steamed down the river, making a landing at Steubenville, twenty-two miles below. As the captain stepped on the wharf the sheriff walked up, and, tapping him on the shoulder, informed him that he had a writ for him, and would tie up his boat until he paid a little bill.

"What bill?"

"The bill for that wood you burned off me, and wouldn't pay for, you wall-eyed slink!" put in the old man, who had been concealed up to this moment,—and he added: "I walked down here to ketch ye, and durned if I wouldn't a walked to Cincinnati afore I'd let ye get ahead of me!"

The captain saw it was no use to fume about it, for the old man had the law on him, and after paying the amount, with additional costs, and the old man's "mileage" each way, he was allowed to depart with his boat.

The woodman took the next boat home, with his money in his pocket, saying to the sheriff as he left, "If it hadn't been for that infernal swivel gun I'd a-mashed his eternal old boat."

A Mammoth Rum-Hole.

At Gilmore's Garden, during the progress of the pedestrian match, there was not only a good deal of tobacco smoke, but unmistakable odors of rum, gin and whiskey. There was a bar not less than two hundred feet in length, and for the privilege of maintaining it the proprietor paid $2500 for the week. Behind this bar there were twenty bar-tenders. Before it all the time, and especially at night, the later the better, stood groups, throngs, multitudes of whiskey-drinkers, beer-guzzlers and gin incorporators. I am not particularly thin skinned on the rum problem; I believe in letting men go to the devil if they insist upon it, and would never sanction a prohibitory liquor law, although I would gladly hear that every drop had been thrown into the ocean; but I must say it was a sickening scene. Everybody drank. Tony Pastor had champagne for his party in one of the open boxes, and hundreds of others had drinks served them in the same conspicuous manner, but the great—and I must add—unwashed as well as clean, rushed for the bar. In Moody and Sankey's time the space now devoted to rum was used as retiring rooms for prayer and consultation. When Barnum's circus was there the old man stabled his stallions there, and wouldn't allow a glass of liquor on the premises. When Theodore Thomas ran the patronage of the Garden down to nothing, and was gently requested to get up and get out to Cincinnati, it was again made a bar-room, and now it is the theatre of a money-coining gin-mill, the like of which perhaps cannot be found in this country.—Phil. Times cor.

The Crowning Discovery.

All the "phones" of this phonetic age are surpassed in practical benefit to mankind, by the discovery of Allan's Anti-Fat, the great and only known remedy for obesity, or corpulency. It produces no weakness or injurious effect. Its action being simply confined to regulating digestion, and preventing an undue assimilation of the carbonaceous, or flesh-producing, elements of the food. Sold by druggists.

ELLSWORTH, KAN., July 13th, 1878.

BOTANIC MEDICINE CO., Buffalo, N. Y.:

Gentlemen—Allen's Anti-Fat reduced me seven pounds in one week.

Yours respectfully, MRS. TAYLOR.

Portsmouth Chronicle

WEDNESDAY, MARCH 19, 1879.

Congress.

The extra session of Congress forced by the democrats met on Tuesday.

Monday night the caucuses of both parties were held, and also that of the democratic-greenback faction.

In the democratic caucus Randall was nominated for re-election as speaker of the House, by a vote of seventy-five to Blackburn's fifty-seven, Sunset Cox having four votes, McMahon three and Morrison two. George M. Adams of Kentucky, the present clerk, was renominated by a vote of seventy-six, to sixty-four for Caldwell of Alabama. The present sergeant-at-arms, door-keeper and postmaster were renominated.

The republican caucus nominated Gen. Garfield for speaker, Ex-Congressman Rainey of South Carolina for clerk, Jeremiah M. Rusk of Wisconsin for sergeant-at-arms, James M. Melton of Tennessee for doorkeeper, and Henry Sherwood of Michigan for postmaster.

The greenbackers held a meeting which was attended by sixteen congressmen, as follows: Murch and Ladd, of Maine; Yocum, Wright and Kelley, of Pennsylvania; Weaver and Gillette, of Iowa; Stevenson and Forsyth, of Illinois; Low, of Alabama; Jones, of Texas; Russell, of North Carolina; De La Matyr, of Indiana; Barlow, of Vermont; Oscar and Turner, of Kentucky; Ford, of Missouri. They held a regular caucus Tuesday morning at half-past nine o'clock, and put Hendrick B. Wright in nomination for speaker.

The democratic senators caucussed Monday evening, but did nothing beyond fixing on Thursday as the time for the election of officers.

In the House, on Tuesday, Randall was elected speaker, he having 144 votes, Garfield 125, Wright 13, and Kelley one. Clerk Adams only elected one representative who was certainly not elected by the people, he giving to Hull of Florida the seat to which Bisbee was chosen; this action was probably necessary to keep Hull out of the penitentiary for bribery and fraud.

In the Senate the credentials of Hon. Charles H. Bell as senator from New Hampshire were submitted, and were laid on the table by a strict party vote.

A Nut for the Greenbackers.

The silver taken at Gilmore's Garden last week formed, of course, a large portion of the receipts. The whole amount has been sold at 98 to 98 1-2. This silver is an unlimited legal tender, but that fact does not prevent its depreciation, when offered in considerable amounts in open market. You can compel a man by law to take a depreciated currency at its face in payment for a debt, but you cannot compel him to buy it or to exchange his goods for it at par. That is the defect of all legal-tender laws which attempt to "create" value instead of simply defining it.

The Tramping Mania.

James E. Kelley, business manager of the late "international" walking match, says that the amount of "gate money" received was $54,225.25. The expenses will be paid as fast as possible, and none of the walkists will receive their shares until these expenses are paid. The amount accruing to each contestant will be about as follows: Rowell, $21,000; Ennis, $12,000; Harriman, $8000. Deducting the time taken for rest at the finish of the six days' walk, it appears that the English champion averaged nearly five miles an hour during his walking time throughout the match.

Weston has challenged Rowell to a walking match in London. Time and conditions are not stated.

It is said that Rowell's capture of the Astley belt has created quite an excitement in England, and that that country bids fair to be swept by a walking mania similar to that experienced in this country. Glad of it; the nuisance originated in England.

It is said that the managers of the late walk will inaugurate an "interseational" six days' walking match for the championship of the world. They will offer a $5000 purse to be contested for at Gilmore's Garden, May 5th to 11th. For this it is said that O'Leary and Harriman will enter, and also Ennis unless he goes to England to struggle for the belt.

Talking Right Out in Meeting.

The editor of the Southern States, a democratic newspaper published at Okolona, Miss., is probably no more opposed to the Union and no more hostile to "the results of the war" than others of his party friends at the south; but he talks more plainly than most of them. He evidently expects his party, if it ever gets full control of the government, to "make treason odious" to the utmost—treason consisting, of course, in denying the right of secession. He thus waxes pious, patriotic, revengeful and exultant:

Yes, thank God, we have captured the Capitol, and in 1880 our man will walk up the white house steps and take his seat in the presidential chair. Then will our glorious triumph be complete. Then will we proceed to tear your amendments from the Constitution and trample them in the mire. Then will we break the shackle you have forged for the Free, Sovereign and Independent Commonwealths of the Union. Then will we recognize the right of secession, a right that is not dead but sleeping. Then will we decorate the Capitol with the pictures of Davis and Lee and Stuart, and all the glorious leaders of a cause that is not lost but living still. Yes, thank God, we have captured the Capitol, and from that coigne of vantage we propose to rule the republic in a way that will make your radical laws and your radical leaders forever odious in America.

News and Notes.

An Indian has been arrested at Oldtown, Me., on suspicion of having murdered Gowen. It is understood that the officers are after another Indian who is supposed to be connected with the affair.

At Newport, R. I., on Monday, Gen. Albert Gallatin Lawrence was granted a divorce from his wife on the ground of adultery. Mrs. Lawrence is a niece of the late President Taylor, and this case has created great interest in "society."

Miss Martha Scruggs, described as a beautiful young lady school teacher of Johnson county, Texas, who was engaged to be married to a young man in Little Rock, Ark., in April, received a printed invitation to his wedding to another woman, and took strychnine and expired in painful convulsions.

The claims against Archbishop Purcell now foot up $3,672,371. The archbishop's brother, Rev. Edward Purcell, owes $202,000. The committee appointed to examine the accounts say: "We have found no reason to suspect any dishonesty on the part of Father Purcell, but we do find that, in addition to a large amount paid as interest, bad investments, shrinkage in values, misplaced confidence and unbusinesslike management are the causes of the sad calamity we most deplore, and in vain endeavor to remedy. We must now call upon the generosity of the clergy and laity of the diocese of Cincinnati and the country at large to provide means for the relief of the sufferings of the many poor thus deprived of their support in old age and in time of need."

The passage of the tramp law through both houses of the Connecticut legislature is causing much uneasiness among foot-pads throughout that State, and especially among a colony of about fifty who have occupied caves in a tract of woods at Old Greenwich for the past two years, foraging in the vicinity for supplies.

Winsted, Conn., had an elopement recently. Tinsmith Willey ran away with Mrs. George Hurlbut, the man leaving two children and the woman three.

Masked burglars fatally stabbed Miss Hunsicker, the daughter of a farmer in Pattsgrove, Pa., Sunday night, because she gave an alarm as they were robbing the house.

During a snow-storm at Reading and Allentown, Pa., Sunday night and Monday forenoon, a large quantity of a substance resembling sulphur fell. When scraped together and set on fire it burned readily, emitting the fumes of sulphur.

Elisha M. Smith, forty-two years old, a jeweller of Providence, R. I., is missing, and is supposed to have committed suicide by jumping into the sound from a Stonington boat. Before leaving he distributed all his effects, sending a deed of his land, with other property, to his sister. The last trace of him is his purchase of a ticket for New York on the 8th inst.

The trial of the case of Widow Oliver against Simon Cameron for $50,000 damages for breach of promise of marriage was begun in Washington on Monday. The widow was on the stand, and charged the venerable Simon with having seduced her under promise of marriage. Gen. Butler is counsel for the defendant.

Fifty moonshiners delivered three revenue prisoners out of Hartsville (Tenn.) jail Sunday morning, and took away a wagon and train which had been seized by revenue officers.

The United States storeship Supply, Lieut. R. D. Hitchcock commanding, arrived at New York on Monday from Havre, via Madeira, with goods from the Paris Exhibition.

Twenty-three Cambridge, Mass., newsdealers have been sued for libel, because they sold a Sunday paper which it is claimed insulted and abused the police force. This is a new feature in efforts to restrain the too great "freedom of the press," and we are not at all sure how it will work in law. We do not understand why the paper, itself, was not prosecuted, but a simple explanation would be that there was nobody behind it able to pay any damages. Under such circumstances, a personal attack becomes of no more consequence than an anonymous letter, and is not worth noticing. We have never known anybody's reputation to be injured by a serious newspaper, although some of them by finding a real sore contrive to raise considerable temporary inflammation.—Worcester Gazette.

New Hampshire Items.

John H. Mitchell of Manchester, a grocer, aged sixty-eight years, made a probably successful attempt at suicide Sunday night by cutting his throat with a razor. He had a slight paralytic shock some time since, and fear of another prompted the act of self-destruction. He leaves a family.

After balloting six days the town of Haverhill elected a republican moderator, a democratic town clerk, and one greenback and two republican selectmen. It was voted to dismiss the article for the election of supervisors, the chances being it would take another week to elect.

John Q. Pinkham's brains, immediately after the execution, were taken out and proved to be of good average weight and in a healthy condition.

—O'Leary's gait was good, but he won't get any gate money.

—Dr. Wyeth, a practical scientist, has invented a preventive against the baneful habit of snoring. It is a cap so constructed as to keep the jaw from falling while asleep, thus rendering snoring impossible. But the trouble in introducing this valuable invention will be to find a person who snores.

ROYAL BAKING POWDER

Absolutely Pure.

The Royal Baking Powder is a pure Cream of Tartar powder, made from pure Grape Cream Tartar, imported exclusively for this powder direct from the wine district of France. An old experienced housekeeper writes that, although she has to pay a few pennies more for the "Royal," finds that it goes so much further and works much better than saleratus, soda, or cream of tartar.

☞ Most of the Cream of Tartar of commerce is adulterated with Alum, Terra Alba, etc. Doctors pronounce Alum most dangerous to health; it costs but 2c. a lb., Cream of Tartar over 50. The Royal Baking Powder is recommended for its wholesomeness by such eminent chemists as Dr. Mott, New York; Dr. S. Dana Hayes, Boston. Sold only in cans. All Grocers.

☞ BAKING POWDER should never be sold in paper packages, as it becomes stale and deteriorates upon exposure to the atmosphere. 119.

WHEAT MEAL!

— OR —

Graham Flour.

When Wheat is ground it becomes Wheat Meal; when it is bolted it becomes Wheat Flour. Dr. Graham, who lectured through the country forty years ago on dietetics formed the fraternity known as "Grahamites." He said that bolted Flour should not be eaten, but that bread ought to be made of Wheat Meal instead; from him it got the name of Graham Flour. All Graham Flour therefore ought to be Wheat Meal, but about three-quarters of it is what we call made up Graham, that is, artificially mixed Cheap Flour and Bran, and is in every way inferior to the genuine article. Hardly a person who uses the genuine Wheat Meal would take the bogus article except on compulsion.

UNITED STATES DIST. COURT.

TUESDAY, March 18th; Clark, J.

A hearing was had upon the bill in equity, William C. Noyes, assignee in bankruptcy of Isaac H. Pollard, against Gilman Greenough, administrator of the estate of Joseph Noyes, concerning two shares of Haverhill national bank stock heretofore held as collateral security by the admr. for money loaned to Pollard by Noyes. The answer admits the possession of the certificates of stock, but claims that Pollard was largely indebted to Noyes for loans made to him, etc. The defendant's counsel objected to the testimony of the bankrupt as incompetent under the law allowing parties in interest to testify when the other party is administrator, but the court admitted the testimony. The court found in favor of the assignee. Stickney for complainant; Wiggin for defendant.

Hon. Ossian Ray, the newly-appointed attorney for the United States, was in attendance upon the court, his commission and oath of office having been duly recorded.

Venires were ordered to summon jurors for the May term.

THE NORTH POND.

The special committee of the city councils on the north millpond nuisance, consisting of Mayor Sise, Aldermen Norton, Goodrich and Perkins, and Councilmen Adams and Thurston, had a meeting on Tuesday evening, and adopted the following as a prospective plan: To fill in the pools south of the Eastern railroad track, dredge the channel of the pond from the bridge to Creek street, and make a cesspool at the foot of Brewster street. They will confer with the management of the Eastern and Concord & Portsmouth railroads in regard to the points in which the roads are especially interested, and report the result on Tuesday evening next.

THE VICINITY.

Mrs. Mary Gerrish, wife of Hiram Gerrish of Farmington, was found dead in bed on Wednesday morning of last week.

Daniel D. Colony accidentally fell from a load of hay at Farmington recently and dislocated his neck. He lived three days after the accident.

The widow of John Wild, of Biddeford, makes a claim of $10,000 against that city for causing the death of her husband by a defect in the highway.

Black, Rooney & Ward's Minstrel and Variety Troupe will give one of their entertainments at the town hall in Rye on Thursday evening, the 20th inst. The programme will include the latest songs, etc., of a good variety concert. It is asserted that the troupe is composed of some of the best delineators of negro eccentricities and character, and they are reputed to give an excellent evening's amusement.

ELIOT LETTER.

SOUTH ELIOT, ME., March 15th.

A concert was given at the Methodist Episcopal church of South Eliot, Thursday evening of last week, consisting of vocal and instrumental music, tableaux and reading. In addition, Mr. Oren Staples gave an original essay on "Well dressed women;" it was well written, in an easy, flowing style, contained some excellent hints, and was well received. The reading by Miss Nellie Remick and Mrs. S. L. Freeman, added much to the interest of the occasion. Mr. W. H. Freeman presided at the organ with remarkable skill. The singing was under the direction of Mr. J. W. Remick, who sang the tenor; Messrs. G. Ireland and A. Paul sang bass, and Misses Lizzie M. and Ella A. Dame sang soprano and alto. They are very fine singers, and would do credit to any choir. The concert was repeated on Friday evening with great satisfaction.

Thursday afternoon last Mr. Waite, the evangelist, entertained the people of this place with his unique "chalk talk." All were greatly interested. At six in the evening he preached an impressive sermon, which was listened to with marked attention. N. N.

New Publications

The Lady of the Aroostook, by W. D. Howells, author of "A foregone conclusion," "A chance acquaintance" and other works that are as deserving as they are popular, is published by Messrs. Houghton, Osgood & Co. of Boston, in the beautiful style in which that house issues all its books. The story is of a simple, pure young girl, fresh from a Massachusetts village, who crosses the ocean from Boston to Trieste in the good ship "Aroostook," she being the only woman on board, though there are three young men passengers. Out of this unromantic circumstance Mr. Howells has constructed a story of which it is hard to speak adequately without seeming to exaggerate—in fact, of which it is hard to speak adequately anyway. It is the best story Mr. Howells has yet given us—which statement sounds very like exaggeration, but isn't; and if a more pleasing one has been published during the past two years by anybody we have not seen it. For sale by W. G. Myers; price $2.

We have received the second number of the United Service, a quarterly of military and naval affairs, published by Lewis R. Hamersley & Co., Philadelphia. It is a very creditable representative of the interests of both branches of the service. There is a great variety of articles by writers thoroughly competent to treat of the topics to which the review is devoted. Among the prominent names of contributors we notice those of Commodore E. Simpson, Capt. Howgate, Commodore A. C. Rhind, Gen. John Gibbon, and Admiral David D. Porter. It is a model of typographic clearness and neatness, somewhat resembling the "Nineteenth Century" in style and general appearance. Price, seventy-five cents per single number; $2.50 per annum.

Harper's Magazine for April contains "Sketches in Tyrol," with fifteen illustrations; "Sculpture in America," sixteen illustrations; "Picturesque Edinburgh," twelve illustrations; "The ancestry of Brudder Bones," seventeen illustrations; "The Philadelphia Zoo," sixteen illustrations; with other illustrated articles, poems by Hayne, Herrick and others, sketches, essays, full editorial departments, etc. Now ready for delivery to subscribers, or for sale, at W. E. Myers' and Moses Brothers' bookstores.

—It is well named gait-money.

Political.

The democratic party have had the good sense to renominate Speaker Randall. Had they selected Blackburn, and the long catalogue of southern claims been presented under his management, they would have given all possible chance of the Presidency the go by, and have certainly terminated their career as the majority in Congress by a reaction in many of the States. The sound democrats claim that Mr. Randall is honest, and not in favor of paying every claim that the lobby may bring to Congress; and from the endorsement of the republican members of the 45th Congress given to Mr. Randall, we incline to think that in his elevation to the speakership over Blackburn the country is the gainer.

A gentleman in this city, writing to Gen. Blair of the studied efforts of a certain senatorial aspirant to make it appear that he (Blair) was out of sorts with the administration, has received the following reply: "He can raise no issue with me in the administration. I have always condemned and lamented the surrender of South Carolina and Louisiana. When the thing was done there was no help for it, and I counselled peace and union that the party might be preserved for the great future still before it. If I am senator I shall support the administration—probably always, for the President is considered to be in accord with his party—certainly always when I can conscientiously, and at no other time. * * * If anyone thinks that New Hampshire can send a man here who can accomplish more for her by eating dirt than another can by straightforward dealing, injustice is done to the administration. No man makes anything with President Hayes by pretending to be his special champion, especially if the motive is apparent."

A Disease that Wrecks the System.

Every function is deranged, every nerve unstrung, every muscle and fiber weakened by fever and ague. It is, in fact, a disease which it unchecked, eventually wrecks the system. In all its types, in every phase, it is dangerous, destructive. Stupor, delirium, convulsions, often attend it, and cause swift dissolution. But when combatted with Hostetter's Stomach Bitters its foothold in the system is dislodged, and every vestige of it eradicated. That benign anti-febrile specific and preventive of the dreaded scourge is recognized not only within our own boundaries, but in tropic lands far beyond them, where intermittents and remittents are fearfully prevalent, to be a sure antidote to the malarial poison and a reliable means of overcoming disorders of the stomach, liver and bowels, of which a vitiated torrid atmosphere and brackish miasma-tainted water are extremely provocative. All emigrants and travelers should be supplied with it.

A Leading Physician says: "it can be relied upon" in speaking of Dr. A. J. Flagg's Cough and Lung Syrup.

NEW ORLEANS, February 20th, 1879.

The undersigned certifies that he held for collection for account of R. H. C. Mitchell, Mitchellsburgh, Ky., through I. W. Proctor, cashier Central National Bank, Danville, Ky., whole ticket No. 47,018, single number, "Class B," in the Louisiana State Lottery, which drew the First Capital Prize of Thirty Thousand dollars, on Tuesday, February 11th, 1879; said ticket having cost the sum of Two Dollars at the office of the Company at New Orleans, being sent through correspondence addressed to M. A. Dauphin, P. O. Box 692, New Orleans, La., and that the amount was promptly paid by a check on the Louisiana National Bank, on presentation of the ticket at the office of the Company. E. B. SHORTE,

It's high time you did stop that spitting of blood. It comes from your lungs and can be cured by using Dr. A. J. Flagg's Cough and Lung Syrup.

Free of charge—Sample bottle of Adamson's Cough Balsam at all drug stores. Owing to its perfect harmony in combination it is the very best mixture for the speedy cure and relief of croup, colds, throat or lung diseases. Large bottles 35 cents.

Permanent Relief is a great boon to any one who has been afflicted with a hacking cough. You can get it sure by using Dr. A. J. Flagg's Cough and Lung Syrup.

Merchants and visitors who have desired, so long, to live at a Hotel above the business centre, and to take a portion of their meals down town, while in New York, can do so, as the Grand Central Hotel, on Broadway, is now kept on both the American plan at $2.50 or $3.00, and the European plan $1.00 and upwards per day. An elegant Restaurant, at moderate prices, is conducted by the Hotel.

—At New London, Conn., a prominent grocer, whose name begins with P., while making out a check at his desk, was interrupted by a customer and beguiled into a chat on the subject of potatoes. When he was again at leisure he turned to his check-book and in a fine Roman hand wrote the signature, "John Potatoes." The check passed from hand to hand and went through several banks before the irregularity was discovered.

—The most useful pedestrian is the man who walks the floor nights with the baby.

—The sweet singer of Michigan is said to be going to attempt the feat of writing 2700 spring poems in 2700 quarters hours.

—"What is a pedestrian?" asked the child. "The pedestrian," explained the father, "is a tramp set to walking in a circle."

—A fellow who is given to sporting now wants to know when the "Anglo-Saxon race," so much talked about is to come off.

—The Pilot thinks that the spectacle of women walking themselves to death is somewhat less refining than the Mexican bull-fight.

—An enterprising pilot of Newport, R. I., who learned that "H. M. S. Pinafore" was to arrive in that city, stood off and on outside of Brenton's reef all day to find her. He don't think much of Her Majesty's vessels that cruise on shore.

—We never realize how awkward, how needlessly stupid, how excessively and deplorably faulty nature is, so strongly as when we reflect on the painful fact that she has never yet been able to create a man that will fit a custom-made shirt.

—A Waterbury Baptist clergyman was chased by a goat last Friday and was compelled to seek refuge by shinning up a telegraph pole, remaining in that precarious and unclerical position until some passers-by drove away the infuriated animal.

—A young, attractive and fashionable lady of good connection in Lowell, and formerly a school-teacher there, is reputed to have fled the city to escape arrest for forging her mother's name on notes with which to procure fine apparel, etc.

—There was a marriage on the New Haven stage one evening last week. At the close of the regular performance it was announced that "Mr. James Jones of Jones and Creston, the rifle shots, would be united in marriage to Miss Josephine Blanchard, a member of the company." After the orchestra played the wedding march the curtain was rung up, disclosing the happy pair surrounded by the entire company. A justice of the peace stepped forward and performed the service of the Episcopal church. During the whole ceremony the whole audience preserved perfect silence. When the curtain was lowered a storm of applause followed. In response the couple came before the curtain—the first encore of their wedded life.

GAZETTE
Established 1756.
The Gazette is published every Thursday, and sent to Subscribers at the low price of
$1.50 per year, paid in advance, or
$2 at the end of the year.
It contains full accounts of all of importance that transpires in Portsmouth and its vicinity, and a condensed summary of NEWS, foreign and domestic; editorials upon current topics; New Hampshire items; carefully prepared marine news, containing reports of vessels owned at this port, or officered by men from Portsmouth or its neighborhood; and is just the paper for residents desiring to be posted on all that takes place at home, while to those living in the vicinity of Portsmouth, or to former residents who retain their interest in the "old home by the sea," it is the best means of keeping informed of what transpires in this city.
— THE —
NEW HAMPSHIRE GAZETTE
Contains more original matter
Than any other paper of its size in the State, the editors working more with their pens than with their scissors.

TO ADVERTISERS
THE N. H. GAZETTE
Presents an excellent opportunity for a WEEKLY INVITATION TO CUSTOMERS, at a reasonable rate, and all those who desire to reach patrons in Rockingham and York counties will find it an economical medium. THE GAZETTE is in many instances the only paper taken by families, and it is read to a large extent in localities whence is derived much of the trade of Portsmouth, a fact which our merchants should not fail to bear in mind.

INCORPORATED JANUARY, 1878. WORLD'S DISPENSARY MEDICAL ASSOCIATION. BUFFALO AND LONDON. CAPITAL STOCK, $1,000,000.
(Successors to R. V. PIERCE, M. D.)
DR. R. V. PIERCE, having accepted a world-wide reputation in the treatment of Chronic Diseases, resulting in a professional business far exceeding his individual ability to conduct, some years ago induced several medical gentlemen to associate themselves with him, as the Faculty of the World's Dispensary, the Consulting Department of which has since been merged with the INVALIDS' HOTEL. The organization has been completed and incorporated under the name and style of World's Dispensary Medical Association, with the following officers:
HON. R. V. PIERCE, Pres. F. D. PIERCE, V. Pres.
JNO. E. PIERCE, Sec. LESTER B. SHEPH, Treas.
NINE PHYSICIANS AND SURGEONS of eminence and skill have been chosen as the Faculty.
CHRONIC DISEASES of all forms coming within the province of our several specialties.
LUNG DISEASES.—This division of practice is very ably managed by a gentleman of mature judgment and skill. Bronchial, Throat, and Lung Diseases treated with the most successful results.
DISEASES OF WOMEN.—Especially are our facilities of a superior order for the cure of all those chronic diseases peculiar to females.
NERVOUS DISEASES.—Paralysis, Nervous Debility, Epilepsy (Fits), Chorea (St. Vitus's Dance), Neuralgia, and other nervous affections receive the attention of an expert in this specialty.
NOT NECESSARY TO SEE PATIENTS.—By our original system of diagnosis, we can treat many chronic diseases as successfully without the aid of a personal consultation. For particulars see "People's Common Sense Medical Adviser" (1,000 pages, sent post-paid for $1.50 or* Invalids' and Tourists' Guide Book," (100 pages, 10 cents post-paid).
SURGICAL CASES.—Among the operations which we are called upon most frequently to perform, are those for Nasal Polypus, Harelip, Tumors, Fistula in Ano, Piles, Hernia (Rupture), Hydrocele (Dropsy of the Scrotum), Varicocele, Ovarian and Uterine Tumors, Calculi (Stone in the Bladder), Stricture, etc., etc. We also treat successfully, by a new method without surgical operation, Cataracts, Club-foot, Spinal Curvature, and other deformities. (See pamphlet entitled, "Motion as a Curative Agent," sent on receipt of 10 cents.)
Address, World's Dispensary Medical Association, BUFFALO, N. Y.

WOMAN
By an immense practice at the World's Dispensary and Invalids' Hotel, having treated many thousand cases of those diseases peculiar to woman, I have been enabled to perfect a most potent and positive remedy for these diseases.
To designate this natural specific, I have named it
Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription
The term, however, is but a feeble expression of my high appreciation of its value, based upon personal observation. I have, while witnessing its positive results in the special disease incident to the organism of woman, singled it out as the climax or crowning gem of my medical career. On its merits, as a positive, safe, and efficient remedy for this class of diseases, and one that will, at all times and under all circumstances, act kindly, I am willing to stake my reputation as a physician; and so confident am I that it will not disappoint the most sanguine expectations of a single invalid lady who uses it for any of the ailments for which I recommend it, that I offer and sell it under A POSITIVE GUARANTEE. (For conditions, see pamphlet wrapping bottle.)
The following are among the diseases in which my Favorite Prescription has worked cures, as by magic, and with a certainty never before attained by any medicine: Leucorrhœa, Excessive Flowing, Painful Monthly Periods, Suppressions when from unnatural causes, Irregularities, Weak Back, Prolapsus, or Falling of the Uterus, Anteversion and Retroversion, Bearing-down Sensations, Internal Heat, Nervous Depression, Debility, Despondency, Threatened Miscarriage, Chronic Congestion, Inflammation and Ulceration of the Uterus, Impotency, Barrenness, or Sterility, and Female Weakness. I do not extol this medicine as a "cure-all," but it admirably fulfils a single class of purposes, being a most perfect specific in all chronic diseases of the sexual system of woman. It will not disappoint, nor will it do harm, in any state or condition.
Those who desire further information on these subjects can obtain it in THE PEOPLE'S COMMON SENSE MEDICAL ADVISER, a book of over 900 pages, sent, post-paid, on receipt of $1.50. It treats minutely of those diseases peculiar to Females, and gives much valuable advice in regard to the management of those affections.
Favorite Prescription sold by Druggists.

GOLDEN MEDICAL DISCOVERY

By its great and thorough Blood-purifying properties, Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery cures all Humors, from the worst Scrofula to common Blotch, Pimple, or Eruption. Mercurial disease, Mineral Poison, and the effects of abuse or indiscretion, and vigorates health and a sound constitution established. Erysipelas, Salt-rheum, Fever Sores, Scaly or Rough Skin, in short, all diseases caused by bad blood, are conquered by this powerful, purifying, and invigorating medicine.

Especially has it manifested its potency in curing Tetter, Rose Rash, Boils, Carbuncles, Sore Eyes, Scrofulous Sores and Swellings, Wide Swellings, Goiter or Thick Neck, and Enlarged Glands.

If you feel dull, drowsy, debilitated, have sallow color of skin, or yellow blotches or spots on face or body, frequent headache or dizziness, bad taste in mouth, internal heat or fever, coated tongue, offensive breath, low spirits, and gloomy forebodings, irregular appetite, and tongue occasionally are suffering from Torpid Liver, or "Biliousness." In many cases of "Liver Complaint" some of these symptoms are experienced. As a remedy for all such cases, Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery has no equal, as it effects perfect and radical cure.

In the cure of Bronchitis, Severe Coughs, and the early stages of Consumption, it has astonished the medical faculty, and eminent physicians pronounce it the greatest medicine of the age. While it cures the severest Coughs, it strengthens the system and purifies the blood. Sold by druggists.

SIZE OF PELLETS.

THE "LITTLE GIANT" CATHARTIC.

No use of taking the large, repulsive, nauseous pills, composed of charcoal, quicksilver, bitter herbs, etc. These Pellets are scarcely larger than mustard seeds. Being entirely vegetable, a single dose is required while using them. They operate without disturbance to the constitution, diet, or occupation. For Jaundice, Headache, Constipation, Impure Blood, Pain in the Side and Back, Fever, Liver Complaint, Dizziness, Sour Eructations from the Stomach, Bad Taste in the Mouth, Bilious attacks, Pills is a region of Kidneys, Internal Fever, Diseased feeling about Stomach, Rush of Blood to Head, take Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Purgative Pellets. In explanation of the remedial power of these Purgative Pellets over so great a variety of diseases, it may be stated that their action upon the animal economy is universal, not a gland or tissue escaping the sensitive impress. Are does not impair the properties of these Pellets. Elixir are superseded by these Pellets, for nothing their virtues being thereby preserved unimpaired for any length of time, in any climate, so that they are always fresh and reliable. This is not the case with pills put up in cheap wooden or pasteboard boxes. For all diseases where a Laxative, Alterative, or Purgative, is indicated, these little Pellets will give the most perfect satisfaction. Sold by druggists.

CATARRH

SYMPTOMS.—Frequent headache, discharge falling into throat, sometimes profuse, watery, thick mucous, purulent, offensive, etc. In others, a dryness, dry, watery, weak, or inflamed eyes, stopping up, or obstruction, of the nasal passages, ringing in ears, deafness, hawking and coughing to clear the throat, ulcerations, scabs from ulcers, voice altered, nasal twang, offensive breath, impaired or total obstruction of sense of smell and taste, dizziness, mental depression, loss of appetite, indigestion, enlarged tonsils, tickling cough, etc. Only a few of these symptoms are likely to be present in any case at one time.

DR. SAGE'S CATARRH REMEDY

produces radical cures of the worst cases of Catarrh, no matter of how long standing. The liquid remedy may be snuffed or syringed up the nose, or by Dr. PIERCE'S Douche. This is the only form of instrument with which the liquid medicine can be carried HIGH UP and PERFECTLY APPLIED to all parts of the affected nasal passages, and the chambers or cavities communicating therewith, in which sores and ulcers frequently exist, and from which the catarrhal discharge generally proceeds. Its use is pleasant and easily understood, from directions accompanying each instrument. Dr. SAGE'S Catarrh Remedy cures recent attacks of "Cold in the Head" by a few applications. It is mild and pleasant to use, containing no strong or caustic drugs or poisons. Douche sold by druggists. R. V. PIERCE, M. D., Proprr. World's Dispensary and Invalids' Hotel, Buffalo, N. Y.

SWORN EVIDENCE.

The following Cure is probably the most remarkable ever effected by any medical preparation for the treatment of Catarrh:

Gentlemen,—I hereby certify that I have had Catarrh for ten years, and for the last six years have been a terrible sufferer. I was rendered partially deaf, had buzzing in the head, pains across the temple, dizzy spells, weak and painful eyes, swollen and ulcerated tonsils, hard and constant cough, severe pain across the chest, and every indication of consumption. My head ached all the time. The matter accumulated so rapidly in my head and throat that I lost flesh, grew pale, and thought every symptom of an early death by consumption. When matters had reached this stage, or about six months ago, I began the use of SANFORD'S RADICAL CURE FOR CATARRH. After using the first bottle I began to improve rapidly. The first dose seemed to clear my head as I had not known it to be for years. It seemed gradually to arrest the discharges. It stopped my cough in three days. By using it as a gargle I reduced the inflammation and a swelling of my tonsils so that they soon ceased to trouble me. The soreness across my chest disappeared, the buzzing noises in my head ceased, my senses of seeing and of hearing were completely restored, and every symptom of disease that had reduced me to the verge of the grave disappeared by the use of SANFORD'S RADICAL CURE FOR CATARRH.

I have been thus explicit because, as a druggist, I have seen a great deal of suffering from Catarrh, and hope to convince many that this is a great remedy.

I am familiar with the treatment of Catarrh as practiced by the best physicians, and have consulted the most eminent about my case. I have used every kind of remedy and apparatus that have appeared during a period of six years past, and have, while following their use, taken great care of my general health, but obtained no relief or encouragement from any of them. * * *

COLLINS' VOLTAIC PLASTER

Affords the most grateful relief in all Affections of the Chest and Lungs.

CHRONIC PLEURISY CURED

Messrs. WEEKS & POTTER: Gentlemen,—Having for many months suffered from a chronic side, followed by my physician Chronic Pleurisy, caused by a former injury, I at length tried your Collins' Voltaic Plasters and Liniments, as well as the so-called rheumatic shoes, without any benefit, at the end of a month, recommended one of your COLLINS' VOLTAIC PLASTERS as a last resort, hoping for relief from the pain and soreness almost immediately, and I have been able to attend to my household affairs ever since with perfect ease and comfort, whereas, before the application of your invaluable Plaster, I was scarcely able to do anything. I consider them invaluable, and shall with pleasure recommend them to the afflicted. Yours respectfully, Mrs. FRANCES HARRIMAN.

ORLAND, Me., April 21, 1876.

There is no medical or protective appliance that will prove so grateful and effective in Tickling Coughs, Irritation and Soreness of the Chest and Lungs, as I believe them capable of preventing serious diseases of these organs.

PRICE, 25 CENTS.

Do not confound these Plasters with the ordinary Plasters of the day, that have been so extensively advertised.

Be careful to obtain COLLINS' VOLTAIC PLASTER, combination of Electric or Voltaic Plates with a light Medicated Plaster, as seen on the above cut, sold by all Wholesale and Retail Druggists throughout the United States and Canadas, and by WEEKS & POTTER, Proprietors, Boston, Mass.

Better than Screaming.

Mrs. Isadore Middleton, a very beautiful woman, and one of the acknowledged leaders of fashion in Mobile, can certainly boast of the possession of as much nerve and true moral courage as are often vouchsafed to any of her sex.

On the evening of September 19th she was in her boudoir putting away some articles of jewelry, when she noticed that the peculiar position of a library lamp upon a chair in the back part of the room had thrown upon the floor, almost directly at her feet, the shadow of a man who was crouching under a broad-topped ornamented table in the centre of the room. She also remarked that the open hand of the shadow had but two fingers, and remembered that several desperate burglaries had recently been committed in the neighborhood, suppositiously by a negro desperado, who was notorious as having lost two fingers of his right hand.

Mr. Middleton was absent from the city, and besides her self in the house, there was but a single maid-servant. Instead of fainting with fear, or shrieking for help, the brave lady seated herself at the very table underneath which the miscreant was concealed, and rang for the servant.

"Hand me writing materials, Bridget," said she, with perfect calmness; "I want you to take a note this instant to Mr. Forbair, the jeweller, and have him send you back with my diamond necklace and eardrops, which I left there for repairs several days ago. Bring them with you, no matter if fully repaired or not. They are by twenty-fold the most valuable articles of jewelry that I possess, and I do not wish to pass another night without having them in my bureau drawer."

The note was at once written and despatched, but instead of being in the tenor that she had signified (on purpose for the concealed rubber beneath), for some bad no jewelry under repairs,) it was a hasty note to the jeweller, an intimate friend, in which she succinctly stated her position, and urged him to hasten to her relief, with the requisite police assistance, immediately on the receipt of the missive.

The agonies which that refined and delicate woman underwent when left in the house, with the consciousness of the presence of that desperate robber, perhaps assassin, crouched under the very table on which she leaned, and perhaps touched by her skirts, can only be left to the reader's imagination; but her iron nerve sustained her through the ordeal. She yawned, hummed an operatic air, turned over the leaves of a novel, and in other ways lulled the lurker into sense of perfect security and expectancy, and waited—waited with a wildly beating heart, and her eyes fastened upon the hands of her little ormolu clock with greedy, feverish gaze.

At last, however, came the prayed-for relief. There was a ring at the door-bell and she strolled carelessly into the hall and down stairs to open it. The ruse had been a success. She not only admitted Bridget, but also Mr. Forbair and three stalwart policemen. The latter passed stealthily up stairs and into the boudoir, where they suddenly pounced upon the concealed burglar so unexpectedly as to secure him with hardly a struggle.

The prisoner proved to be a negro criminal named Clapman, but mostly known as "Two-Fingered Jeff," who was in great request about that time for several robberies committed in that neighborhood a short time before; and he is now serving a twenty years' sentence in the Alabama State prison.

An Insect-Repairer.

Of Mr. Arthur O'Shaughnessy, one of the younger British poets, and the son-in-law of Dr. Westland Marston, an amusing story is told. Mr. O'Shaughnessy was a protege of Sir Edward Bulwer Lytton, who assisted in getting the poet appointed to a position in the Natural History Department of the British Museum. One day the unfortunate O'Shaughnessy accidentally sat down on a number of very rare South American butterflies, which had just arrived at the museum. Horrified, he proceeded secretly and hurriedly to repair damages, but being, in truth, rather ignorant about butterflies and naturally history generally, he got the pretty insects very much mixed up, gluing wrong wings on wrong bodies in the most reckless manner. Great was the astonishment of the wise men when they came to contemplate and classify the new contribution. Such species were never seen before; the insect world and its history were revolutionized. And many were the discussions that occurred before Mr. O'Shaughnessy's awful misdeed and skillful gluing were discovered. Then there was a very mad collection of scientists, and the young man would have been dismissed had not Bulwer used his influence. Warned by his blunder, Mr. O'Shaughnessy undertook the study of natural history, and there is now no one in the museum better skilled in that department.

—New York society is agitated by a discussion as to the merits of black and white cravats, the example of Paris, where the black tie is exclusively adopted at fashionable clubs, having many advocates.

Portsmouth Chronicle

THURSDAY, MARCH 20, 1879.

Congress.

The President's message was submitted to Congress on the 19th inst., as follows:

Fellow citizens of the Senate and House of Representatives:

The failure of the last Congress to make the requisite appropriations for legislative and judicial purposes, for the expenses of the several executive departments of the government, and for the support of the army, has made it necessary to call a special session of the 46th Congress. The estimates of the appropriations needed, which were sent to Congress by the Sec. of the Treasury at the opening of the last session, are renewed and are herewith transmitted to both the Senate and House of Representatives. Regretting the existence of the emergency which requires a special session of Congress at a time when it is the general judgment of the country that the public welfare will be best promoted by permanency in our legislation, and by peace and rest, I commend these few necessary measures to your considerate attention.

RUTHERFORD B. HAYES.

Accompanying the President's message are estimates from the Secretary of the Treasury of the money needed for the army, and the legislative, executive and judicial branches of the government. These estimates are the same as those submitted at the opening of the last session with the exception of the items provided for at that session, under the army bill of the last Congress, which made provision for the fortifications and armament. This leaves, according to the estimates, $28,340,500 yet to be appropriated for the support and maintenance of that branch. None of the legislative and judicial appropriations were provided for even in part. The estimates for these expenses are $16,520,601.91. To these appropriations, also to be added, is the item for court expenses, which is generally placed in the sundry civil bill, but which was left out of that bill at the last session. The estimates for these expenses are $3,000,000.

On the 19th the credentials of Senator Bell of New Hampshire were sent to the committee on privileges and elections by the democratic majority in the Senate.

The important committees of the Senate, as re-arranged by the democrats, will be chaired as follows: Finance, Bayard; Appropriations, Davis of West Virginia; Foreign Relations, Eaton; Commerce, Gordon; Judiciary, Thurman; Military Affairs, Randolph; Naval Affairs, McPherson; Post Office, Maxey; Claims, Cockrell; Patents, Kernan; Civil Service, Butler.

A Card to Postmasters.

WASHINGTON, D. C., March 17th.

I have forwarded to the postmaster of each town and city in the State a quantity of my recent speech upon the industrial condition of the country, especially of New Hampshire, and the absolute necessity of increasing foreign markets for our domestic productions in order to revive and maintain the prosperity of our agricultural and manufacturing interests. I shall feel personally greatly obliged if the postmasters of the State will do me the favor to carefully distribute the same among those citizens likely to be interested in the subject. The nation has arrived at that period of development when a new departure must be taken in relation to our foreign trade, and no State is more deeply concerned than New Hampshire. Having endeavored by collection of facts and otherwise to throw some light upon the matter, without discussing partisan questions at all, I hope that farmers and manufacturers and workmen, all of whose interests are identical and equally dependent upon the creation of a foreign demand for our surplus productions, will give the subject careful attention. How to reach and hold these foreign markets is, I think, the leading economic question now before the country, and upon its fortunate solution depends the future of New Hampshire and New England, and in a large degree the prosperity of all the States. We raise and make more than we can sell at home, already. Hence wages are low, and our producing power, whether in the form of labor, or capital fixed or circulating, is not half employed. Until we can sell more abroad we shall prosper less and less at home.

H. W. BLAIR.

The Gamgee Refrigerator.

A correspondent writes us from Washington that, touching some means of preventing the introduction and spread of yellow fever and other devastating diseases, a bill will be introduced in the Senate in these terms: "That the Secretary of the Treasury be authorized to contract with Mr. John Gamgee for the construction of a steel refrigerating steam vessel to be used at the quarantine of such Gulf ports as may be recommended by the national board of health, with the consent of State authorities, to disinfect vessels and cargoes from parts suspected of infectious yellow fever. The construction of said vessel to be under the inspection of an officer of the bureau of steam engineering of the navy to be selected by by the Secretary of the navy, and for the purpose of such construction the sum of $200,000, or so much thereof as may be necessary, to be immediately available, is hereby appropriated out of any monies in the Treasury not otherwise appropriated." This is in accordance with the recommendation of the engineers and scientists who have been making experiments with cold air apparatus at the Washington navy yard, and it is believed that the plan will be a success. The bill has the support of all parties, and it is believed will be adopted early enough to enable experiments to be made by the contemplated vessel before the season of danger arrives.

The notion that the United States government must wait "the consent of the States authorities" before it can act for the protection of the nation from disease, is ridiculous; quarantine regulations are for the benefit of the nation, not of any one State merely; and the nation should have full control in all matters relating to quarantine, without having to ask "the consent of the State authorities" at all. As the law stands now, any State that possesses a seaport can import all the pestilence it chooses, no matter how much harm may result to the other States. New York may take stringent measures to keep out the plague and yellow fever, and New Jersey can nullify those measures by admitting all diseases duty free. But for the opposition of the extreme State supremacy men who rule the democratic party, the last Congress would have passed a sensible quarantine law, such as all other maritime nations have in force; possibly a dose of the black death, or a few more such yellow fever experiences as that of last summer, will give them a little common sense one of these days.

A City in Mourning.

The common council of Gloucester, Mass., on the evening of the 18th inst., voted to place a flag draped with crape over the entrance to the city hall, to remain there for thirty days in memory of the lost fishermen. The distress among the widowed and fatherless, made so by the February gales, is very great, and funds are wanted at once. The local charitable societies are doing all within their power, but cannot accomplish the work without help from abroad. The demand for food, clothing and fuel is constant, and any donations sent to Proctor Brothers, editors of the Cape Ann Advertiser, will be promptly acknowledged and faithfully disbursed.

News and Notes.

The Providence line of steamers will resume running April 28th.

A scientific analysis of the sulphur shower in Pennsylvania shows it to be the pollen from a species of pine common in New Jersey.

The State bank examiner of Maine reports to the governor that he has thoroughly investigated the affairs of the Dexter bank; that Mr. Barron, the dead cashier, was not a defaulter, and that the changes of the $2000 entries "certainly do not cover up any defalcation;" and lastly, he finds that on settlement Barron owed the bank $21.04, which his salary would more than pay; and he thinks the solution of the question as to his death must be looked for in other directions than in the state of his accounts.

In the case of Mary Oliver vs. Simon Cameron, for breach of promise of marriage, on trial at Washington, on the 18th inst. Mrs. Oliver's former husband, Mr. Thomas M. Oliver, appeared and was identified by Mrs. Oliver.

It is feared that the burning ship seen Feb. 22d by the British steamship Atrato, at New York March 9th from London, was the Lake Michigan, bound from Portland for Liverpool.

The trouble at Sitka, Alaska, is said to be very much exaggerated, and caused by whiskey and ruffianly treatment of the Indians by the whites.

The most plausible clue yet brought to light concerning the mysterious tragedy at Lynn, connects with it Miss Jennie P. Clarke, of Boston, who is now believed to have been the victim. So far the identification, unlike all previous ones, has been strengthened by all enquiries made. The only unsatisfactory point is that she was extremely quiet and not known to have been receiving the attentions of any gentleman, coupled with her standing in the church and Sunday-school which she attended. It has been proved by medical authorities that the woman found at Lynn had undergone an operation to procure an abortion. Miss Clarke's friends are loath to believe that she was in a condition to necessitate such an act, though they all positively identify the photograph of the body, and the earrings.

It must be allowed that Messrs. Gilbert and Sullivan, who wrote "Pinafore," are original. Their newest piece is founded on a burlesque burglary. Six housebreakers enter a mansion, in pursuit of their calling, and fall in love with the six nieces of the proprietor before six policeman arrive.

A romantic story is told of the elopement of Miss Lala Sparks, a fifteen years-old school girl, of Saybrook, Conn., with Frank Tyron, son of Capt. Jerry Tyron, a shad fisherman of the place. The bride is a daughter of a watchful widow, and the courting was done clandestinely while the girl was on her way to and from school. On Saturday night her lover helped her from her window by means of a ladder and the assistance of his father. The pair took sail boat for Sag harbor, where the couple were married on Sunday evening, spent Monday on Plum island, and then returned to the groom's home.

Gunner George Dunn, recently detached from the Plymouth and placed on waiting orders, has been suspended for two years from rank and duty on furlough pay, for drunkenness.

New Hampshire Items.

Attorney-General Tappan has, in accordance with a request from Secretary of State Thompson, given his official opinion concerning the tax-law of 1878 and the duties under it of selectmen and assessors, and it is published for the information of the officials referred to.

In Barrington, at the late election, both candidates for superintending school committee were ladies. Mrs. Lizzie J. Chesley, who was the democratic candidate, was elected.

Probably there is no other town in the State which has been, during the last twenty years, so economically and wisely governed and managed as the little town of Croydon in Sullivan county. Years ago it adopted the policy of keeping out of debt, and, although it has raised no money for three years to defray town charges, it does not owe a dollar and has $575 in the treasury. Last year the aggregate amount paid to all the town officers, including town clerk, treasurer, selectmen, collector, supervisors, school committee and constables, for their services, was only $154. Hon. Ruel Durkee has just been elected chairman of the board of selectmen for the thirty-first time. Capt. Comings, the moderator, has served in the same capacity twenty-three times, and the town clerk is now serving his fourteenth term.

—A fourteen-horse team is the folly and fame of an American who resides at Florence, Italy.

—History, modern and ancient, shows that a party of fishermen may start off and forget their bait or some of their tackle, but the quart bottle containing "medicine" in case one of the number is bitten by a shark or a sea serpent, or an alligator, is never left behind.

ROYAL BAKING POWDER

Absolutely Pure.

The Royal Baking Powder is a pure Cream of Tartar powder, made from pure Grape Cream Tartar, imported exclusively for this powder direct from the wine district of France. An old experienced housekeeper writes that, although she has to pay a few pennies more for the "Royal," finds that it goes so much further and works much better than saleratus, soda, or cream of tartar.

☞ Most of the Cream of Tartar of commerce is adulterated with Alum, Terra Alba, etc. Doctors pronounce Alum most dangerous to health; it costs but 3c. a lb., Cream of Tartar over 40. The Royal Baking Powder is recommended for its wholesomeness by such eminent chemists as Dr. Mott, New York; Dr. S. Dana Hayes, Boston. Sold only in cans. All Grocers.

☞ BAKING POWDER should never be sold in paper packages, as it becomes stale and deteriorates upon exposure to the atmosphere. 1y9

THE CITY.

Tenney is engaged at his studio in this city upon a portrait of Gov. B. F. Prescott.

Among the freight receipts by rail this week were 1400 bushels of malt for the Eldredge Brewing Co.

The schooner Fred L. Porter, Capt. Chase, bound from Hoboken for Boston, while making a harbor at Vineyard Haven on the night of the 16th inst., in a snow squall, struck on the West Chop and remained there until high water next day, pounding heavily part of the time, when she was got off, leaking, and towed to the upper part of the harbor. She was built here by Mr. Fernald, and is of course a strong vessel; had she not been so she would not have escaped so easily.

The entertainment at Franklin hall this evening will be an enjoyable affair. Miss May Alice Poole was very favorably received by a large audience in Music hall some months ago, and Mr. Lunt is a great favorite as a reader throughout New England. The glee club and large chorus will give agreeable diversity to the programme, which will include two descriptive songs, one with chorus entitled "Fire bells are ringing," illustrated; and the "Storm fiend," descriptive of a violent storm. Concert commences at eight o'clock. See advertisement.

The programme of the entertainment offered at the Universalist vestry for tonight is sufficiently varied in its features to afford enjoyment to the most exacting audience. As will be seen by reference to our advertising columns there will be an opportunity to partake of an antiquarian supper presided over by ladies in the costumes of "Lang syne;" the tables will be ornamented with a rare collection of bric-a-brac, and supplied with viands a la grandmother's days. An admirable drama will be presented by accomplished amateur actors, and other attractions of a novel character will enliven the evening, the whole to close with a sale at auction of articles contributed for the occasion.

The city marshal was informed on Wednesday evening that a bundle of clothing was lying on the south bank of the south millpond, beside Mr. Elvin C. Newton's fence. Officers Besselievre and White were sent for the bundle, and it was found to contain an alpcaa dress, two or three cheap skirts and other under apparel, done up with an enamelled cloth mottled with black on a white ground. The bundle was seen by several persons early in the day, and several parties were sent for by the marshal to see if they could give any information. Whether the goods were stolen by some one who was afraid to keep them, or were left beside the pond by some one who was going off in a boat, or for other reason, was not learned. Footsteps along by the fence, and in from the bridge about twenty feet, were seen.

THE VICINITY.

Folsom & Faunce, jewellers of Great Falls, have failed.

About a foot of snow fell in Exeter and its vicinity on the 17th inst.

The York Manu. Co., of Saco, on the 15th inst. received an order for five hundred and fifty cases of goods.

The family of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Bennett met at the homestead at Oak Ridge, Biddeford, the 2d inst. The father and mother are both living, having lived together more than fifty years. No death has occurred for forty-seven years. The children, numbering six, are aged respectively 47, 44, 42, 39, 37 and 34, making a total of 243 years. The father is seventy-five and the mother seventy-four, making in all 392 years.—Biddeford Times.

The Dover Democrat complacently remarks: "The chalk-talk, so-called, of Elder Waite in city hall last night was very good indeed, as we learn by some of the few who were present. It was a sort of temperance lecture illustrated, and had many interesting and practical features. * * He is not a man of a very logical turn of mind, but is capable of doing considerable of good in his way. We learn that the plan of getting him here in Dover for a protracted meeting has been abandoned. Dover is getting along very well indeed." Verily, our neighboring city needs no missionary while our brother of the Democrat holds out to look after its moral and material welfare.

A fire originated in the attic of a dwelling in the rear of J. B. Clarke's store at Great Falls, at about six o'clock on the evening of the 18th inst., and resulted in a disastrous conflagation, the building where the fire caught, Clarke's store, J. W. Bates' shoe store, Mrs. Watson's millinery store and other buildings being destroyed. The losses are follows: J. B. Clarke, on building, $1000; insured; stock saved. W. L. Bracy, one-half of building, $1000; insurance $400. J. W. Bates, on building, $1000; on stock, $1000; both insured. W. H. Sargent, photographer, $500; insured. Mrs. A. J. Watson, millinery, on building, $800; insured; stock saved in a damaged condition. D. Lothrop & Co., sewing machines, pianos and organs, $1000; insured; loss on clothing, $500; insured. There is a total insurance on the property destroyed, in eleven companies, amounting to nearly $19,000.

NAVY YARD ITEMS.

The schooner Elizabeth M. Smith, Capt. Raymond, is at the navy yard discharging stores for the departments of steam engineering, equipment, and construction and repair.

The bureau of yards and docks has authorized the expenditure of $4000 on the dry dock, and work will be at once commenced.

Orders have been received at the yard to change the number of hours in a day's work from eight to ten, the order taking effect on the 21st.

What was formerly known as the reading room in the main office will hereafter be used as a private room by the paymaster, the court room in the second story being now used as a reading room.

AN OLD PORTRAIT WANTED.

Capt. Albert A. Folsom of Boston, who is one of the committee for collecting portraits of the past commanders of the Ancient and Honorable Artillery Co., writes to us to enquire of Col. John Wendell. In 1740 Col. Wendell commanded the Ancients. He had a son John, born in 1731, who graduated at Harvard College in 1750 and soon after came to Portsmouth. Here he married, June 20th, 1754, Sarah Wentworth. His second marriage, when he was united to Dorothy Sherburne, occurred August 20th, 1778. He died in 1808. His father joined the A. & H. Artillery Co. in 1753, and the company's committee wish to obtain his portrait to hang with those of the other past commanders.

The Portsmouth Wendell lived in the Buckminster house on Islington street, where Joseph Haven Thacher resides, and had an office at one time between where Albert R. Hatch's house now stands and the Haven house; and was the John Wendell, Jr., who served as one of the committee of twelve of our most active public men selected to superintend the reception of George Washington on his visit to Portsmouth, Oct. 31st, 1789. If any portrait of the senior Wendell is in the hands of any of his descendants, it is desired either to be placed in the keeping of this time-honored corps, or to be copied for their use.

We hope if any of our out-of-town readers have any knowledge upon this subject they will correspond with Capt. Folsom, or call upon him at the office of the Boston & Providence railroad company in Boston.

DAY SCHOOL AT THE COUNTY FARM.

It was my pleasing duty to visit the County Farm school at Brentwood on the 18th inst., being No. 5 in the town. Its teacher is Miss Mary L. Brown, from Candia. To all appearances the school is in excellent condition, and bids fair, under its present efficient management, to rank with the average of our common schools. The number of pupils is twenty-five—fifteen boys and ten girls—who are children of the inmates, and homeless children. I formed among the children a little society for the protection of dumb animals. I cannot speak too highly regarding the general appearance and conducting of the county farm, which is under the superintendence of Mr. Haven L. Scott, formerly of this city; and it only requires to be visited to convince any one that "the right man is in the right place." W. A. L.

Political.

Taxes are lower in Louisiana than in Massachusetts, and there are few if any States in the Union which can meet their honest obligations more easily than could Louisiana; but her debt is mostly due to northerners, and therefore she proposes to repudiate it.

The number of salaried and fee officials in the pay of the city of New York is 6561, or one to every fifteen voters. Boss Kelly cannot see that this army, more than one-fourth as large as the United States army, can be reduced.

Lawlessness and violence prevail to such an extent in New Orleans that the people are talking of forming vigilance committees. The Times says the city is infested with rowdies, tramps, thieves and ruffians, who pursue their avocations with little or no interference on the part of the police. The Times is a democratic paper, and as all the city officials of New Orleans are democratic, we can easily accept the paper's statements in the case as true. Up to the time that the "infamous radical rule" in New Orleans was overthrown by the violence of the armed democracy, acting in the interests of political purity and true reform, there was little complaint about the police department; but the better class of democrats, represented by the Times, invoked the aid of the back slums to curry their points once, and now find themselves totally ignored by the ruffian element which they exalted to power.

Ex-Congressman Small of South Carolina has not only cared for the widowed daughter of his former master, but has procured her son an appointment as cadet in the United States Naval Academy. This is a pretty good record for a man who was once a slave.

Depositions this week taken in Gloucester, Mass., in the contested election case of Boynton vs. Loring, the former, who is a greenbacker, claiming that he and not Loring was elected to Congress, show that one hundred and seven names were registered after the legal time for registering had expired. It is claimed that this will throw out the vote of Gloucester, which gave a large majority for Boynton.

Commanders-in-Cheif.

The following is a complete list of the various officers who have commanded the armies of the United States since the foundation of the military service to the present time, giving the rank held by each, with the period of their command:

General and Commander-in-Chief, George Washington, from June 5, 1775, to the close of the revolution.

From that date to September, 1789, the army consisted of eight companies of infantry and a battalion of artillery (act of September, 1789), when Brevet Brigadier General Josiah Harmer, Lieutenant-Colonel commandant of the infantry, was assigned, and held until March, 1791.

Major-General Arthur St. Clair, from March, 1791 to March, 1792, when he resigned.

Major-General Anthony Wayne, from March, 1792 to Dec. 15, 1796, when he died in a hut on the banks of Lake Erie, in Pennsylvania, while en route from Maumee to the East.

Brigadier-General James Wilkinson, from Dec. 16, 1796, to July 2, 1798.

Lieutenant-General George Washington, from July 3, 1798, till his death, Dec. 4, 1799. Brigadier-General James Wilkinson, (again) from June, 1808, to January 12, when he was promoted to Major-General.

Major-General Henry Dearborn, from January, 1812, to June, 1815, when he was mustered out.

Major-General Jacob Brown, from June, 1815, till his death, Feb. 24, 1828.

Major-General Alexander McComb, from May, 1828, till his death in June, 1841.

Major-General Winfield Scott, from June, 1841, to November, 1861, being also brevetted Lieutenant-General from May, 1861.

Major-General George B. McClellan, from Nov. 1, 1861, to March 11, 1862.

Major-General Henry W. Halleck, from July 25, 1862, to March 12, 1864.

Lieutenant-General U. S. Grant (appointed July 25, 1866), from March 12, 1864, to March 4, 1869.

General William T. Sherman, from March 8, 1869, to the present time.

A Disease that Wrecks the System.

Every function is deranged, every nerve unstrung, every muscle and fiber weakened by fever and ague. It is, in fact, a disease which if unchecked, eventually wrecks the system. In all its types, in every phase, it is dangerous, destructive. Stupor, delirium, convulsions, often attend it, and cause swift dissolution. But when combatted with Hostetter's Stomach Bitters its foothold in the system is dislodged, and every vestige of it eradicated. That benign anti-febrile specific and preventive of the dreaded scourge is recognized not only within our own boundaries, but in tropic lands far beyond them, where intermittents and remittents are fearfully prevalent, to be a sure antidote to the malarial poison and a reliable means of overcoming disorders of the stomach, liver and bowels, of which a vitiated torrid atmosphere and brackish miasma-tainted water are extremely provocative. All emigrants and travelers should be supplied with it.

A Leading Physician says: "it can be relied upon" in speaking of Dr. A. J. Flagg's Cough and Lung Syrup.

WHEAT MEAL!

— OR —

Graham Flour.

When Wheat is ground it becomes Wheat Meal; when it is bolted it becomes Wheat Flour. Dr. Graham, who lectured through the country forty years ago on dietetics formed the fraternity known as "Grahamites." He said that bolted Flour should not be eaten, but that bread ought to be made of Wheat Meal instead; from him it got the name of Graham Flour. All Graham Flour therefore ought to be Wheat Meal, but about three-quarters of it is what we call made up Graham, that is, artificially mixed Cheap Flour and Bran, and is in every way inferior to the genuine article. Hardly a person who uses the genuine Wheat Meal would take the bogus article except on compulsion.

The Crowning Discovery.

All the "phones" of this phonetic age are surpassed in practical benefit to mankind, by the discovery of Allan's Anti-Fat, the great and only known remedy for obesity, or corpulency. It produces no weakness or injurious effect. Its action being simply confined to regulating digestion, and preventing an undue assimilation of the carbonaceous, or flesh-producing, elements of the food. Sold by druggists.

ELLSWORTH, KAN., July 13th, 1878.
BOTANIC MEDICINE CO., Buffalo, N. Y.:
Gentlemen—Allen's Anti-Fat reduced me seven pounds in one week.
Yours respectfully, MRS. TAYLOR.

—The idea that fruit eaten at night is deleterious, is proved by the bad effect it had upon Adam from eating an apple after Eve.—Com. Bull.

—A Hartford lady, in looking over some old books in a second-hand store, a few days since, found a book she had missed for thirty years, with her name in it as written by herself when a school girl.

—According to medical authorities, kissing is dangerous. And never more so than when the old man pops into the parlor and detects an obnoxious young man and his daughter in the act.—Norristown Herald.

—"Hit him twice, Freddie! I told you to hit him twice." This is telegraphed as the remark of Clara Morris to Mr. Harriot, her husband, who immediately proceeded to "pound" the gentleman on the railroad train, who, according to the actress, had insulted her, and now they have made a song of it.

—In examining a St. Louis iron furnace, which has been unused for some time, a mine of the ore was recently found, 100 tons of which had run out through a stack and worked its way deep down into the earth. The melted iron had soli fied into one huge mass, so compact that charges of dynamite which shake the houses for squares around appear to have little effect upon it.

GAZETTE

Established 1756.

The Gazette is published every Thursday, and sent to Subscribers at the low price of
$1.50 per year, paid in advance, or
$2 at the end of the year.

It contains full accounts of all of importance that transpires in Portsmouth and its vicinity, and a condensed summary of NEWS, foreign and domestic; editorials upon current topics; New Hampshire items; carefully prepared marine news, containing reports of vessels owned at this port, or offered by men from Portsmouth or its neighborhood; and is just the paper for residents desiring to be posted on all that takes place at home, while to those living in the vicinity of Portsmouth, or to former residents who retain their interest in the "old home by the sea," it is the best means of keeping informed of what transpires in this city.

— THE —

NEW HAMPSHIRE GAZETTE

Contains more original matter

Than any other paper of its size in the State, the editors working more with their pens than with their scissors.

TO ADVERTISERS

THE N. H. GAZETTE

Presents an excellent opportunity for a WEEKLY INVITATION TO CUSTOMERS, at a reasonable rate, and all those who desire to reach patrons in Rockingham and York counties will find it an economical medium. THE GAZETTE is in many instances the only paper taken by families, and it is read to a large extent in localities whence is derived much of the trade of Portsmouth, a fact which our merchants should not fail to bear in mind.

(Successors to R. V. PIERCE, M. D.)

DR. R. V. PIERCE, having acquired a world-wide reputation in the treatment of Chronic Diseases, resulting in a professional business far exceeding his individual ability to conduct, some years ago induced several medical gentlemen to associate themselves with him, as the Faculty of the World's Dispensary, the Consulting Department of which has since been merged with the INVALIDS' HOTEL. The organization has been completed and incorporated under the name and style of World's Dispensary Medical Association, with the following officers:

Hon. R. V. PIERCE, Pres. F. D. PIERCE, V. Pres.
JNO. E. PIERCE, Sec. LESTER B. SMITH, Treas.

NINE PHYSICIANS AND SURGEONS of eminence and skill have been chosen as the Faculty.

CHRONIC DISEASES of all forms come within the province of our several specialties.

LUNG DISEASES.—This division of practice is very ably managed by a gentleman of mature judgment and skill. Bronchial, Throat, and Lung Diseases treated with the most successful results.

DISEASES OF WOMEN.—Advice FREE, by our specialists of a superior order for the cure of all those peculiar diseases peculiar to females.

NERVOUS DISEASES.—Paralysis, Nervous Debility, Epilepsy (Fits), Chorea (St. Vitus's Dance), Neuralgia, and other nervous affections, receive the attention of our several specialists.

NOT NECESSARY TO SEE PATIENTS.—By our original system of diagnosis, we can treat many chronic diseases as successfully without as with a personal consultation. For particulars see "People's Common Sense Medical Adviser" (Revised), sent post-paid for $1.50 or "Invalids' and Tourists' Guide Book," 100 pages, 10 cents post-paid.

SURGICAL CASES.—Among the operations which we are ready to perform upon most dispensary patients are those for Nasal Polypus, Harelip, Tumors, Fistula in Ano, Piles, Hernia (Rupture), Hydrocele (Dropsy of the Scrotum), Varicocele, Cancer, Uterine Tumors, Calculi (Stone in the Bladder), Strictures, etc., etc. We also successfully treat, by a new method without surgical operation, Cancers, Club-feet, Spinal Curvature, and other deformities. (See pamphlet entitled, "Motion as a Curative Agent," sent on receipt of 10 cents.)

Address, World's Dispensary Medical Association, BUFFALO, N. Y.

WOMAN

By an immense practice at the World's Dispensary and Invalids' Hotel, having treated many thousand cases of those diseases peculiar to woman, I have been enabled to perfect a most potent and positive remedy for these diseases.

To designate this natural specific, I have named it

Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription

The term, however, is but a feeble expression of my high appreciation of its value, based upon personal observation. I have, while discussing its positive results in the special diseases for which it is the organism of woman, singled it out as the climax or crowning gem of my medical career. On its merits, as a positive, safe, and effectual remedy for this class of diseases, and one that will, at all times and under all circumstances, act kindly, I am willing to stake my reputation as a physician and as confident am I that it will not disappoint the most sanguine expectations of a single invalid lady who uses it for any of the ailments for which I recommend it, that I offer and sell it under A POSITIVE GUARANTEE. (For conditions, see pamphlet wrapping bottle.)

The following are among those diseases in which my Favorite Prescription has worked cures, as if by magic, and with a certainty never before attained by any medicine: Leucorrhœa, Excessive Flowing, Painful Monthly Periods, Suppressions when from unnatural causes, Irregularities, Week Back, Prolapsus, or Falling of the Uterus, Anteversion and Retroversion, Bearing-down Sensations, Internal Heat, Nervous Depression, Debility, Despondency, Threatened Miscarriage, Threatened Congestion, Inflammation and Ulceration of the Uterus, Impotency, Barrenness, or Sterility, and Female Weakness. I do not extol this medicine as a "cure-all," but it admirably fulfills a singleness of purpose, being a most perfect specific in all chronic diseases of the sexual system of woman. It will not disappoint, nor will it do harm, in any state or condition.

Those who desire further information on these subjects can obtain it in THE PEOPLE'S COMMON SENSE MEDICAL ADVISER, a book of over 900 pages, sent, post-paid, on receipt of $1.50. It treats plainly of those diseases peculiar to Females, and gives much valuable advice in regard to the management of those affections.

Favorite Prescription sold by Druggists.

GOLDEN MEDICAL DISCOVERY

By its great and thorough blood-purifying properties, Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery clears all Humors, from the worst Scrofula to a common Pimple, or Eruption, Tetter, Salt-rheum, Scaly Eruptions, Mineral Poisons, and their effects, are eradicated, and vigorous health restored. Consumption, if not established, Erysipelas, Salt-rheum, Fever Sores, Scaly or Rough Skin, in short all diseases caused by bad blood, are conquered by this powerful, purifying, and invigorating medicine.

Especially has it manifested its potency in curing Tetter, Rose Rash, Boils, Carbuncles, Sore Eyes, Scrofulous Sores and Swellings, White Swellings, Goitre or Thick Neck, and Enlarged Glands.

If you feel dull, drowsy, debilitated, have sallow color of skin, or yellowish-brown spots on face or body, frequent headache or dizziness, bad taste in mouth, internal heat or chills alternated with hot flashes, low spirits, and loss of energy, loss of appetite, and tongue coated, you are suffering from Torpid Liver, or "Biliousness." In many cases of "Liver Complaint" only part of these symptoms are experienced. As a remedy for all such cases, Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery has no equal, as it effects perfect radical cures.

In the cure of Bronchitis, Severe Coughs, and the early stages of Consumption, it has astonished the medical faculty, extending physicians pronounce it the greatest medical discovery of the age. While it cures the severest coughs, it strengthens the system and purifies the blood. Sold by druggists.

THE "LITTLE GIANT" CATHARTIC.

No use of taking the large, repulsive, nauseous pills, composed of cheap, crude, and bulky ingredients. Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Purgative Pellets are unlike them.

Being entirely vegetable, no particular care is required while using them. They operate without disturbance to the constitution, diet, or occupation. For Jaundice, Headache, Constipation, Impure Blood, Pain in the Stomach, Sick Headache, Tightness of the Chest, Dizziness, Sour Eructations from the Stomach, Bad Taste in the Mouth, Bilious Attacks, Pain in Region of Kidneys, Internal Fever, Bloated feeling about Stomach, Flush of Heat, Costiveness, use Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Purgative Pellets. In explanation of the remedial power of these Purgative Pellets, it may be said that their action upon the animal system is universal, not a gland or tissue escaping their sanative impress. Agitices not impair the properties of Pierce's Pellets. They are sugar-coated and inclosed in glass bottles, their virtues being thereby preserved unimpaired for any length of time, in any climate, so that they are always fresh and reliable. This is not the case with pills put up in cardboard boxes or pasteboard boxes. For all diseases where a Laxative, Alterative, or Purgative, is indicated, these little Pellets will give the most perfect satisfaction. Sold by druggists.

SWORN EVIDENCE.

The following Cure is probably the most remarkable ever effected by any medical preparation for the treatment of Catarrh:

Gentlemen.—I hereby certify that I have had Catarrh for ten years, and for the last six years have had a terrible sufferer. I was rendered partially deaf, had buzzing in the head, pains across the temple, dizzy spells, weak and painful eyes, swollen and ulcerated tonsils, hard and constant cough, severe pain across the chest, and every indication of consumption. My head ached all the time. The matter accumulated so rapidly in my head and throat that I could not keep them free. Frequently at night I would spring out of bed, it seemed to me, at the point of suffocation. I would then have recourse to every means in my power to dislodge the mucus from my throat and head before being able to sleep again. For a period of six years my tonsils were ulcerated and so much inflamed that I could with difficulty swallow. I finally consulted an eminent surgeon in regard to an operation on them, but at his request postponed it. The constant inflammation and ulceration in my throat caused by the poisonous matter dropping down from my head had so irritated and inflamed my lungs that I coughed incessantly,—a deep hard cough. Meanwhile my system began to show the effects of this disease, so that I had to stop work, and showed every symptom of an early death by consumption. When matters had reached this stage, or about six months ago, I began the use of SANFORD'S RADICAL CURE FOR CATARRH. After using the first bottle I began to improve rapidly. The first dose seemed to clear my head as I had not known it to be for years. I seemed gradually to throw off the discharges. It stopped my cough in three days. By using it as a gargle I soon reduced the inflammation and swelling of my tonsils so that they soon ceased to trouble me. The soreness across my chest disappeared, the lung troubles left me, and I ceased, my senses of scenting and of hearing were completely restored, and every symptom of disease that had reduced me to the verge of the grave disappeared by the use of SANFORD'S RADICAL CURE FOR CATARRH. I have been thus explicit because, as a druggist, I witnessed a great deal of suffering from Catarrh, and hope to convince many that there is a great remedy.

I am familiar with the treatment of Catarrh as practiced by the best physicians, and have consulted the most eminent about my case. I have used every kind of remedy and apparatus that have appeared during a period of six years past, and have, while following the rules, taken great care of my general health, but obtained no relief, or encouragement from any of them.

PETER PENNYBACKER'S AUCTION PURCHASE.

There are few who have not a pet fancy to be indulged, and it was Peter Pennybacker's weakness to purchase odd lots at auction, such, his better half would tell him, as no one else would buy at any price. None were better aware of the truthfulness of Mrs. P.'s assertion than the auctioneers themselves, who felt quite assured, if Peter was present at a sale, they would get a bid from him for what others would not take even at the low setup rate at which they were started. Nothing came amiss to him, from a cumbrous piece of old-fashioned furniture, to a bottomless chair or a cracked teapot. He could no more pass a place where an auction sale was going on without dropping in, than a disciple of Bacchus could go by a drinking-place without entering for a dram. An auctioneer put up a lot one day that from its little value excited even his own mirth in doing so; yet it found a purchaser in Peter, and on being sent home, proved to be a half-barrel, containing three empty cigar-boxes, a handleless jug, two odd volumes on very dry subjects, a coffee-pot minus the spout, and a rusty Indian tomahawk.

Peter kept a little shop in what had once been the parlor of the antique dwelling he occupied in the Bowery. His stock consisted of everything in the needle and thread and fancy line of dry goods, and if he had shown as little judgment in its selection as in his auction speculations, his chances of success in trade would have been very limited; but he knew just what would sell in the Bowery, and the jobbers, as he always paid cash, often gave him good bargains in articles from their being a little out of style for ready sale in a more fashionable quarter. Although his assortment was good, it was not always arranged to the best advantage; a customer would often go away without getting what was needed, for the reason that it could not be found. He had it somewhere, he would say, but could not put his hand on it then. Matters grew so bad in this way, Mrs. Pennybacker, when Katrine, their only child, had reached an age to help her in domestic duties, was obliged to see that things were in their proper places, as well as tend the store when her easy, good-natured husband was away among the down-town jobbers, or looking in at his favorite auction sales. Possessing the shrewness of her Dutch ancestors, for, like Peter, she was descended from the old Knickerbocker stock, she made up his deficiencies, and if their gains were not large, none of them were wasted so far as she was concerned. Her patience was often sorely tried by Peter's purchases at auction of articles for which they had no earthly use, and had it been otherwise, no room for in the space that remained after letting a portion of their premises.

The neighborhood where they lived was then regarded as being pretty well up-town, and in the rear of their dwelling was a two-story structure, built originally for a stable, though serving them as a place of deposit for wood and coal, with an entrance from a street running parallel with the Bowery. The loft of this building answered the purpose of stowing such of Peter's purchases as no room could be found for in the house; and a perfect museum of curiosities it was, whose equal could not have been found in all New York, piled one upon another until nearly reaching the roof. Prominent among them was an immense bookcase, with capacious drawers beneath. "It will be such an nice article," Peter said, in making known his purchase, "to stand in a corner and put things in;" but when it came home, much to the gratification of Mrs. Pennybacker, there was neither door or window that would admit it into their dwelling, and it was accordingly consigned to the loft, into which it was elevated by great exertion, and at some expense, from the assistance needed, after Peter's refusal to have it converted into firewood, as his wiser half suggested; a fate that had befallen many a broken-backed chair and rickety table, unknown to him, when fuel was scarce. Occasionally, when Peter had gone to pass a day in the country with an aged aunt, Mrs. P. would send to an auction room a cart-load of "the rubbish," as she irreverently termed it, from the above place of deposit, to be converted into cash, and it not seldom happened that portions of it found their way back in a brief space of time; one article, an old desk and drawers, with brass enough upon its front, in the way of handles and ornaments, to make a good sized cash-kettle, having been sold three times to Peter by the same knight of the hammer. "What do you ever expect to do with it?" his wife would ask when some new addition was made to Peter's stock of curiosities.

"Oh, it will come to use some time," he answered, "everything does, you know, once in a while; and I got it so cheap;" eliciting the response from the former, "Anthing is dear, whatever you pay for it, if you do not want it."

One of the fanciers of antique clocks sometimes heard of, would have gone into extacies over Peter's collection of such articles, if not envied him their possession. They were all over the house, besides a dozen more that were stowed away in the loft. Curious things some of them had been in their time, with extra movements, showing the moon at the summit of the dial, passing through all its changes from month to month, and automaton figures going through all sorts of comical manœuvres; but these once appreciated novelties, from being out of repair, had for the most part lost their value, as none could be found of sufficient ingenuity, had such been sought, to set them again in motion. After a season of respite of more than ordinary length from buying what he did not need, Mrs. P. saw her spouse pass a window of the store while she was serving a customer with something in his arms, and going to the kitchen a few minutes later, found him placing upon the mantel-piece a Dutch clock, of antique pattern, and such size as would hardly admit of its standing upon so narrow a resting-place. When her astonishment so far subsided as to admit of utterance, she exclaimed, "Well, Peter, I have sometimes fancied you were out of your wits in buying things not worth houseroom, and I am convinced of it now in your bringing home such an ill-looking article as that; making the fourteenth clock you have bought within the past seven years. You must be crazy, surely, for we wanted nothing better than the little timepiece you have pushed aside to make room for it. If it stays there, it will tumble off and break somebody's head when they are poking the fire." "It was so cheap, my dear," Peter meekly answered, "only ten shil'n. I could not resist the temptation to take it when Mallet, the auctioneer, knocked it down to me at that price, although I did not bid for it." Mrs. Pennybacket's patience having reached that point of exhaustion all have heard of, where "forbearance ceases to be a virtue," in response she exclaimed "I wish Mallet had the ugly old thing tied fast upon his shoulders and to carry it, as did Sinbad the Sailor the Old Man of the Sea, until he would promise not to poke off any more of his old trash on you that he can get no one else to take."

In the meekest of moods from the consciousness of have deserved such a lecture from his most excellent of wives, who, besides making his home a cheerful one, made up for his short-comings in the way of business, Peter sat over the fire, affecting to warm his hands, though the day was not cold. Just as Mrs. P., after thus relieving herself, quite in contrast with her ordinary tone of mild remonstrance on such occasions, was returning to the store to take the place of Katrine while she set the table for dinner, a heavily loaded wagon shook the house as it passed, and with it came a fulfillment of her prophecy, to some extent, when Peter's latest purchase came down from its resting-place with what the newspaper reporters would call "a tremendous crash," knocking off his hat, but without breaking his head, and falling on the tea-kettle that was merrily singing upon the stove, dashed to atoms the looking-glass that adorned its front. Among the scattered fragments upon the floor were two strips of paper very much resembling bank-notes, which on being examined proved to be such, and to the tune of a thousand pounds each, but dated so far back, although seeming to have been genuine articles when issued, Peter was much afraid they had lost their value. Hurrying away, without stopping for the dinner that was ready to go upon the table, he soon entered the office of an experienced broker, to whom he had sometimes taken doubtful bank-notes, and in an excited tone asked "Are these notes g-o-o-d?" "Good? to be sure they are," answered the man, "but of the old plate. Why, where on earth did you get them? I have not seen an old-plate note these thirty years. They don't look as if they had been handled much, and if put to interest would more than doubled if not trebled themselves in value." "How much are they worth?" Peter then asked. "With their percentage of premium, as a medium of exchange, ten thousand five hundred dollars," was the broker's reply. "Would you like to take them?" Peter inquired in a voice that wanted something of steadiness. "Certainly, if you wish it," was the welcome answer he received, and a few minutes later he was on his way to the Manhattan Bank, that venerable institution with its perpetual charter, bearing a check for the above amount, with a name at the bottom that was good for any sum the owner was disposed to place above it. Though with ten new thousand dollar notes and five of a hundred each, held fast in his hand, the fortunate dealer in dry goods notions could scarce believe he was not dreaming, hitting his knuckles various times against the lamp-posts to learn if he was really awake, and when he got home cut such capers about the floor, Mrs. P. thought he had certainly lost his wits then if never before.

Peter bore his triumph in the result that flowed from his latest auction purchase most magnanimously; never alluding to the scene that followed its first discovery by his better half, and by way of celebrating the event treated himself, his good-looking partner and bright little Katrine, to an evening at the old Park theatre, to see for the first time the Forty Thieves; winding up their festivity by an oyster supper at a place on their way home, famous for its excellent stews. To avoid annoyance from the curiosity of others their good fortune was kept a secret within the family circle. All Peter could learn in relation to the history of the old clock was that it came among the stock of a second-hand furniture dealer, sent to the auctioneer for sale; and the conclusion was that the money had been placed for security behind the glass of the clock many years before by some person who died without making known its place of concealment. With such an addition to his capital, quite bewildering to him at first to contemplate, Peter at once added to his store the large back room adjoining that used in their housekeeping, and filling it with a stock of dry goods not surpassed at that day by any in the Bowery, had his name placed over the door in large gilt letters, that he never failed to look up at with pride while crossing from the opposite side of the way, and where it continued from year to year until quite late times, although the "nice young man" who was fortunate enough to secure for a wife the fair Katrine, succeeded him in business when he had retired to a snug retreat, a few miles from the city, that overlooked the Hudson, where he and his good wife would talk of their days in the old Bowery, and the dear old clock, once despised though it was, Peter's very last auction purchase, that brought to them such good fortune.

Portsmouth Chronicle

FRIDAY, MARCH 21, 1879.

Congress.

In the House, Wednesday, almost the whole session was occupied with the contested election case of Hull of Florida vs. Bisbee. The latter was unquestionably elected by the voters of his district, but being a republican the House of course elected Hull, who is a democrat. The greenbackers, with the exception of Ladd of Maine, voted with the republicans in favor of seating the member elected by the people.

In the Senate about forty bills were introduced, including the Geneva award bill passed by the last House.

The House on Thursday adopted a resolution ordering an investigation into the working of the election law in Cincinnati.

The Senate adjourned over to Friday without doing any business.

News and Notes.

A terrible prairie fire is reported from Kansas, where a tract ten miles long and three miles wide was burned over, upwards of a hundred houses being destroyed and one life lost.

The Indian arrested on suspicion of being concerned in the Gowen murder at Oldtown, Me., will be discharged, as there is no evidence of any consequence against him.

Matt Keefe, a tramp, of Fitchburg, Mass., had a leg cut off above the knee and the foot of the other leg injured, while attempting to get a ride on an Erie freight train near Hornellsville, N. Y.

Thomas J. Wood, a prominent attorney, of Starkville, Miss., was mortally shot on the 18th inst. by William Gilmer (colored). Wood had caned Gilmer previously for using insulting language in the presence of his wife. The murderer fled.

At Vicksburg, Miss., on the night of the 18th inst., a shooting affray occurred between Capt. Fitzgerald on one side and Capt. Andrews and W. I. Green on the other. Andrews and Green were killed almost instantly, and Fitzgerald dangerously wounded. All the parties moved in good society.

A man named E. J. Barnes, of Sutton, Mass., attempted suicide on the 18th by trying to cut his throat, but was prevented. He then went to the woodshed and deliberately chopped off his hand.

Hartford's chief of police has prohibited a dangerous "William Tell shooting exhibition" performance, in which a man was to shoot an apple from a woman's head, a ring from her ear, and a cigarette from her mouth.

One hundred and twenty thousand persons were flooded out at Szegedin, Hungary. It is stated that 8200 out of 10,000 houses in the town have fallen, and 1900 persons were drowned.

The British steamer Bolivar, running between Liverpool and St. Thomas, and the Haytien steamer Michel, came in collision, and the Michel was sunk. Sixty lives were lost.

A man named Callaghan recently received of the Boston & Maine railroad a verdict of $407 for being ejected from the cars between Portland and Boston, while attempting to ride upon a western coupon ticket after expiration of the time limited for its use. On Wednesday the superior court at Boston after a full hearing set aside the verdict, and ordered a new trial.

The village of Bleiberg, in the Austrian Tyrol, has been struck by an avalanche which crushed ten houses; forty persons were killed and eighteen seriously injured, and fifteen others are missing.

A Louisville jury has given Emma Casper $12,500 damages against Philip Mendell for felonious assault.

A six day's walking match has been arranged to take place at Montreal between Campana of New York and Tumacht of Montreal.

Four young women, members of a Methodist church in Elizabeth, N. J., are to be excluded for refusing to give up dancing at private parties.

The musical contents of the Folio for April consist of three vocal and two instrumental pieces. It also contains a full page portrait of Madame Etelka Gerster, with a short account of her life, and rather more than the usual amount of miscellaneous reading matter—all for fifteen cents. Published by White, Smith & Co., Boston.

New Hampshire Items.

Goffstown is out of debt, and has $1500 in its treasury.

Plymouth has a debt of $13,552.67, a reduction since March 1st, 1878, of $2100.34.

Newport voted that the extra dog tax on hand should go toward the support of schools.

Charlestown awarded Charles Hunt $1200 for injuries received in consequence of a defective highway.

George W. Caswell of Nashua, eighteen years old, died on Tuesday, the 18th inst., from the effects of injuries received in wrestling on the previous Saturday.

A Chance to be Charitable.

The Cape Ann Bulletin, of Gloucester, Mass., prefaces as follows an earnest appeal for aid from other places, for the widows and orphans of the seamen lately lost:

As is too well known to every one in any way interested, the fishing business has been far from remunerative the past few years, and of the long list of names in another column, as probably lost, but few have left enough for the maintenance of those dependent upon them a single month, while many are even now the objects of well directed charity. What they will do for the common necessaries of life is a problem which must be grappled with by the charitably disposed. Never before has Gloucester been in the position which to-day finds her. Disasters equalling the average losses for four years, aggregate an account of suffering and want which is fearful to contemplate. The casualties of 1862, when one hundred and sixty-two men and nineteen vessels were swept out of existence; as also those of 1873, when thirty-one vessels and one hundred and seventy-four men were lost; or of 1871, when one hundred and forty men and nineteen vessels went out from port never to return,—followed years of reasonable prosperity, and actual want and suffering did not enter largely into the result. But, with business crippled by unconscionable treaties and a competition fostered by their provisions, added to a succession of seasons of poor fares of fish of almost unmarketable quality, our citizens find themselves unable to cope successfully with the monster of want whose presence is felt now as never before. Hence Gloucester, which has not been backward in assuaging the wants of others as her circumstances allowed, will now have to look to other sources than her own to relieve the suffering in her midst. The Widows' and Orphans' society, and the kindred society, the Gloucester Relief Association, are doing what they can to relieve the suffering, but their resources are far from adequate to cope with this latest calamity, as the receipts of the past year have been hardly sufficient to meet the previous demands upon them.

THE CITY.

Fast having been appointed the base ball season has opened.

It is stated that Richard Olney, Esq., a lawyer of Boston, will on the first of April assume the presidency of the Eastern railroad company.

The fishing schooner Velocipede, having been repaired, was towed to Doane's wharf on Wednesday morning of this week by steam-tug Clara Batemen.

Messrs. Kimball of Nashua and Blake of Fitzwilliam, State bank commissioners, have been in town this week making the annual examination of the condition of the savings banks.

The cantata of "Belshazzar's feast, or the fall of Babylon," will be given at Music hall on Tuesday and Wednesday evenings, April 15th and 16th, with a matinee Wednesday afternoon.

The members of Damon Lodge, K. of P., and their ladies, will this evening have at their hall another of those sociable gatherings which have proved so enjoyable and popular during the winter.

Mrs. John J. Pickering, in behalf of the trustees of the permanent fund of the N. H. S. P. C. A., gratefully acknowledges the receipt of twenty-four dollars, being part of the proceeds of Mrs. Bartlett's lecture on the 19th inst.

The Times says that the property of the Portsmouth Pier Company has been divided between Samuel Adams, John H. Broughton, C. E. Walker and J. Albert Walker, thus ending the existence of a company incorporated January 6th, 1798.

Charles E. Lewis having challenged Orlando L. Durgin of Kittery to a twenty-five mile walk, the latter has accepted, the contest to come off in Trefethen's hall at "the foreside" on Wednesday evening, 26th inst., commencing at six o'clock, the entrance money to go to the winner.

The fishing schooner E. A. Horton arrived at Gloucester, Mass., on the 19th inst., dismasted, in tow of the United States steamer Gallatin. No tidings had been heard of the absent schooner Gwendolin. Neither of these vessels were named in the recently published list of missing schooners from Gloucester.

The delegation of members from Damon Lodge, No. 6, Knights of Pythias, who have so successfully and to the gratification of all who have seen it worked in various places the amplified third rank, went to Farmington on Wednesday evening, the 19th inst., by invitation of the lodge of that town, and performed the work there.

Mrs. Bartlett's lecture on Mrs. Siddons, at Franklin hall on Wednesday evening, was attended by an audience that was very good in point of numbers and most excellent as to quality. The lecture was very interesting, and commanded the closest attention; and the reading from Henry VIII was better than is done by many a professional.

Tickets for "Ingomar the barbarian," with Miss Mary Anderson as "Parthenia," can now be secured at Preston's. The New York Graphic says "she invests the character with a wonderful charm." The Tribune says "Mary Anderson is a young, healthful, handsome, artless girl, remarkable for pomp of figure and music of voice, singular in her large, broad, sumptuous, natural action, and fascinating with mysterious charm. As an actress she is wonderful; as a woman, she is a paragon."

A change of teachers has recently been made in the Cabot street and State street schools, Miss Barri having been removed from the lower room of the latter, and promoted to the Cabot street school, which now has as teachers Misses Giddings, Marston and Barri. Mr. Kidder has charge of the school on State street, occupying the lower floor, and will have under his supervision the older pupils who attend school from that neighborhood.

THE VICINITY.

The Saco and Biddeford Fish and Game Protective society have received assurance from the fish commisioner of Maine that he will furnish land-locked salmon and black bass for stocking ponds in York county. Three ponds have been secured and will be soon stocked.

Mrs. Edward Whitehouse of Biddeford recently gave birth to triplets, two of which have died.

The town of Hampton at the recent town meeting voted to sell the town farm, and it is advertised to be sold at public auction.

There was a walking match of fifty miles at Lewiston, Me., on the 17th inst., between one Bunker, of Portland, and a man named Meagher, of Biddeford; it was a slim affair in every respect, the door receipts amounting to only eight dollars, and Bunker leaving the track on the forty-third mile.

In honor and respect of their late president, Col. Robert M. Mason, who died suddenly at Savannah, Ga., a few days since, and whose funeral occurred in Boston on Wednesday, the 19th inst., the mills of the Salmon Falls Manufacturing Company were shut down Wednesday afternoon, and the flags placed at half-mast.

An indignant greenbacker of Biddeford complains because in the distribution of the spoils captured in the late municipal contest the democrats have taken the lion's share. He says it is not right that of the best offices the democrats should have all but two, putting off the glorious army of willing-to-hold-office greenbackers with only six or eight petty positions out of a total of twenty-six. He thinks the greenback lamb has been hardly used by the democratic lion.

The city of Saco last year furnished a Babcock fire extinguisher for use at Old Orchard, but it was never tried until recently, having been stored in a stable at the beach all winter. A company having been formed of residents of Old Orchard, with Edson Milliken as foreman, two large fires were built on the beach, on the 18th inst., and promptly squirted out by the firemen. The company intend to put up an engine house, hold regular meetings, and be ready for business at any time.

CITY COUNCILS.

In Board of Mayor and Aldermen, regular meeting, Thursday evening:

The records of the special meeting on the 14th inst. were read and approved.

A claim of J. Horace Kent for $5, on account of injuries to a horse from a defective highway, was referred to the mayor with power.

The committee on claims recommended that the city accept $14.58 from F. W. Rogers in settlement. Accepted and adopted.

Tenders for building the bridge and tide-gates, etc., at the south millpond, were opened, and were as follows:

Joshua Stackpole, $2454.

John E. Giddings, $2527.

Joseph R. Holmes, $2205 (in figures, twenty hundred and five dollars, in words.)

There was considerable discussion as to what Mr. Holmes' bid really was, and finally the board took a recess of thirty minutes to enable the bidder to be found.

On resuming, it was announced that Mr. Holmes' bid was $2205.

Enoch J. Connor's bid was then opened, and found to be $2245.

The board voted to accept the tender of Joseph R. Holmes, and the mayor was authorized to superintend the work.

Adjourned.

THE GRAND ARMY.

The regular monthly meeting of Storer Encampment, Post No. 1, G. A. R., was held on Wednesday evening, the 19th inst. Several new members were initiated, and several proposals for membership were received and referred.

Owing to the large number of applications that continue to be received it was considered necessary to hold meetings semi-monthly hereafter, instead of monthly as has been the rule.

Among other business considered was the feasibility of the encampment holding an entertainment some time during the spring, and a committee of six was appointed to take the matter into consideration and report at the next meeting.

The committee appointed to confer with the War Department in relation to the placing of headstones at the unmarked graves of soldiers and sailors, reported that they are in correspondence with the authorities at Washington.

It is earnestly hoped that all persons in this vicinity who served in the army or navy during the rebellion will join in swelling the membership of the post to a goodly number before Memorial day, which it is intended by the post shall be as creditably observed as in previous years.

Beet Sugar in Maine.

A newspaper correspondent, writing from Millbridge, Me., under date of March 11th, says:

The Maine Beet Sugar Co., located in Portland, is a grand success. The Company are highly gratified with the results of last year. It being their first year, they paid but $4 per ton for beets. This year they advertise to pay the farmers $5 per ton for beets landed at a depot on the line of any railroad leading into Portland. Last year our farmers raised from 18 to 42 tons per acre. The amount raised depended almost entirely upon the richness of the soil. Where the crop is 20 tons, the farmer receives $100 for every acre of beets raised. One ton of beets will produce 400 pounds of pressed pulp, which is sold to the farmers for $1 per ton, and every 800 pounds of pressed pulp is worth 400 of hay for stock. This year the Beet-Sugar Co. have added $40,000 to their capital stock, and have asked the farmers to cultivate 1500 acres of beets, as it will require 30,000 tons of beets to supply their demands the present year. Many of our farmers will make beet raising a specialty, for the very reason that it will pay. It has been proved by actual experiment that the farmers in Maine can raise as many tons of beets per acre as are being raised in France or Germany, where the sugar beet is cultivated upon a large scale. One acre of beets will produce about 2300 pounds of sugar. The sugar made in Portland last year was of a superior quality.

She Sewed on His Buttons.

Old Blummer is tight-fisted. Several day ago he said to his wife: "Maria, I want you to look over that broadcloth vest of mine and put new buttons on it, 'cause I'm going to a card party to-night."

"But, Ely," answered Mrs. Blummer, "I haven't any buttons to match that vest, and—"

"Thunder!" broke in Blummer, "the idea of a woman keeping house as long as you have an' pretendin' to be out of buttons. By George, I believe you'll ask me for money to buy 'em with next."

That evening Blummer hurried through his supper and began arraying himself for the card party. Presently he called for the broadcloth vest, and Mrs. Blummer with marvellous promptitude handed it to him. He took it, hastily unfolded it, and then, as his eye took in the complete appearance, he stood as one transfixed. It was a six-button vest, and there were six buttons on it, and the dazed optic of Blummer observed that the first, or top one, was a tiny shirt-button, and the next one a brass army overcoat button, with "U. S." gleaming upon it, and the third was an oxydized silver affair, and that No. 4 was a horn button, evidently from the back of one of the Puritan fathers' coats, and then came a suspender button, and then, as the dazzled eyes of old Blummer reached the bottom button—a poker chip (found in Blummer's pocket) with two holes punched through it—he gave a snort that made the chandelier jingle. There is, after all, a fine sense of humor about Blummer, and he laughed till he cried. And there won't be any button money grudged in that household hereafter.

SUICIDE.

Major Phillip R. Fendall who has for some time been laboring under mental depression committed suicide Friday morning at half-past three o'clock by jumping down a vault at his residence on State street. Expressing a wish to go out, his attendant, Mr. John S. Wendell went with him, and on going into the privy he closed the door after him, and before he could be prevented made the fatal plunge. The police quickly arrived and rescued him, but not before life was extinct.

A Disease that Wrecks the System.

Every function is dery aged, every nerve unstrung, every muscle and fiber weakened by fever and ague. It is, in fact, a disease which if unchecked, eventually wrecks the system. In all its types, in every phase, it is dangerous, destructive. Stupor, delirium, convulsions, often attend it, and cause swift dissolution. But when combatted with Hostetter's Stomach Bitters its foothold in the system is dislodged, and every vestige of it eradicated. That being a anti-febrile specific and preventive of the dreaded scourge is recognized not only within our own boundaries, but in tropic lands far beyond them, where intermittents and remittents are fearfully prevalent, to be a sure antidote to the malarial poison and a reliable means of overcoming disorders of the stomach, liver and bowels, of which a vitiated torrid atmosphere and brackish miasma-tainted water are extremely provocative. All emigrants and travelers should be supplied with it.

A Leading Physician says: "It can be relied upon" in speaking of Dr. A. J. Flagg's Cough and Lung Syrup.

It's high time you did stop that spitting of blood. It comes from your lungs and can be cured by using Dr. A. J. Flagg's Cough and Lung Syrup.

Free of charge—Sample bottle of Adamson's Cough Balsam at all drug stores. Owing to its perfect harmony in combination it is the very best mixture for the speedy cure and relief of croup, colds, throat or lung diseases. Large bottles 35 cents.

Permanent Relief is a great boon to any one who has been afflicted with a hacking cough. You can get it sure by using Dr. A. J. Flagg's Cough and Lung Syrup.

Merchants and visitors who have desired, so long, to live at a Hotel above the business centre, and to take a portion of their meals down town, while in New York, can do so, as the Grand Central Hotel, on Broadway, is now kept on both the American plan at $2.50 or $3.00, and the European plan $1.00 and upwards per day. An elegant Restaurant, at moderate prices, is conducted by the Hotel.

Asthma is easily cured by using Dr. A. J. Flagg's Cough and Lung Syrup. Sold by druggists.

CRISTADORO'S HAIR DYE

The history of the success of great discoveries affords no parallel to the triumphs over competition and prejudice, accomplished by this powerful yet harmless vegetable agent, which instantaneously changes any obnoxious color of the hair into a black or brown as magnificent as any that heaven ever bestowed upon the head of man or woman. Manufactured by J. CRISTADORO, No 93 William St., New York. Sold by all Druggists. Applied by all Hair Dressers. tmch15

WHEAT MEAL!

— OR —

Graham Flour.

When Wheat is ground it becomes Wheat Meal; when it is bolted it becomes Wheat Flour. Dr. Graham, who lectured through the country forty years ago on dietetics formed the fraternity known as "Grahamites." He said that bolted Flour should not be eaten, but that bread ought to be made of Wheat Meal instead; from him it got the name of Graham Flour. All Graham Flour therefore ought to be Wheat Meal, but about three-quarters of it is what we call made up Graham, that is, artificially mixed Cheap Flour and Bran, and is in every way inferior to the genuine article. Hardly a person who uses the genuine Wheat Meal would take the bogus article except on compulsion.

The Crowning Discovery.

All the "phones" of this phonetic age are surpassed in practical benefit to mankind, by the discovery of Allan's Anti-Fat, the great and only known remedy for obesity, or corpulency. It produces no weakness or injurious effect. Its action being simply confined to regulating digestion, and preventing an undue assimilation of the carbonaceous, or flesh-producing, elements of the food. Sold by druggists.

ELLSWORTH, KAN., July 13th, 1878.
BOTANIC MEDICINE CO., Buffalo, N. Y.:
Gentlemen—Allen's Anti-Fat reduced me seven pounds in one week.
Yours respectfully, MRS. TAYLOR.

—One paper says: "Kerosene will make tea-kettles shine as bright as new." "Yes," remarks another, "kerosene will do wonders; it will make a whole house shine so that it can be seen for miles."

—A Newport minister startled his people on Sunday by announcing that he should preach on "How Jonah lost his umbrella," but they regained their equanimity and some of them dropped off into their accustomed snoozes when he began the story of Jonah's gourd.

—M. Clairville, author of "La Fille de Madame Angot" and "Les Cloches de Corneville," is dead. He began life as an actor, but never succeeded, although he once created a sensation by appearing on the stage with his legs blacked after having sold his black silk stockings in order to procure himself a dinner. The pit perceived the artifice, and raised such an uproar that the curtain had to be rung down.

—Yankee are universally allowed to be unexcelled in asking questions; but unite Irish loquacity with Yankee interrogation, and the cup is full. A girl of Irish descent, but reared in Vermont, was rebuked by the lady with whom she was living for her interminable propensity to ask questions. Closing the rebuke, the lady remarked, "You beat the Jews at asking questions." True to her nature, the girl rejoined, "Do the Jews ask many questions?"

THE NEW HAMPSHIRE GAZETTE

Established 1756.

The Gazette is published every Thursday, and sent to Subscribers at the low price of $1.50 per year, paid in advance, or $2 at the end of the year.

It contains full accounts of all of importance that transpires in Portsmouth and its vicinity, and a condensed summary of NEWS, foreign and domestic; editorials upon current topics; New Hampshire items; carefully prepared marine news, containing reports of vessels owned at this port, or officered by men from Portsmouth or its neighborhood; and is just the paper for residents desiring to be posted on all that takes place at home, while to those living in the vicinity of Portsmouth, or to former residents who retain their interest in the "old home by the sea," it is the best means of keeping informed of what transpires in this city.

— THE —

NEW HAMPSHIRE GAZETTE

Contains more original matter

Than any other paper of its size in the State, the editors working more with their pens than with their scissors.

TO ADVERTISERS

THE N. H. GAZETTE

Presents an excellent opportunity for a WEEKLY INVITATION TO CUSTOMERS, at a reasonable rate, and all those who desire to reach patrons in Rockingham and York counties will find it an economical medium. THE GAZETTE is in many instances the only paper taken by families, and it is read to a large extent in localities whence is derived much of the trade of Portsmouth, a fact which our merchants should not fail to bear in mind.

(Successors to R. V. PIERCE, M. D.)

DR. R. V. PIERCE, having acquired a world-wide reputation in the treatment of Chronic Diseases, resulting in a professional business far exceeding his individual ability to conduct, some years ago induced several medical gentlemen to associate themselves with him, as the Faculty of the World's Dispensary, the Consulting Department of which has since been merged with the INVALIDS' HOTEL. The organization has been completed and incorporated under the name and style of World's Dispensary Medical Association, with the following officers:

HON. R. V. PIERCE, Pres. E. D. PIERCE, V. Pres.
JNO. E. PIERCE, Sec. LESTER B. SMITH, Treas.

NINE PHYSICIANS AND SURGEONS of emi-nence and skill have been chosen as the Faculty.

CHRONIC DISEASES of all forms come within the province of our several specialties.

LUNG DISEASES.—This division of practice is very ably managed by a gentleman of mature judgment and skill. Bronchial, Throat, and Lung Diseases treated with the most successful results.

DISEASES OF WOMEN.—Especially are our facilities of a superior order for the cure of all those chronic diseases peculiar to females.

NERVOUS DISEASES.—Paralysis, Nervous Debility, Epilepsy (Fits), Chorea (St. Vitus's Dance), Neuralgia, and other nervous affections, receive the attention of an expert in this specialty.

NOT NECESSARY TO SEE PATIENTS.—By our original system of diagnosis, we can treat many chronic diseases as successfully without as with a personal consultation. For particulars see "People's Common Sense Medical Adviser" (1,000 pages, sent postpaid for $1.50) or "Invalids' and Youth's Guide Book," (100 pages, 10 cents post-paid).

MEDICAL DISEASES.—Among the operations which we are called upon most frequently to perform, are those for Nasal Polypus, Harelip, Tumors, Fistula in Ano, Piles, Hernia (Rupture), Hydrocele (Dropsy of the Scrotum), Varicocele, Ovarian and Uterine Tumors, Cataract (Stone in the Bladder), Strictures, etc., etc. We also treat successfully, by a new method without surgical operation, Cancers, Tubercles, Spinal Curvature, and other deformities. (See pamphlet entitled, "Human as a Machine," sent on receipt of 10 cents.)

Address, World's Dispensary Medical Association, BUFFALO, N. Y.

WOMAN

By an immense practice at the World's Dispensary and Invalids' Hotel, having treated many thousand cases of those diseases peculiar to woman, I have been enabled to perfect a most potent and positive remedy for these diseases.

To designate this natural specific, I have named it

Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription

The term, however, is but a feeble expression of my high appreciation of its value, based upon personal observation. I have, without wearying its positive results in the special diseases incident to the organism of woman, singled it out as the climax and crowning gem of my medical career. On its merits, as a positive, safe, and efficient remedy for this class of diseases, and one that will, at all times and under all circumstances, act kindly, I am willing to stake my reputation as a physician; and so confident am I that it will not disappoint the most sanguine expectations of a single invalid lady who uses it for any of the ailments for which I recommend it, that I offer and sell it under A POSITIVE GUARANTEE. (For conditions, see pamphlet wrapping bottle.)

The following are among those diseases in which my Favorite Prescription has worked cures, as if by magic, and with a certainty never before attained by any medicine: Leucorrhœa, Excessive Flowing, Painful Monthly Periods, Suppressions from all unnatural causes, Irregularities, Weak Back, Prolapsus, or Falling of the Uterus, Anteversion and Retroversion, Bearing-down Sensations, Internal Heat, Nervous Depression, Debility, Despondency, Threatened Miscarriage, Chronic Congestion, Inflammation and Ulceration of the Uterus, Impotency, Barrenness, or Sterility, and all Weaknesses. I do not extol this medicine as a "cure-all," but it admirably fulfills a single class of purposes, being a most perfect specific in all chronic diseases of the peculiar nature for which it is recommended. It will not disappoint, nor will it do harm, in any state or condition.

Those who desire further information on these subjects can obtain it in THE PEOPLE'S COMMON SENSE MEDICAL ADVISER, a book of over 1,000 pages, sent post-paid, on receipt of $1.50. It treats minutely of those diseases peculiar to Females, and gives much valuable advice in regard to the management of those affections.

GOLDEN MEDICAL DISCOVERY

By its great and thorough blood-purifying properties, Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery cures all Humors, from the worst Scrofula to a common Blotch, Pimple, or Eruption. In Scrofulous disease, Mineral Poisons, and their effects, are eradicated, and vigorous health and a sound constitution established. Erysipelas, Salt-Rheum, Fever-Sores, Scaly or Rough Skin, in short, all diseases caused by bad blood, are conquered by this powerful, purifying, and invigorating medicine.

Especially has it manifested its potency in curing Tetter, Rose Rash, Boils, Carbuncles, Sore Eyes, Scrofulous Sores and Swellings, White Swellings, Goitre or Thick Neck, and Enlarged Glands.

If you feel dull, drowsy, debilitated, have sallow color of skin, or yellowish-brown spots on face or body, frequent headache or dizziness, bad taste in mouth, internal heat or chills alternated with hot flushes, low spirits, and gloomy forebodings, irregular appetite, and tongue coated, you are suffering from Torpid Liver, or "Biliousness." In many cases of "Liver Complaint" only part of these symptoms are experienced. As a remedy for all such cases, Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery has no equal, as it effects perfect and radical cures.

In the cure of Bronchitis, Severe Coughs, and the early stages of Consumption, it has astonished the medical faculty, and eminent physicians pronounce it the greatest medical discovery of the age. While it cures the severest Coughs, it strengthens the system and purifies the blood. Sold by druggists.

SIZE OF PELLETS.

THE "LITTLE GIANT" CATHARTIC.

No use of taking the large, repulsive, nauseous pills, composed of clumsy, crude, and bulky ingredients. The Pellets are one-third the size of mustard seeds.

Being entirely vegetable, no particular care is required while using them. They operate without disturbance to the constitution, diet, or occupation. For Jaundice, Headache, Constipation, Impure Blood, Pain in the Shoulders, Fullness of the Chest, Dizziness, Sour Eructations from the Stomach, Bad Taste in the Mouth, Bilious attacks, Pain in region of Kidneys, Internal Fever, Heated feeling about Stomach, Rush of Blood to the Head, take Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Purgative Pellets. In explanation of the marvelous power of these Purgative Pellets over so great a variety of diseases, it may be said that their action upon the animal economy is universal, not a gland or tissue escapes their searching influence. Any dose not impair the properties of these Pellets. They are sugar-coated and inclosed in glass bottles, their virtues being thereby preserved unimpaired for any length of time, and in any climate. They are always fresh and reliable. This is not the case with pills put up in cheap wooden or pasteboard boxes. For all diseases where a Laxative, Alterative, or Purgative, is indicated, these little Pellets will give the most perfect satisfaction. Sold by druggists.

CATARRH

SYMPTOMS.—Frequent headache, discharge falling into throat, sometimes profuse, watery, thick mucous, purulent, offensive, etc. In others, a dryness, dry, watery, weak, or inflamed eyes, stopping up, or obstruction, of the nasal passages, ringing in ears, deafness, hawking and coughing to clear the throat, ulcerations, scabs from ulcers, vocalized nasal twang, offensive breath, impaired or total deprivation of sense of smell and taste, dizziness, mental depression, loss of appetite, indigestion, enlarged glands, tickling cough, etc. Only a few of these symptoms are likely to be present in any case at one time.

DR. SAGE'S CATARRH REMEDY

produces radical cures of the worst cases of Catarrh, no matter of how long standing. The liquid remedy may be snuffed, or blown gently by the use of Dr. PIERCE'S Douche. This is the only form of instrument by which these snuff, blown and medicine can be carried HIGH UP and PERFECTLY APPLIED to all parts of the affected nasal passages, and the chambers or cavities communicating therewith, in which sores and ulcers frequently exist, and from which the catarrhal discharge generally proceeds. Its use is pleasant and easily understood, from directions accompanying each instrument. Dr. SAGE'S Catarrh Remedy cures recent attacks of "Cold in the Head" by a few applications. It is mild and pleasant to use, containing no strong or caustic drugs or poisons. Catarrh Remedy and Douche sold by druggists.

SWORN EVIDENCE.

The following Cure is probably the most remarkable ever effected by any medical preparation for the treatment of Catarrh:

Gentlemen.—I hereby certify that I have had Catarrh for ten years, and for the last six years have been a terrible sufferer. I was rendered partially deaf, had buzzing in the head, pains across the temples, dizzy spells, weak and painful eyes, swollen and ulcerated tonsils, hard and constant cough, severe pain across the chest, and every indication of consumption. My head ached all the time. The matter accumulated so rapidly in my head and throat that I could not keep them free. Frequently at night I would spring out of bed, in agonized to me, at the point of suffocation. I would then have recourse to every means in my power to dislodge the mucus from my throat and head before being able to sleep again. For a period of six years my tonsils were ulcerated, and so much inflamed that I could with difficulty swallow. I finally consulted an eminent surgeon in regard to an operation on them, but at the request postponed it. The constant inflammation and ulceration in my throat caused by the poisonous matter dropping down from my head had so irritated and inflamed my lungs that I coughed incessantly,—a deep hard cough. Meanwhile my system began to show the effects of this disease, so that I lost flesh, grew pale, and showed every symptom of an early death by consumption. When matters had reached this stage, or about six months ago, I began the use of SANFORD'S RADICAL CURE FOR CATARRH. After using the first bottle I began to improve rapidly. The first dose seemed to clear my head as I had not known it to be for years. I seemed gradually to arrest the discharges. It stopped my cough in three days. By using it as a gargle I soon reduced the inflammation and swelling of my tonsils to their proper condition and size. The horrible ulcers on my chest disappeared, the buzzing noises in my head ceased, my sense of seeing and of hearing were completely restored, and every symptom of disease that had reduced me to the verge of the grave disappeared by the use of SANFORD'S RADICAL CURE FOR CATARRH. I have been thus explicit because, as a druggist, I have seen a great deal of suffering from catarrh, and in scope to convince many that this is a great remedy.

I am familiar with the treatment of Catarrh as practised by the best physicians, and have consulted the most eminent about my case. I have used every kind of remedy and apparatus that have appeared during a period of six years past, and have, while following the use, taken great care of my general health, but obtained no relief or encouragement from any of them.

COLLINS' VOLTAIC PLASTER

Affords the most grateful relief in all Affections of the Chest and Lungs.

CHRONIC PLEURISY CURED.

MESSRS. WEEKS & POTTER: Gentlemen,—Having for many months past suffered with a very lame side, called by my physician Chronic Pleurisy, caused by a former injury and strain, cause for which I have tried lotions and liniments, as well as the so-called rheumatic cures, without the least benefit, I was induced, by your recommended one of your COLLINS' VOLTAIC PLASTERS which, to my great surprise, relieved the pain and lameness almost immediately, and I have been able to attend to my household affairs with comparative ease and comfort, whereas, before the application of your invaluable Plaster, I was scarcely able to do any thing. I consider them inestimable, and shall with pleasure recommend them to the afflicted. Yours respectfully, MRS. FRANCES HARRIMAN.

ORLAND, Me., April 21, 1876.

There is no medical or protective appliance that will prove so grateful and effective in Inducing Comfort, Irritation and Soreness of the Chest and Lungs. The Collins' Plaster is the most capable of preventing serious diseases of these organs.

PRICE, 25 CENTS.

Do not confound these Plasters with the ordinary Plasters of the day, that by comparison are absolutely worthless.

Be careful to obtain COLLINS' VOLTAIC PLASTER, a combination of Electric or Voltaic Plates with a light Medicated Plaster, as seen in the above cut. Sold by all Wholesale and Retail Druggists throughout the United States, Canada, and by WEEKS & POTTER, Proprietors, Boston, Mass.

Daily Chronicle.

A National Safeguard.

The new issue with which the democratic party signalizes its return to power, and which its leaders threaten to force, even to the point of stopping the supplies of the government, a step nothing less than revolutionary, ought to be thoroughly understood by every citizen. The laws it is proposed to repeal may be found in sections 2011-2031 of the Revised Statutes. They provide, in the first place, that whenever, in a city of 20,000 inhabitants or more, two citizens, of any county, parish or congressional district, ten citizens of good standing, shall, prior to any registration of voters for an election of congressmen, or any election in which a representative to Congress is to be voted for, make known in writing to the judge of the United States circuit court for that circuit their desire to have the registration or election, or both, "guarded or scrutinized," the judge shall open his court within ten days of the registration or election, and shall proceed to appoint and commission from day to day, and from time to time, and under the hand of the judge, and under the seal of the court for each election district or voting precinct in such city or town or congressional district as may have made application in the manner prescribed, "two citizens, residents of the city or town, or of the election district or voting precinct in the county or parish, who shall be of different political parties, and able to read and write the English language, and who shall be known and designated as supervisors of election," and the judge may revoke, change or renew such appointment from time to time.

These two supervisors, representing different political parties, are authorized and required to attend at all times and places fixed for the registration of voters who, when registered, are entitled to vote for congressmen, and at all times and places for holding the election and for counting the votes cast. They may challenge any person offering to register, or mark any name registered to be challenged. They may at any time scrutinize the registry lists, and may mark them "in such manner as will in their judgment detect and expose the improper or wrongful removal therefrom, or addition thereto, of any name." They may challenge any vote offered by any person whose legal qualifications they or either of them may doubt. They must remain at the polls until every vote is cast and counted, the canvass completed and the proper certificates or returns made, and they may personally inspect and scrutinize at any time while the election is in progress the way in which the voting is done, and the way and method in which the poll-books, registry lists, tallies and check-books are kept, and each of them is required to scrutinize, count and canvass every vote cast, and shall make returns to the officer designated as the chief supervisor, attaching to their returns any certificates required by law and any statement as to the conduct and fairness of the election or canvass which the supervisors, or either of them, may desire to add, and which may properly and honestly be attached, in order that the facts may become known, "to the end that each candidate for the office of representative or delegate in Congress may obtain the benefit of every vote for him cast."

There are provisions authorizing the supervisors to occupy such position in the place where the registration, voting or canvassing is done, as shall enable them to perform their duties in the best manner, and forbidding the interference of election officers or others to prevent their performance of their duties in a proper manner. Other provisions require the United States marshal of the district, upon the application in writing of the citizens of any city having 20,000 inhabitants to appoint deputy marshals to aid and assist the supervisors in the verification of regis ry lists and voting lists, and to be present at places of registration and voting. The marshal and his deputies, regular and special, are enjoined to keep the peace, preserve order, prevent fraudulent registration or voting and fraudulent conduct on the part of officers of election. They may immediately arrest, with or without process, any person who, at the places of registration or election, violates the election laws or the laws of the United States. But no person can be arrested without process except for an offense committed in the presence of the marshals or the supervisors, and any person so arrested must be brought forthwith before a commissioner, judge or court of the United States for examination.

These are the essential features of the law the democrats have determined to repeal. The first thing to be observed is that no party can alone control the conduct of election. The two supervisors must be of different parties; they must be intelligent citizens, and they are appointed by a United States judge, who is, of all persons in the land, the least likely to do injustice in such a matter. The marshals can make no arrests without process of court, except for acts of violence or fraud committed in their presence, and the arrested party must be forthwith taken before a judicial officer of the United States. The whole business function of what is known as the supervisory law begins and ends with the most exalted and unpartisan and trustworthy authority in the land, the judiciary of the federal courts. And it is this law which, it is plain to be seen, is devised solely for the protection of the honest voter and the security of legal voting, and which interferes only with the operations of the dishonest and the corrupt, that the democratic party proposes to abrogate, or leave the government without means of continuing its functions. The scheme will fail.—Boston Advertiser.

Portsmouth Chronicle

SATURDAY, MARCH 22, 1879.

Sixty-Five Widows—One Hundred and Sixty-Seven Orphans.

The schooner Gwendolin, previously reported as missing, sailed from Gloucester for the Grand Banks on the 25th of January, and over eight weeks having passed without her being heard of, there is little hope entertained that she will ever return, though she was a good vessel, well provisioned and commanded by an efficient skipper. She registered 87.84 tons, was commanded by Zadock Hawkins, and carried a crew of fourteen men all told.

The Cape Ann Advertiser of Friday morning states that in but little over three months' time there has been a loss of nineteen Gloucester fishing vessels, valued at $80,000, and one hundred and eighty-six fishermen have gone down beneath the waves, the heaviest disasters in so short a time ever experienced by the Gloucester fleet. It is definitely known that sixty-five women have been widowed and one hundred and sixty-seven children made fatherless. "Donations amounting to $1385 have been received thus far to help the widowed and fatherless, made so by the February gales. The demands are most imperative, and it is hoped that the responses will continue to come, and thus gladden the stricken hearts."

Financial Panic.

There was something like a panic in financial circles in the great cities on Thursday, caused by the suspension of all the banks in New Orleans and the partial suspension of the clearing house. There are eighteen banks in New Orleans, and thirteen of them (having a total capital of $6,000,000) are members of the clearing house. The immediate cause of the trouble was the suspension, recently, of the Southern bank, and the Mechanics & Traders' bank, both of New Orleans. It is also stated that New Orleans bonds have greatly depreciated in value of late in consequence of the non-payment of interest and the demoralized condition of the city's finances generally since the democrats took charge of the city government.

A World-Wide Reputation.

Dr. R. V. Pierce, of Buffalo, N. Y., having acquired a reputation and a professional business far exceeding his individual ability to conduct, some years ago induced several medical gentlemen to associate themselves with him, as the faculty of the World's Dispensary, the consulting department of which has since been merged with the Invalids' Hotel. The organization has now been incorporated under statute enacted by the legislature of the State of New York, under the name and style of the "World's Dispensary Medical Association." We clip the following from the Buffalo Express:

A branch of the "World's Dispensary Association" is to be established in London, Eng., a step which the continually increasing European business of the dispensary has been found to warrant and next week Dr. B. T. Bedortha will sail for the great metropolis named, to superintend the organization of the new institution. This gentleman has been for some four years associated with Dr. Pierce in a position of responsibility, and is well qualified for the duty now entrusted to him. Heretofore the foreign business of the World's Dispensary has been transacted through the agency of prominent druggists, but it has assumed such proportions as to require more direct care. Dr. Bedortha will no doubt successfully carry out his mission, being a gentleman of excellent business abilities and most pleasing address.

News and Notes.

The French floating battery Arrogante foundered off Hyeres in a gale on the 19th inst., and forty-seven men were drowned.

There seems no longer any room to doubt that the victim of the Lyon trunk tragedy was Jennie P. Clark. All who knew her speak of her in the highest terms as a modest, lady-like, interesting young woman, who won the respect of all whom she met.

Mrs. Babbitt, the wife of a man employed in the iron works at Somerset, Mass., was criminally assaulted on Thursday afternoon by an unknown tramp while alone in her house. The ruffian escaped.

Rowell and Ennis have signed articles and arranged all the preliminaries for an "international" pedestrian contest in London, June 16th.

William Royle, silk importer of New York, has been swindled out of over $100,000 by a confidential agent named Falk, who is under arrest.

The Portland rolling mills are now running day and night, with orders for three months ahead. One hundred and fifty men are employed.

Arthur Constantinople of Lowell, aged eighteen years, was arrested Thursday night for threatening his wife with a revolver. She is sixteen years old.

The boiler of a steam saw-mill in Tyringham, Mass., exploded Thursday, shattering the building. Robert DeForest had both his legs broken, A. Dowen broke a leg, and James Taylor and Horace Langdon were badly scalded, the latter probably fatally.

The brig Kate Upham has arrived at Matanzas, fifty-four days from St. John, N. B. Two of the crew were frozen to death on the passage, and a third had his feet so badly frozen that amputation was necessary.

Dispatches from Liverpool to Canadian newspapers represent that many cases of pleuro-pneumonia have been discovered among cattle recently imported from the United States and slaughtered at the port of debarkation. The dispatches say these cattle were purchased in the Chicago market. If this report is true, it indicates that the disease is more widely disseminated at the west than was believed.

Monticello, the residence of Thomas Jefferson, near Charlottesville, Va., has been sold in partition between the heirs of the late Commodore Uriah P. Levy, to Jefferson W. Levy, the principal heir, for $10,050.

Oscar Sowell, a prominent shipbuilder of Bath, Me., while suffering from a sudden attack of vertigo, fell over the balustrade at the Windsor hotel in New York, Thursday, twenty feet to the floor below. In his descent he struck a large chandelier, shattering it to pieces. His injuries are serious, perhaps fatal.

New Zealand, like Australia, groans under the rabbit pest. A Mr. Cowan killed 26,000 on 29,000 acres in four months. The cost of destroying them was three pence each, or over $1600, and the skins only fetched half that sum. A member of the legislature said that they had rendered whole districts worthless. It is estimated that a couple of rabbits will in four year years increase to the enormous total of 250,000.

Political.

In the democratic make-up of the Senate committees New England gets one important chairmanship, while the old slave States get twenty-seven of forty chairmanships. The reason why the south gets a majority of the chairmanships is that the States of that section furnish thirty of the forty-three democratic senators.

A conflict between the National authorities and those of the State of Tennessee is imminent, on account of the affairs growing out of the repeal of the character of Memphis. The governor has ordered the late municipal authorities to turn over the property of the city to the receiver appointed by the United States court.

How Oysters are Freshened and Fattened at Baltimore.

A new system of treating oysters is now practiced at Baltimore, by which their value is very much increased. The oysters obtained from Tangier sound, Lynnhaven, and the kind called "seaside oysters" are rather small, although enclosed in large shells. These oysters when dredged and brought to the Baltimore market, are sold there at about sixty cents a bushel, but when freshened their value is enhanced at least 150 per cent. The manner of proceeding is somewhat different from the common practice of "floating" oysters at the east. The oysters are transferred from the pungies on to the decks of covered scows that will each carry a deck load of about 600 bushels of oysters. The scows are then towed to a point in the Patapsco river where the water is quite shallow, and then sunk by letting water through a valve into the hold. The scows are left in this position during two flood tides, when the water is pumped out and they are then towed to the city again. The change from the salt to the fresh water swells the oysters until what were originally comparatively insignificant oysters, worth sixty cents a bushel, become plump and luscious, fill entirely their immense shells, and command in the market from $1.50 to $1.60 a bushel. Two of the largest packing houses in Baltimore are engaged in this business, keeping twelve scows constantly employed. The whole operation is under the supervision of one man, who undertakes the freshening for a consideration of ten cents a bushel, the packing houses referred to finding all the appliances.

—It is feared that March will go out like an entire menagerie.

—"If you please," said a Baltimore young woman, politely, as she laid her gloved hand on a pickpocket's shoulder, "I'll take the purse that you just stole out of my pocket." He gave up the booty.

—A lady in Delaware put a quart of dried apples to soak, without thinking of their swelling qualities, and for an hour and a half it was thought that the whole State would be submerged.—Rhode Island Paper.

—"Now, John do you always, when you are down town engaged in the hurry and worry of business,—do you always think of your darling at home?" said the affectionate young wife as she reached up on tiptoe for the parting morning kiss. "Yes, my dear, always." "What, always?" "Well—b-a-r-d-l-y always." This is printed just to show that there can be a variation from that standard "Pinafore" refrain.—New Haven Register.

—A dress-maker had a great deal of trouble with her sewing-girls. The other day one of them came to her to say, "Madame, I fear that I will not be able to work much longer. I think I am getting blind." "Why, how is that? You seem to get along pretty well with your work." "Yes; but I can no longer see any meat on my plate at dinner." Madame understood, and the next day the young ladies were served with very large but very thin pieces of meat. "What happiness," exclaimed our Miss; "my sight has come back. I can now see better than ever." "How is that, mademoiselle?" "Why, at this moment I can see the plate through my meat."

—"May the Lord preserve your eyesight," said a beggar-woman to a man with a small nose, who had just given her a gratuity. "Why?" he asked. "Because," said she, "you've no nose to hold your spectacles."

—After a Norwich clergyman had patiently listened for a half an hour to the honeyed pleadings of a book agent, a morning or two ago, a man rang the door bell and was politely shown into the parlor. The clergyman finally escaped from his importunate besieger, and with a sigh of relief passed into the parlor. "Perhaps," said the strange man rising, "I have taken you away from an important engagement." "No," replied the clergyman, "I was not sorry to be released; I was engaged with a book agent, and in fact was glad to get away." "I beg your pardon," said the gentleman, with the accent of sorrow and humiliation in his voice, "I am a book agent myself, and perhaps I might be able to sell you the life of ——." He didn't sell the book, however.

—Madame Blavatsky, the theosophist, has made a considerable impression among the spiritualists of London. Mr. Conway writes: "There are excellent people in London who have declared to me that in their own house they have seen her take from the air or the floor whatever one called for, make lilies blossom from the cigarettes of which she is so fond, cause things to move of their own accord, even distant people whom she desires to see. It is a curious coincidence that many of the marvels attributed to Madame Blavatsky resemble those of Apollonius of Tyana, witnessed when he journeyed to learn the wisdom of the Brahmans. Madame Blavatsky, following in his footsteps over eighteen centuries later, bears the same testimony to their powers over nature, which lie in a certain exercise of the will. She has learned from them also the power of making herself large or thin, as well as of changing her complexion. One told me she saw her suddenly become a Hindoo."

CAPITAL $2,000,000. 200,000 SHARES.

PAR VALUE, $10 PER SHARE.

UNASSESSABLE.

Daniel J. Splane. Pres. J. L. Thompson, Sec.

The property of this Company consists of twelve mines and mining locations, located in Lake County, Colorado, in the vicinity of Leadville, upon all of which extensive work has been done, in all cases exhibiting true fissure veins, good pay streak, and well defined lodes.

Three of the leading mines are well opened up and have at the lowest computation over TEN THOUSAND TONS OF ORE IN SIGHT; by May 1st, the Railroad now under construction will be within a short distance of this property.

The Company proposes to sell a portion of its stock at $1.50 per share for the purpose of more completely developing its mines, and for the erection of works for the treatment of its ores.

Applications for the stock may be made to the office of the Company, 61 Broadway, New York.

N. B.—The Mining Record, of New York, the highest mining authority in this country, says Feb. 1st, 1879: The principal owners in this company are hard working men who by their own labor have uncovered large bodies of ore which they now finish to extract and send to market; our readers will do well to make a venture with these worthy men, this money will probably be returned to them twenty fold. The business management has been placed in the care of Mr. J. L. Thompson, an officer of high standing in one of the largest banks in the city. ROYAL BAKING POWDER

Absolutely Pure.

The Royal Baking Powder is a pure Cream of Tartar powder, made from pure Grape Cream Tartar, imported exclusively for this powder direct from the wine district of France. An old experienced housekeeper writes that, although she has to pay a few pennies more for the "Royal," finds that it goes so much further and works much better than saleratus, soda, or cream of tartar.

☞ Some of the Cream of Tartar of commerce is adulterated with Alum, Terra Alba, etc. Doctors pronounce Alum most dangerous to health; it costs but 5c. a ℔., Or am of Tartar over 40. The Royal Baking Powder is recommended for its wholesomeness by such eminent chemists as Dr. Mott, New York; Dr. S. Dana Hayes, Boston. Sold only in cans. All Grocers.

THE CITY.

See notice of real estate at auction today.

Friends of the late Major Fendell say they have no suspicion his death was other than accidental.

Col. George Bowers of Nashua, commander of the New Hampshire department of the G. A. R., has appointed Major Daniel J. Vaughan of this city as one of his aides-de-camp.

On Friday forenoon the packing around the steam valve of the engine at the Kearsarge mills blew out, causing a suspension of work for the afternoon to replace it. No damage was done.

Several changes have been made in the running time of the Kittery and Portsmouth ferry steamer James Sampson, consequent on the change of working hours at the navy yard. Persons interested will find the steamer's changes noted in the advertisement.

A fellow who has been "working" several towns in this vicinity, representing that he is collecting money for a charitable purpose in connection with the Catholic church, is pronounced a fraud, and persons whom he may call upon will do well to act on this information. He favored Exeter with his presence this week and will probably come to this city—most all such swindlers do.

The New York dramatic company of J. C. Myers, with Mr. George A. Hill, will play the "Serpent's sting" at Music hall on Thursday evening, the 27th inst. The company performed this play at Exeter a few evenings ago, to a rather small audience, and the News-Letter in its report said: "The company is an exceptionally good one, and deserved better patronage." It must be a good company to play to a small house so as to merit such commendation.

Of Miss Mary Anderson's acting the Philadelphia Item says: "The scenes between Ingomar and Parthenia overflow with a simplicity and natural feeling that at once charm, and the love that softens the rough hero and finds an echo in the heart of the Greek maiden is developed in a manner that at once touches the sympathies of the audience and retains them. Her performance was thoroughly charming. The gradual development of her feelings for Ingomar was artistically portrayed. In the effective scene in act third, where Parthenia at first refuses the love of the barbarian, Miss Anderson was more than usually impressive. Her touches of comedy in other portions were admirable; she was natural, and consequently carried the audience with her." Tickets for the performance Monday evening can be had at Dr. Preston's.

THE ANTIQUARIAN SUPPER.

The entertainment given by the Universalist ladies in their vestry on Friday evening was a pronounced success in every particular.

The antique supper (at which there was a fine display of ancient table utensils, including a fine old silver tea service, rare china, and curious-patterned and colored crockery,) was gotten up in the generous style of ye olden time, which the wonderful costumes of the old fashioned but pretty waiter girls reminded us of. The tables were thronged with guests, and had to be re-set several times.

The comedy which followed the supper hour was well selected and admirably performed. Each player acted so well that comparisons are out of the question, and applause was liberally and impartially bestowed.

The play was followed by an auction sale of parcels of varies sizes and contents, contributed by the gentlemen of the society. The sale was spirited, and resulted in a substantial benefit.

The "Peak family bell ringers" closed the programme by an exhibition of their striking musical ability and humorous performances which convulsed, the audience with uncontrollable laughter. The speech of the lady manager of the troupe was full of wit, and abounded in happy local allusions which brought down the house at almost every period.

The vestry company contains several amateur actors of superior ability, and deserved the demonstrations of appreciation which the fine acting elicited Friday evening.

POLICE COURT.

FRIDAY, March 21; Batchelder, J.

Michael Canty, for an assault on a boy named Shannon, was fined $1, costs $9.18.

Shannon was then charged with stealing ten pieces of sugar-coated wax candy from Mr. Canty's store, adjudged guilty, and sentenced to pay a fine of ten cents, and $8.04 costs. He appealed, and recognized in $50 for his appearance.

James McGlinchy was complained of for selling liquor; complaint nol. pros'd.

SUPREME COURT, ADJOURNED LAW TERM.

FRIDAY, Mch. 21; Rockingham docket.

Decisions were announced in the following cases:

Nellie M. Sawyer vs. Concord railroad. On motion for rehearing; motion denied. C. R. Morrison for plff.; Sargent & Chase, and Frink, for deft.

Sleeper vs. Worcester & Nashua railroad. Opinion by Clark, J. Exceptions sustained; nonsuit set aside. Hatch for plff.; Stevens for railroad.

Kimball vs. Cotton. Opinion by Allen, J. Exceptions sustained. Wiggin for plff.

Rowell vs. Boston & Maine railroad. Judgment on the verdict for plff. Marston and Frink for plff.; Hatch for deft.

Craig vs. Gerrish. Opinion by Stanley, J. Exceptions overruled; judgment on verdict for the plaintiff; party can elect to recover actual damages, or the double penalty. Question of excessive damages is for the court below, and will not be considered by this court. Page and Frink for plff.; Rollins and Hatch for deft.

Brown vs. Stanley and Bartlett, trustees under will of Sylvanus Brown. Judgment for plff. Stickney for plff.; Bartlett for defts.

First National Bank, Portsmouth, vs. Rider and Newell. Opinion by Stanley, J. Exceptions overruled; judgment on verdict.

Howe, appellant, vs. Day, administrator. Judgment on verdict for the appellant. Barnard for plff.; Bartlett for admr.

THE MISSION-HALL BENEFIT.

The following is a detailed exhibit of the expenditures and receipts of the lecture by Rev. Arthur A. Waite at Music hall on Sunday afternoon, March 16th, the object being to raise money to fit up a Mission hall over the store of C. E. Myers & Co.:

EXPENDITURES.

Music Hall	$15.00
Printing	4.50
Ushers	4.00
Trucking	.70
Total expenses	$24.25

RECEIPTS.

Tickets sold D. H. Montgomery	$31.20
" " W. G. Myers	32.30
" " David Kimball	33.90
" " James Janvrin	25.00
Donation from Augustus Stevenson of the steamer James Sampson	10.70
Total receipts	$133.40
Deducting expenses	24.25
Balance	$109.15

The committee desire to return their thanks to Mr. Stevenson for his generous gift, and to the press for their frequent notices of the revival work.

Signed, J. D. Swain, chairman; David H. Montgomery, John S. Rand, William P. Israel, Frank G. Thurston, directors; William A. Loyne, superintendent; Amos S. Foster, corresponding secretary; Jas. Janvrin, treasurer.

The purpose of the Mission hall is to have a place in which to hold Sunday services for sailors, and children's meetings; also, occasionally, the Reform club will gather there. The hall will be dedicated about the middle of April.

THE VICINITY.

Hon. Amos Tuck has transferred his citizenship from Exeter to the city of New York.

Several excursion parties of clam-eating ladies and gentlemen from Saco and Biddeford to Goose rocks have already been made this season.

An addition of sixty feet frontage and forty feet depth has been put on the Seashore house at Old Orchard beach, and the old house has been raised another story.

The stockholders of the National Granite State bank, of Exeter, on the 17th inst., unanimously elected Mr. Benjamin L. Merrill president, to succeed his brother, the late J. L. Merrill.

The demo-greenback combination that carried Biddeford at the late election has made a clean sweep of the offices—sweeping nearly all of them into the possession of democrats. Charles B. Harmon is the new chief of police.

A tramp from Dover recently applied for lodgings at Exeter in the evening, but is not likely to apply again, as the officer who locked him up forgot all about him until noon next day, so he was kept a close prisoner all that time. He went right away out of town as soon as he was liberated.

Rev. B. F. McDaniel, pastor of the Unitarian church in Exeter, proposes to be absent from his congregation for about six months, leaving Exeter about the 1st of April for a trip to Liverpool, and thence probably up the Straits or to Madeira, for the benefit of his health. He preaches his farewell sermon next Sunday.

While Mr. John Ervin was fishing in the river at South Newmarket recently he broke through the ice, but held himself up by his elbows until a Mr. Langlands came to help him out. The latter also found the ice too thin to hold him up, and then a young man named Broderick came with a ladder; he too broke through, but after a while all three managed to get out.

Hampton at its late town meeting voted to have the bell rung for five minutes at noon, each day in the year, and to pay Mr. John Brown thirty dollars for ringing it. Gen. Marston's tramp law having ruined the patronage of the "tramp hotel," it was voted to sell the building and close up the business, which was at once done.—Mr. Otis H. Whittier purchasing the building for five dollars, and promptly removing it.

The citizens of Epping gave a brilliant ball on Wednesday evening, the 19th inst., at Pawtuckaway hall, complimentary to Governor B. F. Prescott and Governor-elect Natt Head. The hall was beautifully decorated with the national colors, and mottoes and pictures, and over the platform were the words "Our honored guests," with portraits on either side of the distinguished gentlemen for whom the levee was given. Music was furnished by the Germania band of Boston. Mr. R. Hamilton Perkins and Major D. J. Vaughan were present from this city.

The Journal has the following concerning the recently elected town officials of Newington: "Mr. J. W. Coleman and his cousin, (who is also surveyor of highways,) constitute a majority of the board of education; Mr. Coleman's brother was moderator of the town meeting; his cousin was elected town treasurer; another cousin is janitor of the town hall; and still another is superintendent of burying grounds. Mrs. Coleman's uncle and his nephew, who is also a cousin of Mrs. Coleman, are a majority of the board of selectmen; another of her cousins is town clerk; another of his cousins is chairman of the board of supervisors of the check lists. The family is feeling badly because the other brother, who stood thirty-nine ballots before withdrawing, was not elected selectman, and his cousin as auditor of accounts. All the above are democrats, with but one exception, and he a greenbacker."

Rev. E. Owen will preach in the Middle street church to-morrow forenoon, and Rev. C. B. Pitblado in the afternoon.

Rev. James DeNormandie repeats his sermon, "Christ or Confucius," to-morrow evening.

Rev. Mr. Owen will preach to "beginners in the Christian life" at the Freewill Baptist church to-morrow afternoon, at the usual hour.

The reform club will hold a meeting in Mechanics' hall, Sunday evening, commencing at 7:30 o'clock; one of the members will speak upon the power of the human will. Previous to the lecture-talk a praise meeting will be held, conducted by Dr. E. B. Goodall. It is hoped there will be a good attendance. Admission five cents, to defray expenses of hall.

A Disease that Wrecks the System.

Every function is deranged, every nerve unstrung, every muscle and fiber weakened by fever and ague. It is, in fact, a disease which if unchecked, eventually wrecks the system. In all its types, in every phase, is is dangerous, destructive. Stupor, delirium, convulsions, often attend it, and cause swift dissolution. But when combatted with Hostetter's Stomach Bitters its foothold in the system is dislodged, and every vestige of it eradicated. That benign anti-febrile specific and preventive of the dreaded scourge is recognized not only within our own boundaries, but in tropic lands far beyond them, where intermittents and remittents are fearfully prevalent, to be a sure antidote to the malarial poison and a reliable means of overcoming disorders of the stomach, liver and bowels, of which a vitiated torrid atmosphere and brackish miasma-tainted water are extremely provocative. All emigrants and travelers should be supplied with it.

WHEAT MEAL!

— OR —

Graham Flour.

When Wheat is ground it becomes Wheat Meal; when it is bolted it becomes Wheat Flour. Dr. Graham, who lectured through the country forty years ago on dietetics formed the fraternity known as "Grahamites." He said that bolted Flour should not be eaten, but that bread ought to be made of Wheat Meal instead; from him is got the name of Graham Flour. All Graham Flour therefore ought to be Wheat Meal, but about three-quarters of it is what we call made up Graham, that is, artificially mixed Cheap Flour and Bran, and is in every way inferior to the genuine article. Hardly a person who uses the genuine Wheat Meal would take the bogus article except on compulsion.

A New Destructive Insect.

As Madame Science is advancing in years she is of course growing older and wiser. She discovers new things every day which must have existed a thousand years ago, but which she did not see when she was a baby. Take for example the insects. Here we have some which our grand-sires never heard of, the potato beetle (Dorryhora potativora) and the carpet beetle (Capetophagus infernalist) even the grapevine destroyer (Phylloxera) is but of recent acquaintance. But by the aid of mother Science we just have had the privilege of discovering a destroyer which being evidently a near relative of the wood and rock piercing "big bug," the Teredo navalis, we propose to call Teredo niralis, (nov. Spec.) We found it in our ice houses, where the ice-blocks are perforated by millions of them (to the inch) so that they crumble to crumbs. But not enough. The insect seems to be infested with some parasitic fungus which even after the Teredo was destroyed by mechanical means, remained in the ice, and caused it to mould. Our ice men are of course greatly alarmed, the more so as no salicilic, carbolic or any other acid has any effect on the fungus. One of them has, we understand, ordered a few tons of thymol which we recommended him as the latest and best disinfectant. We will send a piece of the infected ice for microscopical investigation to any one interested in the matter.—Newburyport Amateur Guide.

Established 1756.
The Gazette is published every Thursday, and sent to Subscribers at the low price of $1.50 per year, paid in advance, or $2 at the end of the year.
It contains full accounts of all of importance that transpires in Portsmouth and its vicinity, and a condensed summary of NEWS, foreign and domestic; editorials upon current topics; New Hampshire items; carefully prepared marine news, containing reports of vessels owned at this port, or officered by men from Portsmouth or its neighborhood; and is just the paper for residents desiring to be posted on all that takes place at home, while to those living in the vicinity of Portsmouth, or to former residents who retain their interest in the "old home by the sea," it is the best means of keeping informed of what transpires in this city.
— THE —
NEW HAMPSHIRE GAZETTE
Contains more original matter
Than any other paper of its size in the State, the editors working more with their pens than with their scissors.

TO ADVERTISERS
THE N. H. GAZETTE
Presents an excellent opportunity for a WEEKLY INVITATION TO CUSTOMERS, at a reasonable rate, and all those who desire to reach patrons in Rockingham and York counties will find it an economical medium. THE GAZETTE is in many instances the only paper taken by families, and it is read to a large extent in localities whence is derived much of the trade of Portsmouth, a fact which our merchants should not fail to bear in mind.

INCORPORATED JANUARY, 1873. WORLD'S DISPENSARY MEDICAL ASSOCIATION. BUFFALO AND LONDON. CAPITAL STOCK, $250,000.

(Successors to R. V. PIERCE, M. D.)
DR. R. V. PIERCE, having acquired a world-wide reputation in the treatment of Chronic Diseases, resulting in a professional business far exceeding his individual ability to conduct, some years ago induced several medical gentlemen to associate themselves with him, and formed the Faculty of the World's Dispensary, the Consulting Department of which has since been merged with the WORLD'S DISPENSARY HOTEL. The organization has been completed and incorporated under the name and style of World's Dispensary Medical Association, with the following officers:
Hon. R. V. PIERCE, Pres. F. D. PIERCE, V. Pres.
JNO. E. PIERCE, Sec. LESTER B. PIERCE, Treas.
NINE PHYSICIANS AND SURGEONS of eminence and skill have been chosen as the Faculty.
CHRONIC DISEASES of all forms come within the province of our several specialties.
LUNG DISEASES.—This division of practice is very ably managed by a gentleman of mature judgment and skill. Bronchial, Throat, and Lung Diseases treated with the most successful results.
DISEASES OF WOMEN.—Specially are our facilities of a superior order for the cure of all those chronic diseases peculiar to females.
NERVOUS DISEASES.—Epilepsy, Spasms, Nervous Debility, Epilepsy (Fits), Chorea (St. Vitus's Dance), Neuralgia, and other nervous diseases receive the attention of an expert in this specialty.
NOT NECESSARY TO SEE PATIENTS.—By our original system of diagnosis, we can treat many chronic diseases successfully and cure many as well as personal consultation. For particulars see "People's Common Sense Medical Advisor" (1,000 pages, sent post-paid for $1.50) or "Invalids' Guide to Health" (100 pages, 10 cents, 3 cents post-paid).
SURGICAL CASES.—Among the operations which we are called upon most frequently to perform, are those for Nasal Polypus, Hernia, Tumors, Fistula in Ano, Piles, Hernia (Rupture), Hydrocele (dropsy of the scrotum), Varicocele, Ovarian and Uterine Tumors, Calculi (Stone in the Bladder), Stricture, etc., etc. Women treated successfully by a new method without surgical operation, Cancers, Club-foot, Spinal Curvature, and other deformities. (See pamphlet entitled, "Motion as a Cure Agent," sent on receipt of 10 cents).
Address, World's Dispensary Medical Association, BUFFALO, N. Y.

WOMAN
By an immense practice at the World's Dispensary and Invalids' Hotel, having treated many thousand cases of those diseases peculiar to woman, I have been enabled to perfect a most potent and positive remedy for those diseases.
To designate this natural specific, I have named it
Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription
The term, however, is but a feeble expression of my high appreciation of its value, based upon personal observation. I have, while witnessing its positive results in the special diseases indicated to the organism of woman, singled it out as the climax or crowning gem of my medical career. On its merits as a positive, safe, and effectual remedy for this class of diseases, and one that will, at all times and under all circumstances, act kindly, I am willing to stake my reputation as a physician; and so confident am I that it will not disappoint the most sanguine expectations of a single invalid lady who uses it for any of the ailments for which I recommend it, that I offer and sell it under A POSITIVE GUARANTEE. (For conditions, see pamphlet wrapping bottle.)
The following are among those diseases in which my Favorite Prescription has worked cures, as if by magic, and with a certainty never before attained by any medicine: Leucorrhœa, Excessive or Flowing, Painful Monthly Periods, Suppressions when from unnatural causes, Irregularities, Weak Back, Prolapsus or Falling of the Uterus, Anteversion and Retroversion, Bearing-down Sensations, Internal Heat, Nervous Depression, Debility, Despondency, Threatened Miscarriage, Chronic Congestion, Inflammation and Ulceration of the Uterus, Pregnancy, Barrenness, or Sterility, and Female Weakness. I do not recommend this medicine as a "cure-all," but it admirably fulfills a singleness of purpose, being a most perfect specific in all chronic diseases of the sexual system of woman. It will not disappoint, nor will it do harm, in any state or condition.
Those who desire further information on these subjects can obtain it in THE PEOPLE'S COMMON SENSE MEDICAL ADVISOR, a book of nearly 900 pages, sent, post-paid, on receipt of $1.50. It treats intimately of those diseases peculiar to females, and gives much valuable advice in regard to the management of those affections.
Favorite Prescription sold by Druggists.

ONE DOLLAR A YEAR.

The circulation of this popular newspaper has more than trebled during the past year. It contains all the leading news contained in the Daily Herald, and is arranged in handy departments. The

Foreign News

embraces special dispatches from all quarters of the globe. Under the head of American News

are given the Telegraphic Despatches of the week from all parts of the Union. This feature alone makes the most valuable chronicle in the world, as it is the cheapest. Every week is given a faithful report of embracing complete and comprehensive despatches from Washington, including full reports of the speeches of eminent politicians on the questions of the hour.

The Weekly Herald

Political News

The Farm Department

of the Weekly Herald gives the latest as well as the most practical suggestions and discoveries relating to the duties of the farmer, having ample room for Cattle, Poultry, Grains, Trees, Vegetables, &c., &c., with suggestions for keeping buildings and farming utensils in repair. This is supplemented by a well-edited department, widely copied, under the head of

INCORPORATED JANUARY, 1857. WORLD'S DISPENSARY MEDICAL ASSOCIATION BUFFALO AND LONDON. CAPITAL STOCK, $1,000,000.

(Successors to R. V. PIERCE, M. D.)

DR. R. V. PIERCE, having acquired a world-wide reputation in the treatment of Chronic Diseases, resulting in a professional business far exceeding his individual ability to conduct, some years ago associated several medical gentlemen to associate themselves with him, as the Faculty of the World's Dispensary, the Consulting Department of which has since been merged with the INVALIDS' HOTEL. The organization has been completed and incorporated under the name and style of World's Dispensary Medical Association, with the following officers: Hon. R. V. PIERCE, Pres. F. D. PIERCE, V. Pres. JNO. E. PIERCE, Sec. LESTER B. SMITH, Treas.

NINE PHYSICIANS AND SURGEONS of eminence and skill on the Faculty.

CHRONIC DISEASES of all forms cure within the province of our special capabilities.

LUNG DISEASES.—This division of practice is very ably managed by a gentleman of mature judgment and skill. Bronchial, Throat, and Lung Diseases treated with the most successful results.

DISEASES OF WOMEN.—Especially are our facilities of a superior order for the cure of all those chronic diseases peculiar to females.

NERVOUS DISEASES.—Paralysis, Nervous Debility, Epilepsy (Fits), Convulsions, Vitus's Dance, Neuralgia, and other nervous affections, receive the attention of an expert in this specialty.

NOT NECESSARY TO SEE PATIENTS.—By our original system of diagnosis, we can treat many chronic diseases as successfully without as with a personal consultation. For particulars see "People's Common Sense Medical Adviser" (1,000 pages, sent post-paid for $1 or in paper covers, $1.50) "Invalids' and Tourists' Guide Book" (100 pages, 10 cents post-paid).

SURGICAL CASES.—Among the operations which we are called upon most frequently to perform, are those for Nasal Polypus, Harelip, Tumors, Fistula in Ano, Piles, Hernia (Rupture), Hydrocele (Dropsy of the Scrotum), Varicocele, Ovarian and Uterine Tumors, Cataract, Strabismus (Squint), Stricture, etc., etc. We also treat successfully, by a new method, without cutting or confinement, Tumors, Cancers, Spinal Curvature, and other deformities. (See pamphlet entitled, "Medicus as a Curative Agent," sent on receipt of 10 cents.)

WOMAN

By an immense practice at the World's Dispensary and Invalids' Hotel, having treated many thousand cases of those diseases peculiar to woman, I have been enabled to perfect a most potent and positive remedy for these diseases.

To designate this special specific, I have named it

Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription

The term, however, is but a feeble expression of my high appreciation of its value, based upon personal observation. I have, while witnessing its positive results in the special diseases incident to the organism of woman, flagged it out as the climax or crowning gem of my medical career. On its merits, as a positive, safe, and efficient remedy for the class of diseases, and one that will, at all times and under all circumstances, act kindly, I am willing to stake my reputation as a physician; and so confident am I that it will not disappoint the most sanguine expectations of a single invalid lady who uses it for any of the ailments for which I recommend it, that I endorse and sell it under A POSITIVE GUARANTEE. (For conditions, see pamphlet wrapping bottle.)

The following are among those diseases in which my Favorite Prescription has worked cures, as if by magic, and with a certainty never before attained by any medicine: Leucorrhœa, Excessive Flowing, Painful Monthly Periods, Suppressions when from unnatural causes, Irregularities, Weak Back, Prolapsus, or Falling of the Womb, Anteversion and Retroversion, Bearing-down Sensations, Internal Heat, Nervous Depression, Debility, Despondency, Threatened Miscarriage, Chronic Congestion, Inflammation and Ulceration of the Uterus, Impotency, Barrenness, or Sterility, and Female Weakness. I do not extol this medicine as a "panacea," but it admirably fulfils a specific indication, and is the most perfect specific in all chronic diseases of the sexual system extant. It will not disappoint, nor will it do harm, in any state or condition.

Those who desire further information on these subjects can obtain it in THE PEOPLE'S COMMON SENSE MEDICAL ADVISER, a book of over 300 pages, sent, post-paid, on receipt of $1.50. It treats minutely of those diseases peculiar to Females, and gives much valuable advice in regard to the management of those affections.

Favorite Prescription sold by Druggists.

SWORN EVIDENCE.

The following Cure is probably the most remarkable ever effected by any medical preparation for the treatment of Catarrh:

Gentlemen.—I hereby certify that I have had Catarrh for ten years, and for the last six years have been a terrible sufferer. I was rendered partially deaf, had buzzing in the head, pains across the temple, dizzy spells, weak and painful eyes, swollen and ulcerated tonsils, hard and constant cough, severe pain across the chest, and every indication of consumption, as I said added all the time. The matter accumulated so rapidly in my head and throat that I could not keep them free. Frequently at night I would spring out of bed, it seemed to me, at the point of suffocation. I would then have recourse to every means in my power to dislodge the mucus from my throat and head before being able to sleep again. For a period of six years my tonsils were ulcerated and so much inflamed that I could hardly swallow. I finally consulted an eminent surgeon in regard to an operation on them, but as his surgeon postponed it. The constant inflammation and ulceration in my throat caused by the poisonous matter dropping down from my head had so irritated and inflamed my lungs that I coughed incessantly,—a deep hard cough. Meanwhile my system began to show the effects of this disease, so that I lost flesh, grew pale, and showed every symptom of an early death by consumption. When matters had reached this state, or about six months ago, I began the use of SANFORD'S RADICAL CURE FOR CATARRH. After using the first bottle I began to improve rapidly. The first dose seemed to clear my head as I had not known it to be for years. It seemed gradually to arrest the discharges. It stopped my cough in three days. By using it as a gargle I soon reduced the inflammation and swelling of my tonsils so that they soon ceased to trouble me. The soreness across my chest disappeared, the buzzing noises in my head ceased, my senses of seeing and of hearing were completely restored, and every symptom of disease that had reduced me to the verge of the grave disappeared by the use of SANFORD'S RADICAL CURE FOR CATARRH.

I have been thus explicit because, as a druggist, I have seen a great deal of suffering from Catarrh, and hope to convince many that this is a great remedy.

I am familiar with the treatment of Catarrh as practiced by the best physicians, and have consulted the most eminent about my case. I have used every kind of remedy and apparatus that have appeared during a period of six years past, and have, while following the rules, taken great care of my general health, but obtained no relief or encouragement from any of them. * * *

VOLTAIC PLASTER

Affords the most grateful relief in all Affections of the Chest and Lungs.

CHRONIC PLEURISY CURED

Messrs. WEEKS & POTTER: Gentlemen,—Having for many months been afflicted with Chronic Pleurisy, called by my physician Chronic Pleurisy, caused by a former injury, I strain, and for which I have used many preparations and liniments, as well as the so-called rheumatic remedies, with the least benefit, my physician recommended one of your COLLINS' VOLTAIC PLASTERS which, to my great surprise, relieved the pain and soreness almost immediately, and I have been able to attend to my household affairs ever since with perfect ease and comfort, whereas, before the application of your invaluable Plaster, I was scarcely able to do anything. I consider them invaluable, and shall recommend them to the afflicted. Yours respectfully, Mrs. FRANCES HARRIMAN.

ORLAND, Me., April 21, 1878.

There is no medical or protective appliance that will prove so grateful and effective in Inflicting Complaints and Weaknesses of the Chest and Lungs. I believe them capable of preventing serious diseases of these organs.

The Arithmetical Dog Kepler.

The well-known spectroscopist and astronomer, Dr. Huggins, had a four-footed friend dwelling with him for many years as a regular member of his household, who was a mastiff of very noble proportions and descent, and bore the great name of "Kepler." This dog possessed many rare gifts, which had secured for him the admiration and regard of a large number of scientific acquaintances, and amongst these was one which he was always ready to exercise for the entertainment of visitors. At the close of luncheon or dinner, Kepler used to march gravely and sedately into the room, and set himself down at his master's feet. Dr. Huggins then propounded him a series of arithmetical questions, which the dog invariably solved without a mistake. Square roots were extracted off-hand with the utmost readiness and promptness. If asked what was the square root of 9, Kepler replied by three barks; or if the question were the square root of 16, by four. Then various questions followed, in which much more complicated processes were involved—such for instance, as "and 7 to 8, divide the sum by 3, and multiply by 2." To such a question as that Kepler gave more consideration, and sometimes hesitated a little as to where his barks ought finally to stop. Still, in the end, his decision was always right. The reward for each correct answer was a piece of cake, which was held before him during the exercise; but until the solution was arrived at Kepler never moved his eye from his master's face. The instant the last bark was given he transferred his attention to the cake.

This notable case of canine sagacity, however, in no way militates against the remarks which have recently been made in reference to the idiomatic character of the quadrupedal mind. Dr. Huggins was perfectly unconscious of suggesting the proper answer to the dog; but it is beyond all question that he did so. The wonderful fact is that Kepler had acquired the habit of reading in his master's eye or countenance some indication that was not known to Dr. Huggins himself. The case was of one class which is distinguished by physiologists as that of expectant attention. Dr. Huggins was himself engaged in working out mentally the various stages of his arithmetical processes as he propounded the numbers to Kepler, and being, therefore, aware of what the answer should be, expected the dog to cease barking when that number was reached; and that expectation suggested to his own brain the unconscious signal which was caught by the quick eye of the dog. The instance is strictly analogous to the well-known case in which a button, suspended from a thread and held by a finger near to the rim of a glass, strikes the hour of the day as it swings, and then stops—that is, provided the person who holds the button himself knows the hour! The explanation of this occurrence, is the hand holding the button trembles in consequence of its constrained position, and in that way sets the button swinging, and as the attention of the experimenter is fixed upon the oscillation in the expectation that a definite number of strokes upon the glass will occur, his own brain convolutions take care that the movements of the finger shall be in accordance with that expectation.

Floor and Carpets.

There is a strong protest offered, in different ways and from various sources, against our long established practice of making poor floors, with the design of keeping them covered with carpets stretched and fitted to every part and carefully tacked down. Carpets in daily use can not be kept clean except by very frequent shaking and beating, and they do much toward corrupting the air by retaining impure gases, hiding the finest, most penetrating dust in their meshes and underneath them, and giving off particles of fine wool into the atmosphere, with other dust, as they are swept or walked upon. There is a demand for better floors, not necessarily inlaid in mosaics of different kinds of precious wood, but made double, of strong seasoned wood that will not shrink, or warp (spruce, however will seasoned, is almost sure to warp), and then carefully finished so as to be durable and easily cleaned. Carpeted floors seem a relief to the housekeeper, when once the carpets are procured and fitted to the rooms and tacked down, because they do not show the dirt as the bare floors do. But, oh! when they do get full of dust! And when housecleaning time comes and they must be taken up and shaked and whipped as they well deserve! With warmly-made floors and large warm rugs, couldn't we do without these anominations even in winter. Certainly rooms would be cooler and sweeter without them in summer. But in that case we must take more pains with our floors, and we must have something better than the common unpainted ones.—American Agriculturist.

A New Theory Regarding Mummies.

Having observed that Egyptian mummies could be divided into two classes, one embracing those bodies which had been embalmed intact, and the other including those bodies which had been eviscerated, Dr. Gauselback, a Swedish chemist of repute and professor in the University of Upsal, has formed the opinion that the mummies of the first class are not really dead, but are only in a condition of suspended animation; though, unfortunately for historians, the secret of bringing them again to life has been lost. In support of this theory he adduces the results of his own researches and experiments, one of which consists of submitting a snake to a process, the details of which are of course kept secret, which petrifies it. In this condition it has been laid aside for a year or two at a time, and is then restored to life by some equally mysterious vivifying process. This has now been going on about fifteen years, and the snake does not seem to dislike it. Dr. Gauselback is said to have applied to the Swedish government for leave to experiment on a condemned criminal, the understanding being that if the experiment is successful the criminal shall receive pardon, because of the service thus rendered to science, and, possibly, to humanity.—Journal of Chemistry.

Portsmouth Chronicle

MONDAY, MARCH 24, 1879.

Patriotism and Brains.

The Christian Union says that "if President Hayes were to appoint Senators Kernan or Bayard to the German mission it would hardly be less startling than the appointment of Lord Dufferin to represent the British government at the court of St. Petersburg." Were President Hayes to appoint either Kernan or Bayard to the place named it would argue the possession by him of brains and patriotism, and he has never been justly charged with either endowment.—Boston Post.

As to patriotism, Hayes had enough of it to cause him to fight gallantly and persistently for the preservation of the Union, at the time the present rulers of the democratic party were in arms to destroy it; but since he became President he has repeatedly seemed to place confidence in the solemn promises of democratic leaders, which certainly does indicate a weak spot in his brains.

Important Case.

The adjourned hearing on the appeal of the First national bank and other banks of Biddeford from the decision of Judge Hobbs of the court of insolvency of York county, disallowing proof against the individual estates of Titcomb & Thompson of Kennebunk, occupied the whole of Thursday in chambers before Judge Virgin. The testimony and arguments were concluded, and the case is held for advisement. An important principle is involved in this case,—the right of creditors to double proof of their debts, and also the question of election as to the estate from which dividends shall be received, and the time when such election must be made by the creditors. The amounts involved in this estate are considerable, the debts already proved exceeding $100,000, and the questions arising in its settlement bid fair to test the efficiency of the Maine insolvent law.

Chronicle Correspondence.

WASHINGTON, D. C., March 19th.

There is one cause for rejoicing already developed in the generally dreaded extra session, and that is the conservative spirit as displayed in the organization and outcroppings of sentiment in both Houses. For example, the democrats of the Senate in making up the committees have indicated that no revolutionary measures will be attempted in the way of financial and commercial legislation. Senator Bayard is placed at the head of the finance committee, and he is the representative conservative on that side of the chamber. In fact, he is opposed to general legislation of any kind at the extra session. Senator Davis, of West Virginia, is to be chairman of appropriations; Senator Eaton, of foreign relations; Senator Gordon, of commerce; Senator Thurman, of judiciary; Senator Saulsbury, of privileges and elections; Senator Randolph, of military affairs, etc., all good appointments, and tending to the belief that no legislation will be entered upon that will disturb the equanimity of the country, contrary to the predictions of some wiseacres. When I say this I mean of course to except the political legislation which failed in the appropriations last session, because the democrats are openly and clearly determined to repeal the election laws and others which are obnoxious to them. But so far as business relations are concerned I believe the indications point all in one way, toward a session of exceptional innocence.

In the House this sentiment is most plainly emphasized in the election of Mr. Randall for speaker. It is very well known that he is opposed to any financial or other general legislation now, and will use his influence against it. The emphatic squeezing out of the greenback party, after a season of boasting about the balance of power in their hands, adds weight to this view. In fact, some of the greenbackers themselves weakened under the apparently waning fortunes of that organization. The news of the municipal elections in Maine showing great losses in the hitherto greenback strongbold, has convinced shrewd men in that organization that it is useless to stick to that forlorn hope in Congress. Even the thirteen they mustered in the vote for speaker will divide between the two great parties, and finally be lost to view. Their threats of important legislation to suit their views will go for naught. Were it not for the anticipated controversy between the President and Congress we should be able to predict a very short session, probably.

It is worthy of note that the immigration to this country is on the increase very largely. The figures at the bureau of statistics show that 128,440 people landed in New York alone during February, as against 96,000 for the same month a year ago. Those who are posted say that the figures for the spring months will show a still greater increase. The hard times in England and the social discontent in Germany are having their effect upon the volume of inflow to this country.

News and Notes.

The safe of the Arlington mills in Lawrence, Mass., was robbed of nearly $5000 Thursday night. There is no clue to the robbers.

Matthew Creed found a burglar in his dry goods store in Jamestown, Ky., Thursday night, and shot him dead.

August Heard, paying teller of the Mechanics and Traders' bank at New Orleans, has committed suicide by shooting.

Peter Keough was arrested in East Greenwich, R. I., on Friday, for an atrocious outrage on a young woman. He went to the intelligence office in Providence on Monday, and hired the woman to work in his family, accompanied her on the evening train to Cowest station, thence led her by an unfrequented road to the woods, where he brutally abused her and left her senseless in the storm. She recovered and wandered about until she found succor at a farm-house. Keough acknowledges the crime.

John Lanham, alias Charles Johnson, was arrested in St. Louis last week charged with shooting and killing an actress on the stage of a theatre in San Antonio, Texas, in July last; also with wounding two men at the time. Lanham, who had been in St. Louis for three weeks, was recognized among the audience at a theatre by the ex-manager of the Texas theatre, who was an eye-witness to the shooting and killing. The jewelry of the woman Johnson murdered was found on his person.

Melvin Law has been arrested at Troy, N. Y., for outraging two little girls, aged eight and ten years. He confesses the crimes.

The jury in the case of Bennett, editor and publisher of the Truth-Seeker, after being locked up all night, came into court at New York on Friday morning with a verdict of guilty. He is charged with sending an obscene pamplet, called "Cupid's Yokes," through the mails. The penalty of the offence is not more than ten years' imprisonment or $5000 fine, or both, and not less than one year's imprisonment or $100 fine, or both.

Lillian Evans of Tyringham, Mass., whose husband deserted her and their child a few months ago, after only a year of married life, died the other day of grief.

The local physicians attribute the sudden death of Miss Leonard of North Adams, Mass., who dropped dead a few days since, to the drying up of her blood from her habit of eating large quantities of cloves every day.

The Graphic says: General Sheridan has information, through military sources, on the frontier, that Sitting Bull has a large force of braves on both sides of the line, and proposes to make a simultaneous attack with three columns upon forts Totten, Stephenson and Buford as soon as the grass is high enough for his animals to subsist upon. He has already sent emissaries to Fort Totton to ascertain the strength of the force and position.

Col. Alston, who, was recently shot in the Georgia State House in open day, wrote a letter to the New York Tribune not long since in which he declared that life and property were as secure in that State as in any part of the United States.

Benjamin C. Porter, a native of Boston, Maurice Barrymore and Miss Josephine Baker, all members of the Ward-Barrymore combination troupe, playing "Diplomacy" on a tour through the south, were in a restaurant at Marshall, Texas, Thursday morning of last week, when one James Currie, a detective, insulted Miss Baker and was remonstrated with by the gentlemen, who were unarmed. Currie drew a revolver and killed Porter, and seriously wounded Barrymore. The murderer was arrested.

CAPITAL $2,000,000. 200,000 SHARES.

PAR VALUE, $10 PER SHARE.

UNASSESSIBLE.

Daniel J. Splane, Pres. J. L. Thompson, Sec.

The property of this Company consists of twelve mines and mining locations, located in Lake County, Colorado, in the vicinity of Leadville, upon all of which extensive work has been done, in all cases exhibiting true fissure veins, good pay streak, and well defined lodes.

Three of the leading mines are well opened up and have at the lowest computation over TEN THOUSAND TONS OF ORE IN SIGHT; by May 1st, the Railroad now under construction will be within a short distance of this property.

The Company proposes to sell a portion of its stock at $1.50 per share for the purpose of more completely developing its mines, and for the erection of works for the treatment of its ores.

Applications for the stock may be made to the office of the Company, 61 Broadway, New York.

N. B.—The Mining Record, of New York, the highest mining authority in this country, says Feb. 1st, 1879: The principal owners in this company are hard working men who by their own labor have uncovered large bodies of ore which they now wish to extract and send to market; our readers will do well to make a venture with these worthy men, this money will probably be returned to them twenty fold. The business management has been placed in the care of Mr. J. L. Thompson, an officer of high standing in one of the largest banks in the city. ROYAL BAKING POWDER

Absolutely Pure.

The Royal Baking Powder is a pure Cream of Tartar powder, made from pure Grape Cream Tartar, imported exclusively for this powder direct from the wine district of France. An old experienced housekeeper writes that, although she has to pay a few pennies more for the "Royal," finds that it goes so much further and works much better than saleratus, soda, or cream of tartar.

☞ Most of the Cream of Tartar of commerce is adulterated with Alum, Terra Alba, etc. Doctors pronounce Alum most dangerous to health; it costs but 20. a lb., Cr am of Tartar over 40. The Royal Baking Powder is recommended for its wholesomeness by such eminent chemists as Dr. Mott, New York; Dr. S. Dana Hayes, Boston. Sold only in cans. All Grocers.

☞ BAKING POWDER should never be sold in paper packages, as it becomes stale and deteriorates upon exposure to the atmosphere. 110.

THE CITY.

The Children's Home has received $50 from a lady in Egypt.

Miss Nellie Boynton is to sing at a concert to be given in Watertown, Mass., on Wednesday evening, in aid of the Gloucester sufferers.

Miss Mary Anderson as "Parthenia," and Mr. John W. Norton as "Ingomar," at Music hall this evening, in "Ingomar the barbarian." See advertisement.

Mr. Hiram B. Lord, long a clerk at the Concord railroad station in this city, has been appointed acting station agent, vice Mr. Horace W. Waldron, resigned.

Rev. Mr. DeNormandie by request repeated on Sunday evening his sermon on the Chinese resolution, entitled "Christ or Confucius?" We learn that at the solicitation of many who have heard it preached, the discourse has been printed in pamphlet form, and copies can be obtained at Mr. Goodrich's bookstore.

We have good "legal" authority for saying that Max von Snoern, the former cook of the Rockingham house who was reported to have cleared out to St. John, N. B., leaving a newly-wedded wife and various unpaid bills behind him, is in a Boston hotel, his wife being with him. But we believe he did clear out from this city as first related, for all that.

Dr. A. C. Pollock, of Portland, will be at the Commercial house all this week, his office hours being noted in another place in this paper. While giving attention to all chronic diseases, his specialty is troubles of the feet, in treating which our exchanges at Biddeford, Kennebunk, Portland and other places to the eastward all say he is remarkably successful. See advertisement.

The appeal for aid to the bereaved families of the Gloucester fishermen is beginning to meet with responses from various sections of the country. Chicago has done well, and promptly, and other places are moving in the matter. These unfortunates are our neighbors, and shall not Portsmouth be alive to their necessities? With our musical, dramatic and other talent, cannot a benefit be arranged that shall show a substantial result toward this meritorious charity?

"OLD GOOSEBERRY."

PORTSMOUTH, March 22, 1879.

To the Hutchings Association: — We, the undersigned, were very much interested and pleased by your dramatic company in the performance of the two plays, "Old Gooseberry" and "Peak Family of Bell Ringers," given last Thursday evening in the church vestry, and are desirous of witnessing a repetition of the performance where a larger audience may be present. We therefore respectfully request a repetition in Music Hall at as early a date as convenient.

PORTSMOUTH, March 24th, 1879.

Dr. J. F. Hall, Frank W. Miller, William Simes and others:

Gentlemen:—Your very kind and cordial communication of the 22d requesting a repetition in Music Hall at an early date of the two plays, "Old Gooseberry" and "Peak Family of Bell Ringers" has been duly considered, and we cheerfully concede to your request. We shall take the liberty of making some additions to the programme which you will notice in the advertisement in another column. We nominate as the date Wednesday evening. For the Hutchings Association,

GEORGE E. TILTON, Sec'y.

UNMARKED GRAVES--INFORMATION REQUESTED.

The special committee appointed by Storer Encampment, G. A. R., to confer with the war department and take such other steps as they might find advisable in regard to the placing of headstones at the unmarked graves of men who served in the rebellion, on Saturday received an official letter from Washington, informing them that all persons, either soldiers or sailors, who were killed during the war or who then served in the army or navy and have since died, are included in the order issued under the act of Congress authorizing the furnishing of stones for unmarked graves.

As the committee would find it difficult if not impossible to locate all the graves included in the order, without aid, they earnestly request every person who knows of a soldier's or sailor's grave that is not provided with a headstone to leave information concerning the same with City Marshal Entwistle, at his office, or with Post Commander James R. Morrison, at Frye & Co.'s express, at the earliest convenient moment, as the committee and encampment not only desire that no grave shall be neglected, but are anxious to have the work of marking the graves completed before Memorial day.

WILLIAM H. SANBORN.

William H. Sanborn, of Kittery, for many years foreman of blacksmiths in the bureau of yards and docks at the navy yard, died on Saturday after a brief illness of gastric fever induced by his taking a severe cold in Boston only a week before. Mr. Sanborn was a superior mechanic, an honest, upright man, a devoted husband and father, a pleasant and unassuming companion, and a good citizen. He was a member of St. John's Lodge, No. 1, A. F. & A. M., and of New Hampshire Lodge, No. 17, I. O. O. F., of this city.

THE VICINITY.

The annual town meeting of Kittery will be held to-day.

The Dover city councils have appropriated $61,478.14 for the expenses of the municipality during the current year.

The lobster fishing business at Kennebunkport still continues good, about thirty barrels a week being sent away.

Mr. George F. Sanborn, the champion gunner at Rye beach, on Tuesday of last week killed seven crows out of a flock of eleven.

On Thursday of last week the school in the south district of Rye, of which Miss Sarah H. Goss was teacher, closed its winter term of fourteen weeks. Quite a large number of visitors were present.

Ephraim Brooks, a Frenchman recently living near the depot of the Eastern railroad in Greenland, and employed in Williams' saw mill, disappeared about two weeks ago, leaving behind a family and unpaid bills amounting to $200.

Benjamin Kenny, Jr., of Berwick, who made a savage assault on Lafayette Brown of that town on the night of election day, inflicting wounds with a knife which may prove fatal, was on Thursday last committed to Alfred jail to await trial.

Kennebunk is afflicted with the tramp mania. Two young men named Stevens and Patterson last week had a ten mile match for $60 a side, "go as you please," Stevens winning; and now the loser has challenged the other to a walking match of twenty-five miles, for $25 a side.

The Dover city government on Thursday night chose for the coming year, Thomas L. Tebbetts chief engineer, Andrew J. Roberts first assistant, Charles P. Shephard second assistant, George Dunn third assistant; and also voted to create the office of school superintendent, at a salary of $1500 a year.

Excelsior Lodge, No. 5, I. O. G. T., has been organized at Hampton Falls with the following officers: S. H. Dow, W. C. T.; Sophia E. Marston, W. V. T.; Lizzie Philbrick, W. C.; Mrs. M. E. Leavitt, W. R. S.; Elmer E. Drake, W. A. S.; Elsie E. Dearborn, W. F. S.; S. H. Leavitt, W. S.; W. H. Philbrick, W. M.; Marcia P. Dearborn, W. D. M.; W. J. Chevalier, W. I. G.; J. H. Wright, W. O. G.; George E. Taylor, P. W. C. T.

Melissa S. Garland, the young girl who left Rye so abruptly some weeks ago, and who it was at one time supposed by some was the girl found in the trunk at Lynn, is at home all right. She was employed in Lowell while absent, and plainly intimates it is nobody's business but her own if she did leave town in such a way as pleased her, without sounding a horn to apprise the public of the fact that she was going.

The Universalist society at Dover have decided to build a new brick church. Several years ago the society was disorganized and the church property sold; the society was subsequently reorganized and is now in a prosperous condition. Rev. James Gorton, formerly of Nashua, who has been acting as minister for the past year, will probably be settled over the new church. The work on the building will be commenced in May, and the church will be ready for occupancy by November.

A Hampton correspondent of the Exeter News-Letter says that at the late town meeting "the selectmen received notice from lawyer Hatch that the town must pay to S. H. Dumas $298.11 forthwith, for a horse that tumbled over the end of a bridge and broke his leg while running at large in the highway, about three years ago. The town could have settled this case at the time for $100, but as every sensible man knew the town was not liable, they concluded to carry it into court. It is very evident, however, that there has been more 'law' than 'justice,' hence the decision."

The chief engineer of Biddeford's fire department having removed the engineer and fireman of the steam fire engine Richard Vines, the company at a special meeting on the 18th inst. voted to take down their sign and remove their private property from the house, but still to continue to do fire duty. Next evening they held another meeting and voted to notify the chief engineer they should withdraw from fire duty Saturday night, the 22d inst., or as soon thereafter as he could form a new company. The Biddeford Times says the organization "has ever proved an efficient company, ready at the slightest call to duty. It is hoped Chief Engineer Hunt had good reasons for the change."

Naval Matters.

The Enterprise sailed from Villa Franche for Port Mahon on the 14th ult. The Wyoming was then at Smyrna.

The U. S. S. Alaska sailed from San Francisco for Sitka on Friday night.

Owing to international postal regulations, letter bags will not hereafter be made up at the navy pay office in San Francisco, and forwarded to Japan and China by the regular steamers. All mail matter must be fully prepaid to those countries and forwarded direct by the regular postal channels, and such matter addressed to the care of the pay office at San Francisco and prepaid to that point only, will go no further. This is important for those corresponding with officers and men on the Asiatic station to know.

Lieut. A. H. Fletcher, U. S. N., who was recently reported to have eloped with a young lady of Baltimore, has been arrested at a hotel in Philadelphia, and taken to the U. S. S. St. Louis, at League island, where he is detained to await orders.

Lieut. F. A. Mullany, U. S. M. C., was detached from the Plymouth, at Boston, before the ship sailed, and directed to await the further instructions of the Navy Department at the marine barracks of that station. Serious reports having been made against Lieut. Mullany, he will in all probability be brought to trial at an early day.

A Disease that Wrecks the System.

Every function is deranged, every nerve unstrung, every muscle and fiber weakened by fever and ague. It is, in fact, a disease which if unchecked, eventually wrecks the system. In all its types, in every phase, it is dangerous, destructive. Stupor, delirium, convulsions, often attend it, and cause swift dissolution. But when combatted with Hostetter's Stomach Bitters its foothold in the system is dislodged, and every vestige of it eradicated. That benign anti-febrile specific and preventive of the dreaded scourge is recognized not only within our own boundaries, but in tropic lands far beyond them, where intermittents and remittents are fearfully prevalent, to be a sure antidote to the malarial poison and a reliable means of overcoming disorders of the stomach, liver and bowels, of which a vitiated torrid atmosphere and brackish miasma-tainted water are extremely provocative. All emigrants and travelers should be supplied with it.

A Leading Physician says: "It can be relied upon" in speaking of Dr. A. J. Flagg's Cough and Lung Syrup.

CRISTADORO'S HAIR DYE

The history of the success of great discoveries affords no parallel to the triumphs over competition and prejudice, accomplished by this powerful yet harmless vegetable agent, which instantaneously changes any obnoxious color of the hair into a black or brown as magnificent as any that heaven ever bestowed upon the head of man or women. Manufactured by J. CRISTADORO, No 93 William St., New York. Sold by all Druggists. Applied by all Hair Dressers. tmch15

WHEAT MEAL!

— OR —

Graham Flour.

When Wheat is ground it becomes Wheat Meal; when it is bolted it becomes Wheat Flour. Dr. Graham, who lectured through the country forty years ago on dietetics formed the fraternity known as "Grahamites." He said that bolted Flour should not be eaten, but that bread ought to be made of Wheat Meal instead; from him it got the name of Graham Flour. All Graham Flour therefore ought to be Wheat Meal, but about three-quarters of it is what we call made up Graham, that is, artificially mixed Cheap Flour and Bran, and is in every way inferior to the genuine article. Hardly a person who uses the genuine Wheat Meal would take the bogus article except on compulsion.

The Crowning Discovery.

All the "phones" of this phonetic age are surpassed in practical benefit to mankind, by the discovery of Allan's Anti-Fat, the great and only known remedy for obesity, or corpulency. It produces no weakness or injurious effect. Its action being simply confined to regulating digestion, and preventing an undue assimilation of the carbonaceous, or flesh-producing, elements of the food. Sold by druggists.

ELLSWORTH, KAN., July 13th, 1878.
BOTANIC MEDICINE CO., Buffalo, N. Y.:
Gentlemen—Allen's Anti-Fat reduced me seven pounds in one week.
Yours respectfully, MRS. TAYLOR.

—A travelling salesman for a Chicago firm established a store of his own at Berlin Heights, O., and left it in charge of his wife and a clerk. On returning from a long trip he found that the clerk had sold all the goods and fled with money. On further investigation he learned that the clerk had taken his wife.

—The Clinton, Iowa, Herald says the following is the way they hurt the feelings of the street loafers in that city: Copies of the city ordinance forbidding loafing or congregating on the streets, printed in large type on cards, have been hung in some of the corner windows with salutary effect. Once in a while a fellow braces himself for a square "lo of" before fore the window, and as eye mechanically wanders over the conspicuous warning card he suddenly grows uneasy and soon has business down the street.

—Many hundred years ago the Aztecs acquired wonderful skill in weaving the feathers of tropical birds into pictures. The art has been preserved, for the custom house officers at New Orleans have seized a lot of these curiosities, fresh from a coast town. Some of the pictures now in the hands of the officers are upon small cards, representing tiny birds. The background, the stem or twig upon which the bird rests and the bill and claws of the bird are painted in colors, but the rest of the picture is made of beautiful feathers prettily woven.

GAZETTE
Established 1756.
The Gazette is published every Thursday, and sent to Subscribers at the low price of
$1.50 per year, paid in advance, or
$2 at the end of the year.
It contains full accounts of all of importance that transpires in Portsmouth and its vicinity, and a condensed summary of NEWS, foreign and domestic; editorials upon current topics; New Hampshire items; carefully prepared marine news, containing reports of vessels owned at this port, or offered by men from Portsmouth or its neighborhood; and is just the paper for residents desiring to be posted on all that takes place at home, while to those living in the vicinity of Portsmouth, or to former residents who retain their interest in the "old home by the sea," it is the best means of keeping informed of what transpires in this city.
—THE—
NEW HAMPSHIRE GAZETTE
Contains more original matter
Than any other paper of its size in the State, the editors working more with their pens than with their scissors.

TO ADVERTISERS
THE N. H. GAZETTE
Presents an excellent opportunity for a WEEKLY INVITATION TO CUSTOMERS, at a reasonable rate, and all those who desire to reach patrons in Rockingham and York counties will find it an economical medium. THE GAZETTE is in many instances the only paper taken by families, and it is read to a large extent in localities whence is derived much of the trade of Portsmouth, a fact which our merchants should not fail to bear in mind.

GOLDEN MEDICAL DISCOVERY
By its great and thorough blood-purifying properties, Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery cures all Humors, from the worst Scrofula to a common Blotch, Pimple, or Eruption. Mercurial disease, Mineral Poisons, and their effects, are eradicated, and vigorous health and a sound constitution established. Erysipelas, Salt-rheum, Fever Sores, Scaly or Rough Skin, in short, all diseases caused by bad blood, are conquered by this powerful, purifying, and invigorating medicine.
Especially has it manifested its potency in curing Tetter, Rose Rash, Boils, Carbuncles, Sore Eyes, Scrofulous Sores and Swellings, White Swellings, Goitre or Thick Neck, and Enlarged Glands.
If you feel dull, drowsy, debilitated, have sallow color of skin, or yellowish-brown spots on face or body, frequent headache or dizziness, bad taste in mouth, internal heat or chills alternated with hot flashes, low spirits, and gloomy forebodings, irregular appetite, and tongue coated, you are suffering from Torpid Liver, or "Biliousness." In many cases of "Liver Complaint" only part of these symptoms are experienced. As a remedy for all such cases, Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery has no equal, as it effects perfect and radical cures.
In the cure of Bronchitis, Severe Coughs, and the early stages of Consumption, it has astonished the medical faculty, and eminent physicians pronounce it the greatest medical discovery of the age. While it cures the severest Coughs, it strengthens the system and purifies the blood. Sold by druggists.

Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Purgative Pellets
SIZE OF PELLETS.
THE "LITTLE GIANT" CATHARTIC.
No use of taking the large, regulative, nauseous pills, composed of cheap, crude, and bulky ingredients. These Pellets are scarcely larger than mustard seeds. Being entirely vegetable, no particular care is required while using them. They operate without disturbance to the constitution, diet, or occupation. For Jaundice, Biliousness, Constipation, Impure Blood, Pain in the Shoulders, Tightness of the Chest, Dizziness, Sour Eructations from the Stomach, Bad Taste in the Mouth, Bilious attacks, Pain in region of Kidneys, Internal Fever, Disease fearing about Stomach, Rush of Blood to Head, take Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Purgative Pellets. In explanation of the remedial power of these Purgative Pellets over so great a variety of diseases, it may be said that their action upon the animal economy is universal, not a gland or tissue escaping their sanative impress. Age does not impair the properties of these Pellets. They are sugar-coated and inclosed in glass bottles, their virtues being thereby preserved unimpaired for any length of time, in any climate, so that they are always fresh and reliable. This is not the case with pills put up in clumsy wooden or pasteboard boxes. For all diseases where a Laxative, Alterative, or Purgative, is indicated, these Pellets will give the most perfect satisfaction. Sold by druggists.
R. V. PIERCE, M. D., Proprr., World's Dispensary and Invalids' Hotel, Buffalo, N. Y.

CATARRH
SYMPTOMS.—Frequent headache, discharge falling into throat, sometimes profuse, watery, thick mucous, purulent, offensive, etc. In others, a dryness, dry, watery, weak, or inflamed eyes, stopping up, or obstruction, of the nasal passages, ringing in ears, deafness, hawking and coughing to clear the throat, ulcerations, scabs from ulcers, voice altered, nasal twang, offensive breath, impaired or total privation of sense of smell and taste, dizziness, mental depression, loss of appetite, indigestion, enlarged tonsils, tickling cough, etc. Only a few of these symptoms are likely to be present in any case at one time.
DR. SAGE'S CATARRH REMEDY
produces radical cures of the worst cases of Catarrh, no matter of how long standing. The liquid remedy may be snuffed, or better applied by the use of Dr. PARKER'S Douche. This is the only form of instrument yet invented with which fluid medicine can be carried HIGH UP and PERFECTLY APPLIED to all parts of the affected nasal passages, and the chambers or cavities communicating therewith, in which sores and ulcers frequently exist, and from which the catarrhal discharge generally proceeds. Its use is pleasant and easily understood, from directions accompanying each instrument. Dr. SAGE'S Catarrh Remedy cures recent attacks of "Cold in the Head" by a few applications. It is mild and pleasant to use, containing no strong or caustic drugs or poisons. Catarrh Remedy and Douche sold by druggists.

ONE DOLLAR A YEAR.

The circulation of this popular newspaper has more than trebled during the past year. It contains all the leading news contained in the Daily Herald, and is arranged in handy departments. The

Foreign News

embraces special dispatches from all quarters of the globe. Under the head of American News

are given the Telegraphic Despatches of the week from all parts of the Union. This feature alone makes

The Weekly Herald

the most valuable chronicle in the world, as it is the cheapest. Every week is given a faithful report of embracing complete and comprehensive despatches from Washington, including full reports of the speeches of eminent politicians on the questions of the hour.

Political News

The Farm Department

of the Weekly Herald gives the latest as well as the most practical suggestions and discoveries relating to the duties of the farmer, hints for raising Cattle, Poultry, Grains, Trees, Vegetables, &c., &c., with suggestions for keeping buildings and farming utensils in repair. This is supplemented by a well-edited department, widely copied, under the head of

The Home,

giving recipes for practical dishes, hints for making clothing and for keeping up with the latest fashions at the lowest price. Every item of cooking or economy suggested in this department is practically tested by experts before publication. Letters from our Paris and London correspondents on the very latest fashions. The Home Department of the Weekly Herald will save the housewife more than one hundred times the price of the paper. The interests of

are looked after, and everything relating to mechanics and labor-saving is carefully recorded. There is a page devoted to all the latest phases of the business markets, Crops, Merchandise, &c., &c. A valuable feature is found in the specially reported prices and conditions of

The Produce Market.

Sporting News at home and abroad, together with a story every week, a Sermon by some eminent divine, Literary, Musical, Dramatic, Personal and Sea Notes. REMOVED!

(Successors to R. V. PIERCE, M. D.)

DR. R. V. PIERCE, having acquired a world-wide reputation in the treatment of Chronic Diseases, resulting in a professional business far exceeding his individual ability to conduct, some years ago induced several competent specialists to associate themselves with him, as the Faculty of the World's Dispensary, the Consulting Department of which has since been merged with the INVALIDS' HOTEL. The organization has been completed and incorporated under the name and style of World's Dispensary Medical Association, with the following officers:

HON. R. V. PIERCE, Pres. F. D. PIERCE, V. Pres.
JNO. E. PIERCE, Sec. LESTER B. SMITH, Treas.

NINE PHYSICIANS AND SURGEONS of eminence and skill now form the Medical Staff.

CHRONIC DISEASES of all forms come within the province of an association of this magnitude.

LUNG DISEASES.—This division of practice is very ably managed by a gentleman of mature judgment and skill. Bronchial, Throat, and Lung Diseases treated with the most successful results.

DISEASES OF WOMEN.—Especially are our facilities of a superior order for the cure of all those chronic diseases peculiar to females.

NERVOUS DISEASES.—Paralysis, Nervous Debility, Epilepsy (Fits), Spinal Diseases, Sciatica, Neuralgia, and other nervous affections, receive the attention of an experienced specialist.

NOT NECESSARY TO SEE PATIENTS.—By our original system of diagnosis, we can treat many chronic diseases successfully without or with a personal consultation. For particulars see "People's Common Sense Medical Adviser" (1,000 pages, sent post-paid for $1.50 or "Invalids' and Tourists' Guide Book," 100 pages, 10 cents post-paid.

SURGICAL CASES.—Among the operations which we are called upon most frequently to perform, are those for Nasal Polypus, Harelip, Tumors, Fistula in Ano, Piles, Hernia (Rupture), Hydrocele (Dropsy of the Scrotum), Varicocele, Ovarian and Uterine Tumors, Calculi (Stone in the Bladder), Stricture, etc., etc. We also treat Catarrh, Deafness, by a new method without surgical operation, Cancers, Club-feet, Spinal Curvature, and other deformities. (Sent pamphlet entitled, "Motion as a Curative Agent," sent on receipt of 2 cents.

WOMAN

By an immense practice at the World's Dispensary and Invalids' Hotel, having treated many thousand cases of those diseases peculiar to woman, I have been enabled to perfect a most potent and positive remedy for these diseases.

To designate this natural specific, I have named it

Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription

The term, however, is but a feeble expression of my high appreciation of its value, based upon personal observations. I have, while witnessing its positive results in the special diseases incident to the organism of woman, singled it out as the climax or crowning gem of my medical career. On its merits, as a positive, safe, and effectual remedy for this class of diseases, and one that will, at all times and under all circumstances, act kindly, I am willing to stake my reputation as a physician, and so confident am I that it will not disappoint the most sanguine expectations of a single invalid lady who uses it for any of the ailments for which I recommend it, that I offer and sell it under A POSITIVE GUARANTEE. (For conditions, see pamphlet wrapping bottle.)

The following are among those diseases in which my Favorite Prescription has worked cures, as if by magic, and with a certainty never before attained by any medicine: Leucorrhœa, Excessive Flowing, Painful Monthly Periods, Suppressions when from unnatural causes, Irregularities, Weak Back, Prolapsus, or Falling of the Uterus, Anteversion and Retroversion, Bearing-down Sensations, Internal Heat, Nervous Depression, Debility, Despondency, Threatened Miscarriage, Chronic Congestion, Inflammation and Ulceration of the Uterus, Impotency, Barrenness, or Sterility, and Female Weakness. I do not extol this medicine as a "cure-all," but it admirably fulfils a single class of purposes, being a most perfect specific in all chronic diseases of the sexual system of woman. It will not disappoint, nor will it do harm, in any state or condition.

Those who desire further information on these subjects can obtain it in THE PEOPLE'S COMMON SENSE MEDICAL ADVISER, a book of over 900 pages, sent, post-paid, on receipt of $1.50. It treats minutely of those diseases peculiar to Females, and gives much valuable advice in regard to the management of those affections.

Favorite Prescription sold by Druggists.

SWORN EVIDENCE.

The following Cure is probably the most remarkable ever effected by any medical preparation for the treatment of Catarrh:

Gentlemen.—I hereby certify that I have had Catarrh for ten years, and, for the last six years have been a terrible sufferer. I was rendered partially deaf, had buzzing in the head, pains across the temple, dizzy spells, weak and painful eyes, swollen and ulcerated tonsils, hard and constant cough, severe pain across the chest, and every indication of consumption. My head ached all the time. The matter accumulated so rapidly in my head and throat that I could not keep them free. Frequently at night I would spring out of bed, it seemed to me, at the point of suffocation. I would then have recourse to cayenne pepper in my food to dislodge the mucus from my throat and head before being able to sleep again. For a period of six years my tonsils were ulcerated and so much inflamed that I could with difficulty swallow. I finally consulted an eminent physician in regard to an operation on them, but at his request postponed it. The constant inflammation and ulceration in my throat caused by the poisonous matter dropping down from my head had so irritated and inflamed my lungs that I coughed incessantly,—a deep hard cough. Meanwhile my system began to show the effects of this disease, so that I lost flesh, grew pale, and showed every symptom of an early death by consumption. When matters had reached this stage, or about six months ago, I began the use of SANFORD'S RADICAL CURE FOR CATARRH. After using the first bottle I began to improve rapidly. The first dose seemed to clear my head as I had not known it to be for years. I opened gradually to arrest the discharge. It stopped my cough in three days. By using it as a gargle I soon reduced the inflammation and swelling of my tonsils so that they soon ceased to trouble me. The soreness across my chest disappeared, the buzzing noises in my head ceased, my sense of seeing and of hearing were completely restored, and every symptom of disease that had reduced me to the verge of the grave disappeared by the use of SANFORD'S RADICAL CURE FOR CATARRH. I have been thus explicit because, as a druggist, I save seen a great deal of suffering from Catarrh, and have no confidence many that this is a great remedy.

I am familiar with the treatment of Catarrh as practiced by the best physicians, and have consulted the most eminent about my case. I have used every kind of remedy and apparatus that have appeared during a period of six years past, and have, while following that use, taken great care of my general health, but obtained no relief or encouragement from any of them.

COLLINS' VOLTAIC PLASTER

Affords the most grateful relief in all Affections of the Chest and Lungs.

CHRONIC PLEURISY CURED.

MESSRS. WEEKS & POTTER: Gentlemen.—Having for many years suffered with a very painful side, caused by my physician Chronic Pleurisy, changed by a former injury and strain, and for which I used many prescriptions and liniments, as well as the most approved remedies, without the least benefit, my physician recommended one of your COLLINS' VOLTAIC PLASTERS, which, to my great surprise, relieved the pain and sore ness almost immediately, and I have been able to attend to my household affairs ever since with perfect ease and comfort, whereas, before the application of your invaluable Plaster, I was scarcely able to do any thing. I consider them inestimable, and shall will pleasure recommend them to the afflicted. Yours truly, specifically, MRS. FRANCES HARRIMAN.

ORLAND, Me., April 21, 1876.

There is no medical or protective appliance that will prove so grateful and effective in Tickling Coughs, irritations and soreness of the Chest and Lungs. We believe them capable of preventing serious diseases with these organs.

PRICE, 25 CENTS.

Be not confounded these Plasters with the ordinary Plasters of the day, that by comparison are absolutely worthless.

Political.

Kearney is abusing the people of southern California without stint in his speeches in favor of the new constitution, and one man whom he vilified gave him a severe beating.

The fact that all of the officers elected by the Senate except one are ex-Confederates, and that the exception was a sympathizer with the "lost cause," leads one to conclude that no man tainted with loyalty to the Union during the war need apply to that body for office. Loyalty, not treason, is odious.

It is reported as probable that Senator Kellogg of Louisiana will be ousted from his seat by the democrats, and his place donated to Mr. Spofford, his defeated competitor.

The new executive clerk of the Senate, H. B. Peyton, was on the staff of the rebel general Robert E. Lee. The new chaplain is Rev. J. J. Bullock, brother-in-law of the rebel vice-president, J. C. Breckenridge. No wonder the Mississippi Southern States "thanks God that the confederates have at last captured the capitol," and promises to put in the capitol the portraits of the patriot heroes, Jeff Davis and Lee.

It is reported from Washington that though the democrats have a working majority of thirteen in the Senate, yet there are indications that they will refuse to admit Senator Bell, who has been appointed by the governor of New Hampshire to fill the vacancy until a successor to Mr. Wadleigh can be elected.

A Lady in the Car.

Writing wh le on the railroad, Mr. Bordette, of the Burlington Hawkeye, says: A woman with three bird cages and a little girl has just got on the train. She arranges the three bird cages on the seat, and then she and the little girl stand in the isle, and she glares around upon the ungallant men who stay glued to their seats and looked dreamily out of the window. I bend my face down to the tablet and write furiously, for I feel her eyes fastened upon me. Somehow or other, I am always the victim in cases of this delicate nature. Just as I expected. She speaks, fastening her commanding gaze upon me:

"Sir, would it be asking too much if I begged you to let myself and my little girl have that seat? A gentleman can always find a seat so much more easily than a lady."

And she smiled. Not the charmingest kind of a smile. It was too triumphant to be pleasing. Of course I surrendered. I said: "O, certainly, certainly, I could find another seat without any trouble."

She thanked me, and I climbed out of my comfortable seat, and gathered up my shawl, overcoat, my manuscript, my strap package, my valise and my overshoes, and she and the little girl went into the vacant premises, as soon as the writ of ejectment had been served, and they looked happy and comfortable. Then I stepped across the aisle; I took up those bird cages and set them along on top of the coal box, and sat down on the seat thus vacated. I apologetically remarked to the woman, who was gazing at me with an expression that boded trouble, that "it was much warmer for the canaries up by the stove." She didn't say anything, but gave me a look that made it much warmer for me for about five minutes than the stove can make it for the canaries. I don't believe she likes me, and I am uncomfortably confident that she disapproves my conduct.

—With alum in his bread, coloring matter in his butter, sand in his sugar, and poison in his liquor, the average man has hard work in getting food and drink that will not make him a skeleton ar kill him. Now comes the adulteration of coffee with date stones, which has been discovered in England. Several tons of "melilotine coffee," a compound of coffee, chickory, and date stones, were seized in Manchester recently.

—The "free pass" system for judges and legislators is one of the most dangerous and indecent practices in the country. We have more than once seen a nonsuit in favor of a railroad corporation by a judge who on the bench had the defendant's "free pass" in his his pocket, and who went right out of court and took a "deadhead" passage home over the defendant's road. It is not all of our judges who will do this kind of thing, but some will, and it has a bad look, even if innocent.—Albany Law Journal.

—A Ridgewood (N. J.) woman died the other day, and her husband, knowing that she had kept an account in a savings bank in New York city, called at the bank to draw out the deposit, which he supposed amounted to about $10. To his surprise he learned that it reached $1200. To his greater surprise he was informed that he could not draw it, as the money was deposited in the name of his wife's sister. But the greatest surprise of all was when it was added that the money was held by his sister-in-law in trust for his deceased wife's son! It appeared that she had an illegitimate son in Germany before coming to America, and in sixteen years married life her husband never heard a whisper of his wife's strange secret. During the whole of that time she had been carefully saving for her son out of the money allowed her by her husband for household expenses.

Reaching Out Too Far and Losing the Balance.

The Worcester & Nashua railroad was a few years ago a prosperous corporation, dividing ten per cent from profits and with shares selling at $140 in the market. To-day the shares sell at $30, and it has a debt, caused by the building of the Nashua & Rochester railroad. The Worcester people did not see that the travel and freight to Maine, unlike that to the west, are limited, that much of it was borne cheaply by water, during a large part of the year, and that the carriage by rail was sharply competed for by the Eastern and Boston & Maine lines, both of which had squandered many hundreds of thousands of dollars in reaching out for a business that did not pay. No, the proprietors of this railroad living in the heart of the commonwealth of Massachusetts, desired to have for themselves a sight of the Eastern elephant. They have seen it, and now the difficulty is to pay the price of admission. The Nashua & Rochester railroad was built at the instance of the W. & N. R. R. to extend to Rochester, there to meet the Portland & Rochester road and make a line from New York to Portland, by way of Worcester. The W. & N. guaranteed the N. & R. R. R. bonds, and took a lease of the road at an annual cost of six per cent on $700,000 of bonds, and $1,308,000 of stock, paying per year $120,448.00 as the rent for a road upon which it earned $49,531.37 net, equal to a loss of $70,916.63 per year. In this condition of affairs, the officers of the Worcester & Nashua R. R. find that the establishing a new line to Maine is not all their fancy painted it, and they reasonably enough seek to scale down the interest on the bonds they have guaranteed, and reduce the dividends on the stock of the road they have leased. In addition to the rents and interest they are called upon to pay all the taxes on the N. & R. R. R., and it has so reduced the net income of the Worcester & Nashua line, that from a prosperous concern whose stock was sought as an investment, it has become embarrassed to no little degree, and the process of scaling down must begin. This is one of the many instances where Massachusetts people have squandered their capital in the supposition that they knew more about travel and freight carriage than did local capitalists. The N. & R. R. R. goes through a country which furnishes but little local traffic, but the people all along the line welcomed the "enterprise" of the energetic and far-seeing gentlemen from the Bay State, who were to afford them such convenient facilities for an outlet by building a road and leasing it at a fair rate of interest, when its net earnings were not likely to be much over one-third of what the lessee was to pay, for the privilege of operating the road. The great expectations of the managers of the W. & N. R. R. of course were based upon the large amount of through business from Portland to New York which should pass over its line between Rochester and Worcester, but the low rates of fare between Portland and New York by sound lines with which this route is in competition, show how much can be made out of this business as the share of the W. & N. R. R. In these negotiations, where a new deal is sought by the debtor the creditor, (in this instance the bondholder of the N. & R., and its shareholders,) will in the future be likely to receive just what the managers of the W. & N. think they can afford to pay, and they will find that the capacity of their property for earning an income "hath this extent, no more."

News and Notes.

William Belden and Henry Belden, Jr., comprising the firm of Belden & Co., brokers, of New York, have been arrested for the alleged illegal conversion of certain stocks and bonds. Belden & Co. are well known as Jay Gould's brokers.

Mary Turner, about eleven years old, residing in North Andover, Mass., died on Saturday, after terrible suffering. She was bitten by a mad dog about three months ago, and was attacked with symptoms of hydrophobia on the Tuesday forenoon previous. Physicians pronounced it a case of that dread disease.

Scarlet fever and canker rash have spread to such an extent in Medway, Mass., that the board of health have issued printed notices warning all householders to give notice of the appearance of either disease at once, under a penalty of one hundred dollars fine.

The treasurer of the Reading, Mass., savings bank, Nathan B. Pratt, has stolen $60,000 from the bank, and cleared out.

Rev. T. DeWitt Talmage is on trial before the Brooklyn Presbytery on charges of deceit and falsehood.

A tornado at Milledgeville, Ga., Saturday, blew down the Oconee river bridge, killing a negro and team of mules. Stores were unroofed and houses blown down, in the city.

One Dierking married the widow of Gunzer, who was so shockingly murdered in Williamsburg, N. Y., some months ago. Dierking only lived with her three weeks, when he fled, and has sued for a divorce on the ground that the ghost of the murdered Gunzer every night stalked up and down the chamber with one-half of his head chopped off. Dierking's nerves could not stand this ghostly dress parade, so he fled to Hackensack, N. J., and his lawyers began the divorce suit for him.

Some 25,000 people assembled in Chicago on Saturday evening, at the Exposition building, and celebrated the Paris Commune. Nearly 1000 of the crowd were armed with guns, and the object was to raise funds to perfect a military organization.

The Lackawanna company at Scranton, Pa., doubled their steel-mill force, on Monday, to meet the increased demand for steel rails.

As one of the results of the recent excursion of business men to Mexico, orders are being received in Chicago for machinery to be sent to that country.

All space in the International Exhibition in Australia in August will be free, and freight paid. It is hoped that America will be well represented.

A policeman was attacked by roughs at the Old Town variety theatre in Baltimore, Saturday night. He shot one of them, Edward Weldon, dead. The coroner's jury justified the shooting.

Houston Holt, a desperado of Denton county, Texas, quarrelled with and struck one Howell in his stable. Shortly after he called Howell into the office, and closed the door. Three shots were heard, and Holt came out and rode away unmolested. Howell's body was found in the office perforated with three bullets.

The Artisans' bank in Pittsburg, Pa., was robbed Friday by three men, one of whom engaged the attention of the president and another of the cashier, while the third got away with $1000 in currency and $4000 or $5000 in bonds.

Boys throwing stones at Charles Leffingwell's milk team on Saturday, in New Haven, frightened the horses, which ran down Cedar street and leaped over a twenty feet offset wall into Court street; one horse was killed and one badly hurt. The milkman, not being in the wagon, escaped. The horses were valued at $600.

Two cargoes of rags from Italy were seized at New York on Saturday and the vessels towed back to quarantine, their certificates being defective. The vessels had commenced to unload.

Dr. Hamilton of Boston is nominated as Surgeon-General of the Marine Hospital Service.

Edwin Hoyt has been sentenced to be hung on the 18th of May, 1880, for the murder of his father at Bridgeport, Conn.

George Brown of the Toronto Globe was startled on arising the other day to find that a section of the bottom of his farm had dropped out during the night. An acre or more of the earth had sunk nearly forty feet, and the tops of the trees were just visible on the level with the surface.

On Friday, March 14th, Rev. John Eliot of Rumford, Me., committed suicide by hanging. He had been in his usual health up to that time, and nothing was known to be troubling him. He rose as usual and went to the barn to attend to his animals. He did not return, and his wife went to call him and found him quite dead. No cause can be assigned for the deed.

The Belfast, Me., Journal complains of the tramp nuisance. It says: "There were nineteen vagrants committed to jail last week from Belfast alone. For the month which they will pass in jail the tax-payers of Waldo county will have to pay $300. A justice of the county was recently waited upon by a squad of vagrants for no other purpose then to be committed to jail. They said they intended never to do another day's work."

Naval Matters.

Capt. George Butler, U. S. M. C., commanding the marine guard at this station, has recently returned from an examination for his promotion to the rank of major, held at Washington.

Second Lieutenant David Whipple, U. S. M. C., left for Washington on Monday, to be examined for promotion.

New Hampshire Items.

A boarding house in Suncook was burned Monday morning, and a man named John Donovan perished. Loss on building $6000; insured $4000.

The will of Miss Jane Freeland, of Windham, which has recently been presented to the probate court for Rockingham county, names legacies of $500 each to the American Baptist Missionary Union and the American Baptist Home Mission Society.

There were ninety-two patents issued to New Hampshire inventors during the year 1878, or one to every 3459 inhabitants. The patent office received for patents, copies, etc., for the year, $725,375.55, and paid out $593,082.89, leaving a net balance over expenditures of $132,292.66.

Andover has $14,000 in its treasury, including $,500 in State bonds, and does not owe a dollar. The war expenses of the town were paid at the time, or shortly after they were incurred, and when the State assigned the town $9,000 in bonds in payment for its quota, it had no use for them, and the interest has been accumulating ever since. The receipts of the treasurer last year were $2,000 more than his disbursements, and the knottiest question the voters have had this spring is, "What shall we do with the money?" This is far the best financial showing which can be made by any town in the State.

ROYAL BAKING POWDER

Absolutely Pure.

The Royal Baking Powder is a pure Cream of Tartar powder, made from pure Grape Cream Tartar, imported exclusively for this powder direct from the wine district of France. An old experienced housekeeper writes that, although she has to pay a few pennies more for the "Royal," finds that it goes so much further and works much better than saleratus, soda, or cream of tartar.
☞ Some of the Cream of Tartar of commerce is adulterated with Alum, Terra Alba, etc. Doctors pronounce Alum most dangerous to health; it costs but 2c. a lb., Cr am of Tartar over 40. The Royal Baking Powder is recommended for its wholesomeness by such eminent chemists as Dr. Mott, New York; Dr. S. Dana Hayes, Boston. Sold only in cans. All Grocers.
☞ BAKING POWDER should never be sold in paper packages, as it becomes stale and deteriorates upon exposure to the atmosphere. (10.

THE CITY.

Capt. Eaton, of Wells, is to command the schooner T. J. Trafton, of this port.

The police were called upon on Monday to kill three dogs, and it wasn't a very good day for dogs, either.

Capt. E. O. Garland, of Boston, is to command the schooner Hattie Lewis, of the brick fleet between this port and Boston.

The funeral of the late Major Philip R. Fendell will take place this forenoon from his late residence on State street with the military honors appropriate to his rank.

A dog belonging to Mr. Ozro J. Hobbs bit a boy named Palmer, and was on Tuesday killed by his owner. Another dog, belonging to Dennis Long, bit Mr. Joseph W. White in the leg, and was drowned by his owner.

A meeting of persons interested in the distribution of the Geneva award fund, now held by the United States government, will be held in the common council room in this city at ten o'clock this forenoon, for consultation.

To-morrow evening, at Music hall, the Hutchings Association will repeat the stage performance given by them last week in the Universalist vestry, with additions thereto. Reinewald & Taylor's orchestra will assist. See advt.

At Music hall, Thursday evening, Mr. George A. Hill, supported by J. C. Myers' New York Combination, will present the sensational "society drama," the "Serpent's sting," which will be followed by a farce, the "Factory girl." The company has given very satisfactory entertainments in other places, and at the low scale of prices charged will probably have a good house. Seats at Preston's. See advt.

The Boston Pinafore Co., consisting of thirty people and including some superior singers, will perform "Pinafore" at Music hall Friday evening of this week, with scenery gotten up expressly for this company, including a "movable moon" scene which has been much admired in other places. Miss Dora Wiley, who takes the part of Josephine, the captain's daughter, is said to have a voice of great power and sweetness. See advertisement.

A fine new portrait of Hon. W. H. Y. Hackett, painted by Tenney at his studio in this city, was hung in the Senate chamber at Concord on Friday, and was pronounced by many members of the bar, in attendance upon the supreme court on that day, to be a fine likeness of the former president of the Senate. Among the best portraits in the Senate chamber is that of Hon. Richard Jenness, who preceeded by several years his friend, Mr. Hackett, in the chair of the Senate.

THE VICINITY.

Eliot holds its annual town meeting on Monday, the 31st inst.

Dr. J. C. Stewart, of York, has been confined to his house for the past week by sickness.

Amos Paul, Esq., of South Newmarket, agent of the Swampscot Machine Shop, has been confined to his house for a week or more by illness.

The New England Reform Club Association has voted to hold the annual camp-meeting during the last of August at Old Orchard beach, to continue seven days, provided satisfactory terms can be made with the Camp Ground association and railroads. The arrangements are to be on a liberal scale.

One hundred and fifty women attended the school meeting in the Union district in Concord on Saturday evening, notwithstanding a violent northeast storm prevailed. There were nine tickets in the field, several of them bearing the names of women, and there was some lively canvassing. The ballot resulted in no choice, and an adjournment to next Saturday evening. The meeting was very orderly.

Paymaster Randall of the Great Falls Manufacturing company, in answer to a letter of inquiry, has received word from Rev. Isaac Call of Westminster, Md., that Lewis Charlton, a colored man soliciting subscriptions in New England to build a church for colored people in Westminster, is a swindler, the idea of building such a church having been long since abandoned. Prominent men in Portland, Portsmouth and Dover have contributed liberal sums to the fellow. He plies his vocation particularly among the churches.

Thirty-four women voted at the school meeting in Great Falls on Saturday evening. Mrs. Mary E. Littlefield was elected clerk; but there is no such person, Mrs. Marietta E. Littlefield being the lady it was intended to elect, so the old clerk holds over until April 20th, when the selectmen will appoint a successor. The ladies will find out, as they continue voting, that "Sadie" Blank is not "Sarah" Blank, and that a vote intended for "Mabel" Somebody is thrown away if cast for "May Belle" Somebody.

INGOMAR AND PARTHENIA.

A very refined audience attended at Music hall on Monday evening, to witness the courtship of Parthenia and Ingomar, as represented by Miss Mary Anderson and Mr. John W. Norton. As to numbers the audience was very fair—much larger than we expected to see with the orchestra chairs at a dollar apiece; with the prices as usual the house would have been filled, and the pile of "gate-money" much enlarged. The entertainment deserved a full house as the prices were, for Mr. Norton is a fine actor and the support was strong; and Miss Anderson as the Greek maiden in her classic dress, with her handsome features and graceful movements, was so attractive that the privilege of looking at her for an hour through a spyglass was cheap at a dollar, in addition to which she is a real actress, and possesses a wonderful voice which she uses with consummate skill.

THE LATE ROBERT M. MASON.

Robert M. Mason, formerly of this city and last surviving son of Hon. Jeremiah Mason, whose death at Savannah, Ga., has already been noticed, although reserved and undemonstrative in his manner was remarkable for his warm heart and generous disposition, which found expression in unostentatious charities and acts of kindness. As a business man he was clear-headed, careful and conservative, and his excellent judgment was much depended upon by the numerous corporations with which he was connected as director or trustee. Although for a long time a resident of Boston, Mr. Mason leaves many friends in New Hampshire who will mourn his death, and our State may well claim him with pride as a native and a worthy descendant of one of her oldest families. The public bequests under the will of Mr. Mason are as follows: Episcopal Theological School, Cambridge, $25,000; Massachusetts General Hospital, for free beds, $5000; Church Home, for orphan and destitute children at South Boston, $15,000; Boston Provident Association, $5000. A legacy of $5000 was also left to Bishop Whipple. A loyal churchman, his unaffected piety was the great principle of his life. He was buried on Thursday of last week, services being held in the Memorial church at Cambridge, a building he erected and gave to the Divinity School in memory of his brother.

KITTERY TOWN ELECTION.

An article in the warrant to see what action the town would take relative to a free high school and to raise money in support thereof, was indefinitely postponed; and an article relative to uniting school districts No. 4 north and No. 4 south, was in like manner disposed of.

RAILROAD ACCOMMODATION.

The other day the Portland & Rochester railroad had a through passenger bound into Maine, who desired to take the train on the Maine Central railroad at Portland. On the Eastern road were a large number of passengers from Berwick, Kittery, York and other places, who designed to leave the Portsmouth, Great Falls & Conway railroad train at Rochester, go to Alfred, and return at night. It was the day on which the probate court sat at Alfred, and there were lawyers, administrators, witnesses to wills, widows, etc., all bound to keep appointments at the court. The Eastern train was in sight of the station of the Portland & Rochester road as the train approached Rochester, but when its passengers alighted at the Rochester station they were astonished to see the train of the Portland & Rochester start and steal away before they could reach it. Witnesses who had intended to swear before the judge of probate in Alfred, now swore out of his jurisdiction, in New Hampshire. Lawyers, who had prepared to be eloquent in the shire town of York, remained speechless at Rochester. In fact for the day they seemed "remote, unfriended, melancholy, slow." It would be great a convenience if the Portland & Rochester line could be made to see that its local business is of consequence as well as its through traffic. The loss of the fares either way of a dozen or two passengers, to the road was of course of but little consequence, compared with the loss to the persons who designed to travel over its line; and the aggravation of seeing the train which they desired to take slip off before their sight, was but partially relieved by the expletives used on the occasion by the sterner part of the non-transported.

ELIOT LETTERS.

ELIOT, March 22d.

A course of assemblies is being given by the Fearnot club, at Nason's wigwam, Sturgeon creek, Eliot, the party meeting on Wednesday evening of each week. Music by Stacy's band. Mr. Charles Card has charge of the floor.

A mask party was given by the young people of East Eliot, at Bartlett's hall on the 18th inst. The party enjoyed themselves very much before unmasking by marching, plays, etc.; at supper the masks were removed. The hall has recently been repapered and put in excellent condition. About sixty ladies and gentlemen were present, among them many of the most prominent citizens of the town; many of the ladies' costumes were elegant, and there was certainly a variety among the gentlemen. An excellent supper was served at about ten o'clock, and it was rare fun to see the ladies in search of their husbands—or lovers, as the case might be—it being ladies' choice of partners. There was no dancing on the occasion.

The many brick yards on Sturgeon creek are to be worked to their uttermost capacity the coming season; preparations are being made to commence business as soon as the weather will permit.

A well-known business man of Eliot stands ready to erect a building suitable for a town hall, if a satisfactory arrangement can be made with the town for a lease of the hall for a term of years.

X. X.

SOUTH ELIOT, ME., March 24th.

Through this post-office (South Eliot) a large part of the mail matter for the whole town passes.

Eliot neck is an elevated and beautiful strip of land in the extreme southern part of the town of Eliot. It extends to within a mile of Portsmouth, and is formed by the Piscataqua river and a small bay that makes out of the same. It is about a mile long and a third as wide, with a street through the middle to the end. There are also several cross streets. From the main street the land slopes gracefully to the bay. On the river the banks are quite bold, and in places covered with trees, giving them a wild and romantic aspect. The river here makes a number of graceful curves, forming little coves and circling eddies. "Boiling rock," which has occasionally caused the loss of life by overturning boats, barges, etc., is a sunken rock, an immense bowlder, in the channel of the stream, and seen only at low water. The river here is narrow and very deep, and as the tide rolls out in great volume and with immense force the waters madly rush against this rock and whirl and toss and boil with great fury, tumult and noise which may be heard a mile or two away.

The banks on the opposite side of the river are rocky and bold, and partially shaded by forest trees. Here is a little cove called "The devil's den." This cove seems quite deserted now; the former occupant has been too busy of late to visit his ancient resort. Near by is "Pulpit rock," overhanging the water. It was the custom of the early settlers on passing "The pulpit" to bow slightly; their descendants and others are expected reverently to follow their pious example. Still farther up the stream is a very beautiful spot often visited by picnics. The banks here are slightly elevated above high water mark, and are covered with a fine, smooth carpet of soft grass. Just back of this the land is more elevated and is shaded by trees. A remarkable eddy is formed here by a point of rocks. The waters in the stream rush out to the sea with great momentum, and those of the eddy whirl and boil and rush back with equal velocity.

On the "neck" are ninety families, making in all three hundred and seventy persons. The school is graded, and numbers about one hundred and sixty scholars. There are some fine residences on the "neck." Mr. T. F. Staples is now building one of fine proportions and rare beauty, and which will be when completed the finest in the town. There is a Second Advent church on the neck. Not far from the river on the main is the Methodist Episcopal church. A morning ride down the neck in pleasant weather, when the tide is full, is delightful. You are carried over a smooth and elevated road, and pass imposing dwellings, white cottages, gardens, orchards and mowing fields. Before you may be seen the navy yard, Kittery and Portsmouth, and the long bridge connecting the two towns. On your right is the river rolling onward its immense tide; on your left the bay burnished with silver; and just behind you in the distance, bathed in light, are Strafford hills, N. H.

On passing down the river with the tide no oars or sails are needed. Your boat glides swiftly onward and you listen to the murmur of waters or the liquid music of their ripple; and Boiling rock, the whirling eddies, Pulpit rock, the Devil's den and Freeman's point are soon left behind, and the city of Portsmouth, old and dingy, rises before you.

There is nothing more life-like than this beautiful and romantic stream, whether seen by the light of the sun or moon or when draped in twilight shadows. It never freezes and is never at rest, but is constantly rushing to or from the sea.

A Disease that Wrecks the System.

Every function is deranged, every nerve unstrung, every muscle and fiber weakened by fever and ague. It is, in fact, a disease which if unchecked, eventually wrecks the system. In all its types, in every phase, it is dangerous, destructive. Stupor, delirium, convulsions, often attend it, and cause swift dissolution. But when combatted with Hostetter's Stomach Bitters its foothold in the system is dislodged, and every vestige of it eradicated. That benign anti-febrific specific and preventive of the dreaded scourge is recognized not only within our own boundaries, but in tropic lands far beyond them, where intermittents and remittents are fearfully prevalent, to be a sure antidote to the malarial poison and a reliable means of overcoming disorders of the stomach, liver and bowels, of which a vitiated torrid atmosphere and brackish miasma-tainted water are extremely provocative. All emigrants and travelers should be supplied with it.

A Leading Physician says: "It can be relied upon" in speaking of Dr. A. J. Flagg's Cough and Lung Syrup.

It's high time you did stop that spitting of blood. It comes from your lungs and can be cured by using Dr. A. J. Flagg's Cough and Lung Syrup.

Free of charge—Sample bottle of Adamson's Cough Balsam at all drug stores. Owing to its perfect harmony in combination it is the very best mixture for the speedy cure and relief of croup, colds, throat or lung diseases. Large bottles 25 cents.

Permanent Relief is a great boon to any one who has been afflicted with a hacking cough. You can get it sure by using Dr. A. J. Flagg's Cough and Lung Syrup.

Merchants and visitors who have desired, so long, to live at a Hotel above the business centre, and to take a portion of their meals down town, while in New York, can do so, as the Grand Central Hotel, on Broadway, is now kept on both the American plan at $2.50 or $3.00, and the European plan $1.00 and upwards per day. An elegant Restaurant, at moderate prices, is conducted by the Hotel.

Asthma is easily cured by using Dr. A. J. Flagg's Cough and Lung Syrup. Sold by druggists.

A CARD.

To all who are suffering from the errors and indiscretions of youth, nervous weakness, early decay, loss of manhood, &c., I will send a receipt that will cure you, FREE OF CHARGE. WHEAT MEAL!

— OR —

Graham Flour.

When Wheat is ground it becomes Wheat Meal; when it is bolted it becomes Wheat Flour. Dr. Graham, who lectured through the country forty years ago on dietetics formed the fraternity known as "Grahamites." He said that bolted Flour should not be eaten, but that bread ought to be made of Wheat Meal instead; from him it got the name of Graham Flour. All Graham Flour therefore ought to be Wheat Meal, but about three-quarters of it is what we eat made up Graham, that is, artificially mixed Cheap Flour and Bran, and is in every way inferior to the genuine article. Hardly a person who uses the genuine Wheat Meal would take the bogus article except on compulsion.

The Crowning Discovery.

All the "phones" of this phonetic age are surpassed in practical benefit to mankind, by the discovery of Allan's Anti-Fat, the great and only known remedy for obesity, or corpulency. It produces no weakness or injurious effect. PAR VALUE, $10 PER SHARE.
UNASSESSIBLE.
Daniel J. Splane, Pres. J. L. Thompson, Sec.
The property of this Company consists of twelve mines and mining locations, located in Lake County, Colorado, in the vicinity of Leadville, upon all of which extensive work has been done, in all cases exhibiting true fissure veins, good pay streak, and well defined lodes.
Three of the leading mines are well opened up and have at the lowest computation over TEN THOUSAND TONS OF ORE IN SIGHT; by May 1st, the Railroad now under construction will be within a short distance of this property.
The Company proposes to sell a portion of its stock at $1.50 per share for the purpose of more completely developing its mines, and for the erection of works for the treatment of its ores.
Applications for the stock may be made to the office of the Company, 61 Broadway, New York.
N. B.—The Mining Record, of New York, the highest mining authority in this country, says Feb. 1st, 1879: The principal owners in this company are hard working men who by their own labor have uncovered large bodies of ore which they now prish to extract and send to market; our readers will do well to make a venture with these worthy men, this money will probably be returned to them twenty fold. The business management has been placed in the care of Mr. J. L. Thompson, an officer of high standing in one of the largest banks in the city. GOLDEN MEDICAL DISCOVERY
By its great and thorough blood-purifying properties, Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery cures all Humors, from the worst Scrofula to a common Blotch, Pimple, or Eruption. Mercurial disease, Mineral Poisons, and their effects, are eradicated, and vigorous health and a sound constitution established. Erysipelas, Salt-rheum, Fever Sores, Scaly or Rough Skin, in short, all diseases caused by bad blood, are conquered by this powerful, purifying, and invigorating medicine.
Especially has it manifested its potency in curing Tetter, Rose Rash, Boils, Carbuncles, Sore Eyes, Scrofulous Sores and Swellings, White Swelling, Goitre or Thick Neck, and Enlarged Glands.
If you feel dull, drowsy, debilitated, have sallow color of skin, or yellowish-brown spots on face or body, frequent headache or dizziness, bad taste in mouth, internal heat or chills alternated with hot flashes, low spirits, and gloomy forebodings, irregular appetite, and tongue coated, you are suffering from Torpid Liver, or "Biliousness." In many cases of "Liver Complaint" only part of these symptoms are experienced. As a remedy for all such cases, Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery has no equal, as it effects perfect and radical cures.
In the cure of Bronchitis, Severe Coughs, and the early stages of Consumption, it has astonished the medical faculty, and eminent physicians pronounce it the greatest medical discovery of the age. While it cures the severest Coughs, it strengthens the system and purifies the blood. Sold by druggists.

Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Purgative Pellets
SIZE OF PELLETS.
THE "LITTLE GIANT" CATHARTIC.
No use of taking the large, repulsive, nauseous pills, composed of cheap, cathartic and bulky ingredients. These Pellets are scarcely larger than mustard seeds.
Being entirely vegetable, no particular care is required while using them. They operate without distinguishing to the occupation, diet, or occupation. For Jaundice, Headache, Constipation, Impure Blood, Pain in the Shoulders, Tightness of the Chest, Dizziness, Sour Eructations from the Stomach, Bad Taste in the Mouth, Bilious Attacks, Pain in region of Kidneys, Internal Fever, Bloated feeling about Stomach, Rush of Blood to Head, take Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Purgative Pellets. In explanation of the remedial power of these Purgative Pellets over so great a variety of diseases, it may be said that their action upon the animal economy is universal, not a gland or tissue escaping their sanative impress. Are once not impair the properties of these Pellets. They are sugar-coated and inclosed in glass bottles, their virtues being thereby preserved unimpaired for any length of time, in any climate, so that they are always fresh and reliable. This is not the case with pills put up in cheap wooden or pasteboard boxes. For all diseases where a Laxative, Alterative, or Purgative, is indicated, these little Pellets will give the most perfect satisfaction. Sold by druggists.

CATARRH
SYMPTOMS.—Frequent headache, discharges falling into throat, sometimes profuse, watery, thick mucous, purulent, offensive, etc. In others, a dryness, dry, watery, weak, or inflamed eyes, stopping up, or obstruction, of the nasal passages, clearing in cars, deafness, hawking and coughing to dislodge the throat, ulcerations, sore from ulcers, voice altered, nasal twang, offensive breath, impaired or total deprivation of sense of smell and taste, dizziness, mental depression, loss of appetite, indigestion, enlarged tonsils, tickling cough, etc. Only a few of these symptoms are likely to be present in any case at one time.
DR. SAGE'S CATARRH REMEDY
produces radical cures of the worst cases of Catarrh, no matter of how long standing. The liquid remedy may be snuffed, or better applied by the use of Dr. Pierce's Douche. This is the only form of instrument yet invented with which full medicine can be carried HIGH UP and PERFECTLY APPLIED to all parts of the affected nasal passages, and the chambers or cavities communicating therewith, in which sores and ulcers frequently exist, and from which the catarrhal discharge generally proceeds. Its use is pleasant and easily understood, from directions accompanying each instrument. Dr. SAGE'S Catarrh Remedy cures recent attacks of "Cold in the Head" by a single application. It is mild and pleasant to use, containing no strong or caustic drugs or poisons. Catarrh Remedy and Douche sold by druggists. R. V. PIERCE, M. D., Proprr. NINE PHYSICIANS AND SURGEONS of eminence and skill have been chosen as the Faculty.

CHRONIC DISEASES of the Female sex come within the province of our several specialties.

LUNG DISEASES in their incipient stages are very ably managed by a gentleman of mature judgment and skill. Bronchial, Throat and Lung Diseases treated with the most successful results.

DISEASES OF WOMEN—Especially are our facilities of a superior order for the cure of all those chronic diseases unique to females.

NERVOUS DISEASES.—Paralysis, Nervous Debility, Epilepsy (Fits), Chorea (St. Vitus's Dance), Neuralgia, and other Nervous Diseases receive the attention of an expert in this specialty.

NOT NECESSARY TO SEE PATIENTS.—By our original system of diagnosis, we can treat many chronic diseases as successfully by letter as with a personal consultation. For particulars see "People's Common Sense Medical Adviser" (1,000 pages, sent post-paid for $1.50), or "Invalids' and Tourists' Guide Book" (100 pages, 10 cents).

SURGICAL CASES.—Among the operations which we are called upon most frequently to perform, are those for Nasal Polypus, Hare-lip, Cancers, Fistula in Ano, Piles, Hernia (Rupture), Hydrocele (Dropsy of the Scrotum), Varicocele (Varicose Veins), Pelvic Tumors, Calculi (Stone in the Bladder), Stricture, etc., etc. We are successfully performing with a personal consultation. For particulars see "People's Common Sense Medical Adviser" (1,000 pages, sent post-paid for $1.50), or "Invalids' and Tourists' Guide Book" (100 pages, 10 cents).

Address, World's Dispensary Medical Association, BUFFALO, N. Y.

WOMAN

By an immense practice at the World's Dispensary and Invalids' Hotel, having treated many thousand cases of those diseases peculiar to women, I have been enabled to perfect a most potent and positive remedy for these diseases.

To designate this natural specific, I have named it

Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription

The term, however, is but a feeble expression of my high appreciation of its value, based upon personal observation. I have, while witnessing its positive results in the special diseases incident to the organism of woman, singled it out as the climax or crowning gem of my medical career. On its merits, as a positive, safe, and effectual remedy for this class of diseases, and one that will, at all times and under all circumstances, act kindly, I am willing to stake my reputation as a physician; and so confident am I that it will not disappoint the most sanguine expectations of a single invalid lady who uses it fearsomely of the alternative for which I recommend it, that I offer and sell it under A POSITIVE GUARANTEE. (For conditions, see pamphlet wrapped to bottle.)

The following are among those diseases in which my Favorite Prescription has wrought cures, as if by magic, and with a certainty never before attained by any medicine: Leucorrhœa, Excessive Flowing, Painful Monthly Periods, Suppression when from unnatural causes, Irregularities, Weak Back, Prolapsus, or Falling of the Uterus, Anteversion and Retroversion, Bearing-down Sensations, Internal Heat, Nervous Depression, Debility, Despondency, Threatened Miscarriage, Chronic Congestion, Inflammation and Ulceration of the Uterus, Impotency, Barrenness, or Sterility, and Female Weakness. I do not claim this medicine as a "cure-all," but it admirably fulfills a specific of purpose, being a most perfect remedy in all functional disorders of the sexual system of woman. It will not disappoint, nor will it scatter, in any stage or condition.

Those who desire further information on these subjects can obtain it in THE PEOPLE'S COMMON SENSE MEDICAL ADVISER, a book of over 900 pages, sent post-paid, on receipt of $1.50. It treats minutely of those diseases peculiar to Females, and gives much valuable advice in regard to the management of those affections.

Favorite Prescription sold by Druggists.

SWORN EVIDENCE.

The following Cure is probably the most remarkable ever effected by any medical preparation for the treatment of Catarrh:

Gentlemen.—I hereby certify that I have had Catarrh for ten years, and for the last six years have been a terrible sufferer. I was rendered partially deaf, had buzzing in the head, pains across the temple, dizzy spells, weak and painful eyes, swollen and ulcerated tonsils, hard and constant cough, severe pain across the chest, and every indication of consumption. My head ached all the time. The matter accumulated so rapidly in my head and throat that I could not keep them free. Frequently at night I would spring out of bed, it seemed to me, at the point of suffocation, would then have recourse to every means in my power to dislodge the mucus from my throat and head before being able to sleep again. For a period of six years my tonsils were ulcerated and so much inflamed that I could with difficulty swallow. I finally consulted an eminent surgeon in regard to my condition, from whom, upon my request postponed it. The constant inflammation and ulceration in my throat caused by the poisonous matter dropping down from my head had so irritated and inflamed my lungs that I coughed incessantly—a hard, hard cough. Meanwhile my system began to show the effects of this disease, so that I lost flesh, grew pale, and showed every symptom of an early death by consumption. When matters had reached this stage, or about six months ago, I began the use of SANFORD'S RADICAL CURE FOR CATARRH. After using the first bottle I began to improve rapidly. The first dose seemed to clear my head so I had not known it to be for years. It seemed gradually to arrest the discharge. It stopped my cough in three days. By using it as a gargle I soon reduced the inflammation and swelling of my tonsils to that they soon ceased to trouble me. The eczema across my chest disappeared, the buzzing noises in my head ceased, my eyes ceased to ache and I became perfectly completely restored, and every symptom of disease that had reduced me to the verge of the grave disappeared by the use of SANFORD'S RADICAL CURE FOR CATARRH.

I have been thus explicit because, as a druggist, I saw so much great deal of suffering from Catarrh, and scope to convince many that this is a great remedy.

I am familiar with the treatment of Catarrh as practised by the best physicians, and have consulted the most eminent about my case. I have used every kind of remedy and apparatus that have appeared during a period of six years past, and have, while following that course, taken great care of my general health, but obtained no relief or encouragement from any of them.

COLLINS'

VOLTAIC PLASTER

Affords the most grateful relief in all Affections of the Chest and Lungs.

CHRONIC PLEURISY CURED.

MESSRS. WEEKS & POTTER: Gentlemen.—Having for many months past suffered with a very lame side, caused by my lungs adhering to my ribs, the result of a severe injury and strain, and for which I tried many prescribed remedies without any effect, I was induced to try Collins' Voltaic Plaster, which, to my great surprise, relieved the pain and soreness almost immediately, and I have been able to attend to my household affairs ever since with ease and comfort, whereas, before the application of your invaluable Plaster, I was scarcely able to do anything. I consider them invaluable, and shall will pleasure recommend them to the afflicted. Yours respectfully, MRS. FRANCES HARRIMAN.

ORLANDO, Me., April 21, 1876.

There is no medical or protective appliance that will prove so grateful and effective in Tickling Coughs, Irritation and Soreness of the Chest and Lungs. I believe them capable of preventing serious chest affections.

PRICE, 25 CENTS.

Do not confound these Plasters with the ordinary Plasters of the day, that by comparison are absolutely worthless.

Be careful to obtain COLLINS' VOLTAIC PLASTER, a combination of Electric or Voltaic Plaster with a highly Medicated Plaster, as seen in the above cut. Sold by all Druggists and Dealers throughout the United States and Canadas, and by WEEKS & POTTER, Proprietors, Boston, Mass.

Appointments of Senators.

In the United State Senate, last week, on a motion to refer Mr. Bell's credentials to a committee, Mr. Rollins of New Hampshire said:

Mr. President, before a vote is taken upon the pending question I desire to submit for the consideration of the Senate such precedents as I find which in my judgment are entitled to weight in the consideration of this case. After the most careful and diligent scrutiny of the records of the Senate, from the foundation of the Government down to the present time, I have found the following cases only of appointments made to fill a vacancy occasioned by expiration of a term of office:

William Cocke, a Senator from the State of Tennessee, whose term of service expired March 3, 1797, was, on the 22d of April, 1797, appointed by the governor to fill the vacancy occasioned by the expiration of his term. His credentials were presented May 16, 1797, and he was admitted without objection.

Uriah Tracy, a Senator from the State of Connecticut, whose term expired on March 3, 1801, was admitted as a member of the Senate at the special session called March 4, 1801, under the appointment of the governor. Exceptions being taken to his credentials, he was admitted by a vote of 13 yeas to 10 nays, and held his seat until he was elected by the Legislature in May following.

William Hindman, a Senator from the State of Maryland, whose term of office expired March 3, 1801, was appointed by the governor March 4, 1801, and was admitted as a member of the Senate March 5, 1801, without objection. He served until the election of his successor, Robert Wright, in November following.

John Condit was appointed Senator of New Jersey September, 1, 1803, in place of Aaron Ogden, whose term expired March 3, 1803. He was admitted as a member of the Senate October 17, 1803, without objection, and his election by the Legislature in November followed. In this case the appointment does not seem to have been made until a vacancy existed, which is identical with the case under consideration.

Joseph Anderson, a Senator from the State of Tennessee, whose term expired March 3, 1809, was admitted as a member of the Senate at the extra session convened on the 4th of March, 1809, without question, under an appointment from the governor of his State. He served until he was elected by the Legislature.

Samuel Smith, a Senator from the State of Maryland, whose term expired March 3, 1809, was admitted as a member of the Senate at the special session of March 4, 1809, under an appointment by the executive. He was admitted without objection and held his seat until elected by the Legislature in November following.

Charles Cutts, a Senator from the State of New Hampshire, whose term expired March 3, 1813, was admitted as a member of the Senate at the special session on May 24, 1813, without question, under an appointment by the governor of his State, and served until the election of Jeremiah Mason in June following.

John Williams, a Senator from the State of Tennessee, whose term of office expired March 3, 1817, was admitted as a member of the Senate at the extra session called March 4, 1817, without objection, under an appointment by the executive—his credentials having been read and filed during the previous session—and held his seat until re-elected by the Legislature in October following.

James Lanman, a Senator of Connecticut, whose term expired March 3, 1820, was appointed by the governor, February 8, 1825, to fill the vacancy which would occur at the expiration of his term. His credentials were presented at the called session, March 4, 1825, and question being raised, the decision of the Senate was adverse to his right.

Ambrose H. Sevier, a Senator from the State of Arkansas, whose term expired March 3, 1837, was appointed by the governor, January 18, 1837, to fill the vacancy which would occur at the expiration of his term. At the called session, March 4, 1837, objection was made, but he was admitted.

In both these latter cases of Lanman and Sevier the appointments were made in anticipation of a vacancy which would occur at some future time; and such was the fact in the cases of Messrs. Tracy, Anderson, and Williams, and in the Lanman case rejection stands alone against all the others.

The appointments of Messrs. Cocke, Hindman, Condit, Smith, and Cutts appear to have been made after the vacancy had actually occurred, and they were admitted without question.

These are all the cases found in the records where an appointment has been made by the executive of any State to fill a vacancy occurring by the expiration of a term of office.

In three cases—those of Messrs. Tracy, Lanman, and Sevier—where the appointments were made in anticipation of a vacancy about to occur, question was made; and in two of these cases—Tracy and Sevier—the appointees were admitted, and in the other rejected.

In the five cases where the appointment was made after the vacancy actually occurred, the appointees were admitted without question.

In the case under consideration the appointment was made after vacancy actually occurred, the credentials bearing date of March 13, 1879; the appointment having been made by the executive of New Hampshire after the expiration of the term of Senator Wadleigh, and subsequent to the call of the President of the United States for an extra session of Congress.

The act of Congress of July 25, 1866, requires that the Senators shall be elected by the Legislature "chosen next preceding the expiration" of any term.

By reason of a change in the constitution of New Hampshire which took effect October 1, 1878, two Legislatures were chosen in the year 1878; one in March under the old constitution, whose term of office commenced in June, 1878, and will continue to June, 1879, and the other in November, whose term of office will not commence till June, 1879, and will continue to June, 1881.

Upon a bill being introduced into the Senate of the United States in June 1878, to define which of these two Legislatures had the power to elect a successor to Mr. Wadleigh, the Committee on Elections and Privileges made a report (No. 485) that only the Legislature chosen in November, 1878, had the power; which report was adopted by the Senate. The Legislature chosen in March thereupon took no steps to elect a successor to Mr. Wadleigh. But the Legislature chosen in November 1878, cannot be assembled until June, 1879. Therefore in March, 1879, when the vacancy occurred, there was no Legislature in being or capable of being assembled with the power to elect a Senator. On the principle of Sevier's case, therefore, the governor had the right of appointment.

Under these circumstances, Mr. President, with these precedents, I hope the oath of office will be administered to Mr. Bell. Then, if it is desirable to make any inquiry, the credentials may be referred to the Committee on Privileges and Elections, and it may be had.

The Senate committee on privileges and elections has decided by a strict party vote that Charles H. Bell was not constitutionally appointed a Senator from New Hampshire, and is not entitled to a seat.

Chronicle Correspondence.

WASHINGTON, D. C., March 21st.

Your correspondent has had interviews with a prominent official in the treasury department, which resulted in trustworthy information on a point heretofore in doubt, namely, the stalwartness of the President. This official is a stalwart of the severest kind, one who has disagreed with the President on his southern policy; "you can state to the public," this official says, "that the republicans can take hope and the democrats warning, that the President is fixed in his determination to stand out against the repeal of the federal election laws at whatever cost." This official is in high glee at the prospect, and is reassured by the fact, which has not been before stated, I believe, that for the first time since this administration came into power the members of the cabinet are a unit in sustaining the President in his proposition to veto any measure that contains the proposed political legislation. Even Key is in "dead earnest," according to this enthusiastic radical official, in the policy thus marked out, and as for Schurz and Thompson, they have renewed their allegiance to the stalwarts, and changed from "sore head republicans" to "bloody-shirters," to quote this gleeful official once more. There are stalwarts who still doubt the President's metal in a crisis, and there are democrats from the south who claim that he is indebted to them for suppert and will not go back upon them, but I must conclude from the information I have gathered that the President will take a partisan stand with his old friends in this controversy. And I may say that he will go further than anybody else has yet contemplated.

It has been currently reported that the democrats, in case the appropriation bills with the political attachments are vetoed, propose to take a recess until the week before the beginning of the regular session in December, upon the supposition that, Congress still being session, constructively could not again be called in extra session as in case it should adjourn. The President has canvassed this matter, according to my informant, and has taken the advice of his cabinet upon it. They decide unanimously that this cannot defeat the purpose of the administration in obtaining means to run the government machinery. The President will at once call another meeting to take place before June 30th, the close of the fiscal year, and he says that the members must assemble at his demand. This statement will create a sensation, but my authority is unimpeachable. The result of the political complications is therefore more problematical and interesting than ever.

"Now you see it and now you don't." That is the rule of affairs here now, as it is of prestidigitation. A little sign of wavering was exposed in the democratic House caucus last night. Mr. Springer, of Illinois, surprised his friends by opposing the absolute repeal of the election supervisor laws. He is in favor of the law substantially. What does this mean? Are the northern democrats weakening as the President stiffens up? There were signs of dissatisfaction, too, with the heretofore accepted programme that no general legislation should be undertaken at the extra session. Alex. H. Stevens led the demand for general legislation, and although Mr. Randall appeared to discourage that idea, it prevailed so far as we can judge from the expressions of members. No policy was fixed upon, but a committee was appointed to settle upon a programme, and this committee will confer with the Senate democratic committee and report in a day or two.

The first assault on the supervisors law was made in the House yesterday, when McMahon, of Ohio, presented a memorial of citizens of Cincinnati asking for an investigation of alleged abuses under that law in the election of Congressman Young and Butterworth of that city. The request was granted, the republicans assenting to it with the provision that the investigation should cover the whole matter of the working of the election law.

The Oliver-Cameron case here is developing a good deal of filth. Mrs. Oliver will not get damages for breach of promise from the Ex-Senator, if the line of defence succeeds. But Mr. Cameron's character is smooched by the evidence which breaks down the reputed "widow," and the public has no bias for either. The state of society in Washington is deplorable indeed, if this case is a fair sample.

KNOX.

News and Notes.

The London Times reports shocks of earthquake in northern Persia on Saturday and Sunday. Mirach was much damaged, and the adjacent villages of Tark and Manvan were totally destroyed. Of 1100 inhabitants few escaped death.

Henry Mathewson of Providence, R. I., aged fourteen years, was severely and perhaps fatally wounded, Monday, by the accidental discharge of a revolver which he had in his pocket, while sitting at his desk in the Bridgham school.

Isaac Manchester, a diver engaged in the effort to raise the schooner Thomas J. Lynch, sunk near Newport, R. I., was drowned Monday. His body was raised by divers from the torpedo station, and taken to Newport.

At Paducah, Kentucky, on Sunday night, Jerry Ewing (colored) was seized by twelve masked men and shot to death, after which a bag of sand was tied to his body and he was thrown into the Ohio river. Ewing ravished a twelve-years-old white girl named Fields, by whose brother he was captured after receiving two gun-shot wounds.

A son of Eben Peverly of North Woodstock, Me., aged about fifteen years, was found Monday, the 17th, in the stable, dying, with a pistol-shot wound in the temple. He was alone, and it is supposed while playing with his revolver he accidentally shot himself. The bullet entered the brain, and he lived but a few hours after being discovered.

The family of George W. Potter of Ellsworth, Me., have been ill for some time. The doctor suspected lead poisoning. He at last discovered the yeast pitcher to be covered with a piece of sheet lead, which by the action of the compound covered by it has been eaten through in several places, and the family took their poison regular with their daily bread.

Three Boston boys, from ten to thirteen years old, were recently found in a freight car at Bridgeport, Conn. They had stolen rides by steamer and railroad to New York to see the great walk, and were trying to get home. Some railroad hands stowed them in a car bound for New Haven, and it is said that they were passed along in the same way from there.

The monster socialist ball and meeting which was inaugurated on Saturday evening in Chicago continued throughout the night and next day, and up to a late hour Sunday night. The concluding exercise was a drill of those who bore arms, which gave evidence of considerable knowledge of military tactics. No breach of the peace occurred.

The trial of Henry Hamlin for the murder of Shipman, State prison watchman at Weathersfield, Conn., and of John Davis, one of the prison guards, as accessory, commenced in the superior court at Hartford, Monday, the prisoners having elected to be tried by court instead of by jury. William Allen, under indictment for the same murder, will be tried by jury after the trial of Hamlin and Davis.

Szegedin, Hungary, is threatened with another inundation; the water is again rising, and if it keeps on will destroy the few houses yet remaining.

Capt. John Irwin is detached from command of the Indepedence, and ordered to duty in charge of the navigation department of the Mare island navy yard April 10th.

Valuable Book for Tourists.

"A Satchel Guide for the vacation tourist in Europe." This edition of this comprehensive, and to the tourist indispensible work, for 1879, has been seasonably issued by Houghton, Osgood & Company, and is to be found at all well established book stores and places of note where travellers congregate on either side of the Atlantic. This is the eighth annual publication of the book, which contains revisions and corrections down to the present time. There are two classes of persons who should possess this work: first, the tourist, who will soon stand on the deck with bouyant expectations of a season's enjoyment abroad; and second, the cautious procrastinator, who will postpone going to Europe this season until he sees what will come from the plague.

The guide-books in Europe, expensive and bulky, are not renewed yearly. They wait until their large editions are sold before starting anew, and the intervals between editions often reach the space of three years or more. The Satchel Guide has a yearly revision, and every change is noted, including the new hotels and the new proprietors of the old, the times of admission to art galleries, and the many important pieces of information to obtain which, on the instant, is such a saving of precious time abroad. The contents of the book embrace hints upon travel, descriptions of places, routes, maps, etc., in fine, every thing one should know if he goes abroad, while to one who remains at home an inexpensive tour in Europe can be had at his fire side in the perusal of the book. It is of convenient size, and published at $2.00; and taken in the Satchel will save its cost many times to the foreign tourist.

ROYAL BAKING POWDER

Absolutely Pure.

The Royal Baking Powder is a pure Cream of Tartar powder, made from pure Grape Cream Tartar, imported exclusively for this powder direct from the wine district of France. An old experienced housekeeper writes that, although she has to pay a few pennies more for the "Royal," finds that it goes so much further and works much better than saleratus, soda, or cream of tartar.

☞ Most of the Cream of Tartar of commerce is adulterated with Alum, Terra Alba, etc. Doctors pronounce Alum most dangerous to health; it costs but 2c. a lb., Cream of Tartar over 40. The Royal Baking Powder is recommended for its wholesomeness by such eminent chemists as Dr. Mott, New York; Dr. S. Dana Hayes, Boston. Sold only in cans. All Grocers.

☞ BAKING POWDER should never be sold in paper packages, as it becomes stale and deteriorates upon exposure to the atmosphere. 110-

THE CITY.

A bright light, as of a fire, in the direction of Eliot neck, attracted the attention of persons on the streets at about eight o'clock Tuesday evening.

Rev. F. M. Pickles, said to be a brilliant speaker, will lecture in the Methodist church this evening at 7:30 o'clock. Subject, "How to make a man."

Tenney, the artist, is engaged in painting a portrait of our late fellow citizen Col. Joshua Winslow Peirce, to be placed in Phillips Academy at Exeter.

Our "legal" authority was wide of the mark when he asserted that Max von Shoern, the runaway, was in Boston with his erstwhile-deserted bride, for the wife is now in this city, and has been all the time, and Max isn't in this city or Boston, and probably won't soon be if he can help it, as it is said he is much safer where he is, in the British provinces.

Dr. Pollock, the surgeon chiropodist whose card appears in another column, leaves for Portland in the three o'clock train Saturday P. M.; persons intending to avail themselves of his skillful services in removing or palliating troubles of the feet, will govern themselves accordingly. He is highly recommended by many of the best people of cities to the eastward, where he has practised for years.

A team owned by Mr. Harry Freeman and driven by Mr. Wm. Haddock, on turning from Vaughan street into Congress street, Tuesday forenoon, came into collision with a farmer's team that was going down Congress street. Mr. Freeman's horse was thrown flat in the mud, and one shaft of the wagon he was drawing was broken; one hind wheel of the other wagon was taken off, the axle breaking.

Hon. Frank Jones, who returned from a brief visit to Washington last week, spent some time in that city as one of the commissioners appointed to consider the subject of better ventilation of the hall of the House of Representatives, in examining into the present process of supplying fresh air. He thinks more air can be forced into the hall. That is just what is needed—more pure air and less wind.

We believe the presentation of "Pinafore" on Friday evening will be better than it was done here by the Boston Museum company, for we know that at least three of the performers are singers and actors of superior ability, and it is claimed that all the others are equally as good. The tickets are placed at popular prices, so everybody can attend this performance of one of the most amusing musical absurdities brought out of late years.

There has been a remarkably large sale of tickets for the entertainment at Music hall by the Hutchings Association this evening. A deservedly large house will greet the amateurs.

The association will repeat the plays which gave such satisfaction to the large audience which witnessed their performance in the vestry of the Universalist church last week. In addition to the comedy and burlesque they intend to add a new and interesting feature to the entertainment. Reinewald's orchestra will be in attendance, and perform some of their excellent selections.

A meeting of shipowners and others who are interested in the Geneva award, was held in the common council room in this city on Tuesday, for the purpose of considering a proposal that they contribute an additional five per cent of their claims (over and above the attorneys' fees) as a fund for the purpose of further prosecuting the claims. Rufus Wildes, of Boston, a member of the shipowners' league, was present, and addressed the meeting in favor of the proposal. The matter was referred to Capt. Daniel Marcy, who will consult with the shipowners of Boston and other places as to the feasibility of the plan, and report at the next meeting.

A meeting of the Portsmouth contributors to the fund solicited by Charlton, the colored traveling man who was willing to receive sums as low as fifty cents towards building a church for the freedmen away down south in Dixie, will be held at the common council room on Tuesday, April 1st, to take measures to prepare a suitable memorial in honor of the neat manner in which the ingenuous and honest missionary did his work.

Among the receipts by rail this week are 700 bushels of malt by the Portsmouth Brewing Co.

Col. John H. George, counsel for the Eastern railroad, has filed a motion for a new trial in the case of Dr. Charles W. Hackett vs. the Eastern railroad, in which the jury of the United States circuit court on the 4th inst. rendered a verdict for the plaintiff for $39,500 damages for injuries sustained while a passenger on one of their trains. The grounds on which motion is filed are, that the award is excessive, and the jury are not sustained in their verdict by the weight of the law and evidence submitted at the trial. The case will be argued before Judge Lowell during the present week.

The ferry steamer James Sampson brought thirty passengers across the river on Monday evening, many of whom attended the representation of Ingomar at Music Hall. Our Kittery neighbors were charmed with the acting of Miss Anderson, and delighted with her graceful poise and her representation of a daughter's devotedness and womanly trials; but they were puzzled to know how the barbarous tribe of the Allamanni could afford a fine woolen carpet upon the "floor of the forests" though which they roamed, and doubtless they thought that stage managers, like poets, in their wild scenes of nature occasionally indulge in a license not stipulated in the books.

Concerning the drama that is to be presented at Music Hall to-morrow (Thursday) evening, and the principal actor, an exchange says: "The drama of the Serpent's Sting, now being played at the Metropolitan, is beyond a doubt the finest dramatic production ever presented in this house. It is a play of deep interest from the beginning to the end; not a particle of trash, nor an impossibility or improbability in the entire piece. The audience at times are worked up to the highest pitch of enthusiasm. The acting of Mr. G. A. Hill is far above the average. He has all that ease and grace which can only be acquired by long experience, careful study, and a constant appearance before the foot-lights, the audience recognizing in him at once a true artist. He has been received nightly with deserved and well merited applause."

THE VICINITY.

The Robinson Seminary for females, at Exeter, opened its spring term on Monday.

Rev. D. B. Murray of North Hampton was one of the speakers at the reform club meeting in Manchester on Tuesday evening.

At the annual school meeting held at Newmarket on Saturday, Dr. S. H. Greene was elected a member of the board of education for three years. It was also voted to raise $2500 towards liquidating the district indebtedness, which is about $7500.

Loring Badet, of the firm of Baker & Son, Portland, Me., soap manufacturers, was arrested at Newmarket on Friday for violation of the peddler law. After two days' hearing he was discharged, as it was proved he was not peddling, but simply taking orders.

The funeral of the late William H. Sanborn took place in Kittery, Thursday afternoon, and was largely attended. St. John's Lodge of Freemasons and New Hampshire Lodge of Odd Fellows, of both which organizations Mr. Sanborn was a member, and one of the two encampments of Odd Fellows, turned out in large numbers to express their respect for the memory of the deceased, and the procession was greatly extended by the workmen who have been employed on the navy yard under Mr. Sanborn, and many citizens of Kittery.

WASTE OF TIME IN SCHOOLS.

"Waste of time in schools" is the heading of an excellent item that has recently appeared in the Chicago Tribune, and will meet the approbation of many in the humbler walks of life. By the laws of Illinois, German, music, and drawing are excluded from the studies of the public schools. The grounds that are taken on this question are, that while the school life of many of the pupils is limited, and a very small percentage of them ever complete their course, yet all the schooling they get is obtained during the brief time they attend. Therefore every hour they spend in practical studies is of the utmost importance to them, and every hour lost from these branches is an irreparable loss.

To those children therefore whose school life is limited every half hour is of the utmost importance, and to take the time in which they must learn to read, write, and get a knowledge of figures, for the study of German, music, and drawing, is a serious deprivation of that common school instruction which the law provides. In the one case the instruction is utterly valueless, while it takes from the children time of the utmost value; and the boy whose school life is limited may as well be turned out before the expiration of his time, as to waste it in acquiring accomplishments that are worthless to him.

Many of the working class will advocate this most needed reform; for the majority of the children in the public schools of our land belong not to wealthy families, but to the working class of people. What they require in their education is not "foreign finish," but something that will enable them to best provide for their personal wants.

The let the motto be "fill up the time with what will last," and since these accomplishments do not make them better citizens, give them that which is the most useful—reading, writing and arithmetic, and let those who have the means to educate their children give them any embellishment their taste and means can provide.

I am glad the people are waking up on this question, and see the importance of a good practical education. We cannot afford to relinquish a practical branch in the schools of our city, and while we approve of the most rigid economy in public affairs, and have all respect for those who study to promote it, yet we think if our economy is to encroach upon any of these important branches it is purchased at a fearful cost; and dispensing with our writing teacher would be a most extravagant attempt to curtail our city expenses, for writing is a practical branch, and the value of a good style of penmanship cannot be overestimated. One of the best recommendations the pupil who goes from our public schools can have, is a plain, neat, systematic style of handwriting.

MAJOR FENDALL'S FUNERAL.

The funeral of the late Major Philip R. Fendall, U. S. M. C., took place on Tuesday, with the military honors appropriate to his rank and befitting his eminent and patriotic services. Rev. James DeNormandie of the Unitarian church, and Rev. Charles A. Holbrook, rector of St. John's church, conducted the religious services. The general arrangements were in charge of Lieut. Charles Seymour, U. S. N., nearly all the officers attached to the navy yard, and very many of our most prominent citizens, testifying their respect to the memory of Major Fendall by attendance upon his obsequies. The marine guard from the yard performed escort duty.

As an officer Major Fendall was known here while in command of the marines at the yard as a good disciplinarian, careful of the comfort and appearance of his men, kind yet firm in all that pertained to their welfare and the preservation of good order and military observances. He was always courteous and agreeable to his equals, and polite to and considerate of his inferiors; while his integrity and sense of honor, normal traits in his character, were shown in his unswerving fidelity in the discharge of the various duties he was from time to time called upon to perform.

In the death of this officer the branch of the service to which he has been attained for over twenty years loses one of its best representatives, and one of its most accomplished and loyal officers.

New Hampshire Items.

Blanche Bowles, about twelve years of age, daughter of Mr. J. H. Bowles of Lisbon, while playing drove a needle through her breast bone, about three-fourths of an inch. It broke off close to the bone, but penetrated the lung so she could feel it at every breath. Ether was administered, but nearly an hour elapsed before the surgeon succeeded in extricating the needle.

The supreme court, full bench, in session at Concord, postponed the delivery of their opinion in the case of Joseph Buzzell, the Brookfield murderer, until the June term of the court. The bench has under consideration the exceptions raised by the counsel for the respondent at his trial, which resulted in his being sentenced to execution on the 10th of May next.

The United States supreme court has set aside the judgment of the circuit court of the southern district of New York, in the case of the alleged sale of the Glen house property in the White Mountains, May 16th, 1871.

Colonel Thomas L. Livermore of Boston has been appointed agent of the Amoskeag Manufacturing Company at Manchester, and assumes his duties Tuesday. Colonel Livermore read law with Senator Wadleigh at Milford, and since the war has been practising his profession in Boston. He enlisted as private in the 1st New Hampshire Regt., subsequently served in the fifth as major, and was appointed brevet-colonel in the regular army for gallant and meritorous conduct. When the eighteenth New Hampshire was raised he was appointed colonel. The Hon. Daniel Clark, judge of the United States district court, has held the position since January 1st, made vacant by the resignation of Governor Straw. Colonel Livermore is a New Hampshire man by birth and education, and his appointment to this responsible position is well received in Manchester. Col. Livermore's legal practice has been largely in patent cases.

On Our Most Distant Frontiers,

As in our busiest and most populous cities of the seaboard and interior, Hostetter's Stomach Bitters is pre-eminently popular. Wherever civilization plants its foot on this continent, thither the great tonic soon finds its way. Nor is this surprising, for it is the medicine of all others best adapted to the wants of the Western emigrant, be he miner or agriculturist. It is an inconparable remedy for the diseases to which he is most subject, and which are liable to be brought on by a change of climate, hardship, exposure, unaccustomed air and diet, and miasmatic atmosphere and water. Among these are disorders of the stomach and bowels, rheumatic ailments, and malarious fevers, for all of which Hostetter's Bitters is a certain specific. A course of the Bitters before departing for the new field of labor, or on arriving, will have the effect of preventing the evils for which it is such a signal remedy.

Bronchitis will surely come if you let that cough run any longer. Stop it at once by using Dr. A. J. Flagg's Cough and Lung Syrup.

A Constantly Recurring Source of Pleasure.

As every one who reads the papers at all has become aware not only of the existence of an honestly-conducted Lottery in Louisiana, but also been more or less tempted by the glittering prospect of a fortune within their reach by the simple expenditure of a couple of dollars. The constantly recurring monthly drawings excite more and more attention, and their satisfactory management affords much pleasure to all interested. For the further information desired, the reader should address M. A. Dauphin, P. O. Box 692, New Orleans, La.

Consumption Cured.

An old physician, retired from practice, having had placed in his hands by an East India missionary the formula of a simple vegetable remedy, for the speedy and permanent cure for consumption, bronchitis, catarrh, asthma, and all throat and lung affections, also a positive and radical cure for nervous debility in all nervous complaints, after having tested its wonderful curative powers in thousands of cases, has felt it his duty to make it known to his suffering fellows. Actuated by this motive, and a desire to relieve human suffering, I will send, free of charge, to all who desire it, this recipe, with full directions for preparing and using, in German, French, or English. Sent by mail by addressing with stamp, naming this paper. W. W. Sherar, 149 Powers' Block, Rochester, New York. ta22

It takes the palm. The Cough and Lung Syrup of Dr. A. J. Flagg's.

Free of charge—Sample bottle of Adamson's Cough Balsam at all drug stores. Owing to its perfect harmony in combination it is the very best mixture for the speedy cure and relief of croup, colds, throat or lung diseases. Large bottles 35 cents.

Whooping Cough instantly relieved by a small amount of a very pleasant medicine known as Dr. A. J. Flagg's Cough and Lung Syrup. Keep it handy.

War and Gold—A hotel war based on gold prices. In order to accommodate both classes of travellers, the Grand Central Hotel, on Broadway, New York, is now kept on both plans, the American at $2.50 to $3.00, and the European at $1.00, and upwards, per day. An elegant Restaurant, at moderate prices, is conducted by the Hotel.

Children are so liable to colds and coughs. Cure them early by using Dr. A. J. Flagg's Cough and Lung Syrup.

A CARD.

To all who are suffering from the errors and indiscretions of youth, nervous weakness, early decay, loss of manhood, &c., I will send a recipe that will cure you, FREE OF CHARGE. Graham Flour.

When Wheat is ground it becomes Wheat Meal; when it is bolted it becomes Wheat Flour. Dr. Graham, who lectured through the country forty years ago on dietetics formed the fraternity known as "Grahamites." He said that bolted Flour should not be eaten, but that bread ought to be made of Wheat Meal instead; from him it got the name of Graham Flour. All Graham Flour therefore ought to be Wheat Meal, but about three-quarters of it is what we call made up Graham, that is, artificially mixed Cheap Flour and Bran, and is in every way inferior to the genuine article. Hardly a person who uses the genuine Wheat Meal would take the bogus article except on compulsion.

Political.

It is now stated that fourteen of the greenbackers in the House will vote with the republicans on political questions. This will make the republican vote 142, leaving the democrats with but two majority without the speaker. It was this narrow majority which induced the democrats of the House to elect a democratic member of Congress for Florida in place of the republican whom the people had elected.

Ex-Representative Rainey, who was undoubtedly elected to the present Congress, has received the appointment of register of the land office at Fargo, Dakota territory. Alexander H. Stephens and other leading democrates joined in urging the appointment of Mr. Rainey, which takes from the colored republicans of the south another of their leaders.

Harrington, a printer, stole a watch at one of Moody's meetings in Baltimore, and was sentenced to two years in prison. Judge Pinkham said that Harrington's association with printers should have made a better man of him, and gave the craft this tribute: "As a class none in this country are more talented, industrious, or possessed of a higher character. From the printers have been produced some of the best men in this or any country."

Miss Nellie Hubbard, the youngest daughter of Ex-Governor Richard D Hubbard, of Hartford, Conn., was secretly married on the 11th inst. to Frederick Shepard, her father's coachman, and a few days later the two disappeared. The event creates much gossip in Hartford, and the lady's father declares that all efforts at reconciliation will be futile. Mrs. Shepard is but nineteen years old, is beautiful, and highly educated. Her husband is several years her senior, an American, and said to be a man of fair character.

THE
Alpine Silver Mining Co.,
OF COLORADO.
CAPITAL $2,000,000. 200,000 SHARES.
PAR VALUE, $10 PER SHARE.
UNASSESSABLE.
Daniel J. Sylane, Pres. J. L. Thompson, Sec.
The property of this Company consists of twelve mines and mining locations, located in Lake County, Colorado, in the vicinity of Leadville, upon all of which extensive work has been done, in all cases exhibiting true fissure veins, good pay streak, and well defined lodes.
Three of the leading mines are well opened up and have at the lowest computation over TEN THOUSAND TONS OF ORE IN SIGHT, by May 1st, the Railroad now under construction, will be within a short distance of this property.
The Company proposes to sell a portion of its stock at $1.50 per share for the purpose of more completely developing its mines, and for the erection of works for the treatment of its ores.
Applications for the stock may be made to the office of the Company, 61 Broadway, New York.
N. B.—The Mining Record, of New York, the highest mining authority in this country, says Feb. 1st, 1879: The principal owners in this company are hard working men who by their own labor have uncovered large bodies of ore which they now wish to extract and send to market; our readers will do well to make a venture with these worthy men, this money will probably be returned to them twenty fold. The business management has been placed in the care of Mr. J. L. Thompson, an officer of high standing in one of the largest banks in the city. A Prospectus giving full particulars sent free, on application to the Secretary. m6t23d&w3mos

GAZETTE
Established 1756.
The Gazette is published every Thursday, and sent to Subscribers at the low price of $1.50 per year, paid in advance, or $2 at the end of the year.
It contains full accounts of all of importance that transpires in Portsmouth and its vicinity, and a condensed summary of NEWS, foreign and domestic; editorials upon current topics; New Hampshire items; carefully prepared marine news, containing reports of vessels owned at this port, or officered by men from Portsmouth or its neighborhood; and is just the paper for residents desiring to be posted on all that takes place at home, while to those living in the vicinity of Portsmouth, or to former residents who retain their interest in the "old home by the sea," it is the best means of keeping informed of what transpires in this city.
— THE —
NEW HAMPSHIRE GAZETTE
Contains more original matter
Than any other paper of its size in the State, the editors working more with their pens than with their scissors.

TO ADVERTISERS
THE N. H. GAZETTE
Presents an excellent opportunity for a WEEKLY INVITATION TO CUSTOMERS, at a reasonable rate, and all those who desire to reach patrons in Rockingham and York counties will find it an economical medium. THE GAZETTE is in many instances the only paper taken by families, and it is read to a large extent in localities where is derived much of the trade of Portsmouth, a fact which our merchants should not fail to bear in mind.

GOLDEN MEDICAL DISCOVERY
By its great and thorough blood-purifying properties, Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery cures all Humors, from the worst Scrofula to a common Blotch, Pimple, or Eruption. Mercurial disease, Mineral Poisons, and their effects, are eradicated, and vigorous health and a sound constitution established. Erysipelas, Salt-rheum, Fever Sores, Scaly or Rough Skin, in short, all diseases caused by bad blood, are conquered by this powerful, purifying, and invigorating medicine.
Especially has it manifested its potency in curing Tetter, Rose Rash, Boils, Carbuncles, Sore Eyes, Scrofulous Sores and Swellings, White Swellings, Goitre or Thick Neck, and Enlarged Glands.
If you feel dull, drowsy, debilitated, have sallow color of skin, or yellowish-brown spots on face or body, frequent headache or dizziness, bad taste in mouth, internal heat or chills alternated with hot flashes, low spirits, and gloomy forebodings, irregular appetite, and tongue coated, you are suffering from "Torpid Liver, or "Biliousness." In many cases of "Liver Complaint" only part of these symptoms are experienced. As a remedy for all such cases, Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery has no equal, as it effects perfect and radical cures.
In the cure of Bronchitis, Severe Coughs, and the early stages of Consumption, it has astonished the medical faculty, and eminent physicians pronounce it the greatest medical discovery of the age. While it cures the severest Coughs, it strengthens the system and purifies the blood. Sold by druggists.
R. V. PIERCE, M. D., Prop'r, World's Dispensary and Invalids' Hotel, Buffalo, N. Y.

Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Purgative Pellets
SIZE OF PELLETS.
THE "LITTLE GIANT" CATHARTIC.
No use of taking the large, repulsive, nauseous pills, composed of cheap, crude, and bulky ingredients. These Pellets are scarcely larger than mustard seeds. Being entirely vegetable, no particular care is required while using them. They operate without disturbance to the constitution, diet, or occupation. For Jaundice, Headache, Constipation, Impure Blood, Pain in the Shoulders, Tightness of the Chest, Dizziness, Sour Eructations from the Stomach, Bad Taste in the Mouth, Bilious attacks, Pain in region of Kidneys, Internal Fever, Bloated feeling about Stomach, Rush of Blood to Head, use Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Purgative Pellets. In explanation of the remedial power of these Purgative Pellets over so great a variety of diseases, it may be said that their action upon the natural cessore is natural, not a glandular tissue escaping their sanative impress. Age does not impair the properties of these Pellets. They are sugar-coated and inclosed in glass bottles, their virtues being thereby preserved unimpaired for any length of time, in any climate, so that they are always fresh and reliable. This is not the case with pills put up in cheap wooden or cardboard boxes. For all diseases where a Laxative, Alterative, or Cathartic is indicated, these little Pellets will give the most perfect satisfaction. Sold by druggists.
R. V. PIERCE, M. D., Prop'r, World's Dispensary and Invalids' Hotel, Buffalo, N. Y.

CATARRH
SYMPTOMS—Frequent headache, discharge falling into throat, sometimes profuse, watery, thick mucous, purulent, offensive, etc. In others, a dryness, raby, watery, weak, or inflamed eyes, stopping up, or obstruction, of the nasal passages, ringing in ears, deafness, hawking and coughing to clear the throat, ulcerations, scabs from ulcers, voice altered, nasal twang, offensive breath, impaired or total deprivation of sense of smell and taste, dizziness, mental depression, loss of appetite, indigestion, offensive coughing, tickling cough, etc. Only a few of these symptoms are likely to be present in any case at one time.
DR. SAGE'S CATARRH REMEDY
produces radical cures of the worst cases of Catarrh, no matter of how long standing. The liquid and powdery may be snuffed, or better applied by the use of Dr. Pierce's Douche. This is the only form of instrument yet invented with which fluid medicine can be carried HIGH UP and PERFECTLY APPLIED to all parts of the affected nasal passages, and the chambers or cavities communicating therewith, in which sores and ulcers frequently exist, and from which the catarrhal discharge generally proceeds. Its use is pleasant, and easily understood, from directions accompanying each instrument. Dr. SAGE'S Catarrh Remedy cures most attacks of "Cold in the Head" by a few applications. It is mild and pleasant to use, containing no strong or caustic drugs or poisons. Catarrh Remedy and Douche sold by druggists.

Foreign News

embraces special dispatches from all quarters of the globe. Under the head of American News

are given the Telegraphic Despatches of the week from all parts of the Union. This feature alone makes

The Weekly Herald

the most valuable chronicle in the world, as it is the cheapest. Every week is given a faithful report of embracing complete and comprehensive despatches from Washington, including full reports of the speeches of eminent politicians on the questions of the hour.

Political News

The Farm Department

of the Weekly Herald gives the latest as well as the most practical suggestions and discoveries relating to the duties of the farmer, hints for raising Cattle, Poultry, Grains, Trees, Vegetables, &c., &c., with suggestions for keeping buildings and farming utensils in repair. This is supplemented by a well-edited department, widely copied, under the head of

The Home,

giving recipes for practical dishes, hints for making clothing and for keeping up with the latest fashions at the lowest price. Every item of cooking or economy suggested in this department is practically tested by experts before publication. Letters from our Paris and London correspondents on the very latest fashions. The Home Department of the Weekly Herald will save the housewife more than one hundred times the price of the paper. The interests of

are looked after, and everything relating to mechanics and labor-saving is carefully recorded. There is a page devoted to all the latest phases of the business markets, Crops, Merchandise, &c., &c. A valuable feature is found in the specially reported prices and conditions of

The Produce Market.

Sporting News at home and abroad, together with a Story every week, a Sermon by some eminent divine, Literary, Musical, Dramatic, Personal and Sea Notes. INCORPORATED JANUARY, 1878. WORLD'S DISPENSARY MEDICAL ASSOCIATION BUFFALO AND LONDON. CAPITAL STOCK, $1,000,000.

(Successors to R. V. PIERCE, M. D.)

DR. R. V. PIERCE, having acquired a world-wide reputation in the Treatment of Chronic Diseases, resulting in a professional business far exceeding his original abilities to perform, some years ago induced several medical gentlemen to associate themselves with him, as the Consulting Physicians of his Dispensary, the Consulting Department of which has since been merged with the INVALIDS' HOTEL. The organization has been completed and incorporated under the name and style of World's Dispensary Medical Association, with the following officers: Hon. R. V. PIERCE, Pres. F. D. PIERCE, V. Pres. JNO. E. PIERCE, Sec. LESTER B. SMITH, Treas.

NINE PHYSICIANS AND SURGEONS of eminence and skill have been chosen as the Faculty.

CHRONIC DISEASES of all forms come within the province of our several specialties.

LUNG DISEASES.—This division of practice is very ably managed by a gentleman of mature judgment and skill. Bronchial, Throat, and Lung Diseases treated with the most successful results.

DISEASES OF WOMEN.—Especially are our facilities of a superior order for the cure of all those chronic diseases peculiar to females.

NERVOUS DISEASES.—Among the specialties which we are called upon most frequently to perform, are those for Nasal Polypus, Rectal Polypus, Tumors, Fistula in Ano, Piles, Hernia (Rupture), Hydrocele, Dropsy of the Scrotum, Varicocele, Ovarian and Uterine Tumors, Calculi (Stone in the Bladder), Stricture, etc., etc. We also treat successfully, by a new method without surgical operation, Cancers, Tumors, Spinal Curvature, and other deformities. (See pamphlet entitled, "Motion vs. Medicine," sent on receipt of 10 cents.)

WOMAN

By an immense practice at the World's Dispensary and Invalids' Hotel, having treated many thousand cases of these complaints, the woman, I have been enabled to perfect a most potent and positive remedy for these diseases.

To designate this natural specific, I have named it

Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription

The term, however, is but a feeble expression of my high appreciation of its value, based upon personal observation. I have, while witnessing its positive results in the special diseases incident to the organism of woman, singled it out as the chiefest of my growing store of my medical career. On its merits, as a positive, safe, and efficient remedy for the class of diseases, and one that will, at all times and under all circumstances, act kindly, I am willing to stake my reputation as a physician; and so confident am I that it will not disappoint the most sanguine expectations of a single invalid lady who uses it for any of the ailments for which I recommend it, that I offer and sell it under A POSITIVE GUARANTEE. (For conditions, see pamphlet wrapping bottle.)

The following are among those diseases in which my Favorite Prescription has worked cures, as if by magic, and with a certainty never before attained by any medicine: Leucorrhœa, Excessive Flowing, Painful Monthly Periods, Suppressions when from unnatural causes, Irregularities, Weak Back, Prolapsus, or Falling of the Womb, Anteversion and Retroversion, Bearing-down Sensations, Internal Heat, Nervous Depression, Debility, Despondency, Threatened Miscarriage, Chronic Congestion, Inflammation and Ulceration of the Uterus, Impotency, Barrenness, or Sterility, and Female Weakness. Do not exhibit this medicine as a "cure-all," but it admirably fulfills a single class of purposes, being a most perfect specific in all chronic diseases of the sexual system of woman. It will not disappoint, nor will it do harm, in any state or condition.

Those desiring further information on these subjects can obtain it in THE PEOPLE'S COMMON SENSE MEDICAL ADVISER, a book of over 300 pages, sent post-paid, on receipt of $1.50. It treats minutely of those diseases peculiar to Females, and gives much valuable advice in regard to the management of those affections.

Favorite Prescription sold by Druggists.

SWORN EVIDENCE.

The following Cure is probably the most remarkable ever effected by any medical preparation for the treatment of Catarrh:

Gentlemen,—I hereby certify that I have had Catarrh for ten years, and for the last six years have been a terrible sufferer. I was rendered partially deaf, had buzzing in the head, pains across the temple, dizzy spells, weak and painful eyes, swollen and ulcerated tonsils, hard and constant cough, severe pain across the chest, and every indication of consumption. My head ached all the time. The matter accumulated so rapidly in my head and throat that I could not keep them free. Frequently at night I would spring out of bed, it seemed to me, at the point of suffocation, would then have recourse to every means in my power to dislodge the mucus from my throat and head before being able to sleep again. For a period of six years my tonsils were ulcerated and so much inflamed that I could with difficulty swallow. I finally consulted an eminent surgeon in regard to an operation on them, but at his request postponed it. The constant inflammation and ulceration in my throat caused by the poisonous matter dropping down from my head had so irritated and inflamed my lungs that I coughed incessantly—a deep hard cough. Meanwhile my system began to show the effects of this disease, so that I lost flesh, grew pale, and showed every symptom of an early death by consumption. When matters had reached this stage, or about six months ago, I began the use of SANFORD'S RADICAL CURE FOR CATARRH. After using the first bottle I began to improve rapidly. The first dose seemed to clear my head as I had not known it to be for years. I seemed gradually to arrest the discharge. It stopped my cough in three days. By using it as a gargle I soon reduced the inflammation and swelling of my tonsils so that they soon ceased to trouble me. The soreness across my chest disappeared, the buzzing noises in my head ceased, my senses of seeing and of hearing were completely restored, and every symptom of disease that had reduced me to the verge of the grave disappeared by the use of SANFORD'S RADICAL CURE FOR CATARRH. I have been thus explicit because, as a druggist, I saw such a great deal of suffering from Catarrh, and hope to convince many that this is a great remedy.

I am familiar with the treatment of Catarrh as practised by the best physicians, and have consulted the most eminent about my case. I have used every kind of remedy and apparatus that have appeared during a period of six years past, and have, while following the advice, taken great care of my general health, but obtained no relief or encouragement from any of them. * *

COLLINS' VOLTAIC PLASTER

Affords the most grateful relief in all Affections of the Chest and Lungs.

CHRONIC PLEURISY CURED

Messrs. WEEKS & POTTER: Gentlemen,—Having for many months been suffering with a pain in my side, called by my physician Chronic Pleurisy, caused by a former injury to a rib, and for which I used many prescriptions and liniments, as well as the so called rheumatic cures, without the least benefit, my physician recommended one of your COLLINS' VOLTAIC PLASTERS, which, to my great surprise, relieved the pain and soreness almost immediately, and I have been able to attend to my household affairs ever since with perfect ease and comfort, when before the application of your invaluable Plaster, I was scarcely able to do anything. I consider them invaluable, and shall will pleasure recommend them to the afflicted. Yours, &c., specially Mrs. FRANCES HARRIMAN.

ORLAND, Me., April 21, 1878.

There is no medical or protective appliance that will prove so grateful and effective in Tickling Coughs Irritation and Soreness of the throat and lungs. I believe them capable of preventing serious diseases of these organs.

PRICE, 25 CENTS.

☞ Not confound these Plasters with the ordinary Plasters of the day, that by comparison are absolutely worthless.

—A Halifax paper, in speaking of a miscreant who has been arrested in St. John for beating his wife, savagely accuses him of "weakness of character."

—A distinguished foreigner visiting this country remarked that the United States was the greatest country he ever saw for well-dressed beggars. He referred to the young men who hang around the entrances to churches. Only paupers do so abroad.

—Happy babies that are born in these enlightened times! The latest improvement on homœopathy is not to take medicine at all internally, but only to hold it in the hand, when the desired effect can be easily obtained if the drugs are of the essential "spiritual potentiality."

—When the confederate army was on its shortest rations General Lee remonstrated one day with a straggler for eating green persimmons, and asked him if he did not know that they were unfit for food. "I'm not eating them for food, general," replied the man, "but for the sake of drawing my stomach up to fit my rations."

On Our Most Distant Frontiers,

As in our busiest and most populous cities of the seaboard and interior, Hostetter's Stomach Bitters is pre-eminently popular. Wherever civilization plants its foot on this continent, thither the great tonic soon finds its way. Nor is this surprising, for it is the medicine of all others best adapted to the wants of the Western emigrant, be he miner or agriculturist. It is an incomparable remedy for the diseases to which he is most subject, and which are liable to be brought on by a change of climate, hardship, exposure, unaccustomed air and diet, and miasmatic atmospheres and water. Among these are disorders of the stomach and bowels, rheumatic ailments, and malarious fevers, for all of which Hostetter's Bitters is a certain specific. A course of the Bitters before departing for the new field of labor, or on arriving, will have the effect of preventing the evils for which it is such a signal remedy.

Consumption Cured.

An old physician, retired from practice, having had placed in his hands by an East India missionary the formula of a simple vegetable remedy, for the speedy and permanent cure for consumption, bronchitis, catarrh, asthma, and all throat and lung affections, also a positive and radical cure for nervous debility an all nervous complaints, after having tested its wonderful curative powers in thousands of cases, has felt it his duty to make it known to his suffering fellows. Actuated by this motive and a desire to relieve human suffering, I will send, free of charge, to all who desire it, this recipe, with full directions for preparing and using, in German, French, or English. Sent by mail by addressing with stamp, naming this paper, W. W. Sherar, 140 Power's Block, Rochester, New York. ta22

"Reform is Necessary."

The democratic United States senators, at Washington on Monday of this week, voted to dismiss every officer of the Senate, not because of inefficiency or dishonesty, for there was no pretence made that they have not been thoroughly efficient and trustworthy, but solely because they were put in office by republican votes, and their places are now wanted by members of the hungry army of democratic place-hunters. It should be remembered that the senators who thus voted are the very cream of the democratic party—the party that has howled for years about the need of a reformed civil service, based on merit and non-partisanship, with its eyes rolled piously up until only the whites were visible. As a specimen of democratic lamenting over republican partisanship in the appointment of officers in the civil service, and of democratic intimations of how differently the pure and non-partisan democracy would act when they got into power, the following plank from the platform of the last national democratic convention is quite a curiosity:

Reform is necessary in the civil service. Experience proves the efficient, economical conduct of the government business is not possible if its civil service be subject to change at every election, be a prize fought for at the ballot-box, be a brief reward of party zeal instead of posts of honor assigned for proved competency and held for fidelity in the public employ; that the dispensing of patronage should neither be a tax upon the time of all our public men nor the instrument of their ambition. Here again, professions falsified in the performance attest that the party in power can work out no practical or salutary reform.

Senator Conkling on Monday afternoon, during a debate in the Senate, had an opportunity to give the democrats one of the telling blows for which he is noted, and he improved the opportunity. Senator Bayard had said that among the men whom it was proposed to appoint to subordinate positions in that body were some who held such offices in 1861. The New York senator then called attention to the fact that when the republicans came into power in the Senate they removed only one official, and that because of his treason. The men whom the Delaware senator had referred to were those who left of their own accord, because of their sympathy with the rebellion. They are now demanding their old positions, and the democrats are turning out loyal men to make places for them. The southern senators winced under this development, and their northern brethren were still more uncomfortable; but the loyal officials must go all the same, to make room for sympathizers with secession if not for men who were active rebels. "Reform is necessary in the civil service!"

News and Notes.

Four men from the Gloucester fishing schooner Hattie S. Crane, and one from the schooner Ernest F. Norwood, were drowned at Bliss harbor, N. B., March 25th, by the upsetting of a boat.

Four men were burned up in the conflagration of a wharf boat at Hickman, Ky., March 25th.

The President has nominated Andrew D. White, president of Cornell university, to be minister at Berlin, and Cornelius Logan of Illinois to be minister resident of Central America.

Wholesale starvation is reported from the Nile valley in upper Egypt. In some of the villages the people are past help, sitting naked like beasts, eating roots and suffering with the endurance of despair. In one town the women and children fought over scraps of bread like wild animals. The case is believed to be still worse in inland hamlets, where the villagers are said to be starving like dogs.

Mike Riley of Brooklyn kicked his wife to death, and has been sentenced to the penitentiary for two years.

Charles Thompson, for killing Mr. Williams, mate of the barque Niphon, and John Powers, for killing the mate of the barque Elephantine, on the passage from Rio Janeiro to New York, have been arrested in the latter city.

One hundred thousand tons of Scranton coal were sold in New York on Wednesday, at from eight to ten cents a ton less than was received at the last previous sale.

Timothy J. Lynch, a State street broker in Boston, obtained $7000 worth of government bonds on the 25th inst., paid for them in worthless checks, and disappeared.

It is stated that Surgeon General Woodworth was so poor when he died that a collection was taken among the heads of bureaus in the treasury department to defray the expenses of his funeral.

There was a frightful collision on a New York elevated railroad, March 25th; two engines were smashed, and part of a train was precipitated into the street below. About sixteen persons were more or less injured, but none fatally.

State's Attorney Olmstead of Connecticut has in his possession the watch of John H. Schulte, who was murdered in Norfolk. It was found in the roots of a tree at the point where four men saw Bucholtz stand after he had been to call the neighbors on the night of the murder. The watch is indentified by private marks described in a despatch from Germany. This is one of the most important links in the evidence yet discovered.

The body of a female, evidently murdered, floated ashore near Port Monmouth, N. J., on Sunday the 23d inst. She had deep wounds on her head, from a pistol or some sharp instrument, and a rope around her neck, by which it is supposed she was sunk to the bottom by a heavy weight. She had a ring on one finger with "F. H." on the plate.

The dead body of Horace Manchester, the diver who was drowned while working upon the sunken mail packet at Newport, R. I., early this week, was found above the vessel and not underneath her. The diver who went down states that he found him suspended by the hose or air pipe five feet above the vessel, the pipe being entangled on board. Thus he was strangled, and no communication could be had. It was impossible, also, to hoist him up. The remains were taken to his home in Tiverton, R. I., where he has a wife and child.

It is said that the southern cities have not only failed to take strong measures against a repetition of last summer's punishment for slovenliness, but all the cities which have most to dread from yellow fever are even more filthy than usual. This is what old-fashioned people call "tempting Providence."

Vanderbilt has awarded the contract for putting a railroad tunnel under Detroit river, the work to be commenced the first week in April; price, $1,500,000. The tunnel is to extend from Stony island to Anderson, Ont., a distance of 3700 feet, with double arches for double track, eighteen feet high and fifteen feet wide.

The small value set on human life in the south, may be judged from the fact that one man has just killed another in Madison county, South Carolina, because the two differed as to the length of a pig's tail. In the fight resulting from this difference of opinion, one man was fatally shot and the other lost a thumb. And after even all this expenditure, the length of the pig's tail still remains an unknown quantity.

Old Time Chronicles, No. 178.

BY UNCLE JOSEPH.

The church singing in the place of my nativity and where I now reside, at a time fifty and sixty years ago, is remembered by some living now. There is great admiration for the tunes then sung on some special occasions; a few of them are sung now. Some of them were strikingly appropriate to the hymns used. The singing was less artistic than much heard in these times. Those who sang were not carried away with the harmony of fleeting sounds nor vain of their performances. There was a sincerity, faithfulness and devotion becoming the important service. The chorister would beat time with his hand and arm. The choir, led and others in different parts of the house, in the galleries and below, would join in the singing. Not very many different singing books were in existence. The few were good for the time, some of them so good that not much improvement has been made by others, substituted for them. When one was obtained, it was continued long.

Some living may remember "The Village Harmony" used half a century ago and more. A copy of this work was lately presented to me. The pages are small in size and there are but some 160 in all. But it is much filled with what one may call good, solid work. The title page is gone, as are also some others, so the date of its publication cannot be determined. In it are noticed among many others the following tunes, formerly familiar to many: Golgotha, the words being, "Hark, from the tombs," etc. Complaint, "Save us, O Lord, aloud we cry;" Windham, "The hoary frosts, the fleecy snow;" Little Marlborough, "Welcome sweet day of rest;" Old Hundred, "Be thou, O God, exalted high;" Amherst, "Ye boundless realms of joy;" Wells, "Life is the time to serve the Lord;" Greenwich, "Lord, what a thoughtless wretch was I;" Worcester, "How beauteous are their feet;" Jubilee, "Blow ye the trumpet, blow;" Vermont, "I'm not ashamed to own my Lord." Very high authority enjoins that we say not that the former days were better than these. In some respects however they seem to have been.

Political.

Under democratic rule in Missouri the oppression of misrule and high taxes has become so great that the city of St. Louis is threatening to secede, and have itself annexed to the republican State of Illinois.

Ex-Secretary of the Senate Gorham was on Wednesday morning before the Senate committee to investigate the last fall's election. He gave a full statement of the manner in which he raised the funds for campaign expenses. No assessments were levied, and the subscriptions were all voluntary. The senators, representatives and civil service officials subscribed and paid about $93,000, and about $13,000 more was subscribed and paid by the republicans in New York.

The republican papers throughout the north are making extracts from the speeches of their partisans about Davis, and extolling them as smart, and as excellent electioneering matter.—Manchester Union.

The democratic papers of the north are not making extracts from the speeches of their partisans about Jeff Davis, neither do they seem to regard them as excellent electioneering matter.—Manchester Mirror.

ROYAL BAKING POWDER

Absolutely Pure.

The Royal Baking Powder is a pure Cream of Tartar powder, made from pure Grape Cream Tartar, imported exclusively for this powder direct from the wine district of France. An old experienced housekeeper writes that, although she has to pay a few pennies more for the "Royal," finds that it goes so much further and works much better than saleratus, soda, or cream of tartar.

☞ Most of the Cream of Tartar of commerce is adulterated with Alum, Terra Alba, etc. Doctors pronounce Alum most dangerous to health; it costs but 2c. a lb., Cream of Tartar over 40. The Royal Baking Powder is recommended for its wholesomeness by such eminent chemists as Dr. Mott, New York; Dr. S. Dana Hayes, Boston. Sold only in cans. All Grocers.

☞ BAKING POWDER should never be sold in paper packages, as it becomes stale and deteriorates upon exposure to the atmosphere. 110.

THE CITY.

The temperance revival will be commenced on Sunday evening at Music hall by Messrs. Booth and Smith. Col. Kent will make the opening address.

The Music hall quartette gave a concert at Kittery foreside on Tuesday evening, the 25th inst. A number of the lovers of music from this side attended, and all were well pleased.

This evening, at Music hall, Mr. Geo. A. Hill and J. C. Myers' dramatic company will appear in the sensational drama the "Serpent's sting," and the farce of the "Factory girl." Popular prices.

"Pinafore" at Music hall to-morrow evening, by the Boston Pinafore company of thirty performers, including Mr. Gilbert and Miss Dora Wiley. The "movable moon" scene is used by this company, only.

It is reported that Mr. William H. Brooks, of Boston, draughtsman in the bureau of yards and docks at the navy yard, has been removed, and Mr. Usher B. Thompson of Newfield, Me., appointed in his place.

One of the most desirable residences in the city is offered for sale—the property numbered 145 on State street. The present owner has fitted the house to live in, and the location is pleasant and the neighborhood excellent. See advertisement.

A meeting of the board of directors of the Eastern railroad was held on the 25th inst., but adjourned without taking any action on the question of choosing a successor to Gen. Rockwell as president of the corporation. The Boston Post says it is understood that should Mr. Richard Olney become president of the road it will be only temporarily, and without assuming any responsibility for the operation of the road, and without inteference with the practice of his profession.

Mr. Samuel Barrett has resigned the position of station master of the Eastern railroad in this city, and accepted a similar position at the Concord station, vice Mr. Horace W. Waldron, resigned. Mr. Barrett has been station master at the Eastern depot since the resignation of Mr. Annable, and has shown himself an efficient and trustworthy official, faithful to the interests of the road and attentive to the wants of the public. He assumes the duties of his new position on Monday.

Riverside Lodge of Odd Fellows, of Kittery, accompanied by their ladies and the Dirigo brass band, on Wednesday evening, the 26th inst., paid a visit to New Hampshire Lodge of this city. After the work of the lodge was exemplified the entire party sat down to a supper in the banquet hall, and the hours between supper and breaking-up time were very pleasantly passed in social converse, speeches, music, etc. The visitors recrossed the river in steamer James Sampson shortly before midnight.

The following new music has been received from George D. Newhall & Co., 62 West Fourth street, Cincinnati, Ohio, and recommends itself to all lovers of good music: "Hope that Breathes of Spring;" "Water Mill," song; "Dream of Love," waltz song; "Antony and Cleopatra," song; "The Smile," waltz song; "Why Need I Fear," sacred solo; "Each Tender Thought is Thine;" "Think of me, Sweetheart;" "All Hands Ahoy," song; "Don't Whisper Nay, Love;" "Come unto me," sacred song.

The wooden ships built on the Piscataqua years ago were so well put together and of such strong material that even after many years of hard service, foul play is necessary to send them to the bottom of the ocean. Some time ago we published an account of the foundering at sea of the ship Elizabeth Hamilton, built at Eliot in 1847 by Mr. Hanscom, for Wm. Jones & Son of this city. It now appears that she was scuttled, for Philadelphia advices of March 25th say: "A hearing began today in the case of John Redstone, mate, who with Capt. Renteline and the carpenter, Hutchinson, are accused of a conspiracy to destroy ship Elizabeth Hamilton with intent to defraud the underwriters. Edwin F. Hand, the steward, testified as follows: The carpenter told him that the mate knocked in the deadlights; a signal of distress was displayed and crew were finally taken off by the steamer Lykens and brought to Philadelphia; wreck was set fire to just as the crew was leaving, the captain being the last one to leave her. The prisoner was committed in default of bail for further hearing. The cargo of petroleum was valued at $40,000, and with the ship was heavily insured."

Our "legal" authority concerning the alleged presence of Max von Shoern, the runaway cook, in Boston, says that whether he was there or not he—the legal authority aforesaid—did meet him, the said von Shoern, on the street in Boston, and then and there they, the said Max and the herein before mentioned legal authority, did amicably and audibly converse, about the affairs of him, the said Max.

A letter received in this city from Mr. S. D. James, mate of the schooner Warren Sawyer, then (March 16th) in Havana, reported her loading sugar for New York; would complete loading in three days from date, and be in New York about April 1st, where after discharging she would probably load with coal for the east. The captain says if he can get a steady run between Georgetown, D. C., and this port, he would like to make six trips. Mr. James will probably get command of a vessel in the coal trade, in which case he will run to this port if he can get business, as he likes the trips very much.

THE VICINITY.

A. P. Quimby's confectionary establishment in Biddeford was burned between four and five o'clock on the morning of the 26th inst. Loss about $1000; insured.

The house, barn and outbuildings, together with several tons of hay, of Chas. Higgins, in Berwick, were burned on the evening of the 26th inst. Loss $3000; insured. The fire was incendiary.

Louis Bourgeoise of Biddeford went to Hollis on Monday of this week, to bring home his wife and infant child. The infant being but thirteen weeks old, special care was taken to wrap it up warmly, and on arriving at Biddeford about five o'clock in the evening it was found to be dead, having been smothered by the wrappings.

George Morton, of Lewiston, Me., was some time ago assaulted by Samuel Littlefield, who was imprisoned for the assault. A few days ago Morton died, and an inquest showed that his death resulted from his treatment by Littlefield. The latter is a native of Biddeford, where he resided for many years, and was for a long time an officer of the old Pioneer engine company. He always drank more or less, but was not considered a hard drinker, or a quarrelsome man.

A Rye correspondent writes: "Some persons seem to think that the two schooners, the Rival and Northern Star, recently stranded on the beach, came to grief through mistaking a light at the life-saving station for that at Whale's-back. The idea is absurd, for the vessels went on shore half a mile or more to the eastward of the station, and no seaman would try to enter Portsmouth harbor half a mile to the eastward of Whale's-back during a storm—or if he did try it he would fail, as there is no entrance there. The fact is, the two schooners were ashore before any light was seen at all; and when they did see it they supposed themselves on the Western Sisters, a mile or so eastward of Whale's-back, and a number of miles from their actual location on the rocks. The skippers were out of their reckoning, and that was all there was about it."

On Monday of last week the house of Mr. Martin V. Sleeper of Rye, near the "four corners," had a narrow escape from being burned. Mr. Sleeper's father, Richard Sleeper, nearly eighty years old, lives with his son, and has a room to himself with an open fire-place in it. On the day in question the old gentleman left a fire burning in his room and went to the barn to do some work, his son being engaged at his blacksmith shop some distance away; and when the former returned at about noon he found his room filled with a dense smoke, but with the aid of his son's wife and daughter the fire was put out. The wood work around the fire-place was burned, as was a wooden door over an oven near by, two hats and a pair of pants, and a large hole was burned in the lathing overhead; the face of an eight-day clock was well scorched. A delay of a few minutes in discovering the fire would probably have resulted in all Mr. Sleeper's buildings being destroyed, as they are all connected together. The fire is supposed to have caught from a spark which hopped from the fire-place into a wood-box. Mr. Sleeper is insured in the Rockingham Farmers' Mutual at Exeter, and the company's agent, Mr. Hobbs of North Hampton, awarded Mr. Sleeper $11 as damages.

"BABY."

In another place will be found the advertisement of "Baby," which is to be played at Music hall, for the first time in this city, on Tuesday evening next. Of this play and company the Springfield, Mass., Homestead says:

The drama of "Baby" was well played by Charles H. Thayer and his uncommonly good support, which included Mary Cary, Frank Wheeler and Edwin Millekin; these four artists sustained some of the best comedy acting that has been seen in this city for some time. There are two sides to the "Baby" question as well as to most others; undoubtedly it is not the best or most desirable style of comedy; neither is it the worst. The married infidelity in it, is of the same sort that is shown in "Lemons" and other like comedies that have long been credited by the metropolitan press and public for what they are worth and no more; the results of this infidelity are not such as to encourage an imitation in real life. But "Baby" differs from "Lemons," etc., by introducing as the character that names the play, a youth whose indulgent parents fail to regard him as having ceased to be a baby. The youth who is babied at home quite naturally longs for something different away from home. It would have been better for all interested if his selection of amusements had been helped by his father and mother, with some consideration of his years in the light of common sense. If the play of "Baby" can open the eyes of any number of parents to the folly of coddling their children, then it ought to be given every night in the year. The representation and exposure by the stage of the follies of social and private life is more the fault of the manner of life than of the stage. Ignorance is not innocence, and if such subjects must be represented at all "Baby" is to be praised for its plain dialogue and inferable teachings as a commendable advance upon French insinuation.

A PATRIOT OF '76.

Among the patriotic men of revolutionary times was Capt. Titus Salter, whose name survived in that of his son, among the prominent merchants of Portsmouth less than half a century ago, and still lives as part of that of one of his descendants, a much esteemed fellow-citizen among us of the younger generation. Though all unknown to fame in these later days, one more thoroughly imbued with "the spirit of '66" could not have been found, as was oft related by those who had known him well, and who, like him, long since passed away. He was of the party who seized the powder at Fort William and Mary, now Fort Constitution, that was subsequently used at the battle of Bunker Hill, and remained in charge of the fortification after it was taken possession of by the patriots; and when the tories made the assertion that he would not dare to come to town to attend church on the Sabbath, proved its falsehood by appearing on that day in his accustomed seat; he also had charge of Fort Washington and the other fortifications of the harbor during the continuance of the revolutionary war. He was active in every good work in the cause of freedom all through those troublous times, and no one knew him better or esteemed him more than the patriotic John Langdon, whose name fills so bright a place in his country's history. His home was the ancient landmark that still survives at the corner of Salter and Newcastle streets, and formed a conspicuous feature in the locality at the rejoicings for peace when the war of the revolution was over and victory won, illuminated as it was in every part. An old lady who was wont to come to town with the products of her knitting needles and spinning-wheel to sell, loved to tell in her later years of the dazzling scene it presented to her youthful eyes as she viewed it with others all along the river, from the roof of her home on the Kittery shore. One of his pleasures was to gather around him at his fine old mansion his relatives at the Thanksgiving season; happy occasions that lived for many a year in the memory of those who shared in them. Of the reminiscences that survived of him, none interested the younger generation more, apart from himself, than those connected with his serving man Clem, whose early life had been spent upon the ocean, (and who was as indispensable to him as was Corporal Trim to Uncle Toby,) and his old dog Bose,—one of those sagacious specimens of the canine race, of whom it is often asserted that they know every word that is said to them. He attended church with the family as regularly as any of its members, and seemed to listen to the service with the deepest interest; or if he chanced to fall asleep it was with eyes half open. His master had at one time a new wig, and when putting it on for the first time to wear to church, left the old one hanging upon the back of a chair. Bose had been taking a nap beneath the shade of a spreading pear tree in the garden, and on waking up after the family had gone to church, discovered the wig, and imagining, probably, that his master had forgotten it, seizing it in his teeth, in a little time, to the surprise of those of the congregation who chanced to see him, entered the old church in Pitt (now Court) street, known in its latter years as Parson Walton's meeting-house, (the site of which is now occupied by the vestry of the Unitarian church,) and after traversing the aisles, scratched for admittance at the door of his master's pew. A time came when the inscrutable decree of old age came upon Bose; he followed his master no more from home, or Clem when he went to market, where the butcher had always given him a piece of meat, but moped about, sleeping at intervals in his favorite resort, beneath the tree in the garden; next came a season that to his owner was one of great sorrow, when he no longer left his comfortable bed in an outhouse, had no desire for food, lapping only the water that was within his reach. On a day when his master had been to see him before leaving home for a walk uptown, and did not find him in his bed on returning at noon, he asked Clem, who was at work in the garden, what had become of him, receiving for reply, "He died soon after you left home, and as the tide was running out, I threw him overboard." "Then," said the kind-hearted old gentleman, who regarded the faithful animal with nearly as much of affection as if he had been one of the family, "do you take the boat and go in search of him, and don't come back until you find him. If he was a dog he shall not be treated, good creature as he was, now that he is dead, as if he had been the veriest vagabond of his race, instead of possessing qualities often wanting in the human species." Some two hours afterwards, Clem, who well knew the courses of the river, and where he would be most likely to find him, returned with the remains of poor Bose, and placing him, in a box, as he was directed to do, laid him to his final repose beneath the tree where, in his lifetime, he had enjoyed so many quiet naps. If space permitted in a brief sketch, other reminiscences might be related of the old patriot, who left behind him in his departure so many worthy and happy memories. His antique home still survives, with its old-time air of cheerfulness and comfort, and associated with many pleasant recollections of the past. So well has it been preserved, it seems wholly impervious to the tooth of time, and long may it remain so, when other generations have taken the place of those who preceded them in the years of its history as a memorial of one of the men who were ready to sacrifice their liberty, all they had of this world's wealth, even their lives, in their country's cause.

WHEAT MEAL!

— OR —

Graham Flour.

When Wheat is ground it becomes Wheat Meal; when it is bolted it becomes Wheat Flour. Dr. Graham, who lectured through the country forty years ago on dietetics formed the fraternity known as "Grahamites." He said that bolted Flour should not be eaten, but that bread ought to be made of Wheat Meal instead; from him it got the name of Graham Flour. All Graham Flour therefore ought to be Wheat Meal, but about three-quarters of it is what we call made up Graham, that is, artificially mixed Cheap Flour and Bran, and is in every way inferior to the genuine article. Hardly a person who uses the genuine Wheat Meal would take the bogus article except on compulsion.

On Wednesday, at auction in Boston, $1000 of New Hampshire State 6's, 1892, sold at 113 1-8; $1000 of 1884, at 107; $1000 of 1895-6, at 114; $600 of 1900, at 114 1-2; $100 of 1892, at 113.

A man named Murphy, a blacksmith on the Bethlehem and Profile railroad, while drunk on Monday night, March 24th, froze both feet and will have to have them amputated.

In Tilton one of the humors of election day was the choice of three republican selectmen, it being the first time that party ever carried the town. The republicans also chose George A. Stevens town clerk, while both parties united and elected a treasurer.

A year ago the public institutions of Ohio were placed in democratic hands, and the complaints of mismanagement and corruption have since grown so loud and persistent that the democratic legislature of the State at length had to appoint a democratic committee to investigate matters. The result is a crop of scandals that will prove a lasting disgrace to the State. The superintendent of the Soldiers' Orphans' Home, at Xenia, an institution that harbors over 600 boys and girls, is charged, together with his son, with converting the place into a sort of harem, where disreputable characters were gathered, and respectable women and girls subjected to shameless insults. In the Central Insane Asylum, at Athens, the lechery and incapacity of the employes have been so open and glaring as to compel the democratic trustees to ask for the resignations of nearly all of them.

THE
Alpine Silver Mining Co.,
OF COLORADO.
CAPITAL $2,000,000. 200,000 SHARES.
PAR VALUE, $10 PER SHARE.
UNASSESSABLE.
Daniel J. Sykes, Pres. J. L. Thompson, Sec.
The property of this Company consists of twelve mines and mining locations, located in Lake County, Colorado, in the vicinity of Leadville, upon all of which extensive work has been done, in all cases exhibiting true fissure veins, good pay streak, and well defined lodes.
Three of the leading mines are well opened up and have at the lowest computation over TEN THOUSAND TONS OF ORE IN SIGHT; by May 1st, the Railroad now under construction will be within a short distance of this property.
The Company proposes to sell a portion of its stock at $1.50 per share for the purpose of more completely developing its mines, and for the erection of works for the treatment of its ores.
Applications for the stock may be made to the office of the Company, 41 Broadway, New York.
N. B.—The Mining Record, of New York, the highest mining authority in this country, says Feb. 1st, 1879: The principal owners in this company are hard working men who by their own labor have uncovered large bodies of ore which they now wish to extract and send to market; our readers will do well to make a venture with these worthy men, this money will probably be returned to them twenty fold. The business management has been placed in the care of Mr. J. L. Thompson, an officer of high standing in one of the largest banks in the city. A Prospectus giving full particulars sent free, on application to the Secretary. m6t2d&w3m08

GAZETTE
Established 1756.
The Gazette is published every Thursday, and sent to Subscribers at the low price of $1.50 per year, paid in advance, or $2 at the end of the year.
It contains full accounts of all of importance that transpires in Portsmouth and its vicinity, and a condensed summary of NEWS, foreign and domestic; editorials upon current topics; New Hampshire items; carefully prepared marine news, containing reports of vessels owned at this port, or officered by men from Portsmouth or its neighborhood; and is just the paper for residents desiring to be posted on all that takes place at home, while to those living in the vicinity of Portsmouth, or to former residents who retain their interest in the "old home by the sea," it is the best means of keeping informed of what transpires in this city.
— THE —
NEW HAMPSHIRE GAZETTE
Contains more original matter
Than any other paper of its size in the State, the editors working more with their pens than with their scissors.

TO ADVERTISERS
THE N. H. GAZETTE
Presents an excellent opportunity for a WEEKLY INVITATION TO CUSTOMERS, at a reasonable rate, and all those who desire to reach patrons in Rockingham and York counties will find it an economical medium. THE GAZETTE is in many instances the only paper taken by families, and it is read to a large extent in localities whence is derived much of the trade of Portsmouth, a fact which our merchants should not fail to bear in mind.

GOLDEN MEDICAL DISCOVERY
By its great and thorough blood-purifying properties, Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery cures all Humors, from the worst Scrofula to a common Blotch, Pimple, or Eruption. Mercurial disease, Mineral Poisons, and their effects, are eradicated, and vigorous health and a sound constitution established. Erysipelas, Salt-rheum, Fever Sores, Scaly or Rough Skin, in short, all diseases caused by bad blood, are conquered by this powerful, purifying, and invigorating medicine.
Especially has it manifested its potency in curing Tetter, Rose Rash, Boils, Carbuncles, Sore Eyes, Scrofulous Sores and Swellings, White Swellings, Goitre or Thick Neck, and Enlarged Glands.
If you feel dull, drowsy, debilitated, have sallow color of skin, or yellowish-brown spots on face or body, frequent headache or dizziness, bad taste in mouth, internal heat or chills alternated with hot flushes, low spirits, and gloomy forebodings, irregular appetite, and coated tongue, you are suffering from Torpid Liver, or "Biliousness." In many cases of "Liver Complaint" only part of these symptoms are experienced. As a remedy for all such cases, Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery has no equal, as it reflects perfect and radical cures.
In the cure of Bronchitis, Severe Coughs, and the early stages of Consumption, it has attained the medical faculty, and eminent physicians pronounce it the greatest medical discovery of the age. While it cures the severest Coughs, it strengthens the system and purifies the blood. Sold by druggists.

Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Purgative Pellets
SIZE OF PELLETS.
THE "LITTLE GIANT" CATHARTIC.
No use of taking the large, repulsive, nauseous pills, compounded of drugs, crude, and bulky ingredients. These Pellets are scarcely larger than mustard seeds.
Being entirely vegetable, no particular care is required while using them. They operate without disturbance to the constitution, diet, or occupation. For Jaundice, Headache, Constipation, Impure Blood, Pain in the shoulders, Stitches in the Chest, Dizziness, Sour Eructations from the Stomach, Bad Taste in the Mouth, Bilious attacks, Pain in region of Kidneys, Internal Fever, Distracted feeling about Stomach, Rush of Blood to Head, take Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Purgative Pellets. In explanation of the remedial power of these Purgative Pellets over so great a variety of diseases, it may be said that their action upon the animal economy is universal, not a gland or tissue escaping their sanative impress. Aperients not impair the properties of these Pellets. They are sugar-coated and inclosed in glass bottles, their virtues being thereby preserved unimpaired for any length of time, in any climate, so that they are always fresh and reliable. This is not the case with pills put up in cheap wooden or pasteboard boxes. For all diseases where a Laxative, Alterative or Purgative, is indicated, these little Pellets will give the most perfect satisfaction. Sold by druggists.
R. V. PIERCE, M. D., Prop'r, World's Dispensary and Invalids' Hotel, Buffalo, N. Y.

CATARRH
SYMPTOMS.—Frequent headache, discharge falling into throat, sometimes profuse, watery, thick mucous, purulent, offensive, etc. In others, a dryness, dry, watery, weak, or inflamed eyes, coughing up, nasal obstruction, of the nasal passages, plugging in ears, deafness, hawking and coughing to clear the throat, ulcerations, scabs from ulcers, voice altered, nasal twang, offensive breath, impaired or total deprivation of sense of smell and taste, dizziness, mental depression, loss of appetite, indigestion, enlarged tonsils, tickling cough, etc. Only a few of these symptoms are likely to be present in any case at one time.
DR. SAGE'S CATARRH REMEDY
produces radical cures of the worst cases of Catarrh, no matter of how long standing. The liquid remedy may be applied, or better applied by the use of Dr. PRINCE'S Douche. This is the only form of instrument yet invented with which fluid medicine can be carried HIGH UP and PERFECTLY APPLIED to all parts of the affected nasal passages, and the chambers or cavities communicating therewith, in which sores and ulcers frequently exist, and from which the catarrhal discharge generally proceeds. Its use is pleasant and easily understood, from directions accompanying each instrument. DR. SAGE'S Catarrh Remedy cures recent attacks of "Cold in the Head" by a few applications. It is mild and pleasant to use, containing no strong or caustic drugs or poisons. Catarrh, Remedy and Douche sold by druggists.

An institution having a high reputation for honorable conduct and professional skill.

INCORPORATED JANUARY, 1878. CAPITAL STOCK, $1,000,000.

WORLD'S DISPENSARY MEDICAL ASSOCIATION. BUFFALO AND LONDON.

(Successors to R. V. PIERCE, M. D.)

Dr. R. V. PIERCE, having acquired a world-wide reputation in the treatment of Chronic Diseases, resulting in a professional business far exceeding his individual ability to attend to it, has been induced several medical gentlemen to associate themselves with him, as the Faculty of the World's Dispensary, the Consulting Department of which has since been incorporated with the INVALIDS' HOTEL. The organization has been completed and incorporated under the name and style of World's Dispensary Medical Association, with the following officers:

Hon. R. V. PIERCE, Pres. F. D. PIERCE, V. Pres.
JNO. E. PIERCE, Sec. ESTER H. SMITH, Treas.

NINE PHYSICIANS AND SURGEONS of eminence and skill have been chosen as the Faculty.

CHRONIC DISEASES.—All forms coming within the province of our several specialties.

LUNG DISEASES.—This division of practice is very ably managed by a gentleman of mature judgment and skill. Bronchial, Throat, and Lung Diseases treated with the most successful results.

DISEASES OF WOMEN.—Especially are our facilities of a superior order for the cure of all those chronic diseases peculiar to females.

NERVOUS DISEASES.—Epilepsy, Nervous Debility, Epilepsy (Fits), Chorea (St. Vitus's Dance), Neuralgia, and other nervous affections, receive the attention of an expert in this specialty.

NOT NEGLECTING TO THE INVALIDS' Surgical system of diagnosis, we can treat many chronic diseases as successfully without as with a personal consultation. Our "Physicians to the People's Common Sense Medical Adviser" (1,000 pages, sent post-paid for $1.00) and "Invalids' and Tourists' Guide Book" (100 pages, 10 cents post-paid).

SURGICAL CASES.—Among the operations which we are called upon most frequently to perform, are those for Nasal Polypus, Harelip, Tumors, Fistula in Ano, Piles, Hernia (Rupture), Hydrocele (Dropsy of the Scrotum), Varicocele, Ovarian and Uterine Tumors, Calculi (Stone in the Bladder), Stricture, etc., etc. We also treat successfully, by a new method without surgical operation, Club-Foot, Spinal Curvature and other deformities. (See pamphlet entitled "Morbid Anatomy." Sent on receipt of 10 cents.)

Address, World's Dispensary Medical Association, BUFFALO, N. Y.

WOMAN

By an immense practice at the World's Dispensary and Invalids' Hotel, having treated many thousand cases, we have perfected a specific, and have been enabled to perfect a most potent and positive remedy for these diseases.

To designate this natural specific, I have named it

Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription

The term, however, is but a feeble expression of my high appreciation of its value, based upon personal observation. I have, while witnessing its positive results in the special diseases incident to the organism of woman, singled it out as the climax or crowning gem of my medical career. On its merits, as a positive, safe, and efficacious remedy for the class of diseases, and one that will, at all times and under all circumstances, do no harm, I am willing to stake my reputation as a physician; and so confident am I that it will not disappoint the most sanguine expectations of a single invalid lady who uses it for any of the ailments for which I recommend it, that I offer and sell it under A POSITIVE GUARANTEE. (For conditions see pamphlet wrapping bottle.)

The following are among those diseases in which my Favorite Prescription has worked cures, as if by magic, and with a certainty never before attained by any medicine: Leucorrhœa, Excessive Flowing, Painful Monthly Periods, Suppressions when from unnatural causes, Irregularities, Weak Back, Prolapsus or Falling of the Uterus, Anteversion and Retroversion, Bearing-down Sensations, Internal Heat, Nervous Irritability, Prostration, Depression, Threatened Miscarriage, Chronic Congestion, Inflammation and Ulceration of the Uterus, Impotency, Barrenness, or Sterility, and Female Weakness.

Do not cold this medicine as a "cure-all," but it admirably fulfills a singleness of purpose, being a most perfect specific in all chronic diseases of the sexual system of woman. It will not disappoint, nor will it do harm, in any state or condition.

Those who desire further information on these subjects can obtain it in THE PEOPLE'S COMMON SENSE MEDICAL ADVISER, a book of over 900 pages, sent, post-paid, on receipt of $1.50. It treats minutely of those diseases peculiar to Females, and gives much valuable advice in regard to the management of those affections.

Favorite Prescription sold by Druggists.

SWORN EVIDENCE.

The following Cure is probably the most remarkable ever effected by any medical preparation for the treatment of Catarrh:

Gentlemen.—I hereby certify that I have had Catarrh for ten years, and for the last six years have been in terrible suffering. I was rendered partially deaf, had buzzing in the head, pains across the temple, dizzy spells, weak and painful eyes, swollen and ulcerated tonsils, hard and constant cough, severe pain across the chest, and every indication of consumption. My head ached all the time. The matter accumulated so rapidly in my head and throat that I could not keep them free. Frequently at night I would spring out of bed, it seemed to me, at the point of suffocation. I would then have recourse to every means in my power to dislodge the mucus from my throat and head before being able to sleep again. For a period of six years my tonsils were ulcerated and so much inflamed that I could with difficulty swallow. I had my counsel and a medical surgeon in regard to an operation on them, but at his request postponed it. The constant inflammation and ulceration in my throat caused by the poisonous matter dropping down from my head had so irritated and inflamed my lungs that I coughed incessantly,—a deep, hard cough. Meanwhile my system began to show the effects of this disease, so that I lost flesh, grew pale, and showed every symptom of an early death by consumption. When matters had reached this point, or about six months ago, I began the use of SANFORD'S RADICAL CURE FOR CATARRH. After using the first bottle I began to improve rapidly. The first dose seemed to clear my head as I had not known it to be for years. I seemed gradually to arrest the discharge. It stopped my cough in three days. By using it as a gargle I soon reduced the inflammation and a swelling of my tonsils so that they soon ceased to trouble me. The soreness across my chest disappeared, the buzzing noises in my head ceased, my senses of seeing and of hearing were completely restored, and every symptom of disease that had rendered me to the very verge of the grave disappeared by the use of SANFORD'S RADICAL CURE FOR CATARRH.

I have given this explicit because, as a clergyman, I have seen a great deal of suffering from Catarrh, and hope to convince many that this is a great remedy.

I am familiar with the treatment of Catarrh as practiced by the best physicians, and have consulted in the most eminent about my case. I have used every kind of remedy and apparatus that have appeared during a period of six years past, and have, while following that use, taken great care of my general health, but obtained no relief or encouragement from any of them.—

COLLINS' VOLTAIC PLASTER

Affords the most grateful relief in all Affections of the Chest and Lungs.

CHRONIC PLEURISY CURED.

MESSRS. WEEKS & POTTER: Gentlemen.—Having for many months suffered with a lame side, which I attributed by my physician Chronic Pleurisy, caused by a former injury, I strained my back, and applied your Plasters and liniments, as well as the specified rheumatic remedies, without the least benefit, my physician recommended one of your Collins' Voltaic Plasters, which, to my great surprise, relieved the pain and soreness almost immediately, and I have been able to attend to my household affairs ever since with perfect ease and comfort, whereas, before the application of your invaluable Plaster, I was scarcely able to do anything. I consider them invaluable, and shall with pleasure recommend them to the afflicted. Yours respectfully, MRS. FRANCES HARRIMAN.

ORLAND, Me., April 21, 1878.

There is no medical or protective appliance that will prove so grateful and effective in Tickling Coughs, Pleurisies and Soreness of the Chest and Lungs, as I believe them capable of preventing serious diseases of these organs.

PRICE, 25 CENTS.

☞ Not confound these Plasters with the ordinary Plasters of the day, that by comparison are absolutely worthless.

Lena's Temptation.

Into the coziest and prettiest of breakfast rooms stole the bright rays of the October sun. There were the beautiful pictures upon the walls, choice flowers to bloom in graceful vases, and the breakfast table, with its array of China and silver, was itself the perfect picture which the artistic housewife knows how to evoke from chaos; but not a face amid the group gathered there but wore a shade of care and annoyance. The father, leaning back in his chair, toyed nervously with his tea-spoon; the mother, a slender, delicate lady, with pensive face and gentle brown eyes, now dim with tears, pushed aside the hardly tasted food, and pausing to the window, stood lost in thought, while the daughter, the cause as usual of the family trouble, tapped the carpet impatiently with her dainty-slipped foot.

"Indeed, I must have it papa!" she exclaimed, drawing a wordy argument to a close; and Mr. Lynell, succumbing at last to the inevitable, drew a plethoric purse from his pocket, and placed a roll of bills in the tiny, out-stretched hand, when, with a kiss on his furrowed brow and a gay song rising to her lips, Lena danced out of the room.

As the echo of her footsteps died away the mother crossed to her husband's side, and smoothing the gray hair back from his brow, said:—

"I am sorry you yielded, Robert, for it will only encourage Lena in new extravagances. It seems to me that she grows more willful, more selfish at a heartless, every day. I used to think when we kept the little shop down by the river, and were so poor, so very, very poor, that rich people did not know the meaning of sorrow, but the fortune I so coveted has proved a curse instead of a blessing; and this sad morning it really seems to me that I would gladly exchange it for the peace and quiet happiness that were ours in those early days. God answers our prayers sometimes, I think, to show us how little we know our wants."

"You must not give up so, Lucia," said the husband's calmer voice. "Lena is wild and thoughtless, but she is young, and we will hope for better things. With such a true, wise mother, I cannot despair of her reformation; and He who led us in the day of adversity will not, I know, forsake us in our time of worldly prosperity."

Meanwhile Lena stood in her own room before the mirror trying the effect of various ribbons that lay near her, but whether the setting was of rose, or violet, or snow, the beautiful picture framed therein remained unchanged. It was a lovely face that the mirror reflected, and though a proud, cold look was dawning in the once gentle eyes, and hard, defiant lines settling around the once yielding mouth, the vivid coloring and perfect outline made it a face, once seen, to be forever kept in memory, a face full of strength and power. Left to her own resources, Lena Lynell would have fought bravely the battle of life; would have proved the strength and support of the weaker natures dependent upon her. But the nature that would have come forth unscorched from the fires of adversity had not been able to withstand the glow of prosperity, and living a useless, aimless life, with no ambition but to outshine her gay companions in the gorgeousness of her apparel, or the requisition of some new bauble, she was growing daily cold, proud, and unwomanly.

Once, indeed, in the months drifting rapidly by, a change had come over her life. The touch of a master hand, the glance of a dark eye, the persuasive accent of a loved voice, had awakened new aims and ambitions in her worldly heart, and had given her a faint glimpse of a possible Eden.

But Gordon Gray, for some reason unknown to herself, and at the very time when he had appeared most devoted and lover-like—how well she remembered!—had gone away and forgotten her, and in the effort to shake off the memories whose tuneful vibrations maddened her, Lena plunged still deeper into the engulfing maelstrom of fashionable life.

A few hours later, robed in rich attire, she swept down the street on her way to the jeweler's. In the little country town which was her home there was not her equal for beauty of face, or grace of form—a fact of which she was proudly conscious; and the looks of admiration that greeted her from the passers-by were delicious food to her vanity, which was becoming the controlling power of her nature. Passing a lonely residence on a retired street, her attention was arrested by a rap on the window-pane, and the sweet face of Gordon Gray's sister, Mrs. Alton, an old-time friend and schoolmate, looked out from its framework of vines.

"Can't you come in a moment, Lena, dear? I have something to show you," she called, and running lightly up the steps, Lena soon found herself in the pleasant parlor, endeared to her by so many happy memories of the past.

A new painting hung upon the wall; and to this Mrs. Alton directed her friend's attention. It was a simple forest scene. In the foreground a dead deer lay upon the green sward, with a tired hound resting by his side; overhead a scarlet maple tossed its gorgeous banner on the air; and a little beyond a monarch oak, just touched with gold by the fairy frost, reared its regal hand; on the right a blue river wound its way among the hills; over all hung the soft, tender haze of an October noontide, a simple picture in its way, but in the depth of coloring and exquisite grace of the figures in the foreground, holding out a promise of better things.

"It is beautiful," said Lena, with a long-drawn breath of admiration. "Who is the artist?"

"It is the work of one of our towns-

w m n, and it is her story I wish to tell you. Take this easy chair by the window," and wheeling forward a cushioned seat, Mrs. Alton placed herself by her friend's side, while baby Howard, picking up a letter w h ch had fallen from the table, amused himself pulling it to pieces.

"Do you remember the head clerk at Belmont's?" began Mrs. Alton, "the scholarly face and dreamy, artist eye? A few years since he was a leading merchant in one of our large cities. Through the treachery of a friend in whose honor he had confided, he became a bankrupt, and was forced at last to accept the situation he holds at present. Of his five daughters, delicately reared and fashionably educated, only one, the youngest, could do anything to assist herself, or lessen the family burden, while the mother, completely prostrated by the loss of fortune, became a helpless invalid. But my little heroine has proved herself equal to every emergency. Housekeeper, seamstress, nurse, all in one, she has the priceless faculty of making the most of their small income. A friend of mine, while examining some of her paintings, praised her talent and suggested that she might dispose of them at good prices. Acting upon this hint, she has offered some of the best for sale, but has met with very little encouragement, notwithstanding the undisputed merit of her productions. She is anxious now to raise funds to enable her to spend the winter in the city, taking lessons of Grange, who is a master in his department. Lilla's experience as teacher of a small class in drawing has shown her how superficial her education has been, and she wishes to cultivate her talent, but unless she receives help from some friend I fear she will not succeed. While Lloyd is so embarrassed," and a shadow flitted across the speaker's face, "I cannot conscientiously do much to assist her from my own purse; but I hope to interest some friend in her case;" and Mrs. Alton paused, while her eyes sought her friend's face wistfully.

Lena, throwing off a momentary feeling of embarrassment, answered,—

"I am sure I should be glad to assist her, Nellie, if it were in my power, but we have already more paintings than I can find room for, and it does cost one so much to dress nowadays. Why, only this morning papa was lecturing me on what he was pleased to call extravagance, because I wanted that lovely bracelet at Ball's. Such a beauty! And not another in town like it. I am sure I don't begin to have as much as other girls with our means; and what's the use of living, I should like to know, if one cannot dress as well as other people?"

An old-fashioned quotation, one seldom heard in the bustle and rush of the present worldly age, rose to Mrs. Alton's lips:

"Consider the lilies of the field, how they grow; they toil not, nei her do they spin; and yet I say unto you that even Solomon, in all his glory, was not arrayed like one of these. Wherefore, if God so clothe the grass of the field, which to-day is and tomorrow is cast into the oven, shall he not much more clothe you, oh ye of little faith?"

FRIDAY, MARCH 28, 1879.

Life in Kentucky.

Life and property are as safe in the south as in the north—at least we have been told so times out of number by the democratic press; but the people of Kentucky have a way of persuading magistrates to do the square thing, which in the north would at least be accounted irregular. The brutal butchery of Judge Chisolm and his sixteen-year-old daughter by an armed mob, and the subsequent election of the mob's leader as high sheriff of the county by the democrats, are well remembered; and now another shot-gun vacancy has been created on the Kentucky bench. Judge J. M. Elliott of the court of appeals was assassinated in the street in front of the Capitol hotel at Frankfort at one o'clock on the 26th inst., by Thomas Buford. Judge Elliott had rendered an opinion adverse to a case Buford had had for some time in court. Buford loaded a double-barrelled shotgun, waited for Elliott to come to dinner, and walked up and shot him through the heart without warning, killing him instantly. The assassin was arrested and put in jail. There was great excitement and a strong feeling against him. Buford, after his arrest, acknowledged that the other barrel of the gun was loaded for Judge Pryor, and he would have killed him also had not some children been in the way.

News and Notes.

The "society" circles of Hartford that are so greatly exercised in their minds because Ex.Gov. Hubbard's daughter has married a coachman who is said to be "an American and a man of fair reputation," should consider how much lower the girl might have stooped. Suppose she had married a Pennsylvania Senator or a European Count!

At Ingersoll, Ont., Wednesday afternoon, while Reuben Smith was sitting asleep in a chair in the Royal hotel, he was kicked in the face by Charles Moore, killing him instantly. It is supposed to satisfy an old grudge.

Dr. C. P. Lyman of Springfield, President, Drs. Robinson, Liantard and Lockhart of New York, and Drs. Stickney and Thayer of Boston, members of the United States Veterinary Medical Association, are to investigate pleuro-pneumonia among cattle and bring the results before Congress to secure legislation for preventing the disease.

Dr. James M. Pease of Holyoke, Mass., has been arrested for procuring an abortion upon Lilly Taggert, an unmarried Pittsfield girl aged twenty years. He was put under $2000 bail for examination Friday. The girl recovered, and has since married.

Pratt, the Reading savings bank defaulter, was arraigned in Boston, pleaded not guilty and was held in $80,000 for further examination. N. S. Pratt, son of the defaulter, was arraigned charged with receiving stocks, securities, etc., of the Reading savings bank, knowing them to have been fraudulently obtained, and was held in $25,000.

There is a large rock on the western base of Rich's mountain, in West Bath, Me., completely covered with strange characters and hieroglyphics which are supposed to have been made by the Indians who inhabited that region before the advent of the white man. Rude figures of men and animals can be traced, accompanied by irregular characters not so legible.

On the day after Colonel Alston was shot in the State treasurer's office at Atlanta, Ga., a party of gentlemen were looking at the spots of blood, when some one remarked that he understood that Colonel Alston's pistol was an inferior one. "Oh, no," said State treasurer Renfroe, "I have its match in the next room. I will show it to you." The pistol was brought, and as one of the party was handling it he touched the trigger, and the weapon went off, the ball burying itself in the ceiling above, just below where Governor Colquitt of Georgia was standing.

A man left a baby on Mr. Alden Peck's steps in New Haven the other night, and now being conscience-stricken writes to Mr. Peck requesting that the baby be sent to him.

John Stone, aged thirty years, while attempting to make forcible entry into a house of ill repute in the outskirts of Beacon's Falls, Conn., Tuesday night, was shot and instantly killed by the proprietor, named Duncan, who has been arrested.

A young lady named Nellie Griswold, nineteen years of age, was engaged in a playful frolic at the house of Mr. George Searles in South Norwalk, Conn., Wednesday noon, with Mr. Searles' son, a boy about sixteen years of age, during which a pistol was discharged, the ball entering her brain. A doctor was summoned, but could do nothing to help her, and she died in a short time. It is the old, old story—the pistol was not supposed to be loaded.

The homœopathists are jubilant over the nomination of Dr. Verdi of Washington as a member of the national board of health, against the protests of the allopathic physicians. Dr. Verdi has paid great attention to the subject, and is regarded as one of the ablest members of the board.

The Bangor Whig has received a trout which it styles the "Emperor of Schoodic Lake," which was caught in that lake and weighs twenty-one pounds and a quarter.

A man whom the speaker of the Texas House of Representatives selected as assistant clerk was objected to by members because he had once taught a school to which colored children were admitted, and he had to forego the position.

Martin V. Dickey, the murderer of young Eastman at Plymouth, pleads guilty of manslaughter, and Attorney-General Tappan accepts the plea. Dickey will be sentenced April 8th.

Spiteful Prayers.

When Lord Stratford was ambassador at Constantinople, one of the secretaries had an audience with the Sheikh ul Islam, who at the moment of his visitor's entrance was engaged in the performance of his devotions. The secretary sat down while the devotee finished his prayers, which were ended by an invocation to Allah to forgive a suppliant true believer the sin of holding direct intercourse with a giaour. His conscience thus relieved, the old Mufti rose from his knees and smilingly welcomed his guest. But this guest, who was original, in his turn begged permission to perform his devotions. He gravely went through an Arabic formula, and ended by begging Allah to forgive a good Christian the crime of visiting a "dog of an infidel." The astonished old Mufti was nettled, but with the true Oriental imperturbability, he bore the insult.

Do Opossums "Play Possum?"

In order to test the supposed habit of the opossum, I have sought out their hiding-places in several instances, and endeavored to make them "show off."

In one instance a large male opossum was captured in an ordinary box-trap set for rabbits. On lifting the lid the animal was found to be curled up into nearly as globular a form as it was possible to assume. Being disturbed, it slowly raised its head, opened its mouth widely, but did not offer to bite, and in this position quietly awaited coming events. After some five minutes of mutual staring, the opossum closed its mouth, and slowly restored its head to a more easy position, and even closed one eye, as though the other was all that was necessary to note what might occur. On being roughly handled and given several pushes with a stick, it opened its mouth widely and protested against disturbance by a low hissing sound, but did not uncoil its body. If the animal, at this time, realized all the circumstances of its being a prisoner, it certainly did not fear death, for it made no effort to escape, which the fear of death would cause it to do, since it was in no way disabled.

After waiting an hour, and seeing no sign of feigning unconsciousness, but, instead, a provoking indifference, I walked off some distance where I could see the trap, which I left open, but myself unnoticed by the opossum. Fully five minutes elapsed before I saw any movement on the part of the animal, and then it was a very gradual uncoiling of the body, a protracted yawn, a stretching of the limbs, and then, standing up, he looked about and very deliberately walked off. I ran toward him, when he quickened his pace, but was soon overtaken. On seizing him by the tail, he crouched down, again partially coiled his body, and spread his jaws to their utmost. When I threatened violent blows about his head (although careful not to strike him), the animal's head slowly sank down, and the eyes closed, but this was not a feigned act. The surface temperature of the body perceptibly lowered, I judged, and it was, as I believe, a fainting, not a feigning; a temporary paralyzation of the whole body, through fear, and for the time being absolute unconsciousness. Furthermore, as in fainting, a touch of cold water has the power of readily restoring the animal.

I have made scores of experiments with opossums when apparently dead, and in no instance have the results varied from the above. As to the position usually assumed when the opossum is supposed to be feigning death, it is that which the animal always assumes when sleeping, and further, is that best calculated to prevent injury from blows, as the head and breast are partially protected. The opossum is superatively lazy and positively timid, and not intelligent, when compared with the raccoon, otter, muskrat, or marmot, and I believe the supposed habit of feigning death, when captured by man, to be attributable to fear and not cunning. Surely, it is a merciful provision that destroys, without pain, all sensation in animals about to be torn in pieces.—Science News.

ROYAL BAKING POWDER

Absolutely Pure.

The Royal Baking Powder is a pure Cream of Tartar powder, made from pure Grape Cream Tartar, imported exclusively for this powder direct from the wine district of France. An old experienced housekeeper writes that, although she has to pay a few pennies more for the "Royal," finds that it goes so much further and works much better than saleratus, soda, or cream of tartar.

Doctors pronounce Alum most dangerous to health; it costs but 2c. a lb., Cream of Tartar over 40. The Royal Baking Powder is recommended for its wholesomeness by such eminent chemists as Dr. Mott, New York; Dr. S. Dana Hayes, Boston. Sold only in cans. All Grocers.

BAKING POWDER should never be sold in paper packages, as it becomes stale and deteriorates upon exposure to the atmosphere. 110

THE CITY.

Simon H. Mills has been drawn as a petit juror from ward three to serve at the April term of the supreme court.

The fishing schooner Mary S. Hontvet, Hontvet master, arrived at this port from Georges bank on Thursday morning, with 45,600 lbs. of fish.

Several Portsmouth people who attended the representation of "Baby" at Dover last week, by the same company that will present it at Music hall next Tuesday evening, inform us that it is full of fun from beginning to end.

The steamer James Sampson will run every evening next week, to accommodate those persons across the river who may desire to attend the temperance meetings in this city. She will run on Sunday evening, when Messrs. Booth and Smith commence their work here.

Singers who wish to join the large chorus for duty during the coming temperance revival in this city (which commences on Sunday evening), can secure tickets at Dr. Goodall's. A cordial invitation is extended to our vocalists, and all who wish to take part are requested to call immediately, so that there will be no disappointment. Gospel Hymns Nos. 1 and 2 will be used.

A lecture on "Temperance our duty" is to be given this evening in Good Templars' hall, Pleasant street, by the Rev. W. H. Sigston, formerly of England, and we recommend the friends of the cause to attend the lecture, being assured from the flattering testimonials he brings with him from clergy and others who have heard his addresses, that they will enjoy a rich treat. The lecture is to be free, with a collection at its close.

The audience at Music hall on Thursday evening was a very small one, partly to be accounted for by the facts that the weather was abominable overhead and far worse under foot, and that "H. M. S. Pinafore" was advertised for the following evening. The drama, the "Serpent's sting," is very good of its kind, and the farce, the "Factory girl," quite amusing. Mr. George A. Hill is a good actor, and the company a very fair one.

"H. M. S. Pinafore" at Music hall this evening. This musical satire was presented in Portland by the same company on Tuesday evening, and the Press says: "The performance proved a most agreeable surprise, and we think we express the views of the musical part of the audience when we say they were delighted. Miss Dora Wiley made a very pleasing Josephine in appearance and she sung the music deliciously. Her voice is not only clear and pure but strong, and her solo in the second act, as well as her various numbers in the first act, were received with hearty applause and several encores. Mr. Bartlett has a very nice tenor voice and also acted the part of Ralph Rackstraw with discretion. Mr. Gilbert's Dick Deadeye was very funny. Miss Corey's Hebe professed more character and self-assertion than Miss Martinot's, and was exceeding well portrayed. The choruses and ensembles were capital and were worked up to the climax admirably. The deck of the Pinafore, and the view of Portsmouth by moonlight, were very pretty scenes."

THE VICINITY.

Ferguson Haines, Esq., has declined to accept the office of treasurer of Biddeford, to which he was recently elected.

At Wells, after two days' vigorous balloting, the republicans elected all their candidates by an average majority of sixty over the combined democrats and greenbackers.

Rev. Mr. McDaniel of the Unitarian church in Exeter gave notice that his pulpit would be regularly supplied during his absence in Europe for his health. He hopes and expects to resume his labors about September 1st.

The Newcastle reform club on the evening of March 26th elected the following officers: Frank P. Locke, president; Robert W. Yeaton, Robert Oliver, Rufus A. Preble, Jr., vice presidents; Carrie Hall, secretary; Mrs. John V. White, treasurer. Mr. Locke was the first president of the club, when it was organized three years ago. Sixty persons have signed the pledge within the last three months, and the organization now has two hundred and twenty-eight members.

Rev. Charles A. Allen, pastor of the Unitarian church in Dover, has received a call to the Unitarian church in Brunswick, Me., and it is said will accept. He has been connected with the Dover society about four years, during which time it has increased in numbers and prosperity.

Mr. Augustus Stevenson of Kittery has been awarded a patent on a surface planer, designed for the purpose of planing timber curved to any degree necessary. There were thirteen points claimed by the inventor, all of which were allowed. Mr. Stevenson is having a working model constructed, which will be in operation in a short time.

At the recent town meeting in York, officers were elected as follows: Joseph Bragdon, republican, moderator; Josiah D. Bragdon, George W. Currier, repubs., James A. Bragdon, democrat, selectmen; Joseph Bragdon, treasurer; W. Jenkins, repub., collector; C. O. Barrell, Willard A. Grant, repubs., Joseph M. Grant, dem, overseers of the poor; A. H. Tapley, repub., agent; Dr. J. C. Stewart, repub., supt. sch. committee; George W. S. Putman, repub., auditor.

The Columbus (Ga.) Enquirer says the new Eagle & Phœnix mill in that city is filled with machinery made at the Saco water power machine shops at Biddeford, and by the Reynolds works at Lewiston, and adds that as now fitted the Eagle & Phœnix mill is acknowledged to stand without a peer as a cotton mill in America. The same paper says that the Atlanta cotton mill will soon be in full operation, and the machinery will be built by the Biddeford and Lewiston companies above mentioned.

The walking match of twenty-five miles between Durgin and Lewis, of Kittery, came off in Trefethen's hall at the "foreside" on the evening of March 26th, and was won by Durgin, who beat his opponent by fourteen seconds. The quickest mile made was done in nine minutes and forty-five seconds. The first ten miles was done in an hour and forty minutes, the men then being abreast. The full distance was made by Durgin in four hours and fifty five minutes, Lewis finishing fourteen seconds later.

Dover is to have a walking match on April 9th and 10th, $100 having been contributed to be distributed as follows: $50 to the man covering the greatest number of miles in thirty-six consecutive hours, $25 to the second man, $20 to the third and $5 to the fourth—all contestants to be residents of Strafford county, an entrance fee of five dollars to be paid before starting, and no man to share in the purse unless he covers seventy-five miles. Contestants to walk, hop, or run, or get over the course in any way they please, so only that they use their own means of locomotion. The tramp is to come off in the city hall.

The following meetings have been arranged for Old Orchard for the present season, which will give variety enough to meet almost all tastes and shades of opinion: Jubilee of song, conducted by Philip Phillips, July 16th to 22d, inclusive; Faith convention, conducted by Dr. Charles Cullis, July 25th—Aug. 6th; an evangelistic meeting, conducted by Rev. Dr. Earle and Rev. C. C. McCabe, D. D., Aug. 6th—12th; national Christian temperance camp-meeting, Hon. S. Perham, president, Aug. 13th—19th; Portland district camp-meeting, conducted by Rev. Parker Jacques, Aug. 25th—31st. Besides, the foregoing, it is probable that the reform clubs of New England will hold a six-days' meeting at Old Orchard, if satisfactory arrangements can be made with the camp-ground association and the railroads.

CITY COUNCILS.

In Board of Mayor and Aldermen, regular meeting, Thursday evening:

John Grant applied to purchase lot No. 10, city farm; referred to the mayor, with power.

The pay roll of the fire department was approved, and ordered to be paid.

The application of C. C. Jackson for a gas light opposite the Kearsarge house was referred to the committee on gas lights.

POISONING CROWS.

Throughout the winter just past a flock of seven crows (sometimes joined by an eighth one, who seemed less civilized and confiding than the regular seven) have foraged in the neighborhood of the south mill-pond, and finding themselves unmolested became quite tame. One of their favorite haunts was the immediate vicinity of Mr. James M. Sheldon's slaughter-house on Richards avenue, and long immunity from annoyance rendered them so familiar that they would pay no special attention when Mr. Sheldon appeared, but would walk about quite as unconcernedly as a flock of shy hens. Another favored spot was the garden at the rear of one of the aristocratic residences on Court street, where no doubt they were accustomed to find plenty of food and no molestation. And when the flats in the pond were free from ice, the birds could be seen doing scavengers' duty there.

Mr. Sheldon was considerable of a sportsman in his younger days, but the idea never entered his head to disturb the confiding crows, and his indignation—as also that of nearly all the residents in that immediate section—now waxes hot toward the ruthless, wanton destroyers of his sable pets. On Tuesday of this week he noticed a quantity of maize scattered around; and the crows soon noticed it, too, and with many approving caws proceeded to eat it. Result, four crows dead in a short time. Next day the remaining four were flying around, evidently much disturbed about something, and when three of them descended to the ground the fourth one would stand a lookout on some high tree—man's treachery seeming to have caused their relapse into their original wild condition. For some hours they carefully avoided the remainder of the corn, but at length they gobbled it up, and now there are no half-tamed crows about the south pond: The corn, which we believe was put out by boys, was unquestionably poisoned, and from the rapidity of its action it is suspected that the poison used was strychnine.

The object of this cruel murder of the crows we are informed was to secure ten cents bounty on each one killed. We believe an idiotic State law does offer such an inducement for the destruction of one of the farmer's best friends, for the crow does a hundred times more good than harm; there used to be such a law we know, for many years ago we used to shoot crows curself in order to get the ten cents bounty, and we always found their crops filled with noxious grubs and insects, with only occasionally a trifling admixture of grain or corn. But whether there is a law offering a bounty on crows or not, there is a very stringent law against the exposure of poison for any purpose whatever, the lowest penalty for the offence being, we believe, fifty dollars fine, with costs of prosecution. If the assassins of the poor crows could be convicted, the "gilt" would be taken off the profits of the transaction—not its "guilt," which can hardly be palliated by anything short of the homicide of the offenders.

And it might be well to enquire where thoughtless, immature boys can procure deadly poisons, for a horse or man poisoned by one of them would die just as readily as though the drug was administered by a giant or a philosopher.

WRITING IN SCHOOLS.

Mr. Editor: Having recently noticed an item in your paper referring to our schools, as women are having a voice in regard to school matters in other places I beg a brief space in your columns to express my opinion on the subject of writing and its importance. I am personally interested in this matter, having two boys under the instruction of the present teacher, whose progress to me is highly satisfactory, and whose success in life must be based on their education principally. Most children have a father to make up many deficiencies in future life, but at an early age mine were deprived of theirs, and by giving them a good, practical education, I hope to live to see them occupy honorable positions in the world, and I advocate "Reader's" principles. "A good hand-writing is necessary to their success." A MOTHER.

Naval Matters.

—The Lilliputian opera troupe recently gave an entertainment at Poughkeepsie, N. Y., and during the day "Admiral Dot," one of the smallest men in the world, belonging to the troupe, entered a printing office, and calling for a stick, mounted a stool and set type like a veteran. He said that was his trade, and he had obtained his nickname from the smallest of characters, the period or dot, and had always adhered to it, thinking it a good appellation.

On Our Most Distant Frontiers,

As in our busiest and most populous cities of the seaboard and interior, Hostetter's Stomach Bitters is pre-eminently popular. Wherever civilization plants its foot on this continent, thither the great tonic soon finds its way. Nor is this surprising, for it is the medicine of all others best adapted to the wants of the Western emigrant, be he miner or agriculturist. It is an incomparable remedy for the diseases to which he is most subject, and which are liable to be brought on by a change of climate, hardship, exposure, unaccustomed air and diet, and miasmatic atmosphere and water. Among these are disorders of the stomach and bowels, rheumatic ailments, and malarious fevers, for all of which Hostetter's Bitters is a certain specific. A course of the Bitters before departing for the new field of labor, or on arriving, will have the effect of preventing the evils for which it is such a signal remedy.

Consumption Cured.

An old physician, retired from practice, having had placed in his hands by an East India missionary the formula of a simple vegetable remedy, for the speedy and permanent cure for consumption, bronchitis, catarrh, asthma, and all throat and lung affections, also a positive and radical cure for nervous debility an all nervous complaints, after having tested its wonderful curative powers in thousands of cases, has felt it his duty to make it known to his suffering fellows. Actuated by this motive, and a desire to relieve human suffering, I will send, free of charge, to all who desire it, this recipe, with full directions for preparing and using, in German, French, or English. Sent by mail by addressing with stamp, naming this paper, W. W. Sherar, 149 Powers' Block, Rochester, New York. ta22

WHEAT MEAL!

— OR —

Graham Flour.

When Wheat is ground it becomes Wheat Meal; when it is bolted it becomes Wheat Flour. Dr. Graham, who lectured through the country forty years ago on dietetics formed the fraternity known as "Grahamites." He said that bolted Flour should not be eaten, but that bread ought to be made of Wheat Meal instead; from him it got the name of Graham Flour. All Graham Flour therefore ought to be Wheat Meal, but about three-quarters of it is what we call made up Graham, that is, artificially mixed Cheap Flour and Bran, and is in every way inferior to the genuine article. Hardly a person who uses the genuine Wheat Meal would take the bogus article except on compulsion.

Letting Dresses.

A Boston correspondent of a western paper says:

"There is a certain fashionable modiste up town who has among her customers a large number of ladies of our 'very best society,' Carriages are continually before her door, and such is her success in business that she is the envy of the throng of modistes who 'can't see how she does it!' This because they do not understand the double role she plays. Very many of these large flat-tops in which elegant costumes are sent home come back to the dressmaker a few days later; but of course that is all right—changes are needed. But when the changes are made, the costumes go out again to different addresses from the first ones, and again they come back.

In fact, the principal business done here is that of letting costumes for balls, weddings and other affairs. Even black silk visiting dresses and street suits may be hired and are especially made use of by ladies who are going on visits for a few weeks to other cities or the seashore. But the business is so carefully arranged that nobody finds it out, and even the ladies who patronize the establishment seldom see their dresses worn by any one else, for the madame always keeps strict memoranda of the places where the dresses have been worn, and never lets a costume go twice into the same circle of society; besides, such alterations are made every time a dress comes back, that it would not be very easily recognized.

Considering the secrecy which is maintained regarding this branch of the business done here, it is rather surprising how the madame ever secured the large list of patrons whose names are on her books. Think what a fluttering there would be should these private books be by any accident made public!"

—A young girl in Michigan, about to elope, and knowing she was too young to be married, doctored the record in the family Bible and took along the sacred volume for proof.

CAPITAL $2,000,000. 200,000 SHARES.
PAR VALUE, $10 PER SHARE.
UNASSESSIBLE.
Daniel J. Spinne, Pres. J. L. Thompson, Sec.
The property of this Company consists of twelve mines and mining locations, located in Lake County, Colorado, in the vicinity of Leadville, upon all of which extensive work has been done, in all cases exhibiting true fissure veins, good pay streak, and well defined lodes.
Three of the leading mines are well opened up and have at the lowest computation over TEN THOUSAND TONS OF ORE IN SIGHT; by May 1st, the Railroad now under construction will be within a short distance of this property.
The Company proposes to sell a portion of its stock at $1.50 per share for the purpose of more completely developing its mines, and for the erection of works for the treatment of its ores.
Applications for the stock may be made to the office of the Company, 61 Broadway, New York.
N. B.—The Mining Record, of New York, the highest mining authority in this country, says Feb. 1st, 1879: The principal owners in this company are hard working men who by their own labor have uncovered large bodies of ore which they now wish to extract and send to market; our readers will do well to make a venture with these worthy men, this money will probably be returned to them twenty fold. The business management has been placed in the care of Mr. J. L. Thompson, an officer of high standing in one of the largest banks in the city. NEW HAMPSHIRE GAZETTE
Contains more original matter
Than any other paper of its size in the State, the editors working more with their pens than with their scissors.

TO ADVERTISERS
THE N. H. GAZETTE
Presents an excellent opportunity for a WEEKLY INVITATION TO CUSTOMERS, at a reasonable rate, and all those who desire to reach patrons in Rockingham and York counties will find it an economical medium. THE GAZETTE is in many instances the only paper taken by families, and it is read to a large extent in localities whence is derived much of the trade of Portsmouth, a fact which our merchants should not fail to bear in mind.

GOLDEN MEDICAL DISCOVERY
By its great and thorough blood-purifying properties, Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery cures all Humors, from the worst Scrofula to a common Blotch, Pimple, or Eruption. Mercurial disease, Mineral Poisons, and their effects, are eradicated, and vigorous health and a sound constitution established. Erysipelas, Salt-Rheum, Fever-Sores, Scaly or Rough Skin, in short, all diseases caused by bad blood, are conquered by this powerful, purifying, and invigorating medicine.
Especially has it manifested its potency in curing Tetter, Rose Rash, Boils, Carbuncles, Sore Eyes, Scrofulous Sores and Swellings, White Swellings, Goitre or Thick Neck, and Enlarged Glands.
If you feel dull, drowsy, debilitated, have sallow color of skin, or yellowish-brown spots on face or body, frequent headache or dizziness, bad taste in mouth, internal heat or chills alternated with hot flushes, low spirits, and gloomy forebodings, irregular appetite, and tongue coated, you are suffering from Torpid Liver, or "Biliousness." In many cases of "Liver Complaint" all or most of these symptoms are experienced. As a remedy for all such cases, Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery has no equal, as it effects perfect and radical cures.
In the cure of Bronchitis, Severe Coughs, and the early stages of Consumption, it has astonished the medical faculty, and eminent physicians pronounce it the greatest medical discovery of the age. While it cures the severest Coughs, it strengthens the system and purifies the blood. Sold by druggists.
R. V. PIERCE, M. D., Prop'r, World's Dispensary and Invalids' Hotel, Buffalo, N. Y.

Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Purgative Pellets
SIZE OF PELLETS.
THE "LITTLE GIANT" CATHARTIC.
No use of taking the large, repulsive, nauseous pills, compounded of chaff, crude and inert ingredients. These Pellets are scarcely larger than mustard seeds. Being entirely vegetable, no particular care is required while using them. They operate without disturbance to the constitution, diet or occupation. For Jaundice, Headache, Constipation, Impure Blood, Pain in the Shoulders, Tickling of the Throat, Dizziness, Sour Eructations from the Stomach, Bad Taste in the Mouth, Bilious attacks, Pain in region of Kidneys, Internal Fever, Costiveness, Feeling about Stomach, Rush of Blood to Head, take Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Purgative Pellets. In explanation of the remedial power of these Purgative Pellets over so great a variety of diseases, it may be said that their action upon the animal economy is universal, not a gland or tissue escaping their sensitive impress. Accidents not impair the properties of these Pellets. They are sugar-coated and inclosed in glass bottles, their virtues being thereby preserved unimpaired for any length of time, in any climate, so that they are always fresh and reliable. This is not the case with pills put up in cheap wooden or pasteboard boxes. For all diseases where a Laxative, Alterative, or Purgative, is indicated, these little Pellets will give the most perfect satisfaction. Sold by druggists.

CATARRH
SYMPTOMS.—Frequent headache, discharge, falling into throat, sometimes profuse, watery, thick mucous, purulent, offensive, acrid. In others, a dryness, dry, watery, weak, or inflamed eyes, stopping up, or obstruction, of the nasal passages, ringing in ears, deafness, hawking and coughing to clear the throat, ulcerations, scabs from ulcers, voice altered, nasal twang, offensive breath, impaired or total deprivation of sense of smell and taste, dizziness, mental depression, loss of appetite, indigestion, enlarged tonsils, tickling cough, etc. Only a few of these symptoms are likely to be present in any case at one time.
DR. SAGE'S CATARRH REMEDY
produces radical cures of the worst cases of Catarrh, no matter of how long standing. The liquid remedy may be snuffed, or better applied by the use of Dr. PIERCE'S Douche. This is the only form of instrument yet invented with which liquid medicine can be carried HIGH UP and PERFECTLY APPLIED to all parts of the affected nasal passages, and the chambers or cavities communicating therewith, in which sores and ulcers frequently exist, and from which the catarrhal discharge generally proceeds. Its use is pleasant and easily understood, from directions accompanying each instrument. Dr. SAGE'S Catarrh Remedy cures recent attacks of "Cold in the Head" by a few applications. It is mild and pleasant to use, containing no strong or caustic drugs or poisons. Catarrh Remedy and Douche sold by druggists. R. V. PIERCE, M. INCORPORATED JANUARY, 1873. WORLD'S DISPENSARY MEDICAL ASSOCIATION BUFFALO AND LONDON. CAPITAL STOCK, $250,000.

(Successors to R. V. PIERCE, M. D.)

Dr. R. V. PIERCE, having acquired a world-wide reputation in the treatment of Chronic Diseases, resulting in a professional business far exceeding his individual ability to perform, some years ago induced several medical gentlemen to associate themselves with him, as the Faculty of the World's Dispensary, the Consulting Department of which has since been merged with the INVALIDS' HOTEL. The organization has been completed and incorporated under the name and style of World's Dispensary Medical Association, with the following officers:

HON. R. V. PIERCE, Pres. F. D. PIERCE, V. Pres.
JNO. E. PIERCE, Sec. LESTER B. SMITH, Treas.

NINE PHYSICIANS AND SURGEONS of eminence and skill have been chosen as the Faculty.

CHRONIC DISEASES of all forms come within the province of our several specialties.

LUNG DISEASES in this division of practice is very ably managed by a gentleman of mature judgment and skill. Bronchial, Throat, and Lung Diseases treated with the most successful results.

DISEASES OF WOMEN.—Especially are our facilities of a superior order for the cure of all those chronic diseases peculiar to females.

NERVOUS DISEASES.—Paralysis, Nervous Debility, Epilepsy (Fits), Chorea (St. Vitus's Dance), Neuralgia, and other nervous affections, receive the attention of an expert in this specialty.

NOT NECESSARY TO BE PATIENTS.—By our original system of diagnosis, we can treat many chronic diseases as successfully without as with a personal consultation. For particulars see "People's Common Sense Medical Adviser" (1,000 pages, sent post-paid for $1.50) or "Invalids' and Tourists' Guide Book" (100 pages, 10 cents postage).

SURGICAL CASES.—Among the operations which we are called upon most frequently to perform, are those for Nasal Polypus, Harelip, Tumors, Fistulæ in Ano, Piles, Hernia (Rupture), Hydrocele (Dropsy of the Scrotum), Varicocele, Ovarian and Uterine Tumors, Calculi (Stone in the Bladder), Stricture, etc., etc. We always succeed, by a new method without surgical operation, Cancers, Club-feet, Spinal Curvature, and other deformities. Our pamphlet entitled, "Motion as a Curative Agent," sent on receipt of 10 cents.

Address, World's Dispensary Medical Association, BUFFALO, N. Y.

WOMAN

By an immense practice at the World's Dispensary and Invalids' Hotel, having treated many thousand cases of these diseases peculiar to females, I have been enabled to perfect a most potent and positive remedy for these diseases.

To designate this natural specific, I have named it

Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription

The term, however, is but a feeble expression of my high appreciation of its value, based upon personal observation. I have, while witnessing its positive results in the special diseases incident to the organism of woman, singled it out as the climax or crowning gem of my medical career. On its merits, as a positive, safe, and effectual remedy for this class of diseases, and one that will, at all times and under all circumstances, act kindly, I am willing to stake my reputation as a physician; and so confident am I that it will not disappoint the most sanguine expectations of a single invalid lady who uses it for any of the ailments for which I recommend it, that I offer and sell it under A POSITIVE GUARANTEE. (For conditions, see pamphlet wrapping bottle.)

The following are among those diseases in which my Favorite Prescription has worked cures, as if by magic, and with a certainty never before attained by any medicine: Leucorrhœa, Excessive Flowing, Painful Monthly Periods, Suppressions when from unnatural causes, Irregularities, Weak Back, Prolapsus, or Falling of the Uterus, Anteversion and Retroversion, Bearing-down Sensations, Internal Heat, Nervous Irritability, Debility, Despondency, Threatened Miscarriage, Chronic Congestion, Inflammation and Ulceration of the Uterus, Impotency, Barrenness, or Sterility, and Female Weakness. I do not extol this medicine as a "cure-all," but it admirably fulfills a singleness of purpose, being a most perfect specific for all chronic diseases of the sexual system of woman. It will not disappoint, nor will it do harm, in any state or condition.

Those who desire further information on these subjects can obtain it in THE PEOPLE'S COMMON SENSE MEDICAL ADVISER, a book of over 300 pages, sent, post-paid, on receipt of $1.50. It treats minutely of those diseases peculiar to Females, and gives much valuable advice in regard to the management of those affections.

Favorite Prescription sold by Druggists.

SWORN EVIDENCE.

The following Cure is probably the most remarkable ever effected by any medical preparation for the treatment of Catarrh:

Gentlemen.—I hereby certify that I have had Catarrh for ten years, and for the last six years have been a terrible sufferer. I was rendered partially deaf, had buzzing in the head, pains across the temple, dizzy spells, weak and painful eyes, swollen and ulcerated tonsils, hard and constant cough, severe pain across the chest, and every indication of consumption. My head ached all the time. The matter accumulated so rapidly in my head and throat that I could not keep them free. Frequently at night I would spring out of bed, it seemed to me, at the point of suffocation. I would then have recourse to every means in my power to dislodge the mucus from my throat and head before being able to sleep again. For a period of six years my throat was constantly and so much inflamed that I could scarcely swallow. I finally consulted an eminent physician in regard to an operation on them, but at his request postponed it. The constant inflammation and ulceration in my throat caused by the poisonous matter dropping down from my head had so irritated and inflamed my lungs that I coughed incessantly.—A deep hard cough. Meanwhile my system began to show the effects of this disease, so that I lost flesh, grew pale, and showed every symptom of an early death by consumption. When matters had reached this stage, or about six months ago, I began the use of SANFORD'S RADICAL CURE FOR CATARRH. After using the first bottle I began to improve rapidly. The first does seemed to clear my head as I had not known it to be for years. I seemed gradually to arrest the discharge. It stopped my cough in three days. By using it as a gargle I soon reduced the inflammation and swelling of my tonsils to thickness which ceased to trouble me. The soreness across my chest disappeared, the buzzing noises in my head ceased, my senses of feeling and hearing were completely restored, and every symptom of disease that had reduced me to the verge of the grave disappeared by the use of SANFORD'S RADICAL CURE FOR CATARRH.

I have been thus explicit because, as a druggist, I save seen a great deal of suffering from Catarrh, and hope to convince many that this is a great remedy.

I am familiar with the treatment of Catarrh as practised by the best physicians, and have consulted the most eminent about my case. I have used every kind of remedy and apparatus that have appeared during a period of six years past, and have, while following that, taken great care of my general health, but obtained no relief or encouragement from any of them.

BOSTON, Feb. 23, 1878. GEO. F. DINSMORE.

COLLINS'

VOLTAIC PLASTER

Affords the most grateful relief in all Affections of the Chest and Lungs.

CHRONIC PLEURISY CURED.

Messrs. WEEKS & POTTER: Gentlemen.—Having for many months past suffered with a very painful side, called by my physician Chronic Pleurisy, caused by a former injury and strain, and for which I have vainly prescribed my own medicines, I was induced to try your Collins' Voltaic Plaster. To my surprise and cure, without the least benefit, my physician recommended the use of Your Collins' Voltaic Plaster, which, to my great surprise, relieved the pain and sore ness almost immediately, and I have since continued to use it in my household affairs ever since with perfect comfort, soreness, whereas, before the application of your invaluable Plaster, I was scarcely able to do any thing. I consider them inestimable, and shall not fail to recommend them to the afflicted. Yours respectfully, MRS. FRANCES HARRIMAN.

ORLANDO, Me., April 21, 1876.

There is no medical or protective appliance that will prove so grateful and effective in Pleuritic Complaints as the Porous Plaster of the Chest and Lungs, I believe them capable of preventing serious diseases of these organs.

PRICE, 25 CENTS.

☞ Not confound these Plasters with the ordinary plasters of the day, that by comparison are absolutely worthless.

☞ Be careful to obtain COLLINS' VOLTAIC PLASTER, a combination of Electric or Voltaic Plates with a light Medicated Plaster, as seen in the above cut. For sale by Wholesale and Retail Druggists throughout the United States and Canadas, and by WEEKS & POTTER, Proprietors, Boston, Mass.

PORTSMOUTH

Daily Chronicle.

Concluded from yesterday.

Lena's Temptation.

"Oh, if you intend adding a 'secondly' to papa's sermon, I may as well be going," laughed Lena, rising to her feet and drawing on her gloves. "Can I be of any further service to you, Mrs. Alton?"

"Will you have the kindness to match this zephyr for me at Brett's? It's for Lloyd's birthday present, and baby isn't feeling well, and I dislike to leave him this afternoon."

Rescuing a torn bit of paper from baby Howard's fingers, she wrapped it around the fleecy scarf of wool, and placed it in her friend's hand.

"By the way, Lena," she said, stooping to pick up the baby to conceal her embarrassment, "I had a letter from Gordon a short time since."

A sudden flush swept Lena's face, and in a voice which she strove in vain to make careless and unconcerned, she said:

"He is well, I hope."

"Yes; and he thinks of going abroad. His firm greatly desires that he should become the resident partner in Paris. He has nothing to keep him at home, except myself and Loyd, and we shall try not to be selfish in a matter so greatly to his advantage."

Five minutes later Lena was on her way down the street. Mrs. Alton, watching her from the window, whispered to herself, while a look of deep interest settled on her face,—

"Gordon was right. She is thoroughly selfish and heartless, and not worthy of him. I must give up my pretty dream. Lloyd says that match making is one of my failings."

Meanwhile Lena passed on her way, unconscious that on this perfect day of all the year nature had turned spendthrift, and with reckless hand was flinging her wealth of beauty on wood and plain. The earth was robed in glory, but Lena, walking like one in a dream, was conscious only of the old, old heartache; the keen pain, so long battled with, rose in its might and threatened to overcome her.

He was going away. The faint hope which had sustained her these weary months was utterly quenched. He had never cared for her, she whispered, bitterly, and there was nothing left for her but the same weary, aimless, intolerable life she had endured so long. She had deceived herself in these bright, brief days forever gone by. It was only a friend's glance that had met her, only a friend's brave, hopeful words, that had given her such hope and courage; and in return she had given all the wealth of a young heart's first love. Clasping her hands in sudden agony, the slip of paper fell from her trembling fingers. As she stooped to regain it her glance fell upon her own name, written in a handwriting she knew but too well; and without stopping to think, she unfolded the paper and read as follows:

"I do love her, Nellie, as I never expect to love again; but I dare not trust my life's happiness in the hands of one so utterly frivolous and selfish, I had almost said heartless. It gives me keen pain to write this, but the truth stands before me, and I must face it and bear it. There has been a time when I thought she might prove different; that the slumbering better nature in her soul would waken to new life; but the experience of the past year has proved my hopes false. On every hand I hear of her vanity and folly, her selfishness and hard-heartedness. I am going away, and in the new life opening before me I shall try to drive the memory of Lena Lynell from my mind."

Pleasant words for a loving, sensitive heart to scan! But in extreme cases harsh remedies are needed, and Nellie Alton never did a wiser deed than when, unwittingly, she placed that slip of torn paper in her friend's hand.

After the first glow of indignation had subsided, Lena was conscious of a faint thrill of joy mingling with the keen pain Gordon Gray's words had caused. He had cared for her, then, after all; it was her own hand that had dashed the cup of joy from her lips. If she had only been true to herself how much pain might she been spared; and the old child-look came back into Lena's face, and the tears rose in her eyes as she prayed silently, "God forgive me, and help me to be a better woman!"

The coveted bracelet had lost its charm. She was in no mood for trifles. Turning down a side street, she walked on neath the wind-stirred trees until the slanting rays of the afternoon sun roused her from her reverie. She was on the outskirts of the village, and right before her stood a little house, gray and unpainted, at whose window a young girl sat before her easel. Mrs. Alton's description had been so vivid that Lena had no difficulty in recognizing in this young artist the heroine of her friend's story. Opportunities for doing good had passed by her one by one, unimproved, in the olden days; here was one, and she would not neglect it; and in a moment more she was introducing herself to the young artist, and, all her old-time pride forgotten, chatting with her like an old friend, winning her confidence, and devising means to assist her without wounding her pride.

There was an irresistable charm about Lilia Burton's manner. She was thoroughly in earnest in the pursuit of her life-work, so wrapped up in the interest of the dear ones for whose sake she laboured, that Lena became deeply interested in her, and when at last she took her departure, the roll of bills was transferred to the artist's hands, and she became the happy possessor of one of her finest paintings.

Walking home in the late afternoon,

Lena was conscious of a strange sense of self-satisfaction, and almost contentment. For the first time in years she had experienced the joy of making another happy, and the good work so begun she had no intention of leaving unfinished. Before she had retired for the night she had written a long letter to an aunt in the city, whose kind interest she felt determined to awaken in behalf of her protege.

A reply soon came. Aunt Ruth would be glad of a companion, and would do all in her power to assist the young artist; and so it came about that when the first snows fell, Lilla Burton became an inmate of Mrs. Crane's home and began to apply herself with untiring assiduity to her loved art.

As for Lena, once having tasted the sweets of doing good, she had no mind to go back to the old selfish life. On the right hand and on the left she found those who needed her help, sympathy and advice; and becoming interested in her work, the old pain and heartache lost some of its strength. A complete change had passed over her nature, and her parents rejoiced in the result, without inquiring too closly into the cause which had produced it. Gordon Gray did not go abroad. The ties which bound him to his native land were too strong to be broken; and so it came that, frequenting art galleries and studios, he became familiar with the fair young face which attracted him by the earnestness imprinted on every feature. It grew to be one of his pleasures at last to stand by Lilla Burton's side and watch her at her beautiful work, giving freely a friend's kindly criticism.

The Christmas time was drawing nigh, and Lilla's heart, overflowing with its debt of gratitude, determined to make a suitable acknowledgement to her kind benefactress. Hour by hour she labored patiently. When the Christmas week dawned the work was completed, and was a portrait of Lena Lynell, dressed in a dark velvet costume, and holding in her hand some crocusses. It had been sketched from memory, for Lilla had once seen her thus; but the tender, truthful look was of a loftier character than had been in Lena of old; though it was no exaggeration now. A loving heart had dictated and a loving hand had executed the portrait, and rarely had a more beautiful face beamed forth from a canvas.

As she put the last touch to the picture and leaned back with a sigh of satisfaction, Gordon Gray, who had been absent from the city, entered. In her absorption Lilla did not perceive him until he spoke.

"Heavens! what a likeness!" he exclaimed; "only, if possible, more beautiful. Tell me, Lilla," he cried, in agitation, "is it only a fancy piece, or is it a real portrait?"

"It is a real portrait," answered Lilla, regarding him with surprise. "Do you know her? It is the face of Lena Lynell, my dearest friend and the noblest woman I ever knew."

She spoke with enthusiasm, and while her visitor listened in astonishment and admiration the whole story came out.

A great revolution had taken place in Gordon Gray's heart. Even to himself he would not before have acknowledged that the old love still remained; but it needed only this breath of praise from a woman's lips to fan the smouldering embers into a brilliant flame. When they parted it was a firm resolve in his heart to pay his sister a visit, and see for himself if time had indeed wrought such wondrous changes.

What the result of his observations was may be inferred from the fact that Lena Lynell is now, and has been for many years, his happy wife. In her sunlit home she hears of the fame and honor which her protege has acquired; of the wealth that has poured in upon her; of the hosts of friends who throng around her; and she thanks the Giver of good, who turned her feet from the paths of selfishness, and in teaching her to labor for others, brought true happiness to her wordly heart.

Portsmouth Chronicle

SATURDAY, MARCH 29, 1879.

News and Notes.

The evidence against Charles Thompson, alias Owen Hughes, now under arrest in New York for killing the second mate, Williams, of barque Niphon, of Bath, Me., is to the effect that Williams knocked Thompson down with a belaying-pin, and then kicked him, the mate and carpenter of the vessel standing by. Immediately afterward Williams again struck Thompson with the belaying-pin, when the sailor put his sheath-knife into the officer, and the latter then walked away, to die in a short time.

Patrick Biggin of Cambridge was arrested on Thursday on a charge of having cruelly beaten his daughter, aged thirteen years. The girl, after being beaten, was driven from her home on Monday evening, and after sleeping out of doors for two nights, and going without food for nearly forty hours, her case was made known to the police.

At Fort Scott, Kansas, Bill Howard, a negro, committed an outrageous assault on Clara Pond, a white girl twelve years old. He was arrested on Thursday, but was taken from the jail at night by a mob of 1000 men and boys, hung, and his body then burned in the street.

Turkey is suffering severely from the issue of fiat money. Only hucksters will accept it at all, and then reluctantly, at one-tenth of its nominal value. Merchants and shopkeepers utterly refuse it. The government compels bakers and water-carriers to accept it, and compensates them for their loss.

Two negroes, named Smith and Christian, were hung at New Kent court house, Va., March 25th, for murder. On the night of that day the negroes held a ball, at which a Voudon negress appeared selling pieces of the rope with which the criminals were hanged, and which she had charmed. The negroes fought to purchase the amulets, and then started to secure the clothes in which the criminals had been buried, to cut them up also for charms. They were frightened off by two resurrectionists whom they mistook for Smith and Christian, the negroes thinking that both criminals had escaped from their graves.

Col. Stockton, a clerk in the navy department at Washington, a nephew of the late Commodore Stockton, and a confederate colonel during the late war, died suddenly on March 26th, aged fifty-six years.

The corner-stone of the Confederate monument, located in Capitol square, at Columbia, S. C. was laid Thursday by the Masonic fraternity.

George D. Whittle, ex-collector of Lynn, Mass., has fled, leaving considerable indebtedness behind him. He has been very prominent in official life, and stood high socially and in the church.

We invite the attention of our readers to the new card of the Grand Pacific hotel, Chicago. They have made a further reduction in their prices to suit the times. This hotel stands at the head for its excellent cuisine and splendid service, the accommodations being unsurpassed, and the ventilation claimed to be the finest and most perfect of any hotel in the country, which is a recommendation now-a-days that is invaluable.

Timothy J. Lynch, the Boston broker who disappeared March 18th, has been heard from in Portland. He will not be arrested, as there is no law to cover his offence.

Forty persons have died of diphtheria in the little town of Windham, Me., since Jan. 1st.

A young colored woman named Phebe Sands was found dead on the track of the Housatonic railroad near Merwinsville, Conn., Sunday morning. She and her husband the day before were walking from South Kent, a distance of ten miles, and she becoming fatigued was kicked and cuffed, and finally left by him at the place where she was found dead the next morning.

The governor of Louisiana on Thursday signed the bill revoking the charter of the Louisiana State lottery.

A fire in Akyab, India, destroyed the native portion of the town and caused a loss of $2,500,000.

The government has awarded to James Power & Co., of Norfolk, Va., the contract for recovering material from the wreck of the U. S. S. Huron. Operations will soon be commenced. The wreck is said to be valuable.

New Zealand advices to March 4th report a fire damp explosion in the Kaitanzita coal mine, province of Otago, which killed all the men in the mine, thirty in number.

Gen. Sheridan, who has recently been out in the Indian country, regards the fears of a general Indian uprising in the summer as almost wholly without foundation. He characterizes Sitting Bull as a petty chief, without influence, and greatly overrated as a warrior.

New Hampshire Items.

The manufactures of New Hampshire amounted to over $96,000,000 last year, among them being $30,588,500 worth of cotton goods, $11,706,000 of boots and shoes, and $9,222,000 of woolens; for a State with only 347,000 people, in hard times, we call that a pretty good record.

Mrs. John Donevan, whose husband while intoxicated set fire to the large boarding-house in Suncook, March 24th, and perished in the flames, has sworn out a complaint against Horace Bonney, the proprietor of the well-known Ayer house at Hookset, charging him with selling the liquor to her late husband. The officers tried to arrest Bonney, but he had fled. It is stated that papers will be made out for bringing an action for damages against Bonney for $6000 for the property destroyed, and $5000 for Donevan's life.

Allen Lane, seventeen years old, was killed at Chichester March 25th, by getting caught in the machinery of a steam sawmill.

Political.

The grand jury of Hamilton county, Ohio, is a democratic body, and Wm. P. Wallace, ex-sheriff of the county, is one of the most prominent democrats in it; but the grand jury has indicted him for stealing $23,000 while he was sheriff. Wallace was elected by Eph Holland and his gangs of democratic reformers from Baltimore and New York, at the same time that the Bounding Banning and Milton Sayler were elected to Congress—and in the same way, by wholesale repeating at the polls.

The Boston Traveller's Washington correspondent tells the woful story of Ex-Senator Barnum's dilemma. Barnum is chairman of the national democratic committee, and is to run the next national campaign for Tilden. A month ago he issued a circular to the new congressmen, appealing for subscriptions. The new congressmen have not responded heartily, and are reported as saying that Tilden, having recently made a quiet million on elevated railroads, and having sworn he paid nothing in the last campaign, should shell out liberally himself. It is evidently time that "Russia" anteed some more "Copenhagen"—say "a hundred thousand best United States documents."

—A Digger Indian known as "Ned" was found dead upon the railroad track, near Auburn, on Wednesday last, and is supposed to have fallen from a train while enjoying a free ride, as is the privilege of the noble Digger. His friends conveyed the remains to Clipper Gap, and yesterday conducted the funeral services after the fashion of the old Romans. The body was placed upon a pile of wood, that set fire to, and soon there remained but the charred bones of Digger Ned. The bones were then turned to ashes, which latter were to have been taken to-day to Yankee Jim for interment in the Indian mound. There had congregated at Clipper Gap some eighty bucks and squaws to take part in the ceremony.—Sacramento Bee.

THE CITY.

Mr. Joseph C. Perkins of this city, formerly landlord of the National house, has purchased the Delavan house, on Boylston street, Boston.

Mr. True W. Priest has been appointed engineer of Moses H. Goodrich steam fire engine, No. 4, by the board of engineers, in place of Mr. William H. Lovell, resigned.

Messrs. N. F. Mathes & Co. are agents for a new washing crystal, which they warrant will to a great extent do away with the horrors of washing-day. Their advertisement may be found in another column.

A reported elopement which has created much gossip at the west end, turns out to be merely a separation of a man and his wife on account of some disagreement, which it is presumed will be amicably settled without either party running away.

Dr. Pollock, the skillful surgeon chiropodist who has been here during the past week, leaves for Portland at three o'clock this afternoon; can be found at Commercial house until then. He intends to make a week's professional visit to this city every month.

An entertainment is to be given at Franklin hall on Monday evening by Black, Rooney & Ward's Minstrels, a combination of "home talent," and it is said by parties who have seen the show as given in neighboring towns to be equal to the average of such entertainments by traveling parties. The boys have been practicing for a long time, and some of them are really "way up" in the business.

In answer to an enquiry, relative to headstones for unmarked graves, sent by Storer Encampment, Post No. 1, G.A.R., of this city, the war department says that the name, regiment and company (or ship) in which the deceased served, and the date of his death, are required, so that they may be inscribed upon the stones before they are sent from Washington. These stones are to be set at the expense of the war department.

Gentlemen in want of horses will do well to examine a fine lot, seventeen in number, at the stable of E. W. Cochrane, consisting of family, express, draught and gentlemen's road horses, selected by C. B. Leavitt and C. H. Hayes the present week on the western shore of Lake Champlain, in the State of New York. They will be arranged and ready for examination on Monday, March 31st. Every animal warranted as represented, or no sale; prices to correspond with the times—very low for cash or approved credit.

In dividing the property of the old Portsmouth Pier Company, Messrs. Samuel Adams and John H. Broughton took the northerly portion, including Adams & Co.'s lumber wharf and Central wharf, Messrs. Charles E. Walker and J. Albert Walker taking the southerly part, which includes Walker & Co.'s coal wharf, with the capacious old store-house and rigging loft thereon. The dividing line is the south side of the storehouse on Central wharf, the line being carried westward to the fence which forms the western boundary of the property, a hundred feet or more from the head of the wharves. Adams & Co. have cut twenty-five feet from the outer end of the Central wharf storehouse, moved the piece cut off to the inshore end of the building and spliced it on again, putting in a twenty-foot extension between the two old parts; and the piles on which the transferred piece used to stand will be removed, so as to give Walker & Co. dock room for another vessel when required. The dock between Central wharf and the one next north is the best one along the river's front; but dock property here is not of very marked value now, and we fear it never will be again.

THE VICINITY.

At the school meeting in the third district of Greenland, on the evening of March 25th, Mrs. Charlotte J. Chapman, wife of Nathaniel Chapman, received thirty out of forty-five votes cast for committee, and Miss Martha A. Holmes received all but one vote cast for district clerk; but the meet being illegal on account of a defect in the warrant, the choice of officers devolves upon the selectmen. In the second district Mrs. Nathaniel P. Marston was elected as committee, and Frank P. Philbrook as clerk.

The Kimball house at Dover was sold at public auction on Thursday to Harrison G. Burley of Newmarket, for $6400.

Ferguson Haines, who at first declined the treasurership of Biddeford, to which he was recently elected, has reconsidered his declination and filed his bond.

In school district No. 1 of South Hampton two ladies voted at the late election—Mrs. E. L. Scott and Miss Smith; in district No. 2 quite a number of lady voters turned out, and elected as prudential committee Mrs. Abel D. Brown.

On the forenoon of Tuesday, the 25th inst., the axle of the postal car attached to the train from the eastward gave out near Kittery, necessitating the leaving of the car at that station until it could be patched up sufficiently to be conveyed to Boston for repairs.

The hearing before a committee of the Biddeford common council, in the contested election case of ward three in that city, commenced on Wednesday evening of this week. The sitting members are republicans, and the contestants are fusionists, who claim that they were defeated by fraud.

Jerome Hanson's fruit store in Saco was raided by deputy sheriffs on the evening of March 26th, and a quantity of lager and whiskey captured. The officers also seized more lager at Hanson's boarding house. Parties would enter a stall in his shop, pull down the curtain, and the desired beverage would be handed through a hole in the partition.

The docket for the April trial term of the supreme court contains 334 civil actions, 52 equity cases, 28 State actions and appeals, and four sessions cases. The term will be held in Exeter, commencing Tuesday, April 8th, with Hon. William H. H. Allen as presiding justice. The docket was shortened very preceptibly at the January term, by Judge Foster.

POLICE COURT.

FRIDAY, March 28; Batchelder, J.

Robert Foster, one of the regular customers, was up on the usual complaint of drunkenness, pleaded guilty, and was sentenced to sixty days at Brentwood, and to pay $6.90 costs. He vows he will never again plead guilty.

SUGAR BEET CULTURE.

Mr. M. W. Harris, president of the Maine board of agriculture, will speak on the subject of cultivating beets for the purpose of making sugar, at Newington town hall on Monday evening at seven o'clock, and at Greenland on Tuesday evening. He will also discuss this important subject at Portsmouth Grange hall on Monday and Tuesday afternoons at two o'clock. All interested are invited to attend these meetings, and Mr. Harris hopes to meet many of the most active and enterprising farmers in this section, and citizens generally.

THE HUTCHINGS ASSOCIATION ENTERTAINMENT.

The following account of this entertainment was accidentally omitted from our Friday's issue:

The entertainment at Music Hall, Wednesday evening, given by the Hutchings association of the Universalist society, was attended by a large and appreciative audience. The comedy of "Old Gooseberry" was presented in good style, with Dr. Rolla C. Grant in the title role, which he performed in a manner indictive of a thorough understanding of the requirements of the difficult character and the possession of dramatic ability rarely displayed by an amateur. Mr. James F. Senter as Snapshot exhibited some remarkably good playing, and sustained the part in an admirable manner. Miss Cora L. Grant as Laura, daughter of Old Gooseberry, looked and acted her part charmingly, and was dressed superbly; her easy conquest of Snapshot was not to be wondered at. Miss Flora J. Whitcomb as Matty, the housemaid, displayed remarkable skill in the various and trying situations in which the progress of the play involved her; she was witty, vivacious and saucy. Altogether the play was well put on, and well received.

The cornet solo by Mr. Ralph Reinewald was Levy's favorite composition, the "Whirlwind polka," in which occurs the celebrated cadenza, said to be the acme of cornet achievement. This difficult solo was performed in an almost faultless manner, and was received with storms of applause.

The tableaux were skillfully prepared, and exhibited without the usual tedious delays; they were three in number, faithfully representing groups of statuary, and a beautiful allegory, "Rock of Ages."

The Peak Family of Bell Ringers, a burlesque arranged by Rev. E. M. Grant, was a most witty and ludicrous performance, and abounded in happy hits, which convulsed the audience with uncontrollable fits of laughter. The introductory speech of the lady manager, Miss Clara A. Hanscom, was admirably delivered, in character, and brought down the house. This novel feature of the evening's entertainment was a pronounced success, and gave great satisfaction, if the continued demonstrations of delight were any indication.

Reinewald & Taylor's orchestra performed some very pleasing and difficult selections, among which the clarinet solo by Mr. John F. Shillaber was deserving of special mention. REEFER.

PINAFORE.

The performance of "H. M. S. Pinafore" by the Boston Pinafore company, Friday evening, was a marked improvement upon the first performance in Music hall, by the Boston Museum Co. Mr. James Bayles as Sir Joseph Porter, K. C. B., Mr. Frank Hayden as Capt. Corcoran, and Mr. James A. Gilbert as Dick Deadeye, were capital, all having good voices, and acting with spirit and judgment. Mr. J. C. Bartlett—another fine singer — was a satisfactory Ralph Rackstraw; and Mr. J. H. Hill made much more of the "boatswain's" part than the Museum Co.'s boatswain did. The principal female parts, Josephine and Little Buttercup, were very finely taken; and Hebe, the first cousin, also merited special commendation. Miss Dora Wiley as Josephine sang beautifully, and with a proper conception of the dramatic requirements of the part; and Miss Anna Günther as Little Buttercup made many good points, and in singing enunciated with remarkable distinctness. The chorus was large and sang finely, and the orchestra—what there was of it — was very good indeed. The "moving moon," which rose from the horizon and cast a rippling reflection upon the water, had a very pretty effect. The audience, though small, gave evidence of lively appreciation by liberal applause, which was well merited; there were frequent and persistent encores, and the curtain had to be raised again after being dropped at the end of the piece, before the audience would leave. It is a good entertainment.

On Our Most Distant Frontiers,

As in our busiest and most populous cities of the seaboard and interior, Hostetter's Stomach Bitters is prominently popular. Wherever civilization plants its foot on this continent, thither the great tonic soon finds its way. Nor is this surprising, for it is the medicine of all others best adapted to the wants of the Western emigrant, be he miner or agriculturist. It is an incomparable remedy for the diseases to which he is most subject, and which are liable to be brought on by a change of climate, hardship, exposure, unaccustomed air and diet, and miasmatic atmosphere and water. Among these are disorders of the stomach and bowels, rheumatic ailments, and malarious fevers, for all of which Hostetter's Bitters is a certain specific. A course of the Bitters before departing for the new field of labor, or on arriving, will have the effect of preventing the evils for which it is such a signal remedy.

Bronchitis will surely come if you let that cough run any longer. Stop it at once by using Dr. A. J. Flagg's Cough and Lung Syrup.

Consumption Cured.

An old physician, retired from practice, having had placed in his hands by an East India missionary the formula of a simple vegetable remedy, for the speedy and permanent cure for consumption, bronchitis, catarrh, asthma, and all throat and lung affections, also a positive and radical cure for nervous debility an all nervous complaints, after having tested its wonderful curative powers in thousands of cases, has felt it his duty to make it known to his suffering fellows. Actuated by this motive, and a desire to relieve human suffering, I will send, free of charge, to all who desire it, this recipe, with full directions for preparing and using, in German, French, or English. Sent by mail by addressing with stamp, naming this paper, W. W. Sherar, 149 Powers' Block, Rochester, New York. 1a22

It takes the palm. The Cough and Lung Syrup of Dr. A. J. Flagg's.

War and Gold—A hotel war based on gold prices. In order to accommodate both classes of travellers, the Grand Central Hotel, on Broadway, New York, is now kept on both plans, the American at $2.50 to $3.00, and the European at $1.00, and upwards, per day. An elegant Restaurant, at moderate prices, is conducted by the Hotel.

Children are so liable to colds and coughs. Cure them easily by using Dr. A. J. Flagg's Cough and Lung Syrup.

A CARD.

To all who are suffering from the errors and indiscretions of youth, nervous weakness, early decay, loss of manhood, &c., I will send a recipe that will cure you, FREE OF CHARGE. WHEAT MEAL!

— OR —

Graham Flour.

When Wheat is ground it becomes Wheat Meal; when it is bolted it becomes Wheat Flour. Dr. Graham, who lectured through the country forty years ago on dietetics formed the fraternity known as "Grahamites." He said that bolted Flour should not be eaten, but that bread ought to be made of Wheat Meal instead; from him it got the name of Graham Flour. All Graham Flour therefore ought to be Wheat Meal, but about three-quarters of it is what we call made up Graham, that is, artificially mixed Cheap Flour and Bran, and is in every way inferior to the genuine article. Hardly a person who uses the genuine Wheat Meal would take the bogus article except on compulsion.

An Outside Passenger.

Some years ago a young lady who was going into a northern county of England took a seat in a stage coach. For miles she rode along, but there was enough to amuse her in the scenery which she passed, and in the pleasing anticipations that occupied her mind. She had been engaged as a governess to the grandchildren of an Earl, and now was travelling to his seat. At mid-day the coach stopped at an inn, at which dinner was provided, and she alighted and sat down to the table. An elderly man followed and sat down also. The young lady arose, and rang the bell, and addressing the waiter said:

"Here is an outside passenger; I can not dine with an outside passenger."

The stranger bowed, saying, "I beg your pardon, madame, I can go into another room," and immediately retired.

The coach soon afterward resumed its course and the passengers their places. At length the coach stopped at the gate leading to the castle to which the young lady was going; but there was not such prompt attention as she expected. All eyes seemed directed to the outside passenger, who was preparing to dismount. She beckoned, and was answered:

"As soon as we have attended to his lordship we will come to you."

A few words of explanation ensued, to her dismay. She found that the outside passenger, with whom she had thought it beneath her to dine, was not only a nobleman, but the very nobleman in whose family she hoped to be an inmate. What could she do? How could she bear the interview? She felt really ill, and the apology she sent that evening was much more than pretense. The venerable peer was a considerate man, and one who knew the way in which the Scripture often speaks of the going down of the sun.

"We must not allow the night to pass thus," said he to the Countess; "you must send for her, and we must talk to her before bed-time."

He reasoned with the foolish girl respecting her conduct, insisted on the impropriety of the state of mind that it evinced, assured her that nothing could induce him to allow his grandchildren to be taught such notions, refused to accept any apology that did not go to the length of acknowledging that the thought was wrong, and when the right impression appeared to be produced, gave her his hand.

THE
Alpine Silver Mining Co.,
OF COLORADO.
CAPITAL $2,000,000. 200,000 SHARES.
PAR VALUE, $10 PER SHARE.
UNASSESSIBLE.
Daniel J. Splane. Pres. J. L. Thompson, Sec.
The property of this Company consists of twelve mines and mining locations, located in Lake County, Colorado, in the vicinity of Leadville, upon all of which extensive work has been done, in all cases exhibiting true fissure veins, good pay streak, and well defined lodes.
Three of the leading mines are well opened up and have at the lowest computation over TEN THOUSAND TONS OF ORE IN SIGHT; by May 1st, the Railroad now under construction will be within a short distance of this property.
The Company proposes to sell a portion of its stock at $1.50 per share for the purpose of more completely developing its mines, and for the erection of works for the treatment of its ores.
Applications for the stock may be made to the office of the Company, 61 Broadway, New York.
N. B.—The Mining Record, of New York, the highest mining authority in this country, says Feb. 1st, 1879: The principal owners in this company are hard working men who by their own labor have uncovered large bodies of ore which they now wish to extract and send to market; our readers will do well to make a venture with these worthy men, this money will probably be returned to them twenty fold. The business management has been placed in the care of Mr. J. L. Thompson, an officer of high standing in one of the largest banks in the city. THE NEW HAMPSHIRE
GAZETTE
Established 1756.
The Gazette is published every Thursday, and sent to Subscribers at the low price of $1.50 per year, paid in advance, or $2 at the end of the year.
It contains full accounts of all of importance that transpires in Portsmouth and its vicinity, and a condensed summary of NEWS, foreign and domestic; editorials upon current topics; New Hampshire items; carefully prepared marine news, containing reports of vessels owned at this port, or officered by men from Portsmouth or its neighborhood; and in just the paper for residents desiring to be posted on all that takes place at home, while to those living in the vicinity of Portsmouth, or to former residents who retain their interest in the "old home by the sea," it is the best means of keeping informed of what transpires in this city.
— THE —
NEW HAMPSHIRE GAZETTE
Contains more original matter
Than any other paper of its size in the State, the editors working more with their pens than with their scissors.

TO ADVERTISERS
THE N. H. GAZETTE
Presents an excellent opportunity for a WEEKLY INVITATION TO CUSTOMERS, at a reasonable rate, and all those who desire to reach patrons in Rockingham and York counties will find it an economical medium. THE GAZETTE is in many instances the only paper taken by families, and it is read to a large extent in localities whence is derived much of the trade of Portsmouth, a fact which our merchants should not fail to bear in mind.

GOLDEN MEDICAL DISCOVERY.
By its great and thorough blood-purifying properties, Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery cures all Humors, from the worst Scrofula to a common Blotch, Pimple, or Eruption. Mercurial disease, Mineral Poisons, and their effects, are eradicated, and vigorous health and a sound constitution established. Erysipelas, Salt-rheum, Fever Sores, Scaly or Rough Skin, in short, all diseases caused by bad blood, are conquered by this powerful, purifying, and invigorating medicine.
Especially has it manifested its potency in curing Tetter, Rose Rash, Boils, Carbuncles, Sore Eyes, Scrofulous Sores and Swellings, White Swellings, Goitre or Thick Neck, and Enlarged Glands.
If you feel dull, drowsy, debilitated, have sallow color of skin, or yellowish-brown spots on face or body, frequent headache or dizziness, bad taste in mouth, internal heat or chills alternated with hot flushes, low spirits, and gloomy forebodings, tongue loaded, and tongue coated, you are suffering from Torpid Liver, or "Biliousness." In many cases of "Liver Complaint" only part of these symptoms are experienced. As a remedy for all such cases, Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery has no equal, as it effects a perfect and radical cure.
In the cure of Bronchitis, Severe Coughs, and the early stages of Consumption, it has astonished the medical faculty, and eminent physicians pronounce it the greatest medical discovery of the age. While it cures the severest Coughs, it strengthens the system and purifies the blood. Sold by druggists.
R. V. PIERCE, M. D., Prop'r, World's Dispensary and Invalids' Hotel, Buffalo, N. Y.

Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Purgative Pellets
SIZE OF PELLETS.
THE "LITTLE GIANT" CATHARTIC.
No use of taking the large, repulsive, nauseous pills, composed of chalk, crude, and bulky ingredients. These Pellets are scarcely larger than mustard seeds. Being entirely vegetable, no particular care is required while using them. They operate without disturbance to the constitution, diet, or occupation. For Jaundice, Sick Headache, Constipation, Impure Blood, Pain in the Shoulders, Tightness of the Chest, Dizziness, Sour Eructations from the Stomach, Bad Taste in the Mouth, Bilious attacks, Pain in region of Kidneys, Internal Fever, Inflamed Fever, Sick Stomach, Rush of Blood to Head, take Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Purgative Pellets. In explanation of the remedial power of these Purgative Pellets over so great a variety of diseases, it may be said that their action upon the animal economy is universal, not a gland or tissue escaping their constitutional influence. Are not impure the properties of these Pellets. They are sugar-coated and inclosed in glass bottles, their virtues being thereby preserved unimpaired for any length of time, in any climate, so that they are always fresh and reliable. Pain is not the case with pills put up in cheap wooden or pasteboard boxes. For all diseases where a Laxative, Alterative, or Purgative, is indicated, these little Pellets will give the most perfect satisfaction. Sold by druggists.
R. V. PIERCE, M. D., Prop'r, World's Dispensary and Invalids' Hotel, Buffalo, N. Y.

CATARRH
SYMPTOMS.—Frequent headache, discharge falling into throat, sometimes profuse, watery, thick mucous, purulent, offensive, etc. In others, a dryness, dry, watery, weak, or inflamed eyes, stopping up, or obstruction, of the nasal passages, ringing in ears, deafness, hawking and coughing to clear the throat, ulcerations, scabs from ulcers, voice altered, nasal twang, offensive breath, impaired or total deprivation of sense of smell and taste, dizziness, mental depression, loss of appetite, indigestion, enlarged tonsils, tickling cough, etc. Only a few of these symptoms are likely to be present in any case at one time.
DR. SAGE'S CATARRH REMEDY
produces radical cures of the worst cases of Catarrh, no matter of how long standing. The local remedy may be snuffed, or better applied by the use of Dr. Pinneo's Douche. This is the only form of instrument yet invented with which fluid medicine can be thrown up into the nasal passages, and the chambers or cavities communicating therewith, in which sores and ulcers frequently exist, and from which the catarrhal discharge originally proceeds. Its use is pleasant and easily understood, from directions accompanying each instrument. Dr. SAGE'S Catarrh Remedy cures recent attacks of "Cold in the Head" by a few applications. It is mild and pleasant to use, containing no strong or caustic drugs or poisons. Catarrh Remedy and Douche sold by druggists. R. V. PIERCE, M. TESTIMONIALS.

I regard Mr. Eddy as one of the most capable and successful practitioners with whom I have had official intercourse. CHARLES MASON, Commissioner of Patents.

"Inventors cannot employ a person more trustworthy or more capable of securing for them an early and favorable consideration at the Patent Office." EDMUND BURKE, Late Commissioner of Patents.

BOSTON, October 19, 1870.

R. H. EDDY, Esq.—Dear Sir: You procured for me, in 1840, my first patent. Since then you have acted for and advised me in hundreds of cases, and procured many patents, reissues and extensions. I have occasionally employed the best agencies in New York, Philadelphia and Washington, but I still give you almost the whole of my business, in your line, and advise others to employ you. Yours truly, GEORGE DRAPER.

GOLDEN MEDICAL DISCOVERY

By its great and thorough blood-purifying properties, Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery cures all Humors, from the worst Scrofula to a common Blotch, Pimple, or Eruption. Specially adapted to Humors, Tetter, and their effects, are eradicated, and vigorous health and a sound constitution established. Erysipelas, Salt-Rheum, Fever-Sores, or Rough Skin, in short, all diseases caused by bad blood, are conquered by this powerful, purifying, and invigorating medicine.

Especially has it manifested its potency in curing Tetter, Rose Rash, Boils, Carbuncles, Sore Eyes, Scrofulous Sores and Swellings, White Swellings, Goitre or Thick Neck, and Enlarged Glands.

If you feel dull, drowsy, debilitated, have sallow color of skin, or yellowish-brown spots on face or body, frequent headache or dizziness, bad taste in mouth, internal heat or chills alternate with flushes, low spirits, and gloomy forebodings, irregular appetite, and tongue coated, you are suffering from Torpid Liver, or "Biliousness." In many cases of "Liver Complaint" these and other symptoms are experienced. As a remedy for all such cases, Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery has no equal, as it effects perfect and radical cures.

In the cure of Bronchitis, Severe Coughs, and the early stages of Consumption, it has astonished the medical faculty, and eminent physicians pronounce it the greatest medical discovery of the age. While it cures the severest Coughs, it strengthens the system and purifies the blood. Sold by druggists.

Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Purgative Pellets

SIZE OF PELLETS.

THE "LITTLE GIANT" CATHARTIC.

No one of taking the large, repulsive, nauseous pills, composed of cheap, crude, and bulky ingredients. Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Purgative Pellets are Entirely Vegetable, no particular care is required while using them. They operate without disturbance to the constitution, diet, or occupation. For Jaundice, Headache, Constipation, Impure Blood, Pain in the Side and Back, Blotches of the Skin, Dizziness, Sour Eructations from the Stomach, Bad Taste in the Mouth, Bilious attacks, Pain in region of Kidneys, Internal Fever, Bloated feeling about Stomach, Flush of Heat in Face, etc. Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Purgative Pellets. In explanation of the remedial power of these Purgative Pellets we say, as great a variety of diseases, it may be said that their action upon the animal economy is universal, not a gland or tissue escaping their sanative impress. Age does not impair the properties of these Pellets. They are compact and tasteless, retain their virtues being thereby preserved unimpaired for any length of time, in any climate, so that they are always fresh and reliable. This is not the case with pills put up in cheap wooden or pasteboard boxes. For all diseases where a Laxative, Alterative, or Purgative, is indicated, these little Pellets will give the most perfect satisfaction. Sold by druggists.

CATARRH

SYMPTOMS.—Frequent headache, discharge falling into throat, sometimes profuse, watery, thick mucous, purulent, offensive, etc. In others, a dryness, dry, watery, weak, or inflamed eyes, stopping up, or obstruction, of the nasal passages, ringing in ears, deafness, hawking and coughing to clear the throat, ulcerations, scabs from ulcers, voice altered, nasal twang, offensive breath, impaired or total deprivation of sense of smell and taste, dizziness, mental depression, loss of appetite, indigestion, enlarged tonsils, tickling coughs, etc. Only a few of these symptoms are likely to be present in any case at one time.

DR. SAGE'S CATARRH REMEDY

produces radical cures of the worst cases of Catarrh, no matter of how long standing. The liquid remedy may be snuffed, or blower applied by the use of Dr. PIERCE'S Douche. This is the only form of instrument yet invented with which fluid medicine can be carried HIGH UP and PERFECTLY APPLIED to all parts of the affected nasal passages, and the chambers or cavities communicating therewith, in which sores and ulcers frequently exist, and from which the catarrhal discharge generally proceeds. Its use is pleasant and easily understood, from directions accompanying each instrument. Dr. SAGE'S Catarrh Remedy cures recent attacks of "Cold in the Head" by a few applications. It is mild and pleasant to use, containing no strong or caustic drugs or poisons. Catarrh Remedy and Douche sold by druggists.

SWORN EVIDENCE.

The following Cure is probably the most remarkable ever effected by any medical preparation for the treatment of Catarrh:

Gentlemen,—I hereby certify that I have had Catarrh for ten years, and for the last six years have been a terrible sufferer. I was rendered partially deaf, had buzzing in the head, pains across the temple, dizzy spells, weak and painful eyes, swollen and ulcerated tonsils, hard and constant cough, severe pain across the chest, and every indication of consumption. My head ached all the time. The matter accumulated so rapidly in my head and throat that I could not keep them free. Frequently at night I would spring out of bed, it seemed to me, at the point of suffocation. I would then have recourse to every means in my power to dislodge the mucous from my throat and head before being able to sleep again. For a period of six years my tonsils were ulcerated and so much inflamed that I could with difficulty swallow. I finally consulted an eminent surgeon in regard to an operation on them, but all the urgent request proposed it. The constant inflammation and ulceration in my throat caused by the poisonous matter dropping down from my head had so irritated and inflamed my lungs that I coughed incessantly,—a deep hard cough. Meanwhile my system began to show the effects of this disease, so that I lost flesh, grew pale, and showed every symptom of an early consumptive tendency. When matters had reached this stage, or about six months ago, I began the use of SANFORD'S RADICAL CURE FOR CATARRH. After using the first bottle I began to improve rapidly. The first dose seemed to clear my head as I had not known it to be for years. It seemed gradually to arrest the discharges. It stopped my cough in three days. By using it as a gargle I soon reduced the inflammation and swelling of my tonsils so that they soon ceased to trouble me. The ulcers across my chest disappeared, the buzzing noises in my head ceased, my senses of seeing and of hearing were completely restored, and every symptom of disease that had reduced me to the verge of the grave disappeared by the use of SANFORD'S RADICAL CURE FOR CATARRH. I have been thus explicit because, as a druggist, I am aware a great deal of suffering from Catarrh, and hope to convince many that this is a great remedy.

I am familiar with the treatment of Catarrh as practised by the best physicians, and have consulted the most eminent about my case. I have used every kind of remedy and apparatus that have appeared during a period of six years past, and have, while following their best taken great care of my general health, but obtained no relief or encouragement from any of them.

COLLINS'

VOLTAIC PLASTER

Affords the most grateful relief in all Affections of the Chest and Lungs.

CHRONIC PLEURISY CURED.

MESSRS. WEEKS & POTTER: Gentlemen,—Having for many months past suffered with a very lame side, called by my physician Chronic Pleurisy, and as a result of injury at a strain, and for which I tried many prescriptions and liniments, as well as the so called rheumatic cures, without the least benefit, my physician recommended one of your COLLINS' VOLTAIC PLASTERS which, to my great surprise, relieved the pain and soreness almost immediately, and I have been able to attend to my household affairs ever since with perfect ease and comfort, whereas, before the application of your invaluable Plaster, I was scarcely able to do anything. I consider them inestimable, and shall will pleasure recommend them to the afflicted. Yours respectfully, MRS. FRANCES HARRIMAN.

ORLAND, Me., April 21, 1875.

There is no medical or protective appliance that will prove so grateful and effective in Pleuritic Coughs, Irritation and Soreness of the Chest and Lungs, as the celebrated COLLINS' VOLTAIC PLASTER, capable of preventing serious consequences from these organs.

PRICE, 25 CENTS.

Do not confound these Plasters with the ordinary Plasters of the day, that by comparison are absolutely worthless.

Be careful to obtain COLLINS' VOLTAIC PLASTER, a combination of Electric or Voltaic Plaster with the renowned Medicated Plaster, as seen in the above cut. Sold by all Wholesale and Retail Druggists throughout the United States and Canadas, and by WEEKS & POTTER, Proprietors, Boston, Mass.

PORTSMOUTH

Daily Chronicle.

Chronicle Correspondence.

WASHINGTON, D. C., March 29th.

"Now you see it and now you don't;" that is the showman's expressive description of his sleight of hand "little joker." It has been renewed by the politicians of either side relative to the President's attitude towards the proposed political legislation. First the streets are full of rumors of his stalwartness. Then he has a conference with the southern leaders, and presto, he is changed to a chief among compromisers, leaning towards the democrats. The excitement has been great, but variable, for a few days. The truth seems to be—in fact I have good authority for saying that it is—that, first, the President, finding his party solid against the political legislation, gave assurances to them of unusual steadfastness in that direction, and, second, having stirred up considerable feeling among his democratic friends in the Senate, he tried to appease them by inventing a compromise which the democrats accepted as a surrender. Both sides are right, and both sides are wrong, in a measure. The President is stalwart if his party is unanimously so, but if they can be divided upon a compromise, he is willing to follow them. The latest indication is that the excitement in his party about his alleged weakening has welded them together so solidly that he will stiffen up to the height and straightness of the stiffest of them. In other words, if his party divides, the President will be accommodating to the democrats, but if it does not divide, they must get along without any comfort from that quarter. That is the length and breadth of all this talk. It may not strike some persons high in authority as quite the polite thing to say, but it is the truth, and the public are entitled to know of it.

For an insignificant party the greenbackers are assuming great importance in this crisis. They have had several conferences in order to devise means to step in between the discordant elements, and settle things according to what they consider the demands of the hour. The demand for general legislation appears to have taken a strong hold of the democrats, and now the greenbackers are trying to inveigle the republicans into compromise on the political matters. The result appears to be no result at all, excepting that the greenbackers are still anxious to grasp the balance of power in any fight, in order to magnify themselves. It is supposed that General Butler is at the bottom of this movement; it has his finger marks. By the way, I should not fail to record that there is danger that the great fourteen composing the nationals in the House will lose a member, and contribute to the establishment of an independent party of one, similar to Judge Davis in the Senate. Mr. Ladd, of Maine, has practically seceded from them, and will vote on party measures with the democrats. There will be other signs of crumbling, probably, although on the subject of financial legislation it is apprehended that the western and southern democrats will be with them almost unanimously.

The effect of the failure of the appropriation bills upon the post office department is serious already. The railway mail service has been considerably reduced, and must be still further, shortly, to meet the retrenchment demanded by the lack of funds. If Congress does not hurry up, serious embarrassment may result to the commercial centres, if not to the country at large.

Speaker Randall will probably have to submit to the general demand of his party for general legislation, and within a few days will report his list of committees. Then will follow the usual growls and intrigues incident to that occasion, and Congress will settle down to business. The so-called Tilden-Randall influence seems to have little power to restrain Congress, although it is marching steadily toward the democratic national convention next year with colors flying.

Washington is never without an army of office-seekers as well as lobbyists. There are two armies now, both numerous; one besieging Congress and one the departments. But there will be a big exodus soon, for all the democrats cannot be fed at the capital, and all the republicans cannot be clerks to serve the "additional pensioners." Besides, if the supplies fall short or are delayed long, many now in office must vacate. Even the office-holder loses confidence in his profession when the appropriations fail.

KNOX.

—Stripes are so big on the new style of pantaloons that it takes two pairs of trousers to accommodate a single stripe.

—The whole number of post offices in the United States on March 1st was 40,007.

MONDAY, MARCH 31, 1879.

Disastrous Fire in Claremont.

Fire broke out in the Tremont house, the principal hotel of Claremont, at one o'clock Saturday morning, and before it was extinguished the hotel was burned to the ground, with the hotel stables and three frame buildings. Two brick blocks and the bank building were badly scorched. The hotel was valued at $20,000; insured $8,500. The lessees of the hotel lost everything, and have insurance of but $5000. Other parties lost very heavily.

At the time the fire was discovered about forty persons were in the hotel; and before they could all be made aware of their danger, the fire had spread so rapidly that exit from the house was almost impossible, and the bewildered and half-awake guests jumped from the windows, while others hurried to the roof, hoping to find means of reaching the ground. Five unfortunates, however, who failed to reach open air, perished in the flames. The following are the names of those who thus lost their lives: Mrs. Hannah Gibson, of Chester, Vt.; Charles Morgan, a boarder; Lydia Merrill, a table girl; Anna Johnson, chamber maid; Mrs. S. A. Wallace, pastry cook. William Butler of Brattleboro, Vt., sprained his ankle by jumping from a window to the pavement, he being the only one of the guests injured. Mrs. Fred Marvin jumped from the third-story window, followed by her husband, he escaping with slight injuries, while she lies in a critical state. Riley Deming, one of the proprietors, and his wife and child, being on the first floor, were the first to escape. Deming's partner, F. H. Gibson, his wife and child, being on the second floor, narrowly escaped with their lives; also most of the help. Messrs. Kimball and Cogswell, State bank examiners, were guests at the house, but escaped unhurt.

The "Lost Cause" Very Much Alive.

The Augusta (Ga.) Chronicle, a democratic paper of course, says:

The ex-president of the confederacy has the sacred trust of not dishonoring in his own person, by a craven petition for forgiveness, the holy cause of the south, which though trampled upon is not lost, and never shall be, "while there's an echo left to air." That cause was local self-government, and it is vital to-day, here and across the mighty waters, in the hearts of freemen. Shall Jefferson Davis ask pardon for that, and in a bondsman's key? Forbid it, Almighty God! The worst thing that could befall the south would be so shameful a degradation in the person of Mr. Davis; and the best thing that can happen for Mr. Davis is to be singled out for a concentration of radical spite and vengeance.

And this is what the Memphis (Tenn.) Appeal, another prominent and influential democratic paper says—both the extracts given being from editorials denouncing the "radical oppression" of refusing to pension the traitor Davis:

This insult to a soldier who fought and bled in the Mexican war must be repaid. The idea of placing seventy-five confederate generals in the Congress of the United States, and then denying to Jefferson Davis the same pension given to his comrades-in-arms, because he, too, was a confederate, is shameful, scandalous, disgraceful. Mr. Hoar predicated his amendment upon the ground that Mr. Davis had not repented of his treason. Neither has Garland, nor Chalmers, nor Gordon, nor Harris, nor Hill, nor Vance, nor Bailey, nor Cockrell, nor any of the confederates in Congress. Mr. Davis has never admitted that the rebellion was treason, and that our dead heroes fill the dishonored graves of traitors.

How touching is the absolute acquiescence of the secession democracy of the south in the results of the war!

News and Notes.

Mr. and Mrs. Frederick Sheppard, the former of whom was recently coachman for Ex-Gov. Hubbard of Connecticut, and married his daughter, passed through Montreal on Thursday, on their way to the west.

The Haytien minister at New York has received information that seventy-eight instead of sixty lives were lost by the sinking of the Haytien war steamer St. Michel by collision with the British merchant steamer Bolivar. The latter's boats saved the lives of seventy-two persons, including the captain and a Haytien general. The Bolivar has been seized by the authorities of Port au Prince pending investigation. Among those aboard the lost vessel were part of the twenty-seventh Haytien regiment of the line, and Gen. Montpoint, the military governor of Cape Haytien. The latter was the general mentioned as saved.

Miss Sarah Callaway, a beautiful girl of eighteen years, from Seaford, Del., eloped with her cousin, Charles Ross, aged thirty, a few days ago. He got her money and deserted her without fulfilling his promise of marriage, and she was compelled to return home a sadder and wiser girl.

Three little colored children at Fairhaven, Vt., were heartlessly deserted recently by their parents, and were not discovered for three days. Since then one of them, two years old, has died from exposure and starvation, and the others, aged respectively five and six years, are probably beyond recovery. Their father, "Bill" Bailey, had beaten his wife with a gun, breaking her finger, and fled to escape arrest, while the mother left home because she feared further ill-treatment.

It is now said that Horace Manchester, the diver who was drowned on Monday of last week at Newport, R. I., deliberately committed suicide on account of financial and domestic troubles which had been preying on his mind for a long time.

Little Wolf and his band of Cheyenne Indians, numbering thirty-five lodges, with 250 ponies, were captured by Lieut. Clarke of the second cavalry, with eighty-five men, on Box Elder creek, near the Yellowstone river, Tuesday, March 25th.

The United States grand jury at San Francisco has indicted Edward Bertrand for manslaughter in killing the captain of the bark Masonic in the China seas on the 14th of last November.

J. Gaynor of Harrisburg, Pa., shot a girl named Hadesseh Douglass, formerly a domestic in his family, dead in the street on Thursday evening of last week, and then shot himself dead. He was a married man.

Chancellor Redfield of Vermont has refused the petition for an injunction in the case of John P. Phair, on the ground that the executive reprieve does not relieve the sheriff from all liability to perform his duty under the warrant. Phair will be hanged.

A despatch from Bismarck, Da., mentions the unusual occurrence of the rejection of 60,000 pounds of flour as bad, which was intended for the Standing Rock Indian agency, by Lieut. Kingsbury, and the contractor was notified to furnish good flour.

Medford, Mass., has a mystery for the detectives to solve, an unknown woman having been found, Thursday evening, on the bank of the Mystic river, beneath the bridge on the road leading to Somerville, dead.

New Hampshire Items.

Drury E. Holmes of Campton committed suicide on the morning of March 28th, by cutting his throat with a razor. He was found in his barn by his family, soon after committing the deed, but life was extinct. He was unmarried. Financial troubles are supposed to have been the cause of his suicide.

John Patterson, father of Gen. J. F. Patterson, died in Contoocook on Saturday, aged eighty-three years.

W. B. Downer of Keene hung himself Friday morning. Cause, temporary insanity. He leaves a family.

Horace Bonney, proprietor of the Ayer house at Hooksett, reported fled from the State to avoid prosecution for selling liquor to John Donovan, who was burned to death at Suncook on Monday of last week, denies having sold any liquor to Donovan or having left the State to avoid prosecution. He went away on business and returned Friday morning, and is ready to meet all claims against him.

After several declinations, William Crane, Moses T. Emerson and George Emerson of Candia have been appointed a committee of investigation into the alleged robbery of Ingalls, the late town treasurer of Candia. They have full power to employ counsel, and to make arrests should the evidence warrant such a step. The selectmen of Candia have, in view of the town's heavy indebtedness, been authorized to bond the outstanding debt at a rate of interest not to exceed 4 1-2 per cent, the bonds to be issued in denominations not less than $50 nor more than $100, with coupons attached, payable annually. These will be exempt from taxation, and are to run not less than five or more than twenty years, at the option of the town.

Naval Matters.

Lieut. Emory H. Taunt, attached to the bureau of equipment at Washington, goes to Port Royal to take charge of a draft of twenty-five boys to be transferred to the naval station at Norfolk, on the completion of which service he will return to Washington and resume his present duties.

Comdr. Arther R. Yates on the 31st of January relieved Comdr. Theodore F. Kane as commander of the Alliance, at Symrna.

The U. S. S. Adams is at Panama, and will remain until the arrival of the Lackawanna from the South American coast.

Owing to the need of repairs to the Constellation and Portsmouth, the Marion will not get away from Norfolk for two months, as she cannot get the dock until the other ships named have been repaired.

Advices from Victoria, V. I., says the gunboat Alaska encountered severe weather on the passage from San Francisco to that port, but rode it well. Courtesies from the British officers were extended, and a salute fired. The general feeling at Victoria is that no time should be lost in the Alaska arriving at Sitka. The Alaska goes prepared for warm work; in addition to her armament of twelve guns she has 160 Springfield breech-loading rifles, 40,000 rounds of cartridges and a Gatling gun, with full equipments for use on shore. The English officers, who have received information from the Osprey, think the presence of so large a United States vessel as the Alaska will prevent the Indians from attacking the whites if hostilities shall have not begun before her arrival. It is understood that the Indians can only muster a thousand at most, and many of these bear arms of the most primitive pattern.

The appointment of Bright as sergeant-at-arms of the Senate does not appear to be a very bright appointment for the democrats. While State printer of Indiana he was indicted for irregularities. Burch, the new secretary of the Senate, is also disreputably implicated in financial transactions in Tennessee. Speaking of these officials the Washington correspondent of the Boston Herald significantly remarks: "The democrats, with their usual blindness and culpable carelessness, have got themselves into a mess by choosing men for the officers of the Senate whose records they knew nothing about. It seems as if they never would learn any sense.'

ROYAL BAKING POWDER
Absolutely Pure.
The Royal Baking Powder is a pure Cream of Tartar powder, made from pure Grape Cream Tartar, imported exclusively for this powder direct from the wine district of France. An old experienced housekeeper writes that, although she has to pay a few pennies more for the "Royal," finds that it goes so much further and works much better than saleratus, soda, or cream of tartar.
☞ Most of the Cream of Tartar of commerce is adulterated with Alum, Terra Alba, etc. Doctors pronounce Alum most dangerous to health; it costs but 2c. a lb., Cream of Tartar over 40. The Royal Baking Powder is recommended for its wholesomeness by such eminent chemists as Dr. Mott, New York; Dr. S. Dana Hayes, Boston. Sold only in cans. All Grocers.
☞ BAKING POWDER should never be sold in paper packages, as it becomes stale and deteriorates upon exposure to the atmosphere. 1i0

THE CITY.

Elvin Newton brought in on Friday of last week, in his whale-boat, 1100 lbs of haddock.

A collection in aid of the Gloucester sufferers will be taken at the Unitarian church on Easter Sunday.

Thirteen converts were baptized at Noble's island on Sunday, by Elder George W. Sedergulst, of Lynn, Mass., and were received into the Advent church in the evening.

The ship Paul Jones, Capt. Gerrish, was spoken on the 10th of February off Cape Agulhas, the most southerly point of Africa, having made a fine run from the Straits of Sunda.

"Twinkler" Clark, a son of Mr. Daniel Clark, while hauling a trawl one day last week in the vicinity of Duck island, slipped and went overboard, and was barely rescued from drowning.

Rev. C. B. Pitblado preached in the Congress street Methodist church at Portland on Sunday afternoon, and in the evening delivered a lecture in the same place, on "Inside the faith world."

It is reported that the Eastern railroad will shortly put up a large building on Noble's island, as a shop wherein to treat ties with creasote, whereby their durability is increased to a remarkable degree.

Sugar beet growing will be discussed or explained at Portsmouth Grange hall this (Monday) and Tuesday afternoons, by Mr. Harris of Maine, and at Newington on Monday and Greenland on Tuesday evenings.

Everybody who wants to see "Baby" will remember Miss Mary Carey, one of the most versatile and lively women now on the American stage, who appeared at the opening night of the new Music hall and has a prominent part on Tuesday evening.

Grand minstrel and variety show at Franklin Hall this evening. Our reporter, who attended one of the combination's rehearsals last week, says that if the boys can do nearly as well in public as they did then, all attending will be surprised and pleased.

Schooner Hattie & Addie brought in one day last week, 2800 lobsters. This vessel is owned by Messrs. Randall & Caswell, and has been fitted up for the special purpose of the lobster trade. She has a well and brings them alive to this port, where they are barrelled up and sent to Boston and the country.

The barque Armenia, commanded (and we believe owned) by Capt. Harry Salter of this city, arrived at Moulmein, Burmah, Jan. 9th, under a timber charter for Colombo, was docked for inspection, and it was found that the stem, sternpost and some other parts of the vessel were seriously damaged by worms. Capt. Salter endeavored to procure funds on bottomry, but being unable to do so advertised to sell the barque at public auction on the 15th of February.

Of "Baby," which is to be given at Music hall to-morrow evening, the Springfield (Mass.) Union says: "'Baby' is one of the jolliest plays that has been given in this city for many a long day, and is so fresh and original that Mr. Thayer, whose excellent company, the best, by the way, he ever brought to this city, is fully capable of rendering the piece with proper effect, would confer a favor upon theatre-goers who were unable to be present last evening, by repeating the play at an early day. It is needless to say that Mr. Thayer's personation of the title-role was perfect. Frank Whitcher's 'Magnus,' a rare delineation of character; Millikin's 'Tutor,' immense; Mary Cary's 'Diana,' an excellent conception, and every other character neatly portrayed. The situations in the piece, many of them a series of surprises to the audience, kept the house in a roar throughout the play, the scenes in the second act, which was tastefully boxed for baby's room, being jolly enough to make a cast-iron soldier cachinnate."

THE VICINITY.

Ten shares of Portsmouth & Dover railroad stock were sold at auction in Dover on Saturday, by order of an administrator, and brought $67.50 per share. Dover national bank stock sold at $99.50.

The Agricultural and Horticultural society of Exeter holds its annual meeting on Saturday next.

On Saturday, at the brokers' board in Boston, Eastern railroad stock was sold at $11.25 per share; at auction, $11. Portsmouth, Great Falls & Conway railroad stock was auctioned off at $6; New Hampshire State 6's at $114.25; York Manu. Co., of Saco, $1155.

A warrant has been posted by the selectmen of Newmarket, calling a meeting at the town hall on Saturday, April 12th, at four P. M., "to see if the town will vote to adopt the law prohibiting the sale of lager beer or other malt liquors not included in the list of those already prohibited by law as provided in an act approved July 18th, 1878."

Percy Varney, a three-years-old son of E. Varney of Saco, was so badly scalded on Thursday last that he died on Friday. While playing in his father's barn he tripped and fell upon a bucket of scalding water which an older brother had taken to the barn to "take the chill off" the water for a calf and flock of hens, upsetting the hot water upon himself.

The Belknap church of Dover had a very successful fair last week. A large bible was voted to Mrs. Charles Shepard as the most popular Sunday school teacher, she having eighty-eight votes to eighty-five for Miss Isabella Frazier. A gold-headed cane was voted to John S. Abbott, all the votes thrown, eight hundred in number, being for him. A "past grand's collar" went to John C. Varney, who had 1042 out of 1465 1-2 votes—the collar paying a clean profit of $126.55 to the fair.

THE CROW POISONERS.

The police officers having learned the names of the boys who exposed poisoned food for crows, as related in Friday's CHRONICLE, the lads, four in number, were on Saturday requested to appear before Judge Batchelder, which they did. As would naturally be supposed, the boys are young and were ignorant of the law in such a case; neither did they realize how dangerous a performance they had been engaged in, their object being to get the crows' wings "to play Indian with." The judge read them the law, showed them what serious consequences might have resulted from their thoughtless action, and dismissed them with some good advice. The boys seemed well pleased that their first experiment at crow poisoning had turned out no worse, and will not be likely to repeat it. The most serious feature of the whole business is that a lot of unthinking boys should be able without difficulty to procure the deadly drug strychnine.

NAVY YARD ITEMS.

Early Saturday morning, as workmen were engaged in hoisting one of the new timbers on board the U. S. S. Lancaster, at the navy yard, the strap on the snatch-block parted, and the flying block struck Mr. Jeremiah F. Grindle upon the right eye, inflicting a severe but probably not dangerous injury, as Dr. Burbank, the surgeon of the yard, thinks that none of the bones of the skull are broken. Mr. Grindle resides at No. 75 Hanover street, in this city.

Thirty-six workmen in the bureau of construction and repair at the navy yard were suspended on Saturday, as follows: Twenty shipwrights, two spar-makers, two calkers, six joiners, three boat-builders, one plumber, one tinner and one galvanizer. The fasteners were put on half time.

ACCIDENTS.

Saturday forenoon a horse belonging to Mr. Dyer Foss, of Gravelly Ridge, which was tied to one of the trees on Elm street, near the depot, took fright, broke loose and started on a run toward Christian Shore. When opposite Mr. Charles A. Shannon's house he ran into a wagon containing Mrs. William D. Durgin, who resides on Newington road, upsetting the vehicle and throwing to the ground Mrs. Durgin, who was taken up insensible and carried into the house of Mr. J. Howard Dodge, where she was kindly cared for. The horses were shortly stopped, without having done much damage to themselves or the wagons; and upon examination it was found that Mrs. Durgin had sustained no serious injury.

A store team belonging to C. L. Brown & Co., and driven by Samuel Horton, was on Saturday forenoon upon the wharf near the Spring market, where Mr. Horton had been delivering goods, and in turning around to leave the wharf the horse backed the wagon off the edge into the water, and went with it himself, the wagon in its fall striking the anchor fluke of a vessel lying there. The team was gotten out after some trouble, the horse being rather the worse for his cold bath and having a cut on his hind quarter, and the wagon being considerably damaged.

On Saturday afternoon William H. Ayers essayed a walking feat, attempting to cross from schooner Mary E. Smith to schooner Anabel on an oar laid across. The attempt was not an entire success, though Mr. Ayers created more stir by his partial failure than the triumphant completion of the undertaking would have done; when half way across he tumbled off the oar into the water. Very much surprised and annoyed, he lifted up his voice with judicious energy, and was fished out of the dock unharmed.

AN IMPORTANT CHANGE AT THE RAILROAD STATIONS.

On Tuesday morning Mr. Samuel Barrett will enter upon his duties as agent of the Concord railroad in this city. These duties are not merely that of the management of trains and the receipt and delivery of freight at an end of the line, but there is added the varied labors in receiving the freights arriving by water. During a part of the year there are several arrivals in a day by sea; and for the prompt discharge of the vessels coming to the piers of the railroad, sometimes steamers and sometimes sailing craft, with every captain in great haste to be discharged, with the risk of incurring demurrage, and delays occasioned by want of cars, etc., there is no little snap required of the agent to be equal to the emergency.

Mr. Barrett has had an experience in this position before, having a few years ago been invited by one of the then far-seeing managers of the Eastern railroad to assume the position of agent of that road in this city; and upon the vacancy occurring at the Concord station, Superintendent Chamberlin at once tendered the position to Mr. Barrett, and he accepted. The advantages to the Concord railroad in thus securing the services of a gentleman of Mr. Barrett's combined ability and experience in this position, are obvious, and what will prove a loss to the Eastern will serve as a gain to the Concord. Mr. Barrett has discharged the unceasing duties of agent at the Eastern station to the entire satisfaction of the different managements under which he has served, and that corporation will find it no easy matter to fill his place, when we consider the various and protracted duties the agent of the road is called upon to perform, compared with what was required before the connections of the Eastern at this point were so numerous and the passage of trains so frequent as at the present time.

THE TEMPERANCE MEETING.

The opening meeting of the series to be conducted by Messrs. R. T. Booth and J. R. Smith, was held at Music hall on Sunday evening. The doors were opened at half-past six o'clock, and before the commencement of the praise service, at half-past seven o'clock, the building was well filled. The singing was led by a large chorus conducted by Dr. E. B. Goodall, and was continued for about twenty minutes, when Col. J. Horace Kent gave the revivalists and their work a general introduction to the audience, speaking as follows:

Mr. President, ladies and gentlemen: Among the many objects of social, of moral and of religious benevolence which are to-day commanding the attention and distinguishing the character of our country, there are none which are exciting more interest or whose progress is more rapid and successful than the laudable endeavor to avert the evils of intemperance. Considering the happy consequences which have resulted from these endeavors in various parts of the country, especially in our own State, and more especially in our own midst, we should rejoice that God's over-ruling providence has inspired the hearts of many of his creatures to devise and execute a plan so intimately connected with the present and future welfare of mankind.

As I understand it and am informed, the object of the series of meetings now about to be commenced is for the purpose of reviving the interest in and accelerating the progress of temperance reform in this city and vicinity; and to more effectually accomplish this purpose, the reform club and other temperance organizations, as well as the clergy and many other good citizens, have secured the services of the two well known temperance knights errant, Messrs. Booth and Smith, who have been so successful elsewhere in challenging the great evil in its strongholds, and who have by their persuasive eloquence obtained so many proselytes.

These gentlemen are with you now to bear witness against the enemy, to sympathise and entreat with the unfortunate, and encourage the friends of the cause; and they have assured me that their hopes of success here are based in a great measure on the aid and sympathy of those whose social position enables them to form public sentiment, and without whose influence no interprise can permanently succeed. The absence of some of the clergy to-night may be noticed, and I am authorized to say that notwithstanding they are necessarily elsewhere, this movement meets with their favor. And without detaining you further, I am pleased to say to them that in the name of all their tee-total fellow laborers in this city I offer them a hearty welcome.

Gentlemen, you are members of that great band to which we hope everbody will one day belong. The poet has said that "Peace hath her victories no less renowned than those of war;" and of all the victories of peace, those which are achieved over drunkenness and its promoters must be among the most acceptable to God, as they are most beneficial to mankind. It is to leaders like you that good men look for the final overthrow of the most pernicious of all despots—as I can fully testify from personal experience—Alcohol. Like true friends of your country and your race, you are doing your best by precept and example to lessen the number of its victims. Individually and in behalf of those I represent, I bid you God speed.

The chairman of the meeting, President Marden of the reform club, then introduced Mr. Smith, who related his experience as a drinking man, speaking earnestly and with apparent strong effect.

Mr. Smith was followed by Mr. Booth in a powerful and moving appeal, though he was suffering from indisposition. At the close of the meeting quite a number of persons donned the blue ribbon. This (Monday) evening Mr. Booth will relate the story of his life at Music hall. Admission free, and everybody invited.

Gentlemen in want of horses will do well to examine a fine lot, seventeen in number, at the stable of E. W. Cochrane, consisting of family, express, draught and gentlemen's road horses, selected by C. B. Leavitt and C. H. Hayes the past week on the western shore of Lake Champlain, in the State of New York. They are now arranged and ready for examination. Every animal warranted as represented, or no sale; prices to correspond with the times—very low for cash or approved credit.

On Our Most Distant Frontiers,

As in our busiest and most populous cities of the seaboard and interior, Hostetter's Stomach Bitters is preeminently popular. Wherever civilization plants its foot on this continent, thither the great tonic soon finds its way. Nor is this surprising, for it is the medicine of all others best adapted to the wants of the Western emigrant, be he miner or agriculturist. It is an incomparable remedy for the diseases to which he is most subject, and which are liable to be brought on by a change of climate, hardship, exposure, unaccustomed air and diet, and miasmatic atmosphere and water. Among these are disorders of the stomach and bowels, rheumatic ailments, and malarious fevers, for all of which Hostetter's Bitters is a certain specific. A course of the Bitters before departing for the new field of labor, or on arriving, will have the effect of preventing the evils for which it is such a signal remedy.

Consumption Cured.

An old physician, retired from practice, having had placed in his hands by an East India missionary the formula of a simple vegetable remedy, for the speedy and permanent cure for consumption, bronchitis, catarrh, asthma, and all throat and lung affections, also a positive and radical cure for nervous debility an all nervous complaints, after having tested its wonderful curative powers in thousands of cases, has felt it his duty to make it known to his suffering fellows. Actuated by this motive, and a desire to relieve human suffering, I will send, free of charge, to all who desire it, this recipe, with full directions for preparing and using, in German, French, or English. It takes the palm. The Cough and Lung Syrup of Dr. A. J. Flagg's.

Free of charge—Sample bottle of Adamson's Cough Balsam at all drug stores. Owing to its perfect harmony in combination it is the very best mixture for the speedy cure and relief of croup, colds, throat or lung diseases. Large bottles 35 cents.

Whooping Cough instantly relieved by a small amount of a very pleasant medicine known as Dr. A. J. Flagg's Cough and Lung Syrup. Keep it handy.

War and Gold—A hotel war based on gold prices. In order to accommodate both classes of travellers, the Grand Central Hotel, on Broadway, New York, is now kept on both plans, the American at $2.50 to $3.00, and the European at $1.00, and upwards, per day. An elegant Restaurant, at moderate prices, is conducted by the Hotel.

Children are so liable to colds and coughs. Cure them early by using Dr. A. J. Flagg's Cough and Lung Syrup.

A CARD.

To all who are suffering from the errors and indiscretions of youth, nervous weakness, early decay, loss of manhood, &c., I will send a recipe that will cure you, FREE OF CHARGE. This great remedy was discovered by a missionary in South America. Send a self-addressed envelope to the REV. JOSEPH T. INMAN, Station D., Bible House, New York City. eod&wino

WHEAT MEAL!

— OR —

Graham Flour.

When Wheat is ground it becomes Wheat Meal; when it is bolted it becomes Wheat Flour. Dr. Graham, who lectured through the country forty years ago on dietetics formed the fraternity known as "Grahamites." He said that bolted Flour should not be eaten, but that bread ought to be made of Wheat Meal instead; from him it got the name of Graham Flour. All Graham Flour therefore ought to be Wheat Meal, but about three-quarters of it is what we call made up Graham, that is, artificially mixed Cheap Flour and Bran, and is in every way inferior to the genuine article. Hardly a person who uses the genuine Wheat Meal would take the bogus article except on compulsion.

A Cure for Drunkenness.

Dr. D'Unger of Chicago claims to have cured 2800 cases of intemperance in that city by a simple preparation, of the ingredients of which he makes no secret. Mr. Medill of the Times says, "He takes men debauched by liquor for years—takes a used-up, demented, loathsome set, and in ten days makes a well man of h m, with a positive aversion to liquor." The doctor said to an interviewer, "I take a pound of the best fresh quill red Peruvian bark (cinckona rubra), powder it and soak it in a pint of diluted alcohol. Then I strain it and evaporate it down to a half-pint. Any one can prepare it. I give the drunkenman a teaspoonful every three hours, and occasionally moisten his tongue between the doses the first and second days. It acts like quinine. The patient can tell by a headache if he is getting too much. The third day I generally reduce to a half spoonful, then to a quarter spoonful, then down to fifteen, ten and five drops. I continue the medicine from five to fifteen days, and in extreme cases to thirty days. Seven is about the average."

The philosophy of these remarkable cures the doctor explains thus: "Intemperance, first a habit, finally becomes an uncontrollable disease. I found by dissecting the brain of a man who had died of delirium tremens that the cells of the quadrigeminal body, or the cells that send the nerves to the eye, were in an unnatural state on the outside, while within the nerve cells themselves I discovered a yellow, yeasty-looking deposit. This abnormal look is caused, I learned after much research, by the ethereal part of the alcohol going straight to the outside of these cells. Now if I drink milk," continued doctor, "or eat food, it will take it four hours to pass through the digestive organs, be taken up in the blood, and then passed to the nerve cells, from which the brain is fed; while if I drink alcohol it will go straight to the nerve cells in three minutes. This shows that alcohol is not digested. It is a poisonous fluid electricity, which goes over the sensitive nerves as electricity goes over a wire, straight to the outside of the nerve cells, which it stimulates artificially, when they should be stimulated naturally through the blood. Well, alcohol is a fermented, distilled stimulant, with poison in it, while my medicine is a natural stimulant, containing no poison; so my medicine stimulates the nerves, and, not being poisonous, allays inflammation—that is, it holds the cells open until the morbid deposit is forced out, and the cells accustom themselves to receive their stimulus naturally through the arteries. It stops all craving for alcohol."

OF COLORADO.
CAPITAL $2,000,000. 200,000 SHARES.
PAR VALUE, $10 PER SHARE.
UNASSESSIBLE.
Daniel J. Splane, Pres. J. L. Thompson, Sec.
The property of this Company consists of twelve mines and mining locations, located in Lake County, Colorado, in the vicinity of Leadville, upon all of which extensive work has been done, in all cases exhibiting true fissure veins, good pay streaks, and well defined lodes.
Three of the leading mines are well opened up and have at the lowest computation over TEN THOUSAND TONS OF ORE IN SIGHT; by May 1st, the Railroad now under construction will be within a short distance of this property.
The Company proposes to sell a portion of its stock at $1.50 per share for the purpose of more completely developing its mines, and for the erection of works for the treatment of its ores.
Applications for the stock may be made to the office of the Company, 61 Broadway, New York.
N. B.—The Mining Record, of New York, the highest mining authority in this country, says Feb. 1st, 1879: The principal owners in this company are hard working men who by their own labor have uncovered large bodies of ore which they now wish to extract and send to market; our readers will do well to make a venture with these worthy men, this money will probably be returned to them twenty fold. The business management has been placed in the care of Mr. J. L. Thompson, an officer of high standing in one of the largest banks in the city. WORLD'S DISPENSARY MEDICAL ASSOCIATION. BUFFALO AND LONDON. INCORPORATED JANUARY, 1878. CAPITAL STOCK, $1,000,000.
(Successors to R. V. PIERCE, M. D.)
DR. R. V. PIERCE, having acquired a world-wide reputation in the treatment of Chronic Diseases, resulting in a professional business far exceeding his individual ability to conduct, some years ago induced several medical gentlemen to associate themselves with him, as the Faculty of the World's Dispensary, the Consulting Department of which has since been merged with the INVALIDS' HOTEL. The organization has been completed and incorporated under the name and style of World's Dispensary Medical Association, with the following officers:
Hon. R. V. PIERCE, Pres. F. D. PIERCE, V. Pres.
JNO. E. PIERCE, Sec. LESTER L. SMITH, Treas.
NINE PHYSICIANS AND SURGEONS of eminence and skill have been chosen as the Faculty.
CHRONIC DISEASES of all forms come within the province of our several specialties.
LIFE NECESSARILY TO SEE PATIENTS.—This division of practice is very ably managed by a gentleman of mature judgment and skill. Bronchial, Throat, and Lung Diseases treated with the most successful results.
DISEASES OF WOMEN.—Especially are our facilities of a superior order for the cure of all those critical diseases peculiar to females.
NERVOUS DISEASES.—Paralysis, Nervous Debility, Epilepsy (Fits), Chorea (St. Vitus's Dance), Neuralgia and other nervous affections, receive the attention of an expert in this specialty.
NOT NECESSARY TO SEE PATIENTS.—By our original system of diagnosis, we can treat many chronic diseases as successfully without as with a personal consultation. For particulars see "People's Common Sense Medical Adviser" (1,000 pages, sent post-paid for $1.50) or "Invalids' and Tourists' Guide Book" (100 pages, 10 cents post-paid).
SURGICAL CASES.—Among the operations which we are called upon most frequently to perform, are those for Nasal Polypus, Hernia, Tumors, Fistula in Ano, Piles, Hernia (Rupture), Hydrocele (Dropsy of the Scrotum), Varicocele, Ovarian and Uterine Tumors, Calculi (Stone in the Bladder), Stricture, etc., etc. We also treat successfully, and by a new method without surgical operation, Cancers, Club-feet, Spinal Curvature, and other deformities. (See pamphlets on these subjects, "Motion as a Curative Agent," sent on receipt of 10 cents).
Address, World's Dispensary Medical Association, BUFFALO, N. Y.

WOMAN
By an immense practice at the World's Dispensary and Invalids' Hotel, having treated many thousand cases of those diseases peculiar to women, I have been enabled to perfect a most potent and positive remedy for those diseases.
To designate this natural specific, I have named it
Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription
The term, however, is but a feeble expression of my high appreciation of its value, based upon personal observation. I have, while witnessing its positive results in the special diseases peculiar to the organism of woman, singled it out as the climax or crowning gem of my medical career. On its merits, as a positive, safe, and efficacious remedy for this class of diseases, and one that will, at all times and under all circumstances, act kindly, I am willing to stake my reputation as a physician; and so confident am I that it will not disappoint the most sanguine expectations of a single invalid lady who uses it for any of the ailments for which I recommend it, if I offer and sell it under A POSITIVE GUARANTEE. (For conditions, see pamphlet wrapping bottle.)
The following are among those diseases in which my Favorite Prescription has worked cures, as if by magic, and with a certainty never before attained by any medicine: Leucorrhœa, Excessive Flowing, Painful Monthly Periods, Suppression when from unnatural causes, Irregularities, Weak Back, Prolapsus, or Falling of the Uterus, Anteversion and Retroversion, Bearing-down Sensations, Internal Heat, Nervous Depression, Debility, Despondency, Threatened Miscarriage, Chronic Congestion, Inflammation and Ulceration of the Uterus, Impotency, Barrenness, or Sterility, and Female Weakness. I do not extol this medicine as a "panacea," but it admirably fulfils a single class of ailments, being the most perfect specific in all chronic diseases of the sexual system of woman. It will not disappoint, nor will it do harm, in any state or condition.
Those who desire further information on these subjects can obtain it in THE PEOPLE'S COMMON SENSE MEDICAL ADVISER, a book of over 900 pages, sent, post-paid, on receipt of $1.50. It treats intimately of those diseases peculiar to Females, and gives much valuable advice in regard to the management of those affections.
Favorite Prescription sold by Druggists.

GOLDEN MEDICAL DISCOVERY

By its great and thorough blood-purifying properties, Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery cures all Humors, from the worst Scrofula to a common Blotch, Pimple, or Eruption. Mercurial disease, Mineral Poisons, and their effects, are thoroughly and vigorously healed and a sound constitution established. Erysipelas, Salt-rheum, Fever Sores, Scaly or Rough Skin, in short, all diseases caused by bad blood, are conquered by this powerful, purifying, and invigorating medicine.

Especially has it manifested its potency in curing Tetter, Rose Rash, Boils, Carbuncles, Sore Eyes, Scrofulous Sores and Swellings, White Swellings, Goitre or Thick Neck, and Enlarged Glands.

If you feel dull, drowsy, debilitated, have sallow color of skin, or yellowish-brown spots on face or body, frequent headache or dizziness, bad taste in mouth, internal heat and chills alternate with hot flushes, low spirits, and gloomy forebodings, irregular appetite, and tongue coated, you are suffering from Torpid Liver, or "Biliousness." In many cases of "Liver Complaint" only part of these symptoms are experienced. As a remedy for all such cases, Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery has no equal, as it effects perfect and radical cures.

In the cure of Bronchitis, Severe Coughs, and the early stages of Consumption, it has astonished the medical faculty, and eminent physicians pronounce it the greatest medical discovery of the age. While it cures the severest Coughs, it strengthens the system and purifies the blood.

R. V. PIERCE, M. D., Prop'r, World's Dispensary and Invalids' Hotel, Buffalo, N. Y.

Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Purgative Pellets

SIZE OF PELLETS.

THE "LITTLE GIANT" CATHARTIC.

No one of taking the large, regulative, nauseous pills, composed of cheap, crude, and bulky ingredients. These Pellets are scarcely larger than mustard seeds. Being entirely vegetable, they require no particular care to prepare while using them. They operate without disturbance to the constitution, diet, or occupation. For Jaundice, Headache, Constipation, Impure Blood, Pain in the Shoulder, Distress after the Meal, Dizziness, Sour Eructations from the Stomach, Bad Taste in the Mouth, Bilious attacks, Pain in Region of Kidneys, Internal Fever, Bloated feeling about Stomach, Rush of Blood to Head, take Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Purgative Pellets. In explanation of the remedial power of these Purgative Pellets over so great a variety of diseases, it may be said that their action upon the animal economy is universal, not a gland or tissue escapes their sanative impress. Age does not impair the properties of these Pellets. They are sugar-coated and inclosed in glass bottles, their virtues being thereby preserved unimpaired for any length of time, in any climate, so that they are always fresh and reliable. This is not the case with pills put up in cheap wooden or pasteboard boxes. For all diseases where a Laxative, Alterative or Purgative, is indicated, these little Pellets will give the most perfect satisfaction. Sold by druggists.

CATARRH

SYMPTOMS.—Frequent headache, discharge falling from the nose, sometimes profuse, watery, thick mucous, purulent, offensive, etc. In others, a dryness, dry, watery, weak, or inflamed eyes, stopping up, or obstruction, of the nasal passages, ringing in ears, deafness, hawking and coughing to clear the throat, alterations, scabs from nitrous, voice altered, nasal twang, offensive breath, impaired or total deprivation of sense of smell and taste, dizziness, mental depression, loss of appetite, indigestion, enlarged tonsils, tickling cough, etc. Only a few of these symptoms are likely to be present in any case at one time.

DR. SAGE'S CATARRH REMEDY

produces radical cures of the worst cases of Catarrh, no matter of how long standing. The liquid remedy may be snuffed, or better applied by the use of Dr. PIERCE'S Douche. This is the only form of instrument yet invented with which liquid medicine can be carried HIGH UP and PERFECTLY APPLIED to all parts of the affected nasal passages, and the chambers or cavities communicating therewith, in which sores and ulcers frequently exist, and from which the catarrhal discharge generally proceeds. Its use is pleasant and easily understood, from directions accompanying each instrument. Dr. SAGE'S Catarrh Remedy cures recent attacks of "Cold in the Head" by a few applications. It is mild and pleasant to use, containing no strong or caustic drugs or poisons. Catarrh Remedy and Douche sold by druggists. R. V. PIERCE, M. CATARRH

A PHYSICIAN'S TESTIMONY.

30 Years a Physician. 12 Years a Sufferer. Tried Regular Remedies. Tried Patent Medicines. Permanently cured by

SANFORD'S RADICAL CURE.

MESSRS. WEEKS & POTTER,—Sirs: I have practiced medicine for thirty years, and have been a sufferer myself for twelve years with Catarrh in the nasal passages, fauces and larynx. I have used everything in the materia medica without any permanent relief. Until finally I was induced to try a patent medicine something that we allopathists are very loth to do). I tried—and divers others until I got hold of yours. I followed the directions to the letter, and am happy to say, to my great astonishment and joy, Your RADICAL CURE is certainly a happy combination for the cure of that most unpleasant and dangerous of diseases.

Yours, respectfully,

D. W. GRAY, M. D.,

Of Dr. D. W. Gray & Son., Physicians and Druggists, Muscatine, Iowa.

MUSCATINE, IOWA, March 27, 1877.

The value of this remedy must not be overlooked in the cure of those

SYMPATHETIC DISEASES,

Affections of the Eye, Ear, Throat, Lungs and Bronchial Tubes which in many cases accompany a severe case of Catarrh. The inflamed and diseased condition of the mucous membrane is the cause of all these troubles; and until the system has been brought properly under the influence of the RADICAL CURE perfect freedom from them cannot be reasonably expected.

It is but three years since SANFORD'S RADICAL CURE was placed before the public, but in that short time it has found its way from Maine to California, and is everywhere acknowledged by druggists and physicians to be the most successful preparation for the thorough treatment of Catarrh ever compounded. The fact will be deemed of more importance when it is coupled with the statement that within five years over 50 different remedies for Catarrh have been placed on sale, and to-day, with one or two exceptions, they cannot be recalled by the best informed druggist. Advertising may succeed in forcing a few sales, but, unless the remedy possess undoubted specific medical properties, it is absolutely certain to fall into merited obscurity.

Each package of SANFORD'S RADICAL CURE contains Dr. Sanford's Improved Inhaling Tube, with full directions for its use in all cases. Price $1.00. Sold by all wholesale and retail druggists and dealers throughout the United States and Canadas. WEEKS & POTTER, General Agents and Wholesale Druggists, Boston, Mass.

Daily Chronicle.

A Valuable Law Publication.

Decisions of the Superior and Supreme Courts of New Hampshire from 1802 to 1809, and from 1813 to 1816, selected from the manuscript reports of the late Jeremiah Smith, Chief Justice of those Courts, with other opinions and extracts from the treatise on probate law by the late Judge. Edited and annotated by Ex-Judge Jeremiah Smith of Dover. Boston: Little, Brown & Co.; 1879. 574 pp.

It is fortunate for our State that Judge Smith's health has been so far restored as to afford him the opportunity to give to the world these opinions of his distinguished father, who tells us in one of his opinions delivered three score years and ten ago, that "he had taken some pains to examine the books in relation to a case but had not met with much success." No, seventy years ago, such men as Judge Smith administered the laws. They could not find precedents, but were compelled to establish them, not to find excuses for judicial opinions.

The opinion here referred to was delivered in the case of Doe vs. Morrill in this county, at the February term, 1809. This was trespass for breaking Doe's dwelling house in Portsmouth, tearing down the walls, stairs, etc. It appeared that Doe and Morrill owned a house. It had been built all together, two rooms on the floor, with chimney in the middle, entry on front side of chimney, outside door and stairs up to chambers. The part that Doe owned had been set off on execution some years before, and Doe claimed under this levy. The premises were divided by an imaginary line running through the middle of the front door, entry, through the stairs, chimney, etc. The house became old and out of repair, and the defendant's part not worth repairing, but the plaintiff's was tenantable. The fire-wards deemed the defendant's part dangerous for want of repairs. They ordered it repaired and otherwise rendered not dangerous by reason of fire. In August, 1807, Morrill took down his part to the line, doing it carefully and with as little damage to Doe as he could. He left half the materials of the entry for Doe and sawed through the plate, joist, stairs, boards, etc., but did not take down the chimney, and the question was as to the liability of the defendant in this action. By agreement of counsel, the jury were instructed that an action would lie, and they were to estimate the damages subject to the opinion of the law court. The jury found $50 as damages. In this case Jeremiah Mason, with whom was Peyton R. Freeman, appeared for the deft., and contended that the defendant owned to the line as an exclusive owner, and not as tenant in common, and if he had no right to do what he had done (open one side of Doe's house and let in the weather) the act was done on his own land and to his own timber and the damage was only consequential. On the other side was Daniel Webster, whose professional life had begun less than four years before. These afterwards great lawyers were employed in a controversy about a piece of property of but little value, but it settled an important principle. Judge Smith held that the injury was direct, not consequential, that neither party could destroy the entry, etc., as it was in common, and something in which the other had an interest, and judgment was given to Doe.

The distinguished Chief Justice, besides being for a short time Judge of Probate, after he had served several terms in Congress (and the results of his investigations into the Probate law are given in this volume) was in February, 1801, appointed a Judge of the Circuit Court of the United States for this district, and his opinion on a case founded upon a libel for salvage for rescuing the brigantine Washington from her captor, a French privateer, is given at length, as are other opinions of this Court. The book is prepared very much in the shape of the present New Hampshire reports, excepting the printing by John Wilson & Son is a decided improvement upon most of the work of this kind done in this State. The volume contains reports of cases, some of which have since been overruled, and others, as the compiler remarks, not likely now to be followed by the Court. But the book is one that should be in the library of every lawyer in the State. It contains the opinions not only of a great lawyer but an industrious, nay, laborious and painstaking Judge, who not only had a full knowledge of the law as far as it existed then, but was blessed with a quantum suff of ingrain sense, which like his ready and keen wit, never failed him. To Judge Smith more than to any one man is New Hampshire indebted for the high repute of the decisions of its courts in the early years of the publication, and the work done in shaping the course of judicial proceedings by this jurist, has stood the test of all criticism. The volume is creditable alike to the distinguished Judge whose decisions are given, and to his able son who has labored diligently to afford the profession the benefits of his father's judicial results, and we trust the work will be found ere long in the libaries of judges and lawyers all over the country, and be sought for by many others, who will not fail to appreciate the work, when they come to examine it.

Portsmouth Chronicle

TUESDAY, APRIL 1, 1879.

A Modest Proposition.

A year or so ago a southern conciliator who wanted his section conciliated some more, urged that the proper thing to do to cement the Union and fill the secesh heart with love toward it, was to turn out all the old and slow officers of the navy, and substitute for them the gallant and enterprising young officers who served in the confederate navy. This proposition was at the time considered to savor of "cheek;" but since the confederacy has captured both branches of Congress a similar confederate advance upon the army is foreshadowed.

On Saturday, while the army bill was before the House, Randolph Tucker of Virginia offered an amendment to repeal the section of the revised statutes which prohibits the appointment to command in the Union army of any person who served in the confederate army or navy. The republicans showed that while the army bill that is now under consideration stopped all promotions in the army, the amendment of Mr. Tucker, if adopted, would allow confederate brigadiers to be appointed. A point of order was raised that the amendment was new legislation, and the speaker sustained it, after several democrats had spoken against the amendment, some of the northern democrats seeming rather startled at this latest confederate assault on the army.

A Washington despatch says it was curious to notice that while his Bourbon colleagues of the confederacy were trying to cripple the army, Gen. Joe Johnston, the greatest commander produced by the confederacy, voted unobtrusively with the republicans in favor of every amendment or proposition designed to benefit or dignify the federal army.

Didn't Know It Was Loaded.

On Saturday, while Edward Pierson, the fifteen-years-old son of a widow residing at Hamilton square, five miles from Trenton, N. J., was showing a gun to his mother, not knowing it to be loaded, it accidentally went off, the charge entering Mrs. Pierson's breast, killing her instantly.

At Moberly, Mo., Saturday, Joseph Daily shot and killed his wife while she was asleep. He says the killing was accidental. He thought the pistol was empty, and expected to wake his wife by snapping the cap. They had been married only three weeks.

The Australian International Exhibition.

We have received a copy of the programme and regulations of the Melbourne International Exhibition of 1880, which will be opened on the 1st of October in that year and will close on the 31st of March, 1881. Applications for space are invited as early as possible, and should be made not later than the 1st of June, 1879. They must be made through the representatives of the country to which the applicants belong; or in the event of no representatives being appointed, intending exhibitors can communicate direct with the secretary of the commission. Governments intending to participate in the Exhibition are requested to forward an intimation to that effect not later than June 1st, 1879.

News and Notes.

Gen. Grant sailed from Penang on Saturday to continue his journey.

Barque W. E. Heard has arrived at New York from England, bringing in the crew, thirteen in number, of the Italian barque L. Avvenire, abandoned in a sinking condition at sea.

King Humbert of Italy has signed a decree commuting the death sentence of Giovanni Passananti, who attempted to assassinate the king on the 17th of November, to penal servitude for life.

Captain Eads' great work at the mouths of the Mississippi has had a marked effect already upon the commerce of New Orleans, and thus on that of the Mississippi valley. A Tribune correspondent who visited Port Eads two years ago and again recently, describes the progress that has been made in the subsequent interval, and notes the fact that the saving in one year on cotton freights alone, effected by means of the jetties, is nearly equal to the whole cost of the improvement.

Catherine Webb, alias Lawler, has been arrested at her home in Ireland on a charge of murdering her late mistress, a Mrs. Thomas, who lived alone with the woman Webb as a servant in a house at Richmond, near the Thames river. Portions of Mrs. Thomas' body have been found in a small box in the river.

At Newberg, Ind., Saturday night, two white men, John Bell and Daniel France, entered a church where a colored festival and supper was in progress. After eating as much as they desired, a demand was made upon them for payment by Charles Thomas, colored. One of the two drew a razor and cut his throat from ear to ear, killing him instantly. The white ruffians were jailed.

Felix McCann, aged seventy-three years, was on Saturday convicted of murder in the first degree at Norwich, N. Y., for shooting Jas. Morris Hatch, his next neighbor, on the 8th of December. A neighbors' quarrel of long standing, about hens and a roadway, was terminated by the shooting of Hatch while standing at a window of his house, McCann firing through the glass.

By an explosion at a fire in Madison, Wisconsin, Saturday morning, seventeen persons were badly injured, three of them fatally.

The secretary of the treasury on Saturday issued the ninety-third call for the redemption of $10,000,000 of 5-20 bonds.

The court house at Newark, Ohio, a fine structure recently completed at a cost of $300,000, was burned on Saturday.

The late auction sale of coal in New York has brought down prices ten to twenty-five cents per ton in Philadelphia.

On Thursday night the body of a well-dressed man, thirty years of age, was found on the railroad track near Pownal, Vt. Examination disclosed a hole in the back of the head, which it is supposed was made by a bullet or some sharp-pointed instrument, probably a pick-axe. It is believed to be a case of murder. Subsequently the body was identified as that of the son of Henry B. Clark of Hoosick Falls.

Shipbuilding is a "lost art" in Newburyport—not a vessel on the stocks, nor a contract for one. It is only a few years since when seventeen were lying at the wharf being made ready to sail for other ports.

The Medford, Mass., mystery did not remain a mystery long. The dead body of the woman found on the bank of the Mystic river was speedily identified as that of Catharine Doherty of Boston, who it is supposed committed suicide.

An unknown man residing at Hoosac, N. Y., was thrown off the evening train on the Troy & Boston road, Friday night, between North Adams and Hoosac, Mass. The train was moving at a fair rate of speed, and the man's head striking the ties he was instantly killed. It was alleged that the man was shrown from the train for non-payment of fare.

Dr. McDonald mysteriously disappeared from Dartmouth, near Halifax, N. S., thirty years ago, and it was supposed he was murdered. On Sunday his skeleton was found under the flooring of the house where he boarded with a man named Thorpe. The latter was arrested on suspicion at the time of McDonald's disappearance, but as no evidence was procured he was discharged. Thorpe is still alive in Pictou county, and will be re-arrested.

Hon. J. R. French, late sergeant-at-arms of the Senate, fell in a fit at the capitol on Monday, and was removed to his residence in a delirious condition.

Mrs. John Baptist Zoliver of Oldtown, Me., is seventy-three years old, and the mother of seventeen children, ten girls and seven boys. Within the last year nine new teeth have grown to their full size from her upper and lower jaws. She is cutting the tenth now. What is most remarkable in this freak of nature is that Mrs. Zoliver is sick as each new tooth pushes up through her gums.

New Hampshire Items.

Rev. Lyman E. Gordon, pastor of the Tabernacle (Methodist) church in Manchester, died Sunday morning of diphtheria, at the age of thirty-two years.

Harry McShane, seventeen years old, fell from a car in the depot at Concord, Saturday afternoon, and five cars passed over his legs, crushing them terribly, and inflicting probably fatal injuries.

At Claremont, Sunday, Rev. J. G. Hubbard, D. D., was obliged to dismiss his congregation on account of ill health. Upon returning home with his family in a sleigh he died of heart disease. Dr. Hubbard was sixty years old, and was the oldest Episcopal clergyman in the diocese of New Hampshire.

Political.

The Wallace (late Telfer) investigating committee of the Senate having summoned Mr. Gorham, secretary of the republican national committee, and compelled him to produce his books for inspection, the republican members of the committee now insist upon the secretary of the democratic committee being summoned and required to produce his books for inspection, in order that the country may know how much money was raised and how much disbursed during the campaign of 1876 by the democrats. The republicans are confident that some rich developments will be the result of the examination of said books, and that not as good a showing can be made for the democrats as was made for the republicans by Mr. Gorham.

Mr. Garfield made an uncommonly strong and able speech in the House of Representatives, Saturday, on the political situation, and it worried the democrats considerably. The point which troubled them most was the reminder that, under the fugitive slave law, the democrats held that United States marshals could not only summon all citizens at hand for a posse, but could call on the army and navy; and another point which they recognized as one that would tell against them was the contrast between their brave plan of 1861, of shooting the government to death, and their present cowardly plan of trying to starve it to death.

The editor of the Okolona (Miss.) Southern States is charged with having stolen from $2000 to $3000 of yellow fever funds sent from the north last summer, and to have spent it in gambling. He is the same individual who so fervently "thanks God that the confederates have captured the Congress of the United States."

Recently a young woman went to a friend in Washington to write for her an application to the postmaster general for a position in the department, and to be instructed as to the kind of work she might be expected to do if successful. Among the letters she had collected in support of her claim was one addressed to Mr. Blackburn, of Kentucky, saying: "Press her claim in every possible way, for the Confederate service never had a better friend. All through the war no woman in Washington did more for the southern cause."

While the inflationist party in Congress desires to push the coinage of silver to the limit of the capacity of the mints, a report from the treasury department shows the fact that 15,000,000 of the new standard silver dollars are lying in the treasury, and that only 6,600,000 have been absorbed into the circulation of the country. A dispatch to the Boston Herald says: "It is stated that early in April the treasury officers are going to devote special attention to forcing the silver dollars out of the treasury and into circulation, but whether this is to be accomplished by offering chromcs or flower seeds or other inducements to those who will take a given quantity of silver, is not stated."

ROYAL BAKING POWDER

Absolutely Pure.

The Royal Baking Powder is a pure Cream of Tartar powder, made from pure Grape Cream Tartar, imported exclusively for this powder direct from the wine district of France. An old experienced housekeeper writes that, although she has to pay a few pennies more for the "Royal," finds that it goes so much further and works much better than saleratus, soda, or cream of tartar.

☞ Most of the Cream of Tartar of commerce is adulterated with Alum, Terra Alba, etc. Doctors pronounce Alum most dangerous to health; it costs but 2c. a lb., Cream of Tartar over 40. The Royal Baking Powder is recommended for its wholesomeness by such eminent chemists as Dr. Mott, New York; Dr. S. Dana Hayes, Boston. Sold only in cans. All Grocers.

☞ BAKING POWDER should never be sold in paper packages, as it becomes stale and deteriorates upon exposure to the atmosphere. (10.

THE CITY.

The schooner (formerly sloop yacht) Una is being newly topped at Noble's Island.

Second Lieutenant David Whipple, U. S. M. C., was on Monday nominated by President Hayes to be first lieutenant.

Charles H. Thayer and his superior dramatic company, with the favorite actress Miss Mary Cary, at Music hall to-night in "Baby." See adv.

Rev. Arthur A. Waite, whose "chalk talks" and exhortations awakened such an interest in this city recently, on Sunday began a series of meetings at the Advent chapel in Worcester, Mass., to continue several weeks.

Mr. Goodwin, formerly station agent at Conway Junction and of late in the freight department of the Eastern railroad in this city, assumes the duties of station agent of the Eastern railroad as the successor of Mr. Barrett, to-day.

The schooner Gov. Goodwin was on Saturday towed from the marine railway at Kittery to Doane's wharf by tug Clara Bateman, and the Daniel Marcy succeeds her on the ways for spring repairs, preparatory to the opening of the fishing season.

"A good show," was the verdict of those who attended the entertainment given by Black, Rooney & Ward's minstrels on Monday evening. The audience was large for a stormy night, and the frequent applause which greeted the several specialities testified to their merits. By request it will be repeated on Wednesday, the 9th inst., when no doubt the boys will be well rewarded for their efforts.

Monday morning a scow with a pile driver on board, that was being warped down along the wharves with the strong ebb tide, became unmanageable off Church point, and was swept down with great velocity toward the steamer Emerald, lying at the navy yard landing. Capt. Marden saw the scow coming, and with his usual promptness of action instantly ordered the lines cast off and the engine to go ahead at full speed, and moved the boat out of the way just in time to escape a collision that would most probably have sent the Emerald to the bottom. The runaway scow brought up against Adams & Co.'s wharf, but little injury being done to either.

THE VICINITY.

President Hayes on Monday nominated Enoch F. Pillsbury to be postmaster at Biddeford.

The Times says: "The value of the butter and cheese made in York county, in 1878, was $350,000,000—or $50,000,000 more than the entire wheat crop. Such is the statement of the bureau of statistics at Washington." That is an excellent showing, certainly. Assuming the butter and cheese to be worth fifty cents a pound all 'round, it would take three hundred and fifty thousand tons of two thousand pounds each to amount to the sum named.

Mr. John Rogers, living in the northwestern part of Eliot, has an interesting relic of the times gone by. It is a portrait in oil of a grandson of John Rogers, the famous martyr of New England primer fame. This grandson was a clergyman in England, and in the picture appears in the ruff so generally worn in the olden time. The painting was done, as shown by a date in light paint on the dark background, in 1628, nearly seventy years after the martyrdom of the grandfather, and three years after the landing of the Pilgrim Fathers on Plymouth rock. Besides the date it bears marks as follows: "Aetatis suae 51," i. e., the 51st year of his age, and in another place, "Virtute Deo.," i. e., by the power of God. It is in good preservation, and as the ancestors of the present John Rogers have for two hundred years occupied the farm he lives on now, the picture was probably brought from England about that length of time ago.—Biddeford Times.

KITTERY.

From the town book of Kittery we learn that the town, during the year ending March 7th, 1879, expended for almshouse expenses $751.07; for partial support to parties outside the almshouse, $239.49; contingent expenses, $1628.53; paid school districts, $4742.43; high school, $500 (in addition to $500 from the State.)

The town debt, which in 1870 was $322.37, is now $11,288.29. This increase is due to the facts that no provision has been made for the payment of interest since 1870, with the exception of one year, when $1000 was appropriated for that purpose, and that nothing has been raised to provide for abatements of taxes, discounts, etc. Add to these causes the losses of the town through the collectors' failing to collect the taxes within a reasonable time, and in one or two cases failing to hand over such monies as they did collect, and the increase of the town debt is readily accounted for.

The fall term of the school in district two was taught by Miss Jennie Frink, of Newington.

The winter term in district three was taught by Edward E. Dennett, of this city, of whom the superintending school committee say: "The teacher of the winter term, although a fine scholar, the committee feared might fail from lack of experience, but they were very happily disappointed. * * His manner toward the scholars not only inspired them with respect for him, but obviously, from the general tone of the school, caused them to respect themselves, which if tempered aright is a factor of value in the make up of manhood and womanhood too. * We find pupils here well prepared to enter the town high school, whether we have it or not."

District four is subdivided into "district four north" and "district four south," with a school in each. During the winter term the north school had seventeen pupils, the average attendance being thirteen; the south school had eighteen pupils, with an average attendance of fourteen. The committee recommend consolidation.

Of the primary school in district five, during the summer term, the committee say: "The conduct of some of the scholars was a disgrace to themselves and their district." It appears that the disorderly scholars succeeded in "running out" their teacher, a well educated young lady, for the last half of the term was taught by Horace Mitchell; and the report says "there was no trouble during the remainder of the term."

The grammar school in district nine had two teachers during the fall term, the first one resigning by advice of the committee after a trial of a few weeks, he not possessing the ability to govern a school of that character. He was succeeded by Mr. Charles A. Shannon of this city, and the committee say that "with Mr. Shannon's advent commenced a new era in the school; it became orderly and studious." Mr. Shannon also taught this school during the winter term, with Miss Lizzie McIntire as assistant, both teachers giving entire satisfaction to the committee.

The teacher of the high school in his report to the committee says Zina N. Jackson has not been absent a half-day since being admitted to the school—four terms. Katy Pinkham and Cora Leach have been constant in attendance for three terms; and Edith B. Abrams, Allie G. Chickering, Jennie Leach, Willie Fernald, John Bridges, Ada Foye, George Evans, Ernest G. Jackson, Mary Dannenberg, George W. Dixon, Ida H. Tobey and Belmont Stimson for two terms, during the past year. Ninety-eight pupils attended one term of the school during the year without missing a half-day.

CAPTURE OF FORT WILLIAM AND MARY.

BY REV. ALONZO H. QUINT.

On the thirteenth of December, 1774, into Portsmouth came riding that gallant rider Paul Revere. He brought from William Cooper, of Boston, an official dispatch to Samuel Cutts of the local committee. The king in council had prohibited the exportation of military stores from England, and orders were out to seize all munitions of war in the colonies. He brought also rumor that two royal regiments were to be sent to the Piscataqua. The committee met and decided. It sent dispatches to the neighboring towns. John Sullivan, of Durham, was notified, and led twenty men. It was determind to seize Fort William and Mary (now Fort Constitution) at Newcastle. The movement was to be open. John Langdon, then an officer of militia, and John Sullivan, who was then drilling a volunteer company in anticipation of war, were leaders. Gov. Wentworth knew of the plan, and informed the commander of the fort.

"About twelve o'clock of the next day," wrote the governor to the Earl of Dartmouth, six days later, "news was brought to me that a drum was beating about the town to collect the populace together in order to take away the gunpowder and dismantle the fort. * * I sent the chief justice to warn them from engaging in such an attempt. He went to them, told them it was not short of rebellion, and entreated them to desist from it and disperse. But all to no purpose. They went to the island; they forced the entrance in spite of Capt. Cochran, who defended it as long as he could. They secured the captain, triumphantly gave three huzzas, and hauled down the king's colors." And the helpless governor soon issued a proclamation which begins: "Whereas, several bodies of men did in the day time," etc.

The capture was in the afternoon of the 14th of December, an open and determined attack. Said the commander of the fort, in his official report, dated the same day:

"I prepared to make the best defence I could, and pointed some guns to those places where I expected they would enter. About three o'clock the fort was beset on all sides by upward of five hundred men. I told them on their peril not to enter. They replied that they would. I immediately ordered three four-pounders to be fired on them, and then the small arms, and before we could be ready to fire again, we were stormed on all quarters, and immediately they secured me and my men, and kept our prisoners about one hour and a half, during which time they broke open the powder-house, and took all the powder away except one barrel."

Ninety-seven barrels of powder were taken away, and on the night of the 14th the patriots returned and carried off all the arms that could be moved. How men were raised for the expedition; how that powder was afterwards taken up to Durham in boats, in a bitterly cold night, the men not allowed to wear shoes lest a spark from the nails should ignite the powder; how most of it was hidden under the old pulpit from which the patriotic Adams preached; how the New Hampshire men's powder horns were filled from if when they started for Cambridge, and how John Demerritt of Durham hauled thither an ox-cart load, arriving just in season to have it served out for Bunker Hill—was written out for me twenty years ago, from the lips of Eleazer Bennett, then near a hundred years old, who was probably the last survivor of that daring expedition. And that powder supplied the two New Hampshire regiments at Bunker Hill which, attacked by the veteran Welsh Fusiliers, were commanded by Jamer Reid and John Stark, and made such slaughter of the best English troops.

The daring character of this assault cannot be over-estimated. It was an organized investment of a royal fortress, where the king's flag was flying, and where the king's garrison met them with muskets and artillery. It was four months before Lexington; and Lexington was a resistance to attack while this was a deliberate assault. It was six months before Bunker Hill. I fail to find anywhere in the colonies, so early an armed assault upon the royal authority. So far it must be held that the first action in arms, of the Revolutionary war, was in New Hampshire, and by New Hampshire patriots. This attack was treason. It exposed every man concerned in it to the penalty of treason. When the war vessels came a few days after, the men were placed on board, to be kept as witnesses in the expected trials.

When the king heard of this capture, it so embittered him that all hope of concession was at an end. It made war inevitable. But the trials for treason never took place. The then governor, John Wentworth, the best of all royal governors of that day, soon sailed away, never again to set foot upon his native soil. John Langdon, after gallant service in the war, and priceless service in its civil support, became governor, and the first president of the Senate of the United States. John Sullivan, then a lawyer in Durham, was a son of John Sullivan, who was once the school-master of the town of Dover, and was the father of governors. To him the refugee Livius wrote from Montreal, in 1777, urging his return to the royal cause, promising him particular reward, and saying: "You were the first man in active rebellion;" and Livius had fled from Portsmouth. Sullivan became major-general, and governor of his State.

When news came of the slaughter at Concord, New Hampshire was aroused. Men collected from every quarter. Winborn Adams, also of Dover blood, was lieutenant-colonel when he met his death at Stillwater. Alexander Scammel, of that Durham party, was adjutant-general of the army when he fell at Yorktown. Demeritt, Griffin, Bennett, Chesley, Noble, and Durgin, of that expedition, all did service in the army of the Revolution.

I have been more minute in relation to the above attack, because a grossly incorrect account has been circulating in newspapers, as part of our centennial literature.

Gentlemen in want of horses will do well to examine a fine lot, seventeen in number, at the stable of E. W. Cochrane, consisting of family, express, draught and gentlemen's road horses, selected by C. B. Leavitt and C. H. Hayes the past week on the western shore of Lake Champlain, in the State of New York. They are now arranged and ready for examination. Every animal warranted as represented, or no sale; prices to correspond with the times—very low for cash or approved credit.

On Our Most Distant Frontiers,

As in our busiest and most populous cities of the seaboard and interior, Hostetter's Stomach Bitters is pre-eminently popular. Wherever civilization plants its foot on this continent, thither the great tonic soon finds its way. Nor is this surprising, for it is the medicine of all others best adapted to the wants of the Western emigrant, be he miner or agriculturist. It is an incomparable remedy for the diseases to which he is most subject, and which are liable to be brought on by a change of climate, hardship, exposure, unaccustomed air and diet, and miasmatic atmosphere and water. Among these are disorders of the stomach and bowels, rheumatic ailments, and malarious fevers, for all of which Hostetter's Bitters is a certain specific. A course of the Bitters before departing for the new field of labor, or on arriving, will have the effect of preventing the evils for which it is such a signal remedy.

Bronchitis will surely come if you let that cough run any longer. Stop it at once by using Dr. A. J. Flagg's Cough and Lung Syrup.

Consumption Cured.

An old physician, retired from practice, having had placed in his hands by an East India missionary the formula of a simple vegetable remedy, for the speedy and permanent cure for consumption, bronchitis, catarrh, asthma, and all throat and lung affections, also a positive and radical cure for nervous debility an all nervous complaints, after having tested its wonderful curative powers in thousands of cases, has felt it his duty to make it known to his suffering fellows. Actuated by this motive, and a desire to relieve human suffering, I will send, free of charge, to all who desire it, this recipe, with full directions for preparing and using, in German, French, or English. Sent by mail by addressing with stamp, naming this paper. W. W. Sherar, 149 Powers' Block, Rochester, New York. ta22

War and Gold—A hotel war based on gold prices. In order to accommodate both classes of travellers, the Grand Central Hotel, on Broadway, New York, is now kept on both plans, the American at $2.50 to $3.00, and the European at $1.00, and upwards, per day. An elegant Restaurant, at moderate prices, is conducted by the Hotel.

Children are so liable to colds and coughs. Cure them early by using Dr. A. J. Flagg's Cough and Lung Syrup.

A CARD.

To all who are suffering from the errors and indiscretions of youth, nervous weakness, early decay, loss of manhood, &c., I will send a recipe that will cure you, FREE OF CHARGE. WHEAT MEAL!

— OR —

Graham Flour.

When Wheat is ground it becomes Wheat Meal; when it is bolted it becomes Wheat Flour. Dr. Graham, who lectured through the country forty years ago on dietetics formed the fraternity known as "Grahamites." He said that bolted Flour should not be eaten, but that bread ought to be made of Wheat Meal instead; from him it got the name of Graham Flour. All Graham Flour therefore ought to be Wheat Meal, but about three-quarters of it is what we call made up Graham, that is, artificially mixed Cheap Flour and Bran, and is in every way inferior to the genuine article. Hardly a person who uses the genuine Wheat Meal would take the bogus article except on compulsion.

—A new scheme is at work in Whitehall, N. Y., to raise church funds. Weekly sewing societies are established, with tea in the evening, cash admission being charged, and all the gentlemen being invited. Those who go pay the fixed price; those who don't go receive bills for double that sum the next day, presented to them for payment by some lovely member of the society. Of course they pay.

—Jefferson Davis has had a full length portrait of himself painted in the clothes he said he wore when he was captured. The dress is thus described: "The loose coat of confederate gray, slightly held together by a button, the high top boots giving a cavalier look to the erect and graceful form, one hand placed akimbo at the left side, the other grasping the soft felt hat hanging carelessly at the right side, produces a most pleasing effect." This seems to explain why he took some of Mrs. Davis' clothing in addition to his own, for "a coat slightly held together by a single button," and high top boots, make a rather airy costume even for purposes of flight.

—Seth P. Ames, a member of Oakes Ames' family and a native of New Bedford, went to Michigan thirteen years ago and settled on Flint river. Seth had been a blacksmith and ship carpenter all his life, and wanting to revisit his Massachusetts home, he concluded to build him a schooner to sail back in. He had no money, but finally built him a boat sixty feet long and of sixty-two tons burden, doing every item of work himself. Mr. Ames made even the nails and spikes from bits of old iron given him, and finally finished as pretty a craft as ever sailed the lakes. But he got so old and poor that he had to give up his trip to Massachusetts, and in launching his boat he injured himself and died soon after. His boat is now for sale at Saginaw.—Transcript.

CAPITAL $2,000,000. 200,000 SHARES.
PAR VALUE, $10 PER SHARE.
UNASSESSABLE.
Daniel J. Splane, Pres. J. L. Thompson, Sec.
The property of this Company consists of twelve mines and mining locations, located in Lake County, Colorado, in the vicinity of Leadville, upon all of which extensive work has been done, in all cases exhibiting true fissure veins, good pay streak, and well defined boles.
Three of the leading mines are well opened up and have at the lowest computation over TEN THOUSAND TONS OF ORE IN SIGHT; by May 1st, the Railroad now under construction will be within a short distance of this property.
The Company proposes to sell a portion of its stock at $1.50 per share for the purpose of more completely developing its mines, and for the erection of works for the treatment of its ores.
Applications for the stock may be made to the office of the Company, 61 Broadway, New York.
N. B.—The Mining Record, of New York, the highest mining authority in this country, says Feb. 1st, 1879: The principal owners in this company are hard working men who by their own labor have uncovered large bodies of ore which they now wish to extract and send to market; our readers will do well to make a venture with these worthy men, this money will probably be returned to them twenty fold. The business management has been placed in the care of Mr. J. L. Thompson, an officer of high standing in one of the largest banks in the city. CHARLES W. GARDNER'S

(Successors to R. V. PIERCE, M. D.)
DR. R. V. PIERCE, having acquired a world-wide reputation in the treatment of Chronic Diseases, resulting in a professional business far exceeding his individual ability to conduct, some years ago induced several medical gentlemen to associate themselves with him, as the Faculty of the World's Dispensary, the Consulting Department of which has since been merged with the INVALIDS' HOTEL. The organization has been completed and incorporated under the name and style of World's Dispensary Medical Association, with the following officers:
Hon. R. V. PIERCE, Pres. F. D. PIERCE, V. Pres.
JNO. E. PIERCE, Sec. LESTER H. SMITH, Treas.
NINE PHYSICIANS AND SURGEONS of eminence and skill have been chosen as the Faculty.
CHRONIC DISEASES of all forms come within the province of our several specialties.
LUNG DISEASES.—This division of practice is very ably managed by a gentleman of mature judgment and skill. Bronchial, Throat, and Lung Diseases treated with the most successful results.
DISEASES OF WOMEN.—Especially are our facilities of a superior order for the cure of all those chronic diseases peculiar to females.
NERVOUS DISEASES.—Paralysis, Nervous Debility, Epilepsy (Fits), Insanity (St. Vitus's Dance), Neuralgia, and other nervous affections, receive the attention of our several specialists.
NOT NECESSARY TO SEE PATIENTS.—By our original system of diagnosis, we can treat many chronic diseases as successfully without as with a personal consultation. For particulars see "People's Common Sense Medical Adviser" (1,000 pages, sent post-paid for $1.50) or "Invalids' and Tourists' Guide Book" (168 pages, 10 cents post-paid).
SURGICAL CASES.—Among the operations which we are called upon most frequently to perform, are those for Nasal Polypus, Harelip, Tumors, Fistula in Ano, Piles, Hernia (Rupture), Hydrocele (Dropsy of the Scrotum), Varicocele, Ovarian and Uterine Tumors, Calculi (Stone in the Bladder), Strictures, etc., etc. We also treat successfully, by a new method without surgical operation, Cataracts, Club-foot, Spinal Curvature, and other deformities. (See pamphlet entitled, "Motion as a Curative Agent," sent on receipt of 10 cents.
Address, World's Dispensary Medical Association, BUFFALO, N. Y.

WOMAN
By an immense practice at the World's Dispensary and Invalids' Hotel, which has treated many thousand cases of those diseases peculiar to woman, I have been enabled to perfect a most reliable and positive remedy for these diseases.
To designate this natural specific, I have named it
Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription
The term, however, is but a feeble expression of my high appreciation of its value, based upon personal observation. I have, while witnessing its positive results in the special diseases incident to the organism of woman, single it out as the climax or crowning gem of my medical career. On its merits, as a positive, safe, and effectual remedy for this class of diseases, and one that will, at all times and under all circumstances, act kindly, I am willing to stake my reputation as a physician; and so confident am I that it will not disappoint the most sanguine expectations of a single invalid lady who uses it for any of the ailments for which I recommend it, that I offer and sell it under A POSITIVE GUARANTEE. (For conditions, see pamphlet wrapping bottle.)
The following are among those diseases in which my Favorite Prescription has worked cures, as if by magic, and with a certainty never before attained by any medicine: Leucorrhœa, Excessive Flowing, Painful Monthly Periods, Suppressions when from unnatural causes, Irregularities, Weak Back, Prolapsus, or Falling of the Uterus, Anteversion and Retroversion, Bearing-down Sensation, Internal Heat, Nervous Depression, Debility, Despondency, Threatened Miscarriage, Chronic Congestion, Inflammation and Ulceration of the Uterus, Impotency, Barrenness, or Sterility, and Female Weakness. I do not extol this medicine as a "cure-all," but it admirably fulfils a single class of purpose, being a most perfect specific in all chronic diseases of the sexual system of woman. It will not disappoint, nor will it do harm, in any state or condition.
Those who desire further information on these subjects can obtain in THE PEOPLE'S COMMON SENSE MEDICAL ADVISER, a book of over 900 pages, sent, post-paid, on receipt of $1.50. It treats minutely of those diseases peculiar to Females, and gives much valuable advice in regard to the management of those affections.
Favorite Prescription sold by Druggists.

GOLDEN MEDICAL DISCOVERY

By its great and thorough blood-purifying properties, Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery cures all Humors, from the worst Scrofula to a common Blotch, Pimple, or Eruption. Mercurial disease, Mercurial Poisons, and their effects, are eradicated, and vigorous health and a sound constitution established. Erysipelas, Salt-rheum, Fever Sores, Scaly or Rough Skin, in short, all diseases caused by bad blood, are conquered by this powerful, purifying, and invigorating medicine.

Especially has it manifested its potency in curing Tetter, Rose Rash, Boils, Carbuncles, Sore Eyes, Scrofulous Sores and Swellings, White Swellings, Goitre or Thick Neck, and Enlarged Glands.

If you feel dull, drowsy, debilitated, have sallow color of skin, or yellowish-brown spots on face or body, frequent headache or dizziness, bad taste in mouth, internal heat or chills alternated with hot flashes, low spirits, and gloomy forebodings, irregular appetite, and tongue coated, you are suffering from Torpid Liver, or "Biliousness." In many cases of "Liver Complaint" only part of these symptoms are experienced. As a remedy for all such cases, Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery has no equal, as it effects perfect and radical cures.

In the cure of Bronchitis, Severe Coughs, and the early stages of Consumption, it has astonished the medical faculty, and eminent physicians pronounce it the greatest medical discovery of the age. While it cures the severest Coughs, it strengthens the system and purifies the blood. Sold by druggists.

R. V. PIERCE, M. D., Prop'r, World's Dispensary and Invalids' Hotel, Buffalo, N. Y.

Pierce's Pleasant Purgative Pellets

SIZE OF PELLETS.

THE "LITTLE GIANT" CATHARTIC.

No use of taking the large, repulsive, nauseous pills, composed of drugs, bitter herbs and bulky ingredients. These Pellets are scarcely larger than mustard seeds.

Being sugar-coated, they require no care in or required while using them. They operate without disturbance to the constitution, diet, or occupation. For Jaundice, Sick-headache, Indigestion, Impure Blood, Pain in the Shoulders, Tightness of the Chest, Dizziness, Sour Eructations from the Stomach, Bad Taste in the Mouth, Bilious attacks, Pain in region of Kidneys, Internal Fever, Inflamed feelings about Stomach, Rush of Blood to Head, take Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Purgative Pellets. In explanation of the remedial power of these Purgative Pellets over so great a variety of ailments, it may be said that their action upon the animal economy is universal, not a gland or tissue escaping their sensitive impress. Age does not impair the properties of these Pellets. They are sugar-coated and inclosed in glass bottles, their virtues being thus preserved for years and for any length of time, in any climate, so that they are always fresh and reliable. This is not the case with pills put up in cheap wooden or pasteboard boxes. For all diseases where a Laxative, Alterative, or Purgative, is indicated, these little Pellets will give the most perfect satisfaction. Sold by druggists.

R. V. PIERCE, M. D., Prop'r, World's Dispensary and Invalids' Hotel, Buffalo, N. Y.

CATARRH

SYMPTOMS.—Frequent headache, discharge falling into throat, sometimes profuse, watery, thick mucous, purulent, offensive, etc. In others, a dryness, dry, watery, weak, or inflamed eyes, stopping up, or obstruction, of the nasal passages, ringing in ears, deafness, hawking and coughing to clear the throat, ulcerations, scabs from ulcers, voice altered, nasal twang, offensive breath, impaired or total deprivation of sense of smell and taste, dizziness, mental depression, loss of appetite, indigestion, enlarged tonsils, tickling cough, etc. Only a few of these symptoms are likely to be present in any case at one time.

DR. SAGE'S CATARRH REMEDY

produces radical cures of the worst cases of Catarrh, no matter of how long standing. The liquid remedy may be snuffed, or better applied by the use of Dr. PIERCE'S Douche. This is the only form of instrument yet invented with which fluid medicine can be carried HIGH UP and PERFECTLY APPLIED to all parts of the affected nasal passages, and the chambers or cavities communicating therewith, in which sores and ulcers frequently exist, and from which the catarrhal discharge generally proceeds. Its use is pleasant and easily understood, from directions accompanying each instrument. Dr. SAGE'S Catarrh Remedy cures recent attacks of "Cold in the Head" by a few applications. It is mild and pleasant to use, containing no strong or caustic drugs or poisons. Catarrh Remedy and Douche sold by druggists. R. V. PIERCE, M. CATARRH

A PHYSICIAN'S TESTIMONY.

30 Years a Physician. 12 Years a Sufferer. Tried Regular Remedies. Tried Patent Medicines. Permanently cured by

SANFORD'S RADICAL CURE.

MESSRS. WEEKS & POTTER,—Sirs: I have practiced medicine for thirty years, and have been a sufferer myself for twelve years with Catarrh in the nasal passages, fauces and larynx. I have used every thing in the materia medica without any permanent relief, until finally I was induced to try a patent medicine (something that we allopathics are very loth to do) I tried —— and divers others until I got hold of yours. I follow to the directions to the letter, and am happy to say have had a permanent cure. Your RADICAL CURE is certainly a happy combination for the cure of that most unpleasant and dangerous of diseases.

Yours, respectfully,
D. W. GRAY, M. D.,
Of Dr. D. W. Gray & Son., Physicians and Druggists, Muscatine, Iowa.

MUSCATINE, IOWA, March 27, 1877.

The value of this remedy must not be overlooked in the cure of those

SYMPATHETIC DISEASES,

Affections of the Eye, Ear, Throat, Lungs and Bronchial Tubes which in many cases accompany a severe case of Catarrh. The inflamed and diseased condition of the mucous membrane is the cause of all these troubles; and until the system has been brought properly under the influence of the RADICAL CURE, perfect freedom from them cannot be reasonably expected.

It is but three years since SANFORD'S RADICAL CURE was placed before the public, but in that short time it has found its way from Maine to California, and is everywhere acknowledged by druggists and physicians to be the most successful preparation for the thorough treatment of Catarrh ever compounded. The fact will be deemed of more importance when it is coupled with the statement that within five years over 250 different remedies for Catarrh have been placed on sale, and today, with some or two exceptions, th e names cannot be recalled by the best-informed druggist. Advertising may succeed in forcing a few sales, but, unless the remedy possess undoubted specific medical properties, it is absolutely certain to fall into merited obscurity.

Each package of SANFORD'S RADICAL CURE contains Dr. Sanford's Improved Inhaling Tube, with full directions for its use in all cases. Price $1.00. Sold by all wholesale and retail druggists and dealers throughout the United States and Canadas. WEEKS & POTTER, General Agents and Wholesale Druggists, Boston, Mass.

Daily Chronicle.

—A cat in the back yard just ready to pounce on a chicken is a sign of spring.

—Some men can not smoke a five cent cigar without striking ten cents' worth of matches.

—New walking boots for ladies have pointed toes, and are much higher in the ankle than formerly.

—And now the alarmed householder goeth to the market house for his weekly supplies! The great quarters of beef are to him but so much pleuro-pneumonia, and innumerable trichinae infest the swine stretched everywhere about. Hence he escheweth both beef and pork, purchaseth three pounds of tripe, and goeth home with a light heart.—Boston Transcript.

—A nonplussed theologian is said to have sat up until a late hour fruitlessly trying to get the tangle out of the following anecdote, which is related in Mr. Conway's recent book: "In an orthodox family, with which I have had some acquaintance, a little boy who had used naughty expressions of resentment toward a playmate was admonished that he should be like Christ, who never did any harm to his enemies! 'No,' answered the wrathful child, "but he's going to.'"

—Pete, of Memphis, was a great exhorter in camp meeting, and always concluded his exhortation by saying that whenever the Lord called for him, he was ready to go. So darkey Sam, to prove Pete's sincerity, called one night and knocked at Pete's door. "Who dat?" shouted Pete. "The Lord," responded Sam. "What de Lord want?" asked Pete. "Come for Pete," answered Sam. "O!" returned Pete, "dat darkey moved from Memphis nigh on tree year ago."

—The other evening, at a little dinner party, one of the guests, the younger brother of an English nobleman, expressed with commendable freedom his opinion of America and its people. "I do not altogether like the country," said the young gentleman, "for one reason; because you have no gentry here." "What do you mean by gentry?" asked another of the company. "Well, you know," replied the Englishman, "well—oh, gentry are those who never do any work themselves and whose fathers before them never did any." "Ah," exclaimed his interlocutor, "then we have plenty of gentry in America, but we don't call them gentry, we call them tramps." A laugh went around the table, and the young Englishman turned his conversation into another channel.—Graphic.

—A writer in the London Lancet condemns the planting of trees in the streets of towns as unsanitary. He takes the ground that the circulation of fresh air is checked by the foliage of the trees, and in the narrow lanes, where the poorer part of the population are packed together, anything that interferes with the freest possible circulation of air is injurious to health. Trees are excellent things in their place, but there can often be "too much of a good thing;" it is doubtless not well to have trees so near a house as to cast shade upon it at noon. The sunshine is too valuable. Every one appreciates it for at least nine months of the year; if thoroughly informed as to its beneficent qualities, would appreciate it the other three. In towns, trees may be harmless in wide streets or squares, but where towns are built in continuous blocks the presence of shade trees cannot be recommended, except in places where they would not interfere with sunshine and free circulation of air in our houses.

Important Decision.

The case of Charles Parsons against the city of New Orleans was decided by the United States supreme court in Washington on Monday, and the decision is of great interest to holders of municipal bonds. In this case the city of New Orleans had issued in 1854 her bonds in aid of the railroads running into the city, under authority of an act of the Legislature. The act authorized the issue of the bonds, but contained no express provision for their payment by taxation upon their maturity. The city refused to levy a tax or otherwise provide for their payment. Judgment was obtained on a portion of the bonds and application made to the United States circuit court for a mandamus to compel the levy of a tax sufficient to pay the judgment. Judge Billings in the court below held that, as there was no express authority given to tax, none could be implied, and refused the writ. On appeal to the supreme court it was contended that the power to create a debt carried with it the power to tax to pay the debt, even when no taxing power was expressly conferred. The supreme court sustains this view and orders the city to levy the tax. The court repudiates the idea that this is an encroachment on the legislative power of taxation, and holds that the legislature in giving authority to create the debt in reality gave authority and made it the duty of the city to levy the tax, and that this duty the courts must enforce. The decision is in advance of, but not in conflict with, former decisions, and will do much to strengthen confidence in the determination of the United States courts to hold municipalities to a strict compliance with their contracts. The amount of the judgment directly involved is about $100,000, but the whole amount of bonds in a similar condition is about $600,000.

Married in Spite of Himself.

The following queer story comes from Baltimore, under date of March 31st: "About two years ago George Scates came here from Boston and obtained a place in the Maryland penitentiary as overseer of the shoe shop. Recently Miss Carrie Tilton, to whom, it is said, Scates was engaged, came to Baltimore, and was the guest of his parents. Scates had previously been a frequent visitor at the house of Mr. DeFord, and had paid some attention to Miss Mollie DeFord, who is several years his senior. On Wednesday last he received a polite note asking him to call at Mr. DeFord's house that evening. He called as requested, and was ushered into the presence of Miss DeFord, her two brothers, her father and a clergyman. Before he could recover from his astonishment he was shown a marriage license, which the DeFords had thoughtfully procured, and he told what part he was to play in the domestic drama. He protested, but made the necessary responses, and the two were made one. He left the house as soon as he could, and the next day left for Joliet, Ill., with the avowed intention of tremaining there one year to obtain the necessary residence to enable him to apply for a divorce."

News and Notes.

The official report of the losses by the inundation at Szegedin, in Hungary, gives a total of 1900 corpses found, and hundreds floated away. The most astonishing fact is that of 9600 houses and buildings, 9300 were swept away. At last accounts the croup had broken out.

Numerous wrecks along the coast are reported, but mostly of small vessels, and without loss of life.

Ship Lake Michigan, from Portland for London with a cargo of grain and a crew of twenty men, has not been heard from since she left port on the 4th of February, and is supposed to have gone down with all hands.

The Turner Falls (Mass.) Reporter says that the town of Wendell has a veterinary physician who "corns" woodchucks during the summer for his winter's supply of meat. Also that a clergyman has been found in one of the hill towns of the county who was so eager for his fees that he married a Leyden man of thirty to a baby of thirteen.

Sacrilegious boys in Newburyport have take to robbing church charity boxes. Such deposits were missed a short time since at the Harris street church, and on Sunday last John W. Lee and William S. Beatley were caught commiting a like offence at Belleville, and were held for the judge of juvenile offenders.

Two brothers named Lapaway were playing with a loaded revolver on Sunday at Manchester, Vt., when it was discharged, resulting in the death of one, aged ten years.

Miss Sarah Hall, a stylish young lady of New York, formerly a belle of Providence, R. I., and a great society favorite there, has been and gone and got married to Dennis McQuinn, who drives a street car in New York. The young lady was once engaged to a son of Perry Davis, the "pain-killer" millionaire, but her parents broke off the match. She is related to the Van Rensselaer and Schermerhorn families of New York. Her parents are very much displeased.

The Southern Pacific railroad has opened a station for freight and passenger business at Gila Bend, 120 miles east of Yuma, Arizona, and 850 miles east of San Francisco.

Engineer Schillinger was killed and a fireman injured by the locomotive of a passenger train on the Lehigh road being thrown from the track by a land slide near Pittston, Pa., Monday. No passengers were hurt.

Deputy United States Marshal Cochran of Covington, who has been in the mountains of eastern Kentucky during the past two weeks, has captured fourteen moonshiners and destroyed a number of illicit stills.

Terrible fires are reported on the plains of Dakota. Scores of farmers have lost all their buildings, crops and stock, and a number of persons were burned to death.

Train wreckers threw a Grand Trunk railroad train from the track near Smith's Creek, Michigan, Saturday night, by removing a rail; the engine, tender and three cars were smashed, three men killed and others wounded. Henry Hines and Michael King, discharged section hands, have been arrested as the criminals.

A man named Morgan, who claims to be from Utica, N. Y., was arrested on Monday while passing from the First National bank of Charlestown, S. C., with $50,000 worth of United States bonds and other securities stolen from the president's room. The property was recovered and the prisoner locked up. The attempt was evidently the work of skilled and experienced thieves.

The Newburyport Herald says that sixty-three years ago, April 1st, 1816, the Belleville meeting-house was struck by lightning and burned. At the time of the stroke the mail-stage was passing, and one of the leading horses was knocked down stunned. The same year there was a frost at some time in every month.

On Sunday a twelve-years-old son of John Steukle of Westville, Conn., fell from a limb of a tree on the top of west rock to the valley below, a distance of about 200 feet, and was horribly mangled and of course instantly killed.

At Westport, Conn., Friday, a five-years-old daughter of Isaac James was warming herself at the stove when her clothing caught fire, and she was fatally burned.

Carrie Henninger, aged eight years, was on Saturday night abducted from a crowded thoroughfare at Williamsport, Pa., taken to the bank of the river and brutally assaulted. The child is probably fatally injured. A man named John Paul has been arrested on suspicion.

In connection with the recent marriage below her station in life of Ex-Governor Hubbard's daughter at Hartford, Conn., it is recalled that Ex-Governor Hubbard when a boy was apprenticed to a farmer, and then had charge of the horses. He has since won his way to an enviable place in his profession and among New England statesmen. He often refers to the humble circumstances of his boyhood with justifiable pride that he has achieved success in the face of so many obstacles. Governor Hubbard's oldest son was married some years ago to the daughter of a German mechanic, and the marriage has been an unusually happy one.

New Hampshire Items.

The heaviest snow-storm of the season, in the interior of the State, was that of Monday afternoon and night. The railroads were blocked almost everwhere.

The supreme court has decided the case of Bowles versus the town of Landaff in favor of the latter. The suit was brought to recover $3000 paid by Bowles to escape being drafted into the army in 1863, on account of Landaff 's quota.

Political.

For a good many years now the democratic papers have told us of the extravagance of Congress, and have printed long lists of the pocket-books, the bottles of cologne, the jack-knives, the fine-tooth combs furnished by a paternal government to congressmen. They have been repeatedly informed that the government isn't in the fancy goods business; that a congressman is allowed $200 a year for stationery; and if he doesn't take that sum up in stationery he can take it in snuff or cash or anything else he fancies. But they have gone on repeating the fine-tooth comb story. Well, both branches of Congress are now democratic. Let us see if the law allowing members $200 each for stationery is repealed. The democratic papers are, it is to be hoped, keeping a sharp look-out for the repeal. They don't mention it—but that may be because they don't want to prejudice legislation.

To-day a solid south actually controls both Houses of Congress. Confederate generals swarm in both chambers. Four generals of the Union army, in the Senate represent the mighty power which overthrew the rebellion; twenty confederate generals in the same chamber represent the rebellion once defeated. A stranger entering that chamber would be compelled to doubt whether Appomattox witnessed a victory or a defeat of the Union cause. Officials of the Senate and the House have been chosen for their services to the rebellion. Northern men, when chosen at all, have been chosen for their traitorous sympathy with rebellion. To-day, the rebellion, revived and rehabilitated, is encamped in both houses of Congress.—N. Y. Tribune.

Attention is called to the fact that while the democratic senators last week removed the republican secretary of the Senate, Gorham, on the charge of partisan activity and in the pretended interest of civil service, the democratic sergeant-at-arms of the House, Thompson, is absent in Ohio managing a political convention.

The Colorado Fever.

Mr. T. S. Lewis of Saco, the inventor of the ore separator, which according to the Press proved such a failure in California, has got home. He says the trouble was not with his machine but owing to the lack of gold sand. It seems the owners of mining districts near Sacramento have a neat way of collecting a lot of sand, carefully sifting it down to a small quantity, and then send north the result, claiming sand with that amount of gold can be scooped up anywhere about the bars of rivers. When Mr. Lewis got out there he found the attempt to sift gold out of the sand there was like hunting for a needle in a hay mow. In fact, the Chinamen have scoured the whole country far and wide for loose gold, and left nothing but sand for new comers. Mr. Lewis says the suffering at Leadville and other parts of Colorado to which lots of Maine men are now hurrying is dreadful. There are hundreds and hundreds in Leadville who are out of money and can get no work. He thinks the mining prospects of Maine are far ahead of those of Colorado.—Portland Argus.

Keeping Lent in New York.

There are several ways of keeping Lent, as of doing most other things. One of the fashionable ways this year is to get up high-toned parties for ladies only. The other sex must not show itself at all. The party usually consists of six persons, and the lunch consists of a downright feast. All the delicacies that the market affords are provided, and prepared and served in the finest style, and, in most cases, there is a fair supply of light wine to wind up with. A little affair of this sort that was given on Murray hill, last week, cost $50, or over $8 for the lunch of each person.

There are Lenten dinner parties as well as lunch parties. Gentlemen have the privilege of attending these, but they must not appear in swallow-tails and white ties. That would be altogether too worldly for Lent. Neither must the ladies present themselves in low-neck dresses. The flesh must be mortified in Lent, of course, so the ladies have to wear dresses which don't expose anything below the throat.

The dress for gentlemen is frock coats and black ties, and such other things as they may wish to wear. The dinner is as sumptuous as anything that Delmonico could get up, except in the item of wine. The line must be drawn somewhere, and in these cases it is drawn at the sideboard. Three kinds of wine is the lowest, and these do not include champagne. Sauterne, sherry and claret are the only wines allowed in thoroughly pious families.

There is no dancing after dinner, of course, but music is permitted, and the young folks take carte blanche for flirting, just as though they were not keeping Lent at all. The whole affair is supposed to be strictly in keeping with the penitential season, and perhaps it is—quite as much so as opera-going, I am sure.—Cor. Hartford Times.

—He is six feet four, a fine, manly fellow; she four feet six, a little beauty. They have recently returned from their wedding journey and taken up their abode at a well-known boarding house in this city. Last Sunday morning he left the breakfast table early, saying he must hurry to be in time for his Sunday-school class. After he had gone, a lady said to the little bride, "So your husband has a class in Sunday school?" "Yes," she answered, timidly, "a class of little girls;" innocently adding after a short pause, "he's very fond of little girls." There was a suppressed smile all 'round, and the poor little woman blushed to the roots of her hair. It's a shame to print it, but it's too good to keep.—Boston Transcript.

ROYAL BAKING POWDER

Absolutely Pure.

The Royal Baking Powder is a pure Cream of Tartar powder, made from pure Grape Cream Tartar, imported exclusively for this powder direct from the wine district of France. An old experienced housekeeper writes that, although she has to pay a few pennies more for the "Royal," finds that it goes so much further and works much better than saleratus, soda, or cream of tartar.

☞ Most of the Cream of Tartar of commerce is adulterated with Alum, Terra Alba, etc. Doctors pronounce Alum most dangerous to health; it costs but 2c. a lb., Cream of Tartar over 60. The Royal Baking Powder is recommended for its wholesomeness by such eminent chemists as Dr. Mott, New York; Dr. S. Dana Hayes, Boston. Sold only in cans. All Grocers.

☞ BAKING POWDER should never be sold in paper packages, as it becomes stale and deteriorates upon exposure to the atmosphere. 110

THE CITY.

The barometer was lower on Tuesday morning than for some months past, the mercury standing at 28.9 inches.

An extra rehearsal of Belshazzar's Feast will be held at Grange hall on Friday evening at half-past seven o'clock.

What has heretofore been known as the department of yards and docks at the navy yard will hereafter be known as the department of agriculture.

The entertainment by Black, Rooney & Ward's minstrels will be given on Monday evening next, instead of Wednesday evening as at first announced.

Rev. C. A. Holbrook on Friday last attended the one hundredth funeral at which he has officiated since he became rector of St. John's church, a little over three years ago.

New Hampshire has forty-six national banks, with a capital of about five and a half million dollars. Nearly one fifth of this capital is invested in the four national banks of this city.

The Boston Pianforte company, which gave so fine an entertainment here last week, have been requested by many of our citizens to come again, and have cancelled their engagement for Providence, R. I., on Fast evening, April 10th, and will on that evening appear at Music hall. There will be a rush.

There was a good audience to see "Baby" at Music hall, Tuesday evening, and for two and a half hours there was a good deal of laughter. There is nothing that can be called a plot in the play, but it is a continuous series of ridiculous and mirth-provoking "situations," and the way it is played by Thayer's excellent company makes it chock full of fun.

The temperance meeting at the Methodist church, Tuesday evening, was a very successful one, about 100 persons putting on the blue ribbon, making about 400 who have taken the pledge since Sunday evening.

There will be a gospel temperance meeting at Music hall this evening at 7:30 o'clock, conducted by Booth and Smith; music by the chorus choir; admission free. Mr. Booth will tell the story of his life.

The Lilliputian Opera Company, who are to appear in this city shortly, gave the comic operetta of "Jack the giant-killer" and the farce of "Toodles" at Biddeford on Saturday evening, and the Times of that city says: "That the audience was delighted, if not to say charmed, was manifest to every observer. It isn't very often the people go away apparently so well satisfied with an entertainment as Saturday evening. The little ones were in excellent voice and enacted their parts well. * * These little folks would put to the blush many an older actor."

James M. Driscoll, of Portland, who accomplished the task of walking four hundred miles in one hundred and thirty hours at Franklin hall in this city some time ago, and who was subsequently defeated in an alleged match by Charles G. Locke of this city, on Monday commenced an attempt to get over five hundred miles in one hundred and forty-four hours, at Lancaster hall in Portland; he commenced at one o'clock in the morning; at four o'clock in the afternoon had made seventy-five miles, and at ten minutes past midnight completed a hundred miles. During the day he wore the gold medal presented him by some of his Portsmouth admirers after his long walk in this city.

THE VICINITY.

Among the post offices established last week was one at Dover Point, with Mr. George W. Ford as postmaster.

William B. Henderson, formerly of Biddeford, has been appointed agent of the Barlow & Sanderson stage company, and general railroad passenger agent, at Santa Fe, New Mexico.

Probably the oldest lady in New Hampshire who accepted the privilege of voting on school matters at the recent town elections was Mrs. Lovey Wentworth, of Rollinsford, aged ninety years, who walked to the ballot-box in that town with a proud and firm step, depositing the first vote of her life.

On Monday the Dover board of instruction chose Gilman C. Fisher as superintendent of schools, at a salary of $1500, and Frank P. Shepard as principal of the Sawyer grammar school, at a salary of $1000.

Al. Hurd of Kennebunk, who created considerable excitement in that town by his actions last July, and who escaped from a deputy sheriff who had him under arrest, was captured in Biddeford on Monday and taken to Kennebunk.

Richard Johnson, a Saco constable, and his brother, a few days since went to Miller's store in Kennebunk and called for liquor. Mr. Miller informed them that he did not keep any, and then they asked for cider, and after considerable coaxing got two glasses, which they drank, and immediately complained of the storekeeper, who was fined $35. These Johnson brothers may be actuated by good motives, but in this case they acted very like sneaks.

A house on Stage island, at the entrance to Biddeford pool, was burned between ten and eleven o'clock Saturday night, the inmates, Mr. Abram Norwood and his wife and sister-in-law, escaping with some difficulty and losing all their property. The house was an old-fashioned structure, very large on the ground but only a story and a half high, owned by Mrs. L. F. Verrill, and insured to the amount of $700.

RAILROAD ACCIDENT.

As the Bangor express train for Boston over the Eastern railroad, Tuesday morning, was passing North Beverly, Mass., at the rate of twenty-five miles an hour, the train being behind time, the forward portion left the rails a short distance west of the passenger station, and the two locomotives, two express cars, and a mail and baggage car were badly smashed. The train had been switched on the down track at Wenham to avoid a heavy freight train between Wenham and Beverly, bound to Boston, which was making slow progress on account of the storm, and the accident occurred at a point where the points of a switch centre. Exactly what caused the accident could not be ascertained, but it is supposed that the sleet filled up the frog at the switch, which, freezing, derailed the pilot engine, No. 73, which in turn threw the second engine, No. 78, and the forward cars of the train, from the track. The pilot engine, in charge of Engineer Willey, in a moment was lying in a ditch by the side of the track, the tender only resting upon the embankment. Engineer Willey and his fireman, Mr. Waterman, stuck by the engine, and crawled from the wreck unhurt, save a bruise on the face of the fireman. The second engine, and the express, mail and baggage cars left the rails and plowed along the road-bed in such a manner as to tear up the rails of both the in and out tracks, completely blocking up the road. The forward trucks of the Pullman only left the rails, and none of the passengers in this or the following cars were injured. Passengers east and west by the morning trains were compelled to disembark and walk around the wreck, and the mails and baggage were also transferred.

RYE LETTER.

RYE, April 1st.

The selectmen met on Saturday last, and opened three proposals, all that were offered, for painting the town hall, inside and out, and whitewashing and doing other work that is required to make it look nice. The bids were as follows: R. S. & C. R. Johnson, (of Hampton,) $210; W. C. Walker, $187; S. B. Spear & Son, $170;—and the job was awarded to the lowest bidders, who, it is unnecessary to inform anybody here, are competent to do it—and will—right up to the mark, and won't be all summer about it, either.

Shortly after the above matter was disposed of, Oren S. Green, town clerk, put the thumb and forefinger of his right hand into a box which was held by Oren Drake, one of the selectmen, drew out a slip of paper, and cried out without much of a loud voice, "C. Austin Jenness;" and said yeoman is to go to Exeter as a grand juror on the 8th of this month. Another slip of paper, brought to light in the same manner, had on it the name of Nathaniel Marden, and he goes to Exeter on the 28th of the same month as a petit juror.

A union exhibition of all the schools in town, under the direction of Mr. N. R. Goss, superintending school committee, comes off at the town hall on Wednesday and Thursday evenings of this week. Judging from the preparations going on, it will surpass anything of the kind ever attempted here. The Rye cornet band will furnish music.

As far as heard from, not a solitary female has exercised her undoubted right, in this town, to go to a school meeting and vote. At the center district, on Tuesday evening of last week, Thomas W. Rand was elected prudential committee. At the meeting in the west district it was deemed expedient to choose three men as prudential committee, but as they serve without pay there does not appear to be any reason for tax-payers to fret themselves unnecessarily over such an occurrence, or to have a town meeting called to upset the doings of that particular district, as suggested by a correspondent of the Exeter News-Letter. Levi T. Sanborn was chosen prudential committee at the south district school meeting, and a committee of three was chosen to examine the school-house and report at an adjourned meeting what repairs are required. About $50 was expended on the centre school-house the past year.

An elegant new chandelier was put up in the Christian church on Saturday, and lighted for the first time on Sunday evening. It is of the style designated as "black walnut in extra gilt," and has sixteen lights, which with sixteen side lights and one on the pulpit made the church look very bright and cheerful. The chandelier was furnished by Rogers & Co., of Boston, at a cost of $82; and Messrs. Abram Perkins and Walter Philbrick were the purchasing committee. It gives great satisfaction to both the pastor and his congregation.

It does not look much like spring yet, but bluebirds, robins and sparrows have arrived, and one flock of wild geese has been seen flying northward. The voice of the frog has not as yet been heard in the land, but he has been seen in the living springs that don't freeze over in cold weather. And, speaking of the weather, if on the face of this whole earth there is a spot where the travelling has been worse or the weather more exasperatingly horrible than it has been in this vicinity for a week or two past, a free, first-class passage in a Pullman palace car, with meals, lodging and all et ceteras thrown in, would be no inducement to take a journey to that locality. The road from Rye centre to Garland's corner is full of snow, and the mail carrier had to have a path shoveled through before he could proceed. C. D. Garland, one of the selectmen, got stuck in a drift, and had to leave his team and go to the town hall on foot.

No; it was nobody's business if she did go, and it was not necessary for her to "sound a horn" to announce the fact to her neighbors; but it sounds very much as though several big blasts had been blown from lots of horns, since that time.

NAT.

Improving Bad Butter.

A correspondent of an agricultural paper says: A simple way, and one I have never known to fail, is to cut the butter into pieces of about a pound each, wrap each piece separately in clean white cloth, then enclose all in a nice white bag or large cloth, and bury the whole a foot or more in the ground—the deeper the better. After a week or two, according to the rancidness of the butter, unearth, wash carefully, resalt, and it will be found to be sweet and wholesome. I have so treated butter which was too rancid for cooking, and when put upon the table after such treatment, it could not be told from fresh butter.

Danger of Trusting to Appearances.

Nice old gentleman he was; big, white waistcoat, low cut shoes, bald head and silver-bowed spectacles. He led in the singing on Sunday evening in the hotel parlor, and sung that old fashioned bass in "Coronation" and "China," in that sonorous up and down style which country choristers used to practice in accompanying the big fiddle, and withal had the bland benevolent look of a good, old, up country deacon.

He was "looking round the house" next night, and stepped in where some of the boys were playing cards—something where they were talking of "calls" and "raises" and "seeing." The boys looked a little disconcerted, but the old man didn't say anything, till the hand was played out, and one of the party, under pretence of having an engagement, winked to the others and said he must go, intending to break up till the old man had gone away and then resume the game. But he had scarce turned his back when the aged visitor remarked,—

"I wonder he didn't 'raise' ye with the hand he held."

"Do you understand the game?" asked one of the party, taking a cigar from his mouth.

"Wall, a little—I've seen 'em playing on it, an sometimes thert that I'd like to take a hand jes' for fun."

"Just so," said another, "suppose you try a game or two with us."

"Wall, I don't mind jes fur the fun er the thing," so the old man sat down and with a good deal of instruction managed to get through the game and won on the "penny ante." "Thar," said he, "if that feller that's gone had been spunky and put in five dollars, he'd got it instead of these eight cents, wouldn't he?"

"Why, certainly," said one of the young men, "certainly; it's your deal, uncle; now why don't you go in for a five dollar ante?"

"Wall," said the old fellow, throwing round the cards, "I done bet I will, but I haint got nothin' but a twenty dollar bill that I drew outen the bank to come here with."

"Well, uncle," said the other, gathering up and glancing at his cards, "I'll go you twenty and you can put it in the missionary box when you win it, if you like."

"Sho! so I ken," said the old man; "I don't think 'twud be gambolin' at all ef thet's the case."

"Not at all," said the other, winking to his companions.

"Wall, then, I don't care of I go yer this ere other fifty—but I spose you'll think I'm doin' on it to skeer ye—but our denomination's tarnal poor, and a big contribution is jest what they're hankerin' arter."

"Oh, no. I cover your fifty, uncle; we ought to be liberal, you know," and so the game went on till finally the old man remarked, "Wall, I'd no idee I had this roll 'o bills in my pocket—so you call, do ye? five hundred dollars up!—yes, you hev got three pictures—three queens and a jack! Well, 'tis kinder queer I got t'other queen—haw! haw! haw!"

"Yes; I'm sorry for you, but what are your other cards?" said the young man, triumphantly.

"Well, three on 'em ez kings—why, darn it all, that ere pot 'o money's mine, young fellow!" said he, stretching out a powerful paw and squeezing the bills out of the hand of the young man who had already begun to roll them up. "Prapa, mister, you'd like to take your hand agin," said he to the other who had returned meantime; "they are going to sing some sam tunes up stairs before going to bed, and I promised I'd jine 'em."

There was a blank look of amazement in that circle as he left, and the thought forced itself into more than one mind of the danger of trusting to appearances.—Com. Bulletin.

Food Ill Digested

Imperfectly nourishes the system, since it is only partially assimilated by the blood. Pale, haggard mortals, with dyspeptic stomachs, impoverished circulation and weak nerves, experience a marked and rapid improvement in their physical condition by availing themselves of that sure resource of the sick and debilitated, Hostetter's Stomach Bitters. This genial tonic and alterative lends an impetus to the processes of digestion which insures an adequate development of the materials of blood, fiber, and muscular tissue. Moreover, it soothes and strengthens overwrought or weak nerves, counteracts a tendency to hypochondria or despondency, to which dyspeptic and bilious persons are peculiarly liable, and is an agreeable and wholesome appetizer and promoter of repose. The infirmities of age, and of delicate female constitutions, are greatly relieved by it; and it is a reliable preventive of, and remedy for, malarial fevers.

Bronchitis will surely come if you let that cough run any longer. Stop it at once by using Dr. A. J. Flagg's Cough and Lung Syrup.

Consumption Cured.

An old physician, retired from practice, having had placed in his hands by an East India missionary the formula of a simple vegetable remedy, for the speedy and permanent cure for consumption, bronchitis, catarrh, asthma, and all throat and lung affections, also a positive and radical cure for nervous debility an all nervous complaints, after having tested its wonderful curative powers in thousands of cases, has felt it his duty to make it known to his suffering fellows. Actuated by this motive, and a desire to relieve human suffering, I will send, free of charge, to all who desire it, this recipe, with full directions for preparing and using, in German, French, or English. Sent by mail by addressing with stamp, naming this paper, W. W. Sherar, 149 Powers' Block, Rochester, New York. 1y22

It takes the palm. The Cough and Lung Syrup of Dr. A. J. Flagg's.

Universal Acquiescence at a Desired Result.

The world seems to be well satisfied with the announcement that the contract entered into by its charter from the State of Louisiana, granted for the consideration of a million of dollars to the Louisiana State Lottery Company in 1868, for twenty-five years, will be strictly adhered to. The financial relief thus afforded has maintained that noble institution, the Charity Hospital, at New Orleans. The next grand monthly (the 107th) drawing occurs on the 8th of April. For any information, a letter addressed to M. A. Dauphin, P. O. Box 692, New Orleans, La., will have immediate attention.

Free of charge—Sample bottle of Adamson's Cough Balsam at all drug stores. Owing to its perfect harmony in combination it is the very best mixture for the speedy cure and relief of croups, colds, throat or lung diseases. Large bottles 35 cents.

Whooping Cough instantly relieved by a small amount of a very pleasant medicine known as Dr. A. J. Flagg's Cough and Lung Syrup. Keep it handy.

While in New York this spring you need not pay twice for meals that you only get once. In other words, as the Grand Central Hotel, on Broadway, is now conducted on both plans, the American $2.50 or $3.00, and the European $1.00 and upwards, per day, which allows you to take your meals at the elegant Restaurant attached to the Hotel, at moderate prices, or to take a room only, and pay for what meals you get.

Children are so liable to colds and coughs. Cure them early by using Dr. A. J. Flagg's Cough and Lung Syrup.

A CARD.

To all who are suffering from the errors and indiscretions of youth, nervous weakness, early decay, loss of manhood, &c., I will send a recipe that will cure you, FREE OF CHARGE. This great remedy was discovered by a missionary in South America. Send a self-addressed envelope to the REV. JOSEPH T. INMAN, Station D., Bible House, New York City. eod&wtno

WHEAT MEAL!

— OR —

Graham Flour.

When Wheat is ground it becomes Wheat Meal; when it is bolted it becomes Wheat Flour. Dr. Graham, who lectured through the country forty years ago on dietetics formed the fraternity known as "Grahamites." He said that bolted Flour should not be eaten, but that bread ought to be made of Wheat Meal instead; from him it got the name of Graham Flour. All Graham Flour therefore ought to be Wheat Meal, but about three-quarters of it is what we call made up Graham, that is, artificially mixed Cheap Flour and Bran, and is in every way inferior to the genuine article. Hardly a person who uses the genuine Wheat Meal would take the bogus article except on compulsion.

Fashionable Foolishness.

There is no modern fashionable notion quite so absurd as the generally received idea that to be beautiful and attractive a woman must possess a wan, spiritualle face and a figure of sylph-like proportions —a fragility in nine cases out of ten the result of disease. By many fashionable belles it is considered a special compliment to be spoken of as frail and delicate. They forget that the naturally delicate face and petite figure are very different from the pale and disease-stricken faces that meet us in the city thoroughfares, look out from the luxuriant carriages of wealth and glide through our crowded drawing-rooms. If disease were unfashionable, as it ought to be, not a lady in the land but would take every precaution to secure the fresh, blooming face and well-rounded figure that only health can give. Ladies should remember that much as gentlemen may profess to admire the face and form paled and emaciated by disease, when they choose a wife they prefer a blooming, healthful, buoyant, spirited woman. Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription is the acknowled standard remedy for female disease and weakness. It has the two-fold advantage of curing the local disease and imparting a vigorous tone to the whole system. It is sold by all druggists.

Gapes in Chickens.

Take a box that will hold four bushels of any substance; place the chickens in the box; place a covering over the top of the box, made of some thin cotton texture, drawing it over tightly like a drum head; then take half a pint of slacked lime, pour it on top of the cloth, tapping it lightly for one minute, causing a thick dust to fall among the chickens. This causes the chickens to sneeze as it enters the nostrils and mouth, and produces the ejection of the mucous and worms from the throat, and relieves the chicken. Two applications will be sufficient. Try it; it is simple and safe. Be sure to brush the dust off the fowls on their being taken out of the box, that the lime may not affect the body.

THE
Alpine Silver Mining Co.,
OF COLORADO.
CAPITAL $2,000,000. 200,000 SHARES.
PAR VALUE, $10 PER SHARE.
UNASSESSIBLE.
Daniel J. Splane, Pres. J. L. Thompson, Sec.
The property of this Company consists of twelve mines and mining locations, located in Lake County, Colorado, in the vicinity of Leadville, upon all of which extensive work has been done, in all cases exhibiting true fissure veins, good pay streak, and well defined lodes.
Three of the leading mines are well opened up and have at the lowest computation over TEN THOUSAND TONS OF ORE IN SIGHT; by May 1st, the Railroad now under construction will be within a short distance of this property.
The Company proposes to sell a portion of its stock at $1.50 per share for the purpose of more completely developing its mines, and for the erection of works for the treatment of its ores.
Applications for the stock may be made to the office of the Company, 61 Broadway, New York.
N. B.—The Mining Record, of New York, the highest mining authority in this country, says Feb. 1st, 1879: The principal owners in this company are hard working men who by their own labor have uncovered large bodies of ore which they now wish to extract and send to market; our readers will do well to make a venture with these worthy men, this money will probably be returned to them twenty fold. The business management has been placed in the care of Mr. J. L. Thompson, an officer of high standing in one of the largest banks in the city. A Prospectus giving full particulars sent free, on application to the Secretary. mch21d&wdmos

GAZETTE
Established 1756.
The Gazette is published every Thursday, and sent to Subscribers at the low price of
$1.50 per year, paid in advance, or
$2 at the end of the year.
It contains full accounts of all of importance that transpires in Portsmouth and its vicinity, and a condensed summary of NEWS, foreign and domestic; editorials upon current topics; New Hampshire items; carefully prepared marine news, containing reports of vessels owned at this port, or officered by men from Portsmouth or its neighborhood; and is just the paper for residents desiring to be posted on all that takes place at home, while to those living in the vicinity of Portsmouth, or to former residents who retain their interest in the "old home by the sea," it is the best means of keeping informed of what transpires in this city.
— THE —
NEW HAMPSHIRE GAZETTE
Contains more original matter
Than any other paper of its size in the State, the editors working more with their pens than with their scissors.

TO ADVERTISERS
THE N. H. GAZETTE
Presents an excellent opportunity for a WEEKLY INVITATION TO CUSTOMERS, at a reasonable rate, and all those who desire to reach patrons in Rockingham and York counties will find it an economical medium. THE GAZETTE is in many instances the only paper taken by families, and it is read to a large extent in localities whence is derived much of the trade of Portsmouth, a fact which our merchants should not fail to bear in mind.

INCORPORATED JANUARY, 1878. CAPITAL STOCK, $1,000,000.
WORLD'S DISPENSARY MEDICAL ASSOCIATION
BUFFALO AND LONDON.

(Successors to R. V. PIERCE, M. D.)
DR. R. V. PIERCE, having acquired a world-wide reputation in the treatment of Chronic Diseases, resulting in a professional business far exceeding his individual ability to conduct, some years ago induced several medical gentlemen to associate themselves with him, as the Faculty of the World's Dispensary, the Consulting Department of which has since been merged with the EMPIRE HOTEL. The organization has been completed and incorporated under the name and style of World's Dispensary Medical Association, with the following officers:
HON. R. V. PIERCE, Pres. F. D. PIERCE, V. Pres.
JNO. E. PIERCE, Sec. LESTER B. SMITH, Treas.
NINE PHYSICIANS AND SURGEONS of eminence and skill have been chosen as the Faculty.
CHRONIC DISEASES of all forms coming within the province of our several specialties.
LUNG DISEASES.—The Division of practice is very ably managed by a gentleman of mature judgment and skill. Bronchial, Throat, and Lung Diseases treated with the most successful results.
DISEASES OF WOMEN.—Especially are our facilities of a superior order for the cure of all those chronic diseases peculiar to females.
NERVOUS DISEASES.—Paralysis, Nervous Debility, Epilepsy (Fits), Chorea (St. Vitus's Dance), Neuralgia, and other nervous affections, receive the attention of an expert in this specialty.
NOT NECESSARY TO SEE PATIENTS.—By our original system of diagnosis, we can treat many chronic diseases as successfully without as with a personal consultation. For particulars see "People's Common Sense Medical Adviser" (1,000 pages, sent post-paid for $1.50) or "Invalids' and Youths' Guide Book" (100 pages, 10 cents post-paid).
SURGICAL CASES.—Among the operations which we are called upon most frequently to perform, are those for Nasal Polypus, Hernia, Tumors, Fistula in Ano, Piles, Hernia (Rupture), Hydrocele (Dropsy of the Scrotum), Varicocele, Ovarian and Uterine Tumors, Calculi (Stone in the Bladder), Stricture, etc., etc. We treat successfully, and with a new method without surgical operation, Cancers, Club-feet, Spinal Curvature, and other deformities. (See pamphlet entitled, "Motion as a Curative Agent," sent on receipt of 10 cents.)
Address, World's Dispensary Medical Association, BUFFALO, N. Y.

WOMAN
By an immense practice at the World's Dispensary and Invalids' Hotel, having treated many thousand cases of those diseases peculiar to woman, I have been enabled to perfect a most potent and positive remedy for those diseases.
To designate this natural specific, I have named it
Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription
The term, however, is but a feeble expression of my high appreciation of its curative powers, and personal observation. I have, while witnessing its positive results in the special diseases incident to the organism of woman, singled it out as the climax or crowning gem of my medical career. Its merits, as a positive, safe, and continual remedy for the class of diseases, and conditions, will, at all times and under all circumstances, act kindly. I am willing to stake my reputation as a physician; and so confident am I that it will not disappoint the most sanguine expectations of a single invalid lady who uses it for any of the ailments for which I recommend it. But I offer and sell it under A POSITIVE GUARANTEE. (For conditions, see pamphlet wrapping bottle.)
The following are among those diseases in which my Favorite Prescription has worked cures, as if by magic, and with a certainty never before attained by any medicine: Leucorrhœa, Excessive Flowing, Painful Monthly Periods, Suppressions when from unnatural causes, Irregularities, Weak Back, Prolapsus, or Falling of the Uterus, Anteversion and Retroversion, Bearing-down Sensations, Internal Heat, Nervous Depression, Debility, Depressed Spirits, Threatened Miscarriage, Chronic Congestion, Inflammation and Ulceration of the Uterus, Impotency, Barrenness, or Sterility, and Female Weakness. I do not call this medicine as a "Cure-all," but it is admirably fulfills a singleness of purpose, being a most perfect specific in all those diseases of the sexual system of woman. It will not disappoint, nor will it do harm, in any state or condition.
Those who desire further information on these subjects can obtain it in THE PEOPLE'S COMMON SENSE MEDICAL ADVISER, a book of over 200 pages, sent, post-paid, on receipt of $1.50. It treats minutely of those diseases peculiar to Females, and gives much valuable advice in regard to the management of those affections.
Favorite Prescription sold by Druggists.

GOLDEN MEDICAL DISCOVERY

By its great and thorough blood-purifying properties, Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery cures all Humors, from the worst Scrofula to a common Blotch, Pimple, or Eruption. In Venereal Diseases, Mercurial Poisons, and their effects, are eradicated, and vigorous health and a healthy constitution restored. Erysipelas, Salt-rheum, Fever Sores, Scaly or Rough Skin, in short, all diseases caused by bad blood, are conquered by this powerful, purifying, and invigorating medicine.

Scientifically this is unrivalled its potency in curing Tetter, Rose Rash, Boils, Carbuncles, Sore Eyes, Scrofulous Sores and Swellings, White Swellings, Goitre or Thick Neck, and Enlarged Glands.

If you feel dull, drowsy, debilitated, have sallow color of skin, or yellowish-brown spots on face or body, frequent headache or dizziness, bad taste in mouth, internal heat or chills alternated with hot flashes, low spirits, and gloomy forebodings, irregular appetite, and tongue coated, you are suffering from "Torpid Liver, or Biliousness." In many cases of "Liver Complaint" only part of these symptoms are experienced. As a remedy for all such cases, Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery has no equal, as it effects perfect and radical cures.

In the cure of Bronchitis, Severe Coughs, and the early stages of Consumption, it has astonished the medical faculty, and almost physicians pronounce it the greatest medical discovery of the age. While it cures the severest Coughs, it strengthens the system and purifies the blood. Sold by druggists.

Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Purgative Pellets

SIZE OF PELLETS.

THE "LITTLE GIANT" CATHARTIC.

No use of taking the large, repulsive, nauseous pills, composed of clogs, crude, and bulky ingredients. These Pellets are the result of long research, and are Being entirely vegetable, no particular care is required while using them. They operate without disturbance to the constitution, diet, or occupation. For Jaundice, Sick Headache, Dyspepsia, Impure Blood, Pain in the Side and Back, Piles of the Chest, Dizziness, Sour Eructations from the Stomach, Bad Taste in the Mouth, Bilious attacks, Pain in the region of Kidneys, Internal Fever, Bloated feeling about Stomach, Rush of Blood to Head, take Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Purgative Pellets. In explanation of the remedial powers of these little Pellets over so great a variety of diseases, it may be said that their action upon the system is mildly mercurial, not a gland or tissue escaping their sanative impress. Age does not impair the properties of these Pellets. They are sugar coated and inclosed in glass bottles, their virtues being thereby preserved unimpaired for any length of time, in any climate, so that they are always fresh and reliable. This is not the case with pills put up in cheap wooden or pasteboard boxes. For all diseases where a Laxative, Alterative or Purgative, is indicated, these little Pellets will give the most perfect satisfaction. Sold by druggists.

CATARRH

SYMPTOMS.—Frequent headache, discharge falling into throat, sometimes profuse, watery, thick mucous, purulent, offensive, etc. In others, a dryness only, watery, weak, or inflamed eyes, stopping up, or obstruction, of the nasal passages, ringing in ears, deafness, hawking and coughing to clear the throat, ulcerations, scabs from nostrils, voice altered, nasal twang, offensive breath, impaired or total deprivation of sense of smell and taste, dizziness, mental depression, loss of appetite, indigestion, enlarged tonsils, tickling cough, etc. Only a few of these symptoms are likely to be present in any case at one time.

DR. SAGE'S CATARRH REMEDY

produces radical cures of the worst cases of Catarrh, no matter of how long standing. The liquid remedy may be applied, or better applied by the use of Dr. PIERCE'S Douche. This is the only form of douche used, yet invented with which fluid medicine can be carried HIGH UP and PERFECTLY APPLIED to all parts of the affected nasal passages, and the chambers or cavities communicating therewith, in which sores and ulcers frequently exist, and from which the catarrhal discharge generally proceeds. Its use is pleasant and easily understood, from directions accompanying each instrument. Dr. SAGE'S Catarrh Remedy cures recent attacks of "Cold in the Head" by a few applications. It is mild and pleasant to use, containing no alum, nauseous drugs, or poisons. Catarrh Remedy and Douche sold by druggists.

CATARRH

A PHYSICIAN'S TESTIMONY.

30 Years a Physician. 12 Years a Sufferer. Tried Regular Remedies. Tried Patent Medicines. Permanently cured by

SANFORD'S RADICAL CURE.

MESSRS. WEEKS & POTTER,—Sirs: I have prescribed medicine for thirty years, and have been a sufferer myself for twelve years with Catarrh in the nasal passages, fauces and larynx. I have used everything in the materia medica without any permanent relief, until finally I was induced to try a patent medicine (something that we allopathists are very loth to do) I tried —— and divers others until I got hold of yours. I followed the directions to the letter, and am happy to say have had a permanent cure. Your RADICAL CURE is certainly a happy combination for the cure of that most unpleasant and dangerous of diseases.

Yours, respectfully,
D. W. GRAY, M. D.,
Of Dr. D. W. Gray & Son., Physicians and Druggists, Muscatine, Iowa.

MUSCATINE, IOWA, March 27, 1877.

The value of this remedy must not be overlooked in the cure of those

SYMPATHETIC DISEASES,

Affections of the Eye, Ear, Throat, Lungs and Bronchial Tubes which in many cases accompany a severe case of Catarrh. The inflamed and diseased condition of the mucous membrane is the cause of all these troubles; and until the system has been brought properly under the influence of the RADICAL CURE, perfect freedom from them cannot be reasonably expected.

It is but three years since SANFORD'S RADICAL CURE was placed before the public, but in that short time it has found its way from Maine to California, and is everywhere acknowledged by druggists and physicians to be the most successful preparation for the thorough treatment of Catarrh ever compounded. The fact will be deemed of more importance when it is coupled with the statement that within five years over 60 different remedies for Catarrh have been placed on sale, and to-day, with one or two exceptions, the names cannot be recalled by the best informed druggist. Advertising may succeed in forcing a few sales, but, unless the remedy possess undoubted specific medical properties, it is absolutely certain to fall into merited obscurity.

Each package of SANFORD'S RADICAL CURE contains Dr. Sanford's improved Inhaling Tube, with full directions for its use in all cases. Price $1.00. Sold by all wholesale and retail druggists and dealers throughout the United States and Canadas. WEEKS & POTTER, General Agents and Wholesale Druggists, Boston, Mass.

The political debate in the House, on Tuesday of this week, attracted an immense audience to the capitol, but the earlier part of the discussion was dull and tame, and it was not until Mr. Chalmers commenced to speak that the interest became centred. Mr. Chalmers was a brigadier in the confederate service, and served under the infamous Forrest; and his principal war record is connected with the heroic massacre of unarmed prisoners at Fort Pillow. He represents the "shoestring district" of Mississippi, which is five hundred miles long and only ten or fifteen miles wide—made so by the white-line democracy when they re-districted the State, so that almost the entire republican majority might be crowded into it. The district was conceded by the democrats to have a colored republican majority of at least fifteen thousand, but Gen. Chalmers' friends, by the judicious use of the shot-gun, and proper displays of persuasive force from adjoining democratic districts, aided by able-bodied counting at the polls, easily overcame the adverse majority of only fifteen thousand. Gen. Chalmers made a fierce, denunciatory speech, charging that the republicans had established a despotism for a government, ruled by drunken despots, and laying at the doors of the republican party the responsibility for all shedding of blood since 1860. Said he:

The south claimed the right of peaceful secession and attempted peacefully to secede. It was the north that said "you shall not go." Ten sent grand armies after us; you hemmed us in by land and sea; you not only threatened to shoot but you shot us to death. With the battle cry of "the constitution as it is and the Union as it was," you rallied the whole north in defence of the old flag.

Chalmers' speech was frequently applauded by the large rebel element in the galleries. When he concluded, Mr. Conger, of Michigan, asked him a simple question about the revolution in 1861, to which Mr. Chalmers replied that kings in the olden time kept a fool for a jester, who was dressed up in a fool's dress, and that the republicans had adopted the same course and dressed the member from Michigan in a swallow-tail coat to act the part.

There was great laughter on the democratic side at this retort by the southern bully, and when quiet was restored Mr. Conger calmly said: "I asked the heroic gentleman from Mississippi a plain, simple question, and instead of answering it he jumps upon his music box and makes grimaces to the country and the House."

This reply was received with shouts of laughter by the republicans, and was a settler for Mr. Chalmers.

Mr. Frye, of Maine, then took the floor, and made one of the ablest and most telling speeches heard this session, not even second to that of Mr. Garfield.

The Storm.

Brig Katahdin, of Bangor, from Portland for Havana with a cargo of shooks, and schooner Ida L. Ray, of Deer Isle, Me., from Bucksport for New York with railroad iron, were both wrecked on Winthrop beach while trying to make Boston harbor during the storm on the night of the 31st ult.; crew saved. Two other schooners went ashore close by, but it is hoped that they can be saved. Schooner Kate McLean was totally wrecked near Greenport, L. I.; crews saved. Schooner Milton went ashore in New London, Conn., harbor, and filled with water. Schooner Julius Webb was totally wrecked at Lewes, Del. Schooner Anna D. Price was wrecked at Plymouth, Mass. A small schooner, name unknown, is sunk in Mackerel cove, and it is supposed her crew are lost.

A despatch from New Bedford, April 2d, says four vessels are sunk off Tuckernuck shoals, and three near Muskeget; schooner Jefferson Borden is ashore near Muskeget. Five vessels went ashore in Edgartown harbor; three of them with cargoes of lime, are on fire; the other two got off. A schooner is ashore close to the bath house at Oak Bluffs, Martha's Vineyard. Schooner Carrie W. was towed into New Bedford harbor on the 2d inst., dismasted.

Schooner Allie Oakes, coal laden, and brig Manzanilla, with a cargo of lumber, were totally wrecked on Nantucket; schooner Daniel Brittan is ashore, but may be saved. Schooner Legure, dismasted and water-logged, went on Long shoals; one man lost. Schooners Neptune's Bride and Allston are ashore at Capogal and full of water.

Western Elections.

At Milwaukee, Wis., on the 1st inst. the republicans elected ten of fifteen aldermen, and seven of thirteen supervisors. Reports from interior towns show large republican gains everywhere, and the returns from all the towns will give them a larger majority than they have had for years. The republicans control the city councils of Milwaukee for the first time.

At the city election in St. Louis, Mo., on the 1st inst., the republicans secured control of the upper board of the city councils, having one majority; the lower branch is in doubt, the republicans claiming it by one majority.

News and Notes.

Mr. Jones, aged eighteen years, and Miss Sackers, aged fifteen, ran away from their homes in Wood county, Ohio, and went to Toledo to get married. The man's mother and the woman's father chased them, and met them on the street in Toledo, and the woman's father reprimanded her with such vehemence that she threw herself in her lover's arms and declared that she would never, never, never leave him. The lover would likely have uttered similar vows, but for the fact that just then his mother took him by the shoulders and shook all the wind out of him. The young couple refused to obey their parents' command for them to return, but finally a compromise was effected, by which the proposed wedding was postponed for a year, and the children then went to their respective homes.

British Colombia, indignant at the cold shoulder turned upon the Canadian Pacific railroad which was to develop its resources, is anxious to secede from the rest of Canada. Its parliament recently passed a memorial to this effect and sent a copy to the Dominion government at Ottawa, where it was held while the refractory province could be brought to listen to reason. The Columbians have, however, turned a deaf ear, and have cabled their desire to the home government in England. There are those who see in this movement a desire to be annexed to the United States.

One J. A. Morrill, a sewing machine agent from Lawrence, Mass., eloped on the 1st inst. with Ida Freeland, wife of Jesse C. Freeland, of Newburyport, who left a good husband and two children, one of them two years old, the other two months. Morrill had boarded in Freeland's family, and was turned away for undue familiarity.

At Texarkana, Ark., on the 28th ult., Sam Crowley, freight conductor on the Texas & Pacific railroad, shot and killed Thomas Hanks, a saloon keeper, who was State Senator in the legislature of 1874. Hanks had threatened to kill Crowley on sight because he had given away a ring pledged for debt several months since.

The clerks of a Boston hardware store attempted to perpetrate an April fool joke upon two teamsters, by chaining the tailboards of their wagons together. It was a good joke until one of the teamsters unhitched the chain, threw it into his wagon and drove off. Loss about $10.

Catharine Webb, charged with murdering her mistress, Mrs. Thomas, in London, has confessed that she knew of the murder, but says that a man named Church committed the deed, and compelled her to assist in selling the property. Church has been arrested.

General Grant and party were at Singapore April 1st, and expected to leave there for Siam and Hong Kong on the 4th.

Many arrests are being made of members of the revolutionary committee of Russian Poland.

Mrs. Mary Goodale died on the 31st ult. at Poquonock Bridge, Conn., aged 103 years, nine months and eight days. Her first husband was killed on board a man-of-war during the war of of 1812, and her second husband died many years ago. She has since been cared for by her grandchildren.

The jury in the Oliver-Cameron breach of promise case at Washington brought in a verdict for the defendent.

Commissioner Raum has received advices that a recent raid of revenue officers in Hancock county, Tenn., resulted in the capture of ten large illicit distilleries and the arrest of seven moonshiners; the raiders were ambushed three times and over forty shots fired at them, but no one was seriously hurt. Raiders in Anson county, N. C., destroyed four distilleries, were attacked eight or ten times, and finally forced to retire. Three distilleries have been captured near Atlanta, Ga.

In some localities, it is becoming fashionable among farmers to raise their own trout. In eastern Pennsylvania, many farmers utilize a brook to form a pond and raise large quantities of fish for market. The trout-pond on a farm is becoming as common as an orchard.

A dangerous counterfeit bill on the National bank of Commerce of New York has been produced in that city, and is being rapidly scattered in all directions. It is a $50 bill, and has obtained a mischievous circulation, although there seems no need of mistaking it, since it appears that in the figure of "Justice" on the back of the note, the bandage is above the eyes instead of on them.

New Hampshire Items.

The New Hampshire Fish and Game League met in Manchester on the 1st inst. Col. John B. Clarke, of the Mirror, was elected president, Charles L. Richardson clerk, and Ex. Gov. Smyth treasurer, with eleven vice-presidents.

The spring term of the supreme court at Keene opened this week with 215 cases on the docket, and fewer new cases than usual. Judge Lewis W. Clark presides.

Political.

The democrats of the Senate adopted a resolution the other day requiring the secretary of the treasury to tell them all about the refunding business. The secretary promptly complied, and the facts reduced to the credit of the republican financial policy to an extent that the democrats will hardly want any more information of a similar character. Between January 1st and March 1st, 1879, the subscription to the four per cents amounted to $377,000,000, causing a like reduction in six per cents, and a saving of $7,540,000 in interest. The secretary hopes that before the close of the year all the present six per cent bonds now redeemable, amounting to $78,079,300, will be converted into certificates, or into four per cent bonds, and will mainly be held by our own people. It is morally certain that no democratic administration would have done half as well as this, while with the financial unsoundness of that party's leaders, the chances are nine to one that a democratic administration would have made a hopeless wreck of the government's credit.

Secretary Thompson, although bred a democrat, is said to be the fiercest man in the cabinet against the policy of attaching the repeal of the election laws to the appropriation bills. He is ready to stay on to the end of the president's term, without money.

Small card likenessess of Tilden and Hendricks, bearing the motto "be seated," have been circulated in Harrisburg, Pa., and perhaps elsewhere. This is supposed to have some distant relation to the next presidential election and the probable candidates.

There was a disgraceful riot at Flatbush, L. I., on the 1st inst., at the election for town officers. Like the election riots in Kingston, N. Y., it was a purely democratic affair, there being two democratic tickets in the field, and the fighting being between opposing gangs of democratic roughs, who took possession of the polling booths so that respectable townspeople could not vote. "Local self-government" received a black eye in the shape of an appeal to Brooklyn for aid to put down the roughs, and a detachment of Brooklyn police went to Flatbush and quelled the riot.

The democrats made most heart-cheering promises of "financial reform" when they took charge of the North Carolina State government in 1877, but the result of two years of democratic administration is a deficit of over $80,000, and that, too, in spite of the fact that the taxes have been higher than they were in 1876, when the State was under republican control and the expenses were kept within the receipts. Democratic reform everywhere promises great things which it never accomplishes, nor even undertakes to.

Last fall the town of Springfield, Me., was carried by the greenbackers. On the 31st ult. the republicans carried it. Thomaston was carried by a coalition of republicans and hard-money democrats, an attempt to unite the democrats and greenbackers having failed.

The leaders of the radical party, especially the New England whangdoodlers, have taken advantage of every opportunity since the war, to traduce and villify the honored men of the south. Their venom, like death, aims always at a shining mark, and their cowardly shafts have been constantly and persistently hurled at the Hon. Jefferson Davis, a man who, today, as a statesman, scholar and patriot, stands without an equal in America. Mr. Davis has been a life-long consistent democrat. We trust the day is not far distant when the voice of Jefferson Davis will again be heard in the United States Senate in behalf of constitutional government, and in repelling the assault of such blatherskites as Hoar, Blaine and Chandler.—Tuscumbia (Ala.) Democrat.

Both branches of the Congress of the confederate States have now been removed from Richmond to Washington. Nearly all the officers of the confederate States government are members of one house or the other.—Chicago Times, (dem.)

—One million dollars in silver and four hundred thousand in gold in the Boston sub-treasury have been counted, and the accounts of Gilbert Haven balanced. There were twenty-two cents due Mr. Haven.

ROYAL BAKING POWDER
Absolutely Pure.

The Royal Baking Powder is a pure Cream of Tartar powder, made from pure Grape Cream Tartar, imported exclusively for this powder direct from the wine district of France. An old experienced housekeeper writes that, although she has to pay a few pennies more for the "Royal," finds that it goes so much further and works much better than saleratus, soda, or cream of tartar.

☞ Most of the Cream of Tartar of commerce is adulterated with Alum, Terra Alba, etc. Doctors pronounce Alum most dangerous to health; it costs but 2c. a lb., Cream of Tartar over 40. The Royal Baking Powder is recommended for its wholesomeness by such eminent chemists as Dr. Mott, New York; Dr. S. Dana Hayes, Boston. Sold only in cans. All Grocers.

☞ BAKING POWDER should never be sold in paper packages, as it becomes stale and deteriorates upon exposure to the atmosphere. 110

THE CITY.

Maggie Mitchell will appear at Music hall—next June.

Mr. William A. Ashe has received an appointment as writer on the navy yard, and is assigned to duty in the office of the captain of the yard.

Gen. A. P. Rockwell has consented to hold the position of president of the Eastern railroad for another month, unless his successor is sooner found.

The examination of Mr. J. Marshall Hawkes' school in the Academy takes place on Friday afternoon at two o'clock. Parents and all interested are invited to be present.

Major David Urch has purchased three-fourths of the stock of the Newcastle bridge company. If anybody can make it pay, the energetic and enterprising major will do it.

Steamer Allentown, from Philadelphia with coal, arrived in the lower harbor at six o'clock Wednesday evening, the 2d inst., and made fast alongside Concord railroad wharf at nine o'clock.

THE VICINITY.

A gang of Biddeford boys went to Old Orchard on Sunday, the 30th, ult., and destroyed a foot bridge over Goose Fair creek.

On Monday of this week a horse owned by Mr. A. R. Prescott, of Hampton Falls, slipped and fell in the street at Exeter, and dislocated his shoulder. The animal is probably ruined.

The selectmen of Exeter have appointed George M. Perkins chief engineer of the fire department, with five assistants; Stephen C. Gray is superintendent of police, and there are six policemen.

The Biddeford Times announces the arrival in Saco of two new "shells" for use on the river this season, and announces the boating fever as running high. Anything is preferable to the ridiculous walking mania.

A Saco gentleman has captured a red bat, (cheilopiers sangoinaris,) an animal rarely found except in extremely warm climates. This specimen came into a sitting room through a fire-place. He weighs over one and a half pounds.

Catharine Cosker, who keeps a low drinking den on Young street, Dover, was on the 1st inst. before the police court on a charge of keeping liquor for sale, and was ordered to give bonds in $200 for her appearance before the supreme court, which she did. The police serched her place and found a barrel of ale on draught, and quantities of rum, gin and whiskey in jugs and bottles.

At the election in Eliot on the 31st ult., the following officials were elected: George E. Ireland, town clerk; Samuel E. Cole, John L. Jenks, Moses Goodwin, selectmen, assessors and overseers of the poor; James M. Raitt, agent; Samuel Clark, collector; Charles A. Shapleigh, treasurer; George W. Brown, supervisor of schools; James M. Raitt, constable; Robert Spinney, Alexander Junkins, auditors. All these officials are democrats, with the exception of the supervisor of schools.

At a meeting of the Biddeford city councils, on the evening of the 31st ult., the three sitting members of the council from ward three were unseated, and the three contestants for their places admitted, on the ground of fraud in the election of the former. The new councilmen are fusionists, the unseated members being republicans. There is no doubt that twenty more votes were counted than were cast, and the evidence all tended to show that the extra ballots were republican ones, and were improperly placed in the pile during the counting up.

It is stated that Mr. George B. Goodwin, of the Boston Post, is to take the editorial charge of the Bangor Commercial. Mr. Goodwin is a son of Hon. John M. Goodwin, of Biddeford, and was formerly the agent of the Associated Press in that city. He afterwards resided for a year in Paris, as the correspondent of the Boston Herald, and since his return has been connected with the Post. He has had special charge of the "All sorts" column of the Post, and has done much other work on the paper. He is an accomplished journalist, a good writer, and comes of old-fashioned democratic stock. It is to be expected that, under his administration, the Commercial will represent sound financial ideas.

POLICE COURT.

WEDNESDAY, April 2; Batchelder, J.

John E. Morrison, the pedestrian, was complained of for threatening to inflict grievous bodily harm upon Frank Muchmore, and was ordered to give bonds in $100 to keep the peace for three months.

BOARD OF INSTRUCTION.

Regular meeting on Wednesday evening, the 2d inst.; Mayor Siso, Mrs. Wilson, Mrs. Knight, and Messrs. Gardner, Hoyt, Sherburne, Locke, May, Knight and Pender present.

The committee to whom was referred the matter of holding the meeting of the State Teachers' Association here, reported, recommending that the association be invited, and that a hall be furnished for the purpose.

The report of the committee on a revision of studies was accepted.

Voted that Miss Shackley be paid the same salary as other teachers of the same grade.

THE TEMPERANCE MEETINGS.

The gospel temperance meeting at Music hall on Wednesday evening was well attended, the house being nearly full. It opened with the usual praise meeting by the chorus. Remarks were made by Mr. Smith and Rev. Mr. Pitblado, followed by Mr. Booth, who gave a graphic discription of events in his life—of his home, his success in business, and his yielding to temptation, attended by the loss of all he possessed; of his signing the pledge and its happy results; his failing to keep the pledge; his prostration physically and pecuniarily; his new resolution, and his success up to the present time. He was listened to with interest, and his earnest plea at its close for signers to the pledge resulted in getting nearly a hundred names.

This (Thursday) evening Mr. Smith will discourse on the moderate drinker. Solos, quartettes, etc., by some of our best home talent, were announced as additional attractions.

Our New York Fashion Letter.

COSTUMES.

Morning costumes are often devised in simple fashion—a demi-trained skirt, with long sacque — though again we find basques with trimmed skirts quite popular. Favorite materials are cotton satines and cotelines; the former so called because they show a satiny finish; the latter deriving the name from a rep which shows distinctly. These goods, for the reason that they are fashionable, are sold at the rather high price of about forty-five cents per yard. Jardiniere or Pompadour foulards are gayly covered with small, bright flowers, and these combined with silk form dressy costumes to be worn at summer resorts. Everything indeed is "combined," and I should have said that the satines and cotelines just mentioned are combined with plain materials. The most striking novelties, however, are the Bandana silks and percales, showing all the extravagant mixtures of color characteristic of the "negro handkerchief." These of course are too pronounced for city wear, but will be seen at Saratoga and Newport, being especially adapted to garden parties. When made up into short costumes they are extremely jaunty in effect, and to young ladies will be very becoming. The Laneuse, or fish-wife tunic, as it is sometimes called, is as popular now as it was last summer for a short costume. Other pretty skirts for walking costumes are the Litta and Francesca. Nothing would form a more tasteful finish to a walking skirt than the Hilarie jacket with vest. A middle-aged lady, for a heavy silk or grenadine combined with silk, might prefer the Rosalind trais with Desiree basque.

PARASOLS.

The Drown parasols, which lead the styles, are made with sixteen ribs. Now the effect of the sixteen ribs is much enhanced by the fact that they are gilded or bronzed, and that with a view of showing them off, the lining is placed behind them. Tops are also novel, being very low and broad. Brocades of all kinds, pongees, striped satin moire and Bandana silks are employed—and the latter especially, being striking in effect, will be extensively used at watering-places, the more so as they are in keeping with the Bandana silks used for costumes. Of course there are quiet tones and styles of silk adapted to people of quiet taste and for city use. The size is eighteen inches, and no ornamentation appears on the edges. The designs in handles are as novel as the construction of the parasol. Light woods employed for the handles are carved into birds' heads, among which we find parrots, pheasants, swans, chickens, ducks, owls, etc. Insects also are represented.

A GUILE TO SHOPPERS.

Fifty cents could not be better invested than in a year's subscription to the Fashion Quarterly, issued by Ehrich & Co. of Eighth avenue. It is certainly a most desirable publication, inasmuch as it affords such clear illustrations of present styles, together with exact lists of prices, that in depending upon it for a guide as to New York shopping, one cannot go astray. Every article needed for the season finds place within its pages, and the arrangement of matter is so systematic that the reader finds no difficulty in satisfying herself in regard to the latest changes in fashion. Besides these attractions the literary department is well edited, comprising interesting stories, practical articles on dressmaking, the management of the household, poems, entertaining and humorous sketches on miscellaneous topics, funny talks for children, etc. The spring number is now ready.

A PRIMA DONNA AT HOME.

Imagine me seated in the boudoir of Mme. Marie Roze, the favorite prima donna. It is rather a small apartment, but fitted up prettily in blue and crimson, while the music piled on her chosen Steinway upright piano is proof that an artist's labors are never ending. As the beautiful Marie came in to welcome me, with gentle simplicity of manner, she was quite as engaging as when before the public. She wore a morning dress of dark brown cashmere, made in princess style, and without other trimming than a band of bright embroidery, which, coming up the fronts, extended all around, about twelve inches above the lower edge. A band to match appeared, of coarse, on the sleeves, in which lace frills to correspond with that about the neck, gave finish. An elegant toilette she sometimes wears when driving, is of navy blue velvet made plain except a plaiting on the lower edge; a long sacque and blue velvet bonnet complete the outfit. Another rich driving toilette, and one which she sometimes wears to the opera when only a looker-on, is of black satin made with plain, high-necked basque, trimmed with fine jet passementerie. The demi-trained skirt falls in unbroken folds, but is handsomely trimmed with jet.

LUCY CARTER.

NEW YORK, April 1st.

Fashions in Babies.

The way in which babies are dressed and tended in different countries would make quite an interesting study for our young folks, if they would only stop to think about it. The Greenland baby is dressed in furs and carried in a sort of a pocket in the back of the mother's cloak. When she is very busy and does not want to be bothered with him, she digs a hole in the snow and covers him all up but his face, and leaves him there until she is ready to take care of him again. The Hindoo baby hangs in the basket from the roof, and is taught to smoke long before he learns to walk. Among the western Indians the poor tots are tied fast to a board, and have their foreheads flattened by means of another board fastened down over their forehead. In Lima the little fellow lies all day in a hammock swung from the tree-top, like the baby in the nursery song. In Persia he is dressed in the most costly silks and jewels. For any in his head is never uncovered day or night; while in Yucatan a pair of sandals and a straw hat are thought to be all the clothing he needs. The contented-looking little one is the German baby. His limbs are carefully wrapped in folds of cloth, because his mamma thinks that is the way to make him grow straight. Then he is tightly pinned up in a pillow made expressly for him. The case is drawn over his little feet, and fastened in place with bright-colored ribbons. Made up into this curious bundle, his nurse can toss him about without the least danger of hurting him or bumping his head.

Value of Root Crops.

Farmers are waking up to the fact that it is good economy to raise a supply of some kind of roots for winter use of stock. Horses, cattle, sheep and hogs are fond of almost every variety, and no doubt they are healthy and economical, and serve to keep up the growth and improvement of animals through the cold, winter months. There is not sufficient variety in exclusive dry fodder for the best results. It will be found that most kinds of roots, mangold-wortzel, sugar beets, carrots, rutabagas, etc., are very sure crops, and are very easily cultivated on proper soil, in fair condition. We prefer the norbiton giant long red mangold-wurtzel, of Gregory, to any other kind so far as we have any experience. The plants are hardy, roots large and clean, and easily tended and harvested. Some varieties of the sugar beet may be more nutritious, but are not so easily managed. We, however, would prefer them to the rutabagas. The experience of others may differ. It is a good time now for farmers to be planning for the summer crops, if not previously determined. There can be no risk, if commenced on a small scale, if the weeds are kept down and the soil about the place made light by frequent stirring. And I would urge brother farmers who have not done so before to make a beginning the present year; cultivate a few roots as a substitute for meal or shorts; use the money thus saved to improve the farm or add to your stock of tools, or household comforts. The dependent herds at your barn will thank you in their expressive language.—Cor. Nashua Telegraph.

—At a party the other night a humorist was called upon to get up a new style of amusement. Seeing an electric battery he started it, and taking one of the handles himself he gave the other handle to the prettiest girl in the room, proposing that they kiss each other. As their lips met, two million needles seemed to break in all their effulgence upon the startled beauty, and now she knows what kissing is.

—It is stated as a singular fact that Indiana has no State flag. The commonwealth has a seal with its well known wood chopper and buffalo upon it, which appears on all State documents, but the design has never yet been put upon bunting or silk.

The number of vessels belonging to or bound to or from ports in the United States, reported totally lost and missing during the past month is 42, of which 9 were wrecked, 8 abandoned, 3 were burned, 4 sunk by collision, and 18 are missing. The list comprises 3 steamers, 1 ship, 14 barques, 4 brigs and 20 schooners, and their total value, exclusive of cargoes, is estimated at $633,000.

Food Ill Digested

Imperfectly nourishes the system, since it is only partially assimilated by the blood. Pale, haggard mortals, with dyspeptic stomachs, impoverished circulation and weak nerves, experience a marked and rapid improvement in their physical condition by availing themselves of that sure resource of the sick and debilitated, Hostetter's Stomach Bitters. This genial tonic and alterative lends an impetus to the processes of digestion which insures an adequate development of the materials of blood, fiber, and muscular tissue. Moreover, it soothes and strengthens overwrought or weak nerves, counteracts a tendency to hypochondria or despondency, to which dyspeptic and bilious persons are peculiarly liable, and is an agreeable and wholesome appetizer and promoter of repose. The infirmities of age, and of delicate female constitutions, are greatly relieved by it; and it is a reliable preventive of, and remedy for, malarial fevers.

Bronchitis will surely come if you let that cough run any longer. Stop it at once by using Dr. A. J. Flagg's Cough and Lung Syrup.

Consumption Cured.

An old physician, retired from practice, having had placed in his hands by an East India missionary the formula of a simple vegetable remedy, for the speedy and permanent cure for consumption, bronchitis, catarrh, asthma, and all throat and lung affections, also a positive and radical cure for nervous debility an all nervous complaints, after having tested its wonderful curative powers in thousands of cases, has felt it his duty to make it known to his suffering fellows. Actuated by this motive, and a desire to relieve human suffering, I will send, free of charge, to all who desire it, this recipe, with full directions for preparing and using, in German, French, or English. Sent by mail by addressing with stamp, naming this paper. W. W. Sherar, 149 Powers' Block, Rochester, New York. ta22

It takes the palm. The Cough and Lung Syrup of Dr. A. J. Flagg's.

Universal Acquiescence at a Desired Result.

The world seems to be well satisfied with the announcement that the contract entered into by its charter from the State of Louisiana, granted for the consideration of a million of dollars to the Louisiana State Lottery Company in 1868, for twenty-five years, will be strictly adhered to. The financial relief thus afforded has maintained that noble institution, the Charity Hospital, at New Orleans. The next grand monthly (the 167th) drawing takes place on the 8th of April. For any information, a letter addressed to M. A. Dauphin, P. O. Box 692, New Orleans, La., will have immediate attention.

Free of charge—Sample bottle of Adamson's Cough Balsam at all drug stores. Owing to its perfect harmony in combination it is the very best mixture for the speedy cure and relief of croup, colds, throat or lung diseases. Large bottles 35 cents.

Whooping Cough instantly relieved by a small amount of a very pleasant medicine known as Dr. A. J. Flagg's Cough and Lung Syrup. Keep it handy.

While in New York this spring you need not pay twice for meals that you only get once. In other words, as the Grand Central Hotel, on Broadway, is now conducted on both plans, the American $2.50 or $3.00, and the European $1.00 and upwards, per day, which allows you to take your meals at the elegant Restaurant attached to the Hotel, at moderate prices, or to take a room only, and pay for what meals you get.

Children are so liable to colds and coughs. Cure them early by using Dr. A. J. Flagg's Cough and Lung Syrup.

A CARD.

To all who are suffering from the errors and indiscretions of youth, nervous weakness, early decay, loss of manhood, &c., I will send a recipe that will cure you, FREE OF CHARGE. This great remedy was discovered by a missionary in South America. Send a self-addressed envelope to the REV. JOSEPH T. INMAN, Station D., Bible House, New York City. cod&wino

WHEAT MEAL!

— OR —

Graham Flour.

When Wheat is ground it becomes Wheat Meal; when it is bolted it becomes Wheat Flour. Dr. Graham, who lectured through the country forty years ago on dietetics formed the fraternity known as "Grahamites." He said that bolted Flour should not be eaten, but that bread ought to be made of Wheat Meal instead; from him it got the name of Graham Flour. All Graham Flour therefore ought to be Wheat Meal, but about three-quarters of it is what we call made up Graham, that is, artificially mixed Cheap Flour and Bran, and is in every way inferior to the genuine article. Hence a person who uses the genuine Wheat Meal would take the bogus article except on compulsion.

Fashionable Foolishness.

There is no modern fashionable notion quite so absurd as the generally received idea that to be beautiful and attractive a woman must possess a wan, spiritualic face and a figure of sylph-like proportions—a fragility in nine cases out of ten the result of disease. By many fashionable belles it is considered a special compliment to be spoken of as frail and delicate. They forget that the naturally delicate face and petite figure are very different from the pale and disease-stricken faces that meet us in the city thoroughfares, look out from the luxurious carriages of wealth and glide through our crowded drawing-rooms. If disease were unfashionable, as it ought to be, not a lady in the land but would take every precaution to secure the fresh, blooming face and well-rounded figure that only health can give. Ladies should remember that much as gentlemen may profess to admire the face and form pined and emaciated by disease, when they choose a wife they prefer a blooming, healthful, buoyant, spirited woman. Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription is the acknowled standard remedy for female diseases and weaknesses. It has the two-fold advantage of curing the local disease and imparting a vigorous tone to the whole system. It is sold by all druggists.

—In the trial of the Schenck beer case, BOW under the eye of the supreme court in New London, Mr. O'Neil of New London was called upon to testify as to the intoxicating qualities of "hop beer." "How many glasses do you ever see drank at one time?" asked State's Attorney Waller. "I saw one man drink thirty-nine," was the reply. "Did he die?" asked Mayor Waller. "No sir, he did not," replied Mr. O'Neil. "Where did he drink the thirty-nine," was the next question. "He drank them in my saloon," was the answer. "Well, why didn't he keep on; what made him stop when he got thirty-nine?" "Well, I'll tell you," said the witness; "he had to take the boat to New York."—Norwich Bulletin.

CAPITAL $2,000,000. 200,000 SHARES.
PAR VALUE, $10 PER SHARE.
UNASSESSIBLE.
Daniel J. Splane, Pres. J. L. Thompson, Sec.
The property of this Company consists of twelve mines and mining locations, located in Lake County, Colorado, in the vicinity of Leadville, upon all of which extensive work has been done, in all cases exhibiting true fissure veins, good pay streak, and well defined lodes.
Three of the leading mines are well opened up and have at the lowest computation over TEN THOUSAND TONS OF ORE IN SIGHT; by May 1st, the Railroad now under construction will be within a short distance of this property.
The Company proposes to sell a portion of its stock at $1.50 per share for the purpose of more completely developing its mines, and for the prosecution of work for the treatment of its ores.
Applications for the stock may be made to the office of the Company, 61 Broadway, New York.
N. B.—The Mining Record, of New York, the highest mining authority in this country, says Feb. 1st, 1879: The principal owners in this company are hard working men who by their own labor have uncovered large bodies of ore which they now wish to extract and send to market; our readers will do well to make a venture with these worthy men, this money will probably be returned to them twenty fold. The business management has been placed in the care of Mr. J. L. Thompson, an officer of high standing in one of the largest banks in the city. (Successors to R. V. PIERCE, M. D.)
DR. R. V. PIERCE, having acquired a world-wide reputation in the treatment of Chronic Diseases, resulting in a professional business far exceeding his individual ability to conduct, some years ago induced several medical gentlemen to associate themselves with him, as the Faculty of the World's Dispensary, the Consulting Department of which has since been merged with the INVALIDS' HOTEL. The organization has been completed and incorporated under the name and style of World's Dispensary Medical Association, with the following officers:
HON. R. V. PIERCE, Pres. F. D. PIERCE, V. Pres.
JNO. E. PIERCE, Sec. LESTER B. SMITH, Treas.
NINE PHYSICIANS AND SURGEONS of eminence and skill have been chosen as the Faculty.
CHRONIC DISEASES of all forms cheerfully treated within the province of our several specialties.
LUNG DISEASES.—The division of practice is very ably managed by a gentleman of mature judgment and skill. Bronchial, Throat, and Lung Diseases treated with the most successful results.
DISEASES OF WOMEN.—Especially are our facilities of a superior order for the cure of all those peculiar diseases incident to females.
NERVOUS DISEASES.—Paralysis, Nervous Debility, Epilepsy (Fits), Chorea (St. Vitus's Dance), Neuralgia, and other nervous affections, receive the attention of an expert in this specialty.
NOT NECESSARY TO SEE PATIENTS.—By our original system of diagnosis, we can treat many chronic diseases as successfully without as with a personal consultation. For particulars see "People's Common Sense Medical Adviser" (1008 pages, now post-paid for $1.50) or "Invalids' and Tourists' Guide Book," (168 pages, 10 cents post-paid).
SURGICAL CASES.—Among the operations which we are called upon most frequently to perform, are those for Nasal Polypus, Harelip, Tumors, Fistula in Ano, Piles, Hernia (Rupture), Hydrocele (Dropsy of the Scrotum), Varicocele, Ovarian and Uterine Tumors, Calculi (Stone in the Bladder), Stricture, etc., etc. We also treat successfully, by a new method without surgical operation, Cancers, Club-feet, Spinal Curvature, and other deformities. See pamphlet entitled, "Motion as a Curative Agent," sent on receipt of 10 cents.
Address, World's Dispensary Medical Association, BUFFALO, N. Y.

WOMAN
By an immense practice at the World's Dispensary and Invalids' Hotel, having treated many thousand cases of those diseases peculiar to women, I have been enabled to perfect a most potent and positive remedy for these diseases.
To designate this natural specific, I have named it
Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription
The term, however, is but a feeble expression of my high appreciation of its value, based upon personal observation. I have, while witnessing its positive results in the special diseases incident to the organism of woman, singled it out as the climax or crowning gem of my medical career. On its merits, as a positive, safe, and effectual remedy for this class of diseases, and one that will, at all times and under all circumstances, act kindly, I am willing to stake my reputation as a physician; and so confident am I that it will not disappoint the most sanguine expectations of a single invalid lady who uses it for any of the ailments for which it is recommended, that I offer and sell it under A POSITIVE GUARANTEE. (For conditions, see pamphlet wrapping bottle.)
The following are among those diseases in which my Favorite Prescription has worked marvels, as if by magic, and with a certainty never before attained by any medicine: Leucorrhœa, Excessive Flow, Painful Monthly Periods, Suppressions when from unnatural causes, Irregularities, Weak Back, Prolapsus, or Falling of the Womb, Anteversion and Retroversion, Bearing-down Sensations, Internal Heat, Nervous Depression, Debility, Depondency, Threatened Miscarriage, Chronic Congestion, Inflammation and Ulceration of the Uterus, Leucorrhœa, Barrenness, or Sterility, and Female Weakness. I do not claim this medicine as a cure-all, but it admirably fulfills a singleness of purpose, being a most perfect specific for all our peculiar diseases of sexual system of woman. It will not disappoint, nor will it do harm, in any state or condition.
Those who desire further information on these subjects can obtain it in THE PEOPLE'S COMMON SENSE MEDICAL ADVISER, a book of over 1008 pages, sent post-paid, on receipt of $1.50. It treats minutely of those diseases peculiar to females, and gives much valuable advice in regard to the management of those affections.
Favorite Prescription sold by Druggists.

GOLDEN MEDICAL DISCOVERY

By its great and thorough blood-purifying properties, Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery cures all humors, from the worst Scrofula to a common Pimple, or Eruption. Mercurial disease, Mineral Poisons, and the effects of abuse, are eradicated, and vigorous health and a sound constitution established. Erysipelas, Salt-rheum, Fever Sores, Scaly or Rough Skin, in short, all diseases caused by bad blood, are conquered by this powerful, purifying, and invigorating medicine.

Especially has it manifested its potency in curing Tetter, Rose Bugs, Barbers'-itch, Ringworm, Sore Eyes, Scrofulous Sores and Swellings, White Swellings, Goiter, or Thick Neck, and Enlarged Glands.

If you feel dull, drowsy, debilitated, have sallow color of skin, or yellowish spots around eyes or body, frequent headache or dizziness, bad taste in mouth, internal heat or chills alternated with hot flushes, low spirits, and gloomy forebodings, irregular appetite, and tongue coated, you are suffering from "Torpid Liver, or "Biliousness." In many cases of "Liver Complaint" only part of these symptoms are experienced. As a remedy for all such cases, Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery has no equal, as it effects perfect and manifest cures.

In the cure of Bronchitis, Severe Coughs, and the early stages of Consumption, it has astonished the medical faculty, and eminent physicians pronounce it the greatest medical discovery of the age. While it cures the severest Coughs, it strengthens the system and purifies the blood. Sold by druggists.

R. V. PIERCE, M. D., Proprietor, World's Dispensary and Invalids' Hotel, Buffalo, N. Y.

Pierce's Pleasant Purgative Pellets

SIZE OF PELLETS.

THE "LITTLE GIANT" CATHARTIC.

No use of taking the large, repulsive, nauseous pills, composed of drastic purgatives, and bulky excipients. These Pellets are scarcely larger than mustard seeds.

Being entirely vegetable, no particular care is required while using them. They operate without disturbance to the constitution, diet, or occupation. For Jaundice, Dyspepsia, Constipation, Impure Blood, Pain in the Shoulders, Tightness of the Chest, Dizziness, Sour Eructations, Sick Headache, Bad Taste in the Mouth, Bilious attacks, Pain in region of Kidneys, Internal Fevers, Blotched feeling about Stomach, Rush of Blood to Head, take Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Purgative Pellets. In recommending the remedial power of these Purgative Pellets over so great a variety of diseases, it may be said that their action upon the animal economy is universal, not a gland or tissue escaping their sanative impress. Age does not impair the properties of these Pellets. They are sugar-coated and inclosed in glass bottles, their virtues being thereby preserved unimpaired for any length of time, in any climate, so that they are always fresh and reliable. This is not the case with pills put up in cheap wooden or pasteboard boxes. For all disease where a Laxative, Alterative, or Purgative, is indicated, these little Pellets will give the most perfect satisfaction. Sold by druggists.

R. V. PIERCE, M. D., Proprietor, World's Dispensary and Invalids' Hotel, Buffalo, N. Y.

CATARRH

SYMPTOMS.—Frequent headache, discharge falling into throat, sometimes profuse, watery, thick mucous, purulent, offensive, etc. In others, a dryness, dry, watery, weak, or inflamed eyes, stopping up, or obstruction, of the nasal passages, ringing in ears, deafness, hawking and coughing to clear the throat, ulcerations, scabs from ulcers, voice altered, nasal twang, offensive breath, impaired or total deprivation of sense of smell and taste, dizziness, mental depression, loss of appetite, indigestion, enlarged glands, tickling cough, etc. Only a few of these symptoms are likely to be present in any case at any time.

DR. SAGE'S CATARRH REMEDY

produces radical cures of the worst cases of Catarrh, no matter of how long standing. The liquid remedy may be snuffed, or better applied by the use of Dr. PIERCE'S Douche. This is the only form of instrument yet invented with which fluid medicine can be carried high up and THOROUGHLY APPLIED to all parts of the affected nasal passages, and the chambers or cavities communicating therewith, in which sores and ulcers frequently exist, and from which the catarrhal discharge generally proceeds. Its use is pleasant and easily understood, from directions accompanying each instrument. Dr. SAGE'S Catarrh Remedy cures the recent attack of "Cold in the Head" by a few applications. It is mild and pleasant to use, containing no strong alkali, drugs or poisons. Catarrh Remedy and Douche sold by druggists.

CATARRH

A PHYSICIAN'S TESTIMONY.

10 Years a Physician. 12 Years a Sufferer. Tried Regular Remedies. Tried Patent Medicines. Permanently cured by

SANFORD'S RADICAL CURE.

MESSRS. WEEKS & POTTER,—Sirs: I have practised medicine for thirty years, and have been a sufferer myself for twelve years with Catarrh in the nasal passages, fauces and larynx. I have used everything in the materia medica without any permanent relief until finally I was induced to try a patent medicine (something that we allopathists are very loth to do) tried—saw and drivers others until I got hold of yours. I followed the directions to the letter, and am happy to say have had a permanent cure. Your RADICAL CURE is certainly a happy combination for the cure of that most unpleasant and dangerous of diseases.

Yours, respectfully,

D. W. GRAY, M. D.,

Of Dr. D. W. Gray & Son., Physicians and Druggists, Muscatine, Iowa.

MUSCATINE, IOWA, March 27, 1877.

The value of this remedy must not be overlooked in the cure of those

SYMPATHETIC DISEASES,

Affections of the Eye, Ear, Throat, Lungs and Bronchial Tubes which in many cases accompany a severe case of Catarrh. The inflamed and diseased condition of the mucous membrane is the cause of all these troubles; and until the system has been brought properly under the influence of the RADICAL CURE, perfect freedom from them cannot be reasonably expected.

It is but three years since SANFORD'S RADICAL CURE was placed before the public, but in that short time it has found its way from Maine to California, and is everywhere acknowledged by druggists and physicians to be the most successful preparation for the thorough treatment of Catarrh ever compounded. The fact will be deemed of more importance when it is coupled with the statement that within five years over 250 different remedies for Catarrh have been placed on sale, and to-day, with one or two exceptions, their names cannot be recalled by the best informed druggist. Advertising may succeed in forcing a few sales, but, unless the remedy possess undoubted specific medical properties, it is absolutely certain to fall into merited obscurity.

Each package of SANFORD'S RADICAL CURE contains Dr. Sanford's Improved Inhaling Tube, with full directions for its use in all cases. Price $1.00. Sold by all wholesale and retail druggists and dealers throughout the United States and Canadas. WEEKS & POTTER, General Agents and Wholesale Druggists, Boston, Mass.

Daily Chronicle.

Chronicle Correspondence.

WASHINGTON, D. C., March 31st.

Two week of the extra session have passed, and yet to all appearances we are no nearer to a settlement of the business for which it was called than on the first day. So far, the time has been occupied with negotiations, talk and caucus work. The negotiations have been by the democrats with the president and cabinet, to ascertain how far it will do to go in the matter of political legislation without endangering a veto and a set-back which may be damaging to the party, and on this head there is nothing new. The "talk" has developed into a debate that promises to be renowned in history. The speeches of Senators Blaine, Hoar, Conkling and others on the republican side, and of Senators Bayard, Beck, Voorhees and other democrats, in the Senate, were but the beginning of what now promises to be a long campaign of discussion, preliminary to the clash of forces at the roll call and between the Capitol and the White House. The debate on the political features of the army bill is the continuation, and very able so far as it has gone, on both sides. Many members are booked for speeches, and it really looks as though this week at least would be used up before a vote can be reached. Another struggle will ensue in the Senate, and meanwhile a contest will have been inaugurated in the House over the legislative bill with other political riders, so that altogether the session will wax hotter and hotter as the summer advances upon us, and he would be a bold prophet who would predict the end of it all.

But these are not all of the political measures that will agitate Congress, if we may regard the later signs as they now appear. The greenback element, in the House especially, is far stronger than the greenback party proper, and the conference of men of that persuasion the other day brought together the nucleus of congenial spirits that may be troublesome to the established order of things, financial and political. This programme is a comprehensive one, and means a determined assault upon the national banks through a retirement of their circulation and a large issue of greenbacks. I believe that a large majority of democrats in the House, and many in the Senate, together with an uncertain sprinkling of republicans, will support them in this course. The agitation is not intended to have any practical effect this session—because it is well known that the veto power is sufficient to defeat anything of the sort at present—but with a hope that by continual hammering public opinion or popular prejudice may be so turned as to disturb existing affairs, and create political capital for the future. The anxiety among the Ohio politicians here relative to the coming campaign in that State, and the consequent calling of the democratic convention on the same day and at the same place as the national greenback convention, the 4th of June, shows that though small in numbers the agitators are powerful for mischief. Unless there shall be developed a larger element of conservation than is now discoverable in the old parties, the "more money" cry is likely to take up considerable time in this and the next session of Congress.

Although the case of Fitz John Porter has been concluded for some time, the result is not known. The secret conclusion of the tribunal is in the hands of the President for review, and will not be published for some time. It is remarkable that not even a confident guess has been put forth relative to the decision.

The late Doorkeeper Polk's assault on Carter Harrison, ex-Congressman from Chicago, is still continued and promises to be fruitful of scandal. Harrison went back on Polk in the "divvy" of offices, and that is about the breadth of it.

The department of State authorizes a contradiction of the recently-published and widely-circulated report that Mr. Welsh, our minister to England, has complained of the inadequacy of his salary; the only foundation for the erroneous statement is a letter written by Mr. Welsh at a time when no provision had been made by Congress for second secretaries of legations, in which he said that rather than allow the public interests to suffer for want of proper assistance he would pay the salary of a second secretary of legation himself, although his own salary was inadequate to meet his expenses. KNOX.

Nashua Corporations as Savings Banks.

For the past forty years the Nashua and Jackson Manufacturing Companies of this city have been the depositories for the savings of their employes. They were not exactly savings banks, for they did not receive deposits from the general public but from their employes only, and they made no loans, but used the deposits in their own business. Of late years, and since savings banks became common institutions, it has been felt that the system should be abandoned, but to wind up these institutions was regarded as difficult, and so it has been postponed until now. The step has now been taken, and the depositors in both institutions have been paid in full. It is the close of forty years of most honorable service. No depositor has lost a dollar, while five per cent interest has uniformly been paid them. In some instances depositors were paid who made their first deposit forty years ago. One lady from Wilton, who worked in the Jackson mills at that early day, is the lapse of time never kept the run of her deposits, and yesterday, on receiving her balance, found it to be nearly $700. Another, a Nashua lady, whose husband was formerly in the Jackson Company's employ, supposed at his death that he had drawn all his balance. She found, on settlement Saturday, $600 her due. One lady was affected to tears in giving up so good a banker, and all were aware that it would be difficult to find a better one in these times. The Jackson Company paid out about $20,000 to one hundred depositors, and the Nashua Company some $60,000 to three hundred depositors. The unsullied career of these savings institutions and the prudence of their managers deserve honorable mention and are in gratifying contrast to the faithless officials in different sections of the country who have brought misfortune and misery to thousands of depositors.—Nashua Telgraph, April 1st.

Railroad Salaries.

A recent report to the House of Representatives of Massachusetts relative to salaries of railroad officials and legal counsel, and for personal services, (which in plain English means "lobby efforts,") contains items of interest to the stockholders. All the roads in the State were called upon, and the sums paid in each of five years is given. Of the roads leading into Boston we find that presidents were paid more a few years since, but their salaries have been reduced as the business of the road has diminished, with the exception of the Eastern.

The Boston & Albany formerly paid Mr. Chapin $10,000, and Mr. Lincoln as vice-president $7000; it now gets on at lower rates.

Mr. White, president of the Boston & Maine, has for his services $5,500. The general superintendent is paid a like sum. The legal services on this road are of moderate amounts.

On the Provivence road the president had formerly $10,000; now $6,000 answers,—while the superintendent gets on for $4,500, a deduction of $500 from his salary paid in 1875. The lawyers get about five thousand dollars a year from this corporation.

The Eastern is the most liberal road in point of salaries and counsel fees. While it had a manager and superintendent at $5000 each, it paid a president $11,500 from October, 1873, to October, 1874.

During that unfortunate era J. E. Butler, of the Biddeford Union & Journal, received $1.061. T. H. Hubbard, also a lawyer of Biddeford, who was at that time reported to command the Maine lobby, was smart enough to get away with $6,396.73 of the unfortunate corporation's money, which it poured out to others in the same mode. John H. George charged but $2000 that year, while Ives & Lincoln, of Salem made their bill at $4586.81. The next year Gen. Lawrence served as president for $5000, a handsome deduction from former rates, with Bachelder as superintendent for $3500, and the road was never operated better. But the general had to pay the lawyers for past services nearly twenty-five thousand dollars, some of the bills being as follows:

Charles Levi Woodbury, legal services,			$4,181 50
Ives & Lincoln,	"	"	2,586 75
W. G. Russell,	"	"	3,329 01
A. R. Hatch,	"	"	3,143 56
B. F. Butler,	"	"	3,000 00
S. D. Leavitt,	"	"	1,439 65
S. J. Thomas,	"	"	1,350 00
G. W. Young,	"	"	1,300 00
Charles Robinson, Jr.,	"	"	1,000 00
J. F. Kimball, auditing accounts,			1,650 00

Up to September last the rate of salaries was as follows; Superintendent of Conway division, $2250; purchasing agent, $2400; master of transportation, freight agent, ticket agent and the various "heads of departments" as arranged by Gen. Rockwell, $2500 each; Treasurer Chapin, $4000; President Rockwell, $7500. Law charges; Ives & Lincoln, $1,780.-75; Richard Olney, $7500 (in addition to $5000 paid the year previous;) Dwight Foster, $1000; trustees' salaries, $3250.

W. B. Stearns managed the Fitchburg road as president for $8,000 up to 1878, but now receives $10,000, as he also manages the Vermont & Massachusetts; but he is a thorough engineer, and an economical man for the company.

The New York & New England railroad pays $5000 to president and $7500 to general manager, and as it has legislative services in various States has large lawyer's bills.

The late President Onslow Stearns received from $6,000 to $7,500 per year from the Old Colony. Mr. Choate, the present president, receives $5,000. J. H. Benton, Jr., gets $2,000 a year as counsel. The superintendent's salary seems to be on a sliding scale from $4,-500 to $5,500.

The Boston & Lowell road now pays the manager about $5000; Col. George, as attorney, received $3726, and the superintendent $3450. This line includes the Salem & Lowell road, but the number of miles is small.

The railroads leading to Boston give liberal salaries to their presidents and the subordinate officers, and the sums paid should secure the ablest talent in this business in the country, although it does not follow in every instance that the highest priced men are always the most valuable to the corporations that employ them.

The Storm.

The details of the great storm of the 31st ult. continue to come in, and are not so favorable as at first, though the first accounts were bad enough. The schooner previously reported ashore at Oak Bluffs, Martha's Vineyard, is the Arctic, coal laden; vessel a total loss; cargo may be saved. The lime schooners lost in Edgartown harbor are the Nautilus, Ned Sumpter and Gem. The crew of schooner Ligure, wrecked on Long shoal, were rescued by revenue cutter Gabrielson; the schooner's mate died from exposure, but his body was brought in. British schooner Mary Ellen had a man washed off her deck near Thatcher's island. Stephen Hatch, of Truro, Mass., was washed off a schooner's bowsprit at Oak Bluffs, and drowned; body recovered. Schooner D. Ellis lost a man overboard off Cape Poge. Schooner Emma G. Edwards, coal laden, was totally lost on Tuckernuck shoal, and all hands lost but one, who was rescued by a boat from Tuckernuck next day.

Charles W. Cook, Again.

Officer Moses Sargent has arrested C. W. Cook, and committed him to jail at Ossipee. Cook makes an important statement of the manner in which the recently published affidavits were made at Dover; how he was denied the privilege of seeing the counsel (Frank Hobbs) that he wanted to, and was enticed before James A. Edgerly, one of Buzzell's counsel, against his will. He was discharged on his own recognizance for setting the fire to John Churchill's house at Brookfield; but since he has been tampered with it was thought best to recommit him. He never knew what was in those affidavits that he swore till to he was arrested and they were read over to him. He was taken William C. Fox, of Wolfeboro', for his counsel. The court sits at Ossipee on the 15th inst.

New Hampshire Items.

The officers of the First regiment of N. H. Militia are ordered to appear at Manchester in uniform, on the 17th of this month, for instruction and drill.

In the Supreme Judicial court, now in session in Concord, the suit of J. H. Pearson vs. the Concord railroad and others has been entered, and the counsel for the defendants have been granted time to file answers, which are in preparation.

The meeting of the Grand Lodge of Good Templars, held at Concord on the 2d inst., was very largely attended. The entire day's session was spent in hearing reports. The secretary reported forty lodges, with a membership of 2600, in the State. Sixty-two persons took degrees in the Grand Lodge on Wednesday.

Edmund M. Evans, who has held a position in the New York custom house since 1849, to which he was appointed from this State, has been removed. His office, that of clerk of the protests and appeals, has been abolished. The salary was $2500 a year.

Crane, Rising & Co. are to remove their large shoe factory from Nashua to Westboro', Mass., folks there buying and fixing up a building for them and paying the expense of removal. About 300 operatives will be employed.

A Question of Damages.

Some lawyers take very practical views of cases in which they are retained. In a certain town in Missouri, Squire G——was defending a charge of malpractice. A colored man was suing for damages, his wife having died shortly after an operation for the removal of cancer. When it came to Squire G——'s turn to cross-examine the plaintiff, he asked, "Mr. Wilson, how old was your wife when she died?"

"About forty-five, sir."

"Been in feeble health a long time, had she not, Mr. Wilson, and cost you a great deal for medicine and help."

"Yes, sir."

"You have married again, have you not?"

"Yes, sir."

"How old is your present wife?"

"About thirty-five, sir."

"Is she stout and healthy, Mr. Wilson."

"Yes, sir."

"Then, Mr. Wilson, will you please state to the jury how you are damaged in this case?"

Mr. Wilson had evidently never taken this view of the matter, and could make no answer. The good and true men thought he had rather a good thing by his bereavement, and brought in a verdict for the defendant.

—An anonymous article—A baby before it is christened.

—This is the week when the languid lady, who finds the Sunday morning promenade to church, two blocks away, excessively fatiguing, takes in on an average ten "Spring openings" every day, ascends and descends probably three miles of staircase, and walks around several thousand counters and showcases, without exhausting herself in the feast.—Puck.

The Niceties of French Law.

A Paris journal says: A gentleman is stopped on the street at midnight by a thief. Drawing a pistol from his pocket he forces the man to walk quietly before him to the station. Arriving there he tells the chief what has occurred.

"Very well," replies that officer, "but have you permission to carry arms?"

"No, sir."

"In that case I must put you under arrest."

"But without the arms which I happened to have I would have probably been assassinated."

"That is possible, but the police ordinance exists and it is necessary that it be obeyed."

"Is it allowable to carry arms which are not deadly?"

"Certainly."

"Then look at my pistol. It has no hammer. To oblige a friend I was going to take it to a gunshop to have it repaired."

"Oh, if I had only known," cried the thief.

ROYAL BAKING POWDER

Absolutely Pure.

The Royal Baking Powder is a pure Cream of Tartar powder, made from pure Grape Cream Tartar, imported exclusively for this powder direct from the wine district of France. An old experienced housekeeper writes that, although she has to pay a few pennies more for the "Royal," finds that it goes so much further and works much better than saleratus, soda, or cream of tartar.

☞ Beware of the Cream of Tartar of commerce is adulterated with Alum, Terra Alba, etc. Doctors pronounce Alum most dangerous to health; it costs but 2c. a lb., Cream of Tartar over 40. The Royal Baking Powder is recommended for its wholesomeness by such eminent chemists as Dr. Mott, New York; Dr. S. Dana Hayes, Boston. Sold only in cans. All Grocers.

☞ BAKING POWDER should never be sold in paper packages, as it becomes stale and deteriorates upon exposure to the atmosphere. 1y

THE CITY.

The long and short of the human race can be studied at Music hall next Tuesday and Wednesday evenings. See adv.

The front of a Congress street grocery store was painted blue on Thursday—a sort of hanging the temperance banner on the outer walls.

It is a rumored that several persons in this city who have for years dealt in intoxicants to a greater or less extent, propose to give up the traffic entirely.

The ship Paul Jones, Gerrish master, from Manila Dec. 7th, arrived at New York on the 3d inst., one hundred and seventeen days from port to port, and ninety-three days from Anjer point, Java.

Black, Rooney & Ward minstrels have pictured the bill-boards of the city, for an entertainment on Monday evening at Franklin hall. They intend to get up an attractive programme, and want a good house.

Willard P. Phillips of Salem, Mass., is talked of as the future president of the Eastern railroad. He has the advantage of living on the line of the road, and knowing something of its local wants and capacities.

At the annual meeting of the Knights of Honor, in Concord on the 2d inst., Joseph H. Gardiner of this city was chosen grand reporter, H. P. Glidden of Dover treasurer, and J. F. Safford of Farmington chaplain.

A horse belonging to Mr. John Caswell wanted a little time all to himself on Thursday, and starting from Jackson & Co.'s express office finally brought up on Rollins' wharf, running into the fish-flakes there, which kept him from going overboard.

Fishermen who were at the Shoals from Monday, the 31st ult., until Thursday, report the gale of Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday as the heaviest that has been experienced there for years. Elvin Newton brought in on Thursday 2200 lbs. of fish; this is a large fare for a whale-boat, and as the fish brought a good price, Mr. Newton was well paid for his three day's detention at the islands.

Old Oaken Bucket Division, No. 2, S. of T., of this city, has chosen the following officers for the ensuing term: Horace A. Martin, W. P.; Fannie M. White, W. A.; Walter Meloon, R. S.; Lorenzo T. Burnham, A. R. S.; Charles Lorrabee, T.; Joseph T. French, Chaplain; Horace Hanscom, Conductor; Mrs. Langdon M. Perkins, A. C.; Mrs. Samuel Taylor, I. S.; Mrs. Rebecca Dixon, O. S.; Charles Fernald, P. W. P.

Mr. Charles A. Hazlett has purchased a bicycle—one of the "Columbia" style—and a very handsome, spider-web-looking affair it is. The forward wheel is forty-eight inches in diameter, and the hind one eighteen inches. Bicycling is a great improvement on the walking fever, but is a somewhat costly amusement, one of the machines costing in the neighborhood of a hundred dollars. Its movement is noiseless. It has a lamp attached, to light for night travel; and a clynometer to measure and record the distance travelled.

Naval Constructor Theodore D. Wilson has designed an improved air-port for use in either government or merchant vessels, and has sent a plan of it to Washington for inspection by the bureau. He claims several improvements over the round one formerly used by the government, and also over the square one adopted several years since, and applied to the Richmond and Shenandoah. The old round one has an area of only forty-nine inches, with one set of packing; the square one has ninety-six inches of area, but can only be used on the flat side of a ship, as it would necessitate the cutting away of too much wood. The port designed by Mr. Wilson has an area of one hundred and thirteen inches, with two sets of packing, and no matter how often closed will not injure the packing, as the port has an equal bearing everywhere, and requires no leverage to close it water-tight.

THE LILIPUTIANS.—Notwithstanding the Victoria Rink Masquerade, which drew numbers of people away last night, a big house greeted the second appearance of these truly wonderful performers. Admiral Dot's humorous acting and self-possession would do credit to a taller actor; one cannot but admit that the Admiral, though small in stature, is immense in his performance. His affianced, Miss Jennie Quigley, is as pretty as one of Watteau's shepherdesses, whom she resembles in dress and in gracefulness; her comicality and roguish acting when singing "Baby Mine" over the body of the prostrate giant are perfect. Many a youngster must have fallen in love with the dear little lady here and elsewhere, for she is truly fascinating. The rest of the company ably performed their parts in "Jack, the Giant Killer," which laughable operetta was followed by "Toodles," wherein the tiny actors drew forth much applause and laughter. It is not often that we get in Montreal an entertainment that will amuse not only old play-goers but also children as small as the Liliputian actors themselves.—Montreal Gazette, March 19th.

THE VICINITY.

Rev. L. P. Cushman, formerly a resident of Rochester or Dover, and a presiding elder in the Methodist denomination, died suddenly in Texas a few days since.

Mr. Granville Clifford Wallingford of South Berwick was married March 4th, 1829, to Miss Mary Rogers of Alfred, and on March 4th, 1879, at Osage, Iowa, they celebrated their golden wedding.

The Dover Democrat says that nearly a mile of one of the roads between Dover and Great Falls was rendered impassable by the big snow storm of the 31st ult., until a canal was cut through the snow which had drifted in to the depth of six or eight feet.

A recent number of Harper's Weekly contains several sketches of scenes at the Indian agency at Sisseton, Dakota, drawn by Wm. P. Hooper, formerly of Biddeford, whose sketches in Harper's and in Andrew's American Queen have attracted no little attention of late.

Mr. C. F. Smith has on view at J. F. Virgin's stable, at Newmarket junction, an importation of twenty horses from Vermont and Canada. He claims them to be good drivers and workers, and their weight ranges from six hundred pounds to twelve hundred.

A house at Spruce Creek, Kittery, occupied by Mr. Augustus Jones, was slightly damaged by fire on the afternoon of the 2d inst., the furniture also suffering somewhat; house and furniture insured. The building is owned by Mr. Daniel McIntire of this city.

A man named C. W. Thompson, a shoemaker of Dover, who had been on a spree for a fortnight, was found in a swamp near Londonderry on the 27th ult., with both feet frozen, and suffering from delirium tremens. He was taken to the lock-up in Derry and left over night, but was removed the next morning to a private house, where he died.

THE TEMPERANCE MEETINGS.

The gospel temperance meeting at Music hall, Thursday evening, was quite enthusiastic, some two hundred signatures to the pledge being obtained. The singing by Mr. George F. Monroe, the quartette and the chorus, was very fine. Rev. Mr. Goss was very happy in his remarks, and the lecture on "The moderate drinker" by Mr. Booth was well received.

This evening the services will include a general talk by members of the reform club, and others.

CITY COUNCILS.

In Board of Mayor and Aldermen, regular meeting, Thursday evening:

Mrs. William C. Denny was allowed to encumber in front of her residence on Greenland road, to relay walls.

Mr. George Brooks was allowed to encumber Market street, to repair building occupied by George B. French.

Mr. W. I. Drake was granted leave to open Atkinson street, to repair drain.

Mr. J. E. Ham was allowed to open South Mill street, to lay drain.

Dr. F. E. Potter's request to lay a drain in Rock street, was referred to committee on sewerage, with power.

Committee on drains were empowered to repair drain at the foot of State street.

Communication from Miss Mary E. Joy, asking the city to pay expenses for injuries received by falling on the ice on Washington street, was referred to committee on claims to report.

Request for an annual license for Music hall and Franklin hall, was referred to committee on licenses, to report.

Committee on North mill-pond were granted further time to make their report.

The mayor was authorized to appoint, as substitutes to those before appointed to take the vital statistics, Thornton Betton, ward one, George H. Dennett, ward two, Fred E. Akerman, ward three, Augustus Walden, ward four.

Adjourned for two weeks.

G. A. R. MEETING.

Storer Encampment, Grand Army of the Republic, at their meeting Thursday evening, appointed the following named comrades to act as a committee in conjunction with the committee of citizens, to make the necessary arrangements for the proper observance of Memorial day: Commander James R. Morrison, chairman, Col. J. Horace Kent, Col. D. J. Vaughan, Dr. John W. Parsons, M. M. Collis, John H. Locke, Dr. James R. May, Nelson Goodrich, Major Edwin A. Tilton, James A. Waterhouse, Adolph Nelson.

POLICE COURT.

THURSDAY, April 3; Batchelder, J.

A young man accused of assault with intent to commit a nameless offence was held in $800 for examination at ten o'clock Friday forenoon.

RYE LETTER.

RYE, April 3d.

On Monday afternoon at about five o'clock, and while it was snowing and blowing furiously, the schooner Fairdealer, Capt. Hutchings, with a crew of two men, let go both anchors off Straw's point, and the crew took to their boat and started for the shore, but before getting there were met by the life-boat of the station, and taken in tow to the shore, where they remained all night at the life-saving station. At about quarter past six o'clock Tuesday morning the vessel parted her cables and commenced to drift seaward. The life-boat was at once manned by five of the life-saving crew and the schooner's men, and started in pursuit, and after thirty-five minutes' pull overhauled her, four miles from shore. Sail was made, and she started to run for Portsmouth harbor, but she being light and the wind from off shore and blowing almost a gale, the attempt failed, and she tacked and ran to the westward, finally tacked again and ran for the Shoals, it being evident that she had got to make a harbor there or go to sea. With a glass her cruise was watched from the beach, and she made the run to the Shoals under her foresail, reached their safely, and is now lying in Smutty-nose island dock; and the life-saving station men have not as yet been able to return. Capt. Philbrick, commanding the station, is fearful that the life-boat is lost, but of course is not sure, as no communication has been had with crew or vessel since Tuesday morning. The vessel belonged in Castine, Me., and was bound for that port from Gloucester, Mass., where she had been with a load of shooks. The captain tried to make Portsmouth harbor on Monday afternoon, but failed, and so thought it prudent to anchor where he did. NAT.

Fishermen who left the Shoals for this port on Thursday forenoon at nine o'clock, report the arrival there of the schooner Fairdealer. She had lost one of her anchors and damaged her rudder, which was being repaired. The crew of the life-boat had not left at the time the fishermen started, owing to the continued high wind and heavy sea, but it was supposed they would return Thursday afternoon.

RAYMOND.

The papers contain many accounts of the district school meetings, where the ladies avail themselves of the privilege of voting in them. In some few cases accounts are given of some disturbances in them, caused by opposition to their presence by some males,—I do not say gentlemen. Being in this town for the present, doing business, I have thought proper to give some of the strange proceedings of a visitor to the village school here at its late examination. It was a large school, where more than thirty visitors were present, and so improprieties were more out of place and disagreeable than in a district meeting.

Miss L. A. Burnham was the teacher, and had taught that school more terms than any lady ever did. She has been uniformly successful in the highest degree, and the general feeling was strong in her favor. But the superintending committee of last year wanted the school himself, although not one in the district did, so when she applied for a certificate, he treated her coarsely. He made his last visit before town-meeting,—was not re-elected, as he was unpopular with the teachers, and his great self-conceit, as is usual in such cases, drove others largely from him. It was hoped, therefore, that he would not trouble this examination, but he was on hand.

Nothing of the kind ever exceeded his activity in a peculiar way through the whole exercises. It was plain to very many there that he wished to crowd the teacher. At the close of a recitation he would ask questions, some of them wholly irrelevant, then set in a long talk. The teacher bore it patiently for a time, and conducted herself in the most lady-like manner all through, but after a time she would turn from him with a derisive smile and call another class while he was talking. When a class was at the board, solving problems, he would go to some, look over their shoulders to bother them, and sometimes with success. Next he would go to one of the oldest pupils and whisper or make figures on the slate. What this was for, did not appear.

But the greatest farce was at the conclusing part. He made a speech, and designing to condemn the teacher somewhat, he said a few words in her favor to prepare the way, then found great fault with some alleged mispronunciation of words. He was excited, earnest and so loud, that he could have been heard outside of the schoolhouse. Some were recollecting that in the afternoon he had given out a question relative to what a certain amount of beef would come to, exclusive of fifteen pounds of "taller." Probably tallow was meant, but he did not call it so. Other words were mispronounced by him while speaking.

It was difficult for some to keep from exposing him. After getting out, ladies and gentlemen said that the mispronunciation of one of the names of the Supreme Being by him in meetings and elsewhere was worse than all he could condemn in others for a long time. The name God he always pronounces Gad, to the pain of those who hear.

Result: The district meeting was held two evenings later, and an arrangement made to employ the same teacher. M. S. B.

Food Ill Digested

Imperfectly nourishes the system, since it is only partially assimilated by the blood. Pale, haggard mortals, with dyspeptic stomachs, impoverished circulation and weak nerves, experience a marked and rapid improvement in their physical condition by availing themselves of that sure resource of the sick and debilitated, Hostetter's Stomach Bitters. This genial tonic and alterative lends an impetus to the processes of digestion which insures an adequate development of the materials of blood, fiber, and muscular tissue. Moreover, it soothes and strengthens overwrought or weak nerves, counteracts a tendency to hypochondria or despondency, to which dyspeptic and bilious persons are peculiarly liable, and is an agreeable and wholesome appetizer and promoter of repose. The infirmities of age, and of delicate female constitutions, are greatly relieved by it; and it is a reliable preventive of, and remedy for, malarial fevers.

Bronchitis will surely come if you let that cough run any longer. Stop it at once by using Dr. A. J. Flagg's Cough and Lung Syrup.

Consumption Cured.

An old physician, retired from practice, having had placed in his hands by an East India missionary the formula of a simple vegetable remedy, for the speedy and permanent cure for consumption, bronchitis, catarrh, asthma, and all throat and lung affections, also a positive and radical cure for nervous debility an all nervous complaints, after having tested its wonderful curative powers in thousands of cases, has felt it his duty to make it known to his suffering fellows. Actuated by this motive, and a desire to relieve human suffering, I will send, free of charge, to all who desire it, this recipe, with full directions for preparing and using, in German, French, or English. Sent by mail by addressing with stamp, naming this paper, W. W. Sherar, 149 Powers' Block, Rochester, New York. ta22

It takes the palm. The Cough and Lung Syrup of Dr. A. J. Flagg's.

Free of charge—Sample bottle of Adamson's Cough Balsam at all drug stores. Owing to its perfect harmony in combination it is the very best mixture for the speedy cure and relief of croup, colds, throat or lung diseases. Large bottles 25 cents.

Whooping Cough instantly relieved by a small amount of a very pleasant medicine known as Dr. A. J. Flagg's Cough and Lung Syrup. Keep it handy.

While in New York this spring you need not pay twice for meals that you only get once. In other words, as the Grand Central Hotel, on Broadway, is now conducted on both plans, the American $2.50 or $3.00, and the European $1.00 and upwards, per day, which allows you to take your meals at the elegant Restaurant attached to the Hotel, at moderate prices, or to take a room only, and pay for what meals you get.

Children are so liable to colds and coughs. Cure them early by using Dr. A. J. Flagg's Cough and Lung Syrup.

A CARD.

To all who are suffering from the errors and indiscretions of youth, nervous weakness, early decay, loss of manhood, &c., I will send a recipe that will cure you, FREE OF CHARGE. This great remedy was discovered by a missionary in South America. Send a self-addressed envelope to the REV. JOSEPH T. INMAN, Station D, Bible House, New York City. eod&wtno

WHEAT MEAL!

Graham Flour.

When Wheat is ground it becomes Wheat Meal; when it is bolted it becomes Wheat Flour. Dr. Graham, who lectured through the country forty years ago on dietetics formed the fraternity known as "Grahamites." He said that bolted Flour should not be eaten, but that bread ought to be made of Wheat Meal instead; from him it got the name of Graham Flour. All Graham Flour therefore ought to be Wheat Meal, but about three-quarters of it is what we call made up Graham, that is, artificially mixed Cheap Flour and Bran, and is in every way inferior to the genuine article. Hardly a person who uses the genuine Wheat Meal would take the bogus article except on compulsion.

Fashionable Foolishness.

There is no modern fashionable notion quite so absurd as the generally received idea that to be beautiful and attractive a woman must possess a wan, spiritualle face and a figure of sylph-like proportions—a fragility in nine cases out of ten the result of disease. By many fashionable belles it is considered a special compliment to be spoken of as frail and delicate. They forget that the naturally delicate face and petite figure are very different from the pale and disease-stricken faces that meet us in the city thoroughfares, look out from the luxuriant carriages of wealth and glide through our crowded drawing-rooms. If disease were unfashionable, as it ought to be, not a lady in the land but would take every precaution to secure the fresh, blooming face and well-rounded figure that only health can give. Ladies should remember that much as gentlemen may profess to admire the face and form pailed and emaciated by disease, when they choose a wife they prefer a blooming, healthful, buoyant, spirited woman. Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription is the acknowled standard remedy for female diseases and weaknesses. It has the two-fold advantage of curing the local disease and imparting a vigorous tone to the whole system. It is sold by all druggists.

Senator Anthony made his democratic associates in the United States Senate very angry on the 31st ult., by rising in his place, saying: "As I see that the chairman of the democratic caucus, the chairman of the executive committee of the democratic caucus, and the chairman of the sub-committee of the executive committee of the democratic caucus, are all present, I move that the Senate go into executive session." The democratic Senators regarded this kind of talk as an indignity, and characterized Mr. Anthony's language as insulting. They declined to go into executive session, and, in order to disoblige Mr. Anthony, they instantly adjourned.

THE
Alpine Silver Mining Co.,
OF COLORADO.
CAPITAL $2,000,000. 200,000 SHARES.
PAR VALUE, $10 PER SHARE.
UNASSESSABLE.
Daniel J. Splane, Pres. J. L. Thompson, Sec.
The property of this Company consists of twelve mines and mining locations, located in Lake County, Colorado, in the vicinity of Leadville, upon all of which extensive work has been done, in all cases exhibiting true fissure veins, good pay streak, and well defined lodes.
Three of the leading mines are well opened up and have at the lowest computation over TEN THOUSAND TONS OF ORE IN SIGHT; by May 1st, the Railroad now under construction will be within a short distance of this property.
The Company proposes to sell a portion of its stock at $1.50 per share for the purpose of more completely developing its mines, and for the erection of works for the treatment of its ores.
Applications for the stock may be made to the office of the Company, 61 Broadway, New York.
N. B.—The Mining Record, of New York, the highest mining authority in this country, says Feb. 1st, 1879: The principal owners in this company are hard working men who by their own labor have uncovered large bodies of ore which they now wish to extract and send to market; our readers will do well to make a venture with these worthy men, this money will probably be returned to them twenty fold. The business management has been placed in the care of Mr. J. L. Thompson, an officer of high standing in one of the largest banks in the city. A Prospectus giving full particulars sent free, on application to the Secretary. mch12d&wkoss

GAZETTE
Established 1756.
The Gazette is published every Thursday, and sent to Subscribers at the low price of
$1.50 per year, paid in advance, or
$2 at the end of the year.
It contains full accounts of all of importance that transpires in Portsmouth and its vicinity, and a condensed summary of NEWS, foreign and domestic; editorials upon current topics; New Hampshire items; carefully prepared marine news, containing reports of vessels owned at this port, or offered by men from Portsmouth or its neighborhood; and is just the paper for residents desiring to be posted on all that takes place at home, while to those living in the vicinity of Portsmouth, or to former residents who retain their interest in the "old home by the sea," it is the best means of keeping informed of what transpires in this city.
— THE —
NEW HAMPSHIRE GAZETTE
Contains more original matter
Than any other paper of its size in the State, the editors working more with their pens than with their scissors.

TO ADVERTISERS
THE N. H. GAZETTE
Presents an excellent opportunity for a WEEKLY INVITATION TO CUSTOMERS, at a reasonable rate, and all those who desire to reach patrons in Rockingham and York counties will find it an economical medium. THE GAZETTE is in many instances the only paper taken by families, and it is read to a large extent in localities whence is derived much of the trade of Portsmouth, a fact which our merchants should not fail to bear in mind.

INCORPORATED JANUARY, 1878. WORLD'S DISPENSARY MEDICAL ASSOCIATION BUFFALO AND LONDON. CAPITAL STOCK $1,000,000.
(Successors to R. V. PIERCE, M. D.)
DR. R. V. PIERCE, having acquired a world-wide reputation in the treatment of Chronic Diseases, resulting in a professional business far exceeding his individual ability to unaided work, some years ago induced several medical gentlemen to associate themselves with him, as the Faculty of the World's Dispensary, the Consulting Department of which has since been merged with the INVALIDS' HOTEL. The organization has been completed and incorporated under the name and style of World's Dispensary Medical Association, with the following officers:
HON. R. V. PIERCE, Pres. F. D. PIERCE, V. Pres.
JNO. E. PIERCE, Sec. LESTER B. SMITH, Treas.
NINE PHYSICIANS AND SURGEONS of eminence and skill have been chosen as the Faculty.
CHRONIC DISEASES of all forms coming within the province of our several specialties.
LUNG DISEASES.—The division of practice is very ably managed by a gentleman of mature judgment and skill. Bronchial, Throat, and Lung Diseases treated with the most successful results.
DISEASES OF WOMEN.—Especially are our facilities of a superior order for the treatment of all those chronic diseases peculiar to females.
NERVOUS DISEASES—Paralysis, Nervous Debility, Epilepsy (fits), Chorea (St. Vitus's Dance), Neuralgia, and other nervous affections, receive the attention of an expert in this specialty.
NOT NECESSARY TO SEE PATIENTS.—By our original system of diagnosis, we can treat many chronic diseases as successfully without as with a personal consultation. For particulars see People's Common Sense Medical Adviser (1,000 pages, sent post-paid for $1.50) or invalids' guide (Ladies' Guide Book, 160 pages, 10 cents post-paid).
SURGICAL CASES—Among the operations which we are called upon most frequently to perform, are those for Nasal Polypus, Harelip, Tumors, Fistula in Ano, Piles, Hernia (Rupture), Hydrocele (Dropsy of the Scrotum), Varicocele, Ovarian and Uterine Tumors, Calculi (Stone in the Bladder), Stricture, etc., etc. We also treat successfully, by a new method without surgical operation, Cancers, Club-foot, Spinal Curvature, and other deformities. (See pamphlet entitled, "Motion as a Curative Agent," sent on receipt of 10 cents.)
Address, World's Dispensary Medical Association, BUFFALO, N. Y.

WOMAN
By an immense practice at the World's Dispensary and Invalids' Hotel, having treated many thousands cases of those diseases peculiar to woman, I have been enabled to perfect a most potent and positive remedy for these diseases.
To designate this natural specific, I have named it
Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription
The term, however, is but a feeble expression of my high appreciation of its value, based upon personal observation. I have, while witnessing its positive results in the special diseases for which its organism of woman, singled it out as the climax or crowning gem of my medical career. On its merits, as a positive, safe, and effectual remedy for the class of diseases, and one that will, at all times and under all circumstances, act kindly, I am willing to stake my reputation as a physician; and so confident am I that it will not disappoint the most sanguine expectations of a single invalid lady who uses it for any of the ailments for which it was recommended, that I offer and sell it under A POSITIVE GUARANTEE. (For conditions, see pamphlet wrapping bottle.)
